by

THE TIMES

No. 65,626

MONDAY JULY 8 1996

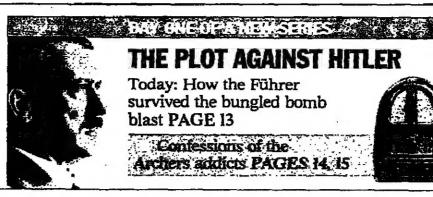

THE TIMES GREAT SUMMER OF SPORT

WIMBLEDON 1996 E Richard Krajicek beats the rain to take singles title PAGES 23, 25-27 Go for Gold in Atlanta: win a trip for two to the Olympics

Details and Token One, PAGE 34

Commons must rule, says Redwood

as up Tories urge battle over 48-hour week

By Ian Murray, Charles Bremner and Arthur Leathley

TORY MPs are to try to force the Prime Minister into a head-on confrontation with Brussels over a ruling by the European Court imposing a maximum 48-hour week on British workers.

Although the judgment is not likely to be issued by the court until September, the Euro-sceptics intend to exploit the issue this week.

The MPs plan to keep Mr Major to the promise he made in the Commons last week that he would block any progress at the Maastricht review conference unless Britain was allowed to retain its opt-out from the 48-hour working

The Government has been warned that it would be breaking the law and liable to heavy claims for damages in the British courts if it defies the directive. is top dog. Parliament or an unelected group of lawyers sitting in Luxembourg." John Redwood, the former Cabinet minister and leadership challenger, said last night. "We have got to change the law to assert Parliament's will above the European Court.

We signed the Maastricht treaty, including the opt-out clause, in good faith. When you get a decision from the court which is totally incompatible with something the British Parliament has ap-

Redwood: law must be changed, not broken proved, then you have to establish which of the two is the senior authority. Mr Redwood said he did not agree that Britain should disobey the court or re-implement a policy of noncooperation in an attempt to "Germany already has a constitution which makes European law subject to its own national law. All I want to see is a British version of what the Germans have already."

The directive comes into force in November and from then on will be binding on all public sector employees, including those working for the Government. If Parliament does not incorporate the directive into British legislation. any private employee made to work longer than 48 hours could sue the Government for damages on the grounds that it had deliberately failed to implement EU law. Doctors, emergency ser vices and transport workers are among the few who would be exempt. Workers would be allowed to work longer than 48 hours a week if they volunteered to do so.

The likelihood is that this will create two scales of overtime payment, with lower rates for time between a normal 40-hour working week and 48 hours and a higher rate for hours in excess of the EU maximum. Nicholas Budgen, MP for Wolverhampton South West, who is also a Euro-sceptic, said he believed the best strategy would be to re-introduce the policy of non-cooperation used in the BSE crisis.

"We can only solve this by an amendment to the Maas-tricht treaty," he said. "We must comply with the court. We cannot pick and choose which bits of community legislation we accept, as that would undermine our position as a law-abiding member. Breaking European law would have very big consequences, so we have to do this by changing

Kenneth Clarke, the Chancellor, rejected demands for a renewed campaign of non-Continued on page 2, col 5

Daphne Deckers, Richard Krajicek's girlfriend, watching him yesterday

Krajicek with the sin-gles champion's trophy

Three set win for unseeded Krajicek

BY JOANNA BALE

HOLLAND'S Krajicek created a Wimbledon first yesterday by beating the American MaliVai Washington in the first men's final to feature two unseeded players.
The big-serving, 6ft 5in

Dutchman won in straight sets 6-3, 6-4, 6-3 after rain disrupted play three times. black men's finalist since Arthur Ashe beat Jimmy Connors 21 years ago. The event saw another first

- a woman streaker who ran across Centre Court towards the Royal Box as Krajicek and Washington were warming up before the match. Melissa Johnson, a 23-year-old student, was taken to Wimbledon police station, but was released without charge.

Krajicek's victory was watched by his mother and Dutch TV presenter girlfriend, Daphne Deckers. She said:"He's never played so well. He looks so calm like an ice man but I know inside he feels like a tornado It is a dream made in heaven. I gave him an extra special big kiss this morning." Miss Deckers

Until yesterday, Krajicek's career had been plagued by injury and pscyhological problems.

Wimbledon reports, pages 23, 25-27 and you be what's-his-

Loyalist protesters block Ulster roads

By Nicholas Watts, Chief Ireland Correspondent

A CONFRONTATION between hundreds of Orangemen and armed police on the outskirts of Portadown, County Armagh, intensified last night amid fears that the protest could spread horughout Northern Ireland. Loyalists threw stones and missiles at police lines at Drumcree to register their anger at the police decision to reroute an Orange parade away from the Nationalist Garvaghy Road area of Portadown. Violence flared after Orangemen, who have marched into Portadown along the route for 189 years, vowed to camp outside the small parish church at Drumcree until they were allowed to follow their traditional route. The Loyalists staged a similar protests last year for three days until they were eventually allowed to March down the Garvaghy Road. The deadlock led to some of the most serious violence between Loyalists and the RUC in a decade.

The Times on the Internet

http://www.the-times.co.uk

. . ===

The RUC mounted a massive security operation yesterday to prevent a repeat of last year's clashes. More than 2000 police officers, support-ed by two battalions of soldiers on standby, were drafted into the Portadown area. Thousands of other RUC officers were put on alert throughout Northern Ireland. Helicopters hovered over Drumcree and barbed-wire fences were erected to prevent Loyalists from breaking through to the Nationalist area.

Orangemen reacted furiously to the security operation and accused the RUC of hemming them in Harold Continued in col 4, page 2

GrandMet bid denied by Guinness

GUINNESS, the name be-hind brands such as Johnnie Walker, Bells and Gordon's Gin. will make a Stock Exchange statement today, after reports that it has considered launching a takeover bid for Grand Metropolitan, whose own brands include Smirnoff Vodka, J&B Rare whisky, Malibu and Jose Cuervo

Speculation that a £13 billion bid was being planned was increased by a leaked document prepared by Lazards, which acts as chief City adviser to Guinness.

Although Guinness denied teouila.

last night that it would make a hostile bid for GrandMet, analysts do not rule out an attempt to forge an agreement between the two companies to combine their interests in

Graham Searjeant, page 42 Guinness denial, page 44

Mosquitoes could be flying hypodermics against malaria gene. When blood-sucking insects bite,

By NIGEL HAWKES SCIENCE EDITOR

A NEW breed of mosquito could be designed to act as a "flying hypodermic syringe" to prevent malaria, the disease they normally spread.

The genetically-engineered mosquito would transfer a protein through its saliva, which would act as a vaccine, immunising its victim against the disease, which claims more than two million lives a year.

A patent on the idea has been granted to Professor Bob Sinden of imperial College, London, and Professor Julian Crampton of Liverpool University. The scheme could be used to immunise people and animals against a wide range of diseases, and any biting insect, not only mosquitoes, could be used to carry the vaccine.

"We are exceedingly excited by the research" Prof Sinden said. "It's eminently logical, and we are confident we The technique described in the patent application has not been publicised but was spotted by Der-went, a scientific information company. The trick is to modify the insect's salivary gland by introducing a foreign their salivary glands produce chemi-cals that encourage their victims' blood to flow. This action is under the control of a gene that is switched on by a control region, a section of DNA lying near the gene. "We steal this control region and attach it to a gene that produces an antigen known to stimulate the body to resist the parasite," Prof Sinden said. The modified gene can be put back into the insect using a variety of well-established techniques. The result should be an insect which keeps on "topping-up" the immune system of would not necessarily be effective as a single vaccination provides good longterm protection. There is no intention of releasing any such creatures until all the implications have been carefully studied, and exhaustive tests carried out in the laboratory, Prof Sinden said.

Professor Crampton said that the gene had been successfully introduced and that it produced antigen in sufficient amounts. Trials using mice would be used to establish that bites from the modified mosquitoes were enough to produce immunity.

TV & RADIO42, 43 WEATHER22

LETTERS19 OBITUARIES21 PETER RIDDELL 18

CHESS & BRIDGE.......36 COURT & SOCIAL20

BUSINESS39-42, 44 MIND AND MATTER ...12 SPORT FOR ALL......36

Oxford boosts 261 academics to more senior titles

By JOHN O'LEARY, EDUCATION EDITOR

OXFORD University has almost doubled its number of professors, appointing more in a single day than in the past decade, in an unprecedented its dons. Lecturers at Oxford and Cambridge have grown increasingly frustrated at play-ing second fiddle to less eminent academics elsewhere. American universities have always conferred professorships on a high proportion of their staff and the widespread use of the title by new universities brought matters to a head.

attempt to raise the status of Cambridge is still discussing how to address the issue, but Oxford decided last year to establish a new cadre of "titular" professors. A Distinctions Committee of 14 academics has accepted the claims of 162 dons to become professors and promoted another 99 to the lesser title of reader. The new professors will receive no more money and their duties will be unaffected, but they will be able to use the coveted title. To most observers, the titular professors will be indistinguishable from those who hold chairs. A number of well-known academics will feature on the list of promotions announced today. Among them is Vernon Bogdanor, an authority on constitutional issues, and Roger Hood, a criminologist who has written extensively on the death penalty and sentencing. More than 200 dons applied for professorships, and were judged against the research records of holders of the title in other leading universities, as well as on their teaching and administrative work. The 80 per cent success rate will bring the number of professors to 361, out of an academic staff of

The exercise is to be repeated annually, although the number of promotions will be much smaller in future.

Dr Paul Slack, the chairman of Oxford's General Board, said: "The purpose of this exercise was to give appropriate recognition to the outstanding quality of the academics in this university, despite the financial pressures which prevent us from increasing the number of stipendiary professors."

The university's response to the growth in the number of professorships elsewhere was the subject of heated debate. Some existing professors felt that their title would be devalued by a wave of appoint-ments, while some of those aspiring to the title wanted the full benefits of a professorship. As well as attracting a higher salary, the stipendiary grade brings a reduction in teaching duties to give the holder more time for research. In its early stages, the debate was sidetracked into a controversy over opportunities for women at Oxford. A proposal to create 15 full professorships was rejected by Congregation, the dons' parliament, because the shortage of women in senior positions was thought to guarantee that most of those promoted would

The much larger list of titular appointments appears to have benefited female academics, 85 per cent of whom were successful in applications for readerships or professorships, compared with 79 per cent of men. The number of women professors will more

OUR CHANCE TO WIN A TRIP TO THE OLYMPICS:

Blair avoids row over MPs' elections

By ARTHUR LEATHLEY, POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT

TONY BLAIR has backed away from a confrontation with his MPs over a proposal to scrap this year's elections to the Shadow Cabinet.

Labour's leadership is ex-pecting in-fighting after more than 100 backbenchers criticised suggestions by senior figures that the annual elections to the front bench be cancelled. Backbenchers are alarmed at the prospect of this year's poll being abandoned and Mr Blair has agreed to accept their decision when they force a vote on the issue next week. Andrew Mackinlay, the disclosed that 110 of the 175

Mayhew to stand down

at general election

BY JAMES LANDALE

SIR PATRICK MAYHEW,

the Northern Ireland Secretary, is to stand down from Parliament at the general election. He ended months of speculation about his future by making the announcement to a meeting of his constituency officers in Tunbridge Wells.

Kent, at the weekend. However, it is unlikely that Sir Patrick will resign from the Cabinet before the election.

Earlier this year he said it was his duty to serve until the end his constituency for 22 years and will hand on a majority of 17,132. His retirement will prompt a rush of applications for what is one of the safest seats in the country. Possible successors could include Chris

Patten, the Governor of Hong Kong, who is expected to return to British politics when the colony returns to Chinese rule next year.

At 66, Sir Patrick is one of the Prime Minister's oldest and most experienced Cabinet colleagues. He has been a driving force in the peace process but has recently

Mr Major is keen to main-tain some continuity in Belfast and Sir Patrick's deputy at the Northern Ireland Office, Michael Ancram, is one of the frontrunners to succeed him.

shown signs of fatigue.

of the Government's term. Sir Patrick has represented backbenchers had supported his call for the elections to go ahead. There were strong reasons for believing there were some important people in the party who were trying to prevent the elections." he said. However, John Reid, a frontbench MP, is expected to press next week's meeting of the Parliamentary Labour Party to vote that the election to be cancelled. "Our sole aim should be the defeat of the Conservatives, not the defeat of Shadow Cabinet members." Mr Blair's aides were adamant that the leader was not behind Mr Reid's move. Although Mr Blair was Tony Blair faced further embarrassment over education yesterday as his son's school said it could be forced out of the state system under a Labour government. Mr Blair's eldest son. Euan, attends the grant-maintained London Oratory in Fulham. southwest London. Labour would force grantmaintained schools to agree admissions policies with the local authority. John McIntosh. London Oratory's headmaster, said the plans threatened his school's character.

described by aides as being "totally relaxed" about the issue, senior colleagues gave warning that the elections were likely to pose damaging problems for the leadership in the run-up to the general

the prospect of a highly publicised battle which could lead to at least two senior MPs, Harriet Harman, Shadow Health Secretary, and Jack Straw e Shadow Home Secretary, being ousted from the Shadow Cabinet.

One Shadow Cabinet minister said: "If Tony thinks this election is just going through the motions, he will have a They remain nervous about

Another Shadow Cabinet member said Mr Blair had been "chastened" by the hostility of backbench MPs to his decision that there be a referendum on the future of Scotland. "He is not in the mood for a fight over an issue that doesn't bother him too much."

But Labour MPs are divided over the wisdom of holding poll that could see left-wing MPs seek to force out Ms Harman over her decision to send her son to a selective school.

This Wednesday, several frontbench Labour MPs are expected to ignore Mr Blair's appeal for restraint over MPs' pay when the Commons votes last week in calling for MPs and ministers to be restricted to a 3 per cent pay rise rather than the increase of at least 26 per cent recommended by an independent body. Three Shadow members indicated yesterday that they would support the full increases. claiming that MPs deserved to catch up, after falling behind comparable professions. Mr Blair is allowing his MPs a free vote: the Government is demanding that ministers and their aides back the 3 per cent.

Peter Riddell, page 18

到到中央制度 One school in ten 'plans sackings'

One school in ten is planning to sack teachers this summer in a wave of redundancies that could claim 4,000 jobs, the Association of Teachers and Lecturers says today. The association said the teachers most likely to lose their jobs were the most experienced.

The Department for Education and Employment said that similar predictions in previous years had proved to be exaggerated. Schools must issue formal notices of reducdancy at this time of year to meet contractural obligations, whether or not the job was certain to be lost, a spokesman said.

Kerb crawlers

Lone

his re

Residents in areas plauged by prostitution want convicted kerb crawlers to be shamed by publication of their names in local newspapers, a cross-parliamentary group on prostitution reports. It suggests that if kerb crawling became a traffig offence, those convicted could have their licences endorsed.

Pilots' strike

British Airways pilots' leaders have said that company plans to keep their planes in the air when flight crews go on strike would fail. The British Airline Pilots Association said: "Before a foreign pilot could fly a BA aircraft sessed by a BA training captain, the vast majority of whom are Balpa members."

Tube strike

Commuters face more travel problems today when 2,000 London Underground driv-ers stage their third strike in support of a shorter working week in spite of an invitation to peace talks. The drivers union Aslef said it was still evaluating the invitation from the conciliation service Acas, which was quickly accepted by London Transport

Irish crime fear

Nine out of ten Irish people believe the Dublin Government is losing the battle against crime, according to a poll published yesterday, ll days after the gangland murder of the journalist Veronic? Guerin. The poll in the Surday Independent newspaper found 65 per cent did sot believe her killers would be brought to justice.

Wind-up winner

A clockwork radio has beaten off competition from a drinks can crusher and the nose of the Eurostar train to win top prize in the 1996 BBC Design Awards. The Freeplay windup radio. which uses no electricity or batteries, was developed by its inventor Trevor Baylis and designer Andy Davey for use in Third World countries.

999 overload

A huge increase in the number of 999 calls from mobile telephones is threatening to undermine the emergency services. Police say that the calls often duplicate the same incident, increasing the time it takes to repond to emergencies. A new number to deal with trivial incidents, including cats stuck in trees. is being proposed.

surgeons • Fast, effective ices • DHA registered • All majo

Police confront Orangemen on the Drumcree Road, barring their way through a Catholic area of Portadown

March protests block Ulster roads

Continued from page 1 Gracey, the District Grandmaster of the Orange order in Portadown said: "There is a ring of steel round Portadown. So it is now the siege of Portadown. In fact it is even wider than that. It is the siege of Ulster.'

In an address to hundreds of Orangmen outside the church at Drumcree. Mr Gracey vowed to stay until the RUC allowed his local Orange order to parade along their traditional route. He said: "If we fail in this you can rest assured we are finished. Dublin has given the order for this."

The Rev Ian Paisley, leader of the Democratic Unionists, and MP for North Antrim, told cheering supporters that the Orangemen's protest was "worth fighting for and worth dying for".

Security sources voiced fears that the Loyalists from the mid-Ulster brigade of the Ulster Volunteer Force might my to provoke further violence.

Londonderry.

blocked for a time at Dromore, Co Down.

Drumcree last night when hundreds of Loyalists closed roads throughout Northem Ireland. The main MI motorway was closed 20 miles West of Belfast when Loyalists blockaded both carriage ways at Moira, Co Antrim. Hundreds of Loyalists also closed off roads into Newtownards, Down, and Maghera, Co

The main Belfast-to-Dublin road was

MUM, LEE & KYLIE

Princess | Clarke says voters turns to Duchess for advice

By CAROL MIDGLEY

THE Princess of Wales sought advice from the Duchess of York yesterday over the draft divorce settlement put to her by her husband.

During Sunday lunch at the Duchess's rented home on the Wentworth estate in Surrey, the Princess is understood to have asked for guidance over the offer. which is believed to include a lump sum of between £10 million and £20 million. She has watched the recent divorce negotiations between the Duke and Duchess of York with interest.

Her solicitor, Anthony Julius, a partner at Mishcon de Reya, described the Duchess "the yellow canary", a reference to the birds coal miners used to take down the pit to check for poisonous gas

According to reports yes-terday, the Princess has also been receiving advice from another royal divorce, Captain Mark Phillips, the for-mer husband of the Princess Royal. It is said to be he who arged her to be certain of the precise terms of the settlement before agreeing to start divorce proceedings, having felt he was too trusting with Buckingham Palace over his want job security before tax cuts

By ARTHUR LEATHLEY, POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT

giveaway Budget. The Chancellor of the Ex-assessment of the prospects of tough public spending round casts of public sector borrow-

KENNETH CLARKE took his irmest stand yet against calls for tax cuts yesterday as he pointed to worsening economic forecasts that will undermine Tory hopes of a chequer set out a downbeat tax reductions as he prepares for the opening stages of a with Cabinet colleagues. He dismissed suggestions that tax cuts were likely and added that they were "down the scale" in the public's list of priorities. He admitted that past fore-ing had been wrong and that he would have to revise figures, reducing the opportunity for cutting tax. The Chancellor is expected tomorrow to increase the forecast for the Public Sector Borrowing Requirement from £22.5 billion to about £28 billion and next week to scale down projections of economic growth from 3 per cent to 2.5 per cent. "My boffins got their estimates wrong," he said in an interview with BBCI's Breakfast

Tory MPs viewed his comments with growing nervous-ness yesterday. One minister said: This is not just a Chancellor being negative before a public spending round. He actually has figures to show that things are not as good as we would have hoped at this stage."

Mr Clarke will underline his difficulties when Cabinet ministers begin their public spending round next week. Senior Treasury figures said that Mr Clarke was adamant that ministers should meet the £268 billion spending target, or even reduce it. However, he was dismissive of claims by John Redwood, the former Welsh Secretary, that up to £6 billion could be cut.

He said that job security, a buoyant housing market and higher earnings were more important to voters than tax cuts. "I am not going to do it [cut taxes] if it will drive up our borrowing or delay the real economy out there feeling good. Tax comes down the scale compared to all those things that matter to real Gordon Brown, Labour's Shadow Chancellor, accused Mr Clarke of refusing to spell out the true scale of the "black hole" that had developed in public finances.

Summer forecast, page 44

Battle over 48-hour week

Continued from page 1 cooperation. "Non-cooperation is not going to alter the judgment of the court ... One thing we made clear when we were not co-operating is that the British Government, certainly Conservative governments, obey the law." The Chancellor echoed John Major's acknowledgement that Britain will be unable to overturn the court's decision, but backberich Tories are angered by the Government's refusal to take a more aggressive stance on the issue. The Government's quarrel over working hours goes well beyond its anger over what it sees as the court's habit of pursuing a federal political agenda in its rulings. In Mr Major's view, it impinges on Britain's freedom to opt out of social legislation. Several EU states, as well as Commission officials, have made no secret of their desire to bring Britain into line on employment law at the IGC, both for the good of British workers and to stop employers enjoying what rivals see as an unfair advantage in the form of lower wage costs.

The so-called "working time directive" was agreed in 1993, setting a maximum 48-hour week with compulsory rest periods every six hours, a minimum daily rest period of Il hours, one day off a week and four weeks paid annual holiday for all workers.

Had the directive been classified as an employment rather than a health and safety measure, Britain would have been unaffected because it would then have come under the social chapter of the Maastricht treaty and thus have been covered by the British

Putting the rules into practice could cost the Treasury and industry hundreds of millions of pounds, according to British businessmen.

Comments from a former Wimbledon winner helped Krajicek to overcome his mental block

Parental pressure almost drove champion to quit

LIKE his more famous counterparts Steffi Graf and Mary Pierce, the new Wimbledon champion, Richard Krajicek, has had a troubled relationship with his father. The 24-year-old Dutchman was born a year after his Czech parents Petr and Ludmila fled their country in 1970 and settled in Rotterdam. When he was four years old his father thrust a tennis racket into his hand, embarking on a strict training regime with the sole ambition of turning his son into a star.

The methods he used to instil the discipline needed to succeed were often harsh and eventually prompted Krajicek to cut off all contact with his father when his parents divorced while he was a tcenager

Karel Huidkamp, a Dutch tennis correspondent, said:
"His father would force him to practise for hours, dragging him back on to the court against his will even when he was exhausted and often in tears." Another added: "If he lost a match he would be forced to walk several miles home while his father drove. It was a method that many Eastern Europeans used."

In the early 1990s, when Krajicek's career began to take off, he decided to get back in touch with his father and the two were reconciled, although he was not present on Centre

A young Krajicek, hailed as a wunderkind by the media in Holland, with his idol, John McEnroe

Court yesterday to see his son fulfil his greatest dream.

Petr is said to be using the same strict regime to train his six-year-old daughter from his second marriage, who is said to have great promise.

Kraai (crow), as he is known, now declines to talk about his father, but he admits the regime gave him a fierce determination to win. Dominating the Dutch junior competition from the age of 11, he idolised John McEnroe and was touted as a "wunderkind" by the media. But when he began to lose matches after his parents marriage broke down, he almost gave up tennis.

as a child tennis star, he said: "Everybody wanted to know me then. It was weird. I didn't have a clue what was going on. Then I started playing even considered giving up tennis at one point. He decided to soldier on but admits that his game was constantly thwarted by an over-anxiety to succeed, a lega-cy from his father's training regime, as well as frequent injury problems. At 6ft 5in and one of the fastest servers in the world at 134mph, he is a formidable opponent, but has had to resort to psychotherapy to fulfil his potential.

badly, losing games. My parents got divorced. And then nobody wanted to know me. I

Ted Troost, who uses a mixture of psychotherapy and physiotherapy, is an impor-tant figure in Krajicek's life. He said: "Krajicek always his actual opponent and

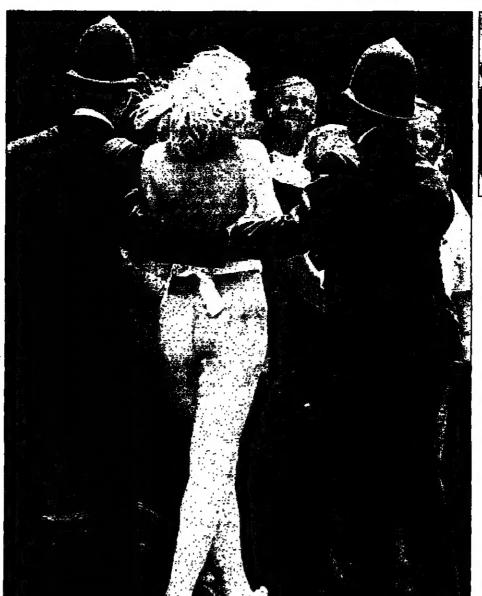

Throughout the Australian Open in January, Krajicek talked constantly about how he believed that keeping himself injury-free was a case of "mind over matter", but then dropped out of the semi-finals with a shoulder injury.

Andre Agassi remarked at the tournament that the his head and Krajicek admit-ted this week that those comments had spurred him to overcome a mental block. He said: "I changed my attitude after the Australian Open. I was so uptight about not getting injured that I was working too hard. I was putting mental pressure on myself."

Krajicek appears to have matured since causing controversy at Wimbledon in 1991 by describing the majority of women tennis players as "fat, lazy pigs who should not be allowed on show courts". He now says he regrets the re-mark, made on Dutch radio when responding to a question about equal prize money for Krajicek, ranked 13 in the world and now a multi-millionaire, enjoys reading phi-losophers such as Plato and studying Zen Buddhism, as well as playing golf and watching American football.

Reports, pages 23, 25, 26, 27

Melissa Johnson being led away by police after her cross-court dash yesterday

Wherever he travels, Placido Domingo is accompanied by his favourite instrument.

Johnson: made history

Student, 23, streaks into record book

MELISSA JOHNSON made history and brought a smile to faces on Centre Court yes terday when she became Wimbledon's first streaker.

The 23-year-old student hallowed turf as Richard Krajicek and Mal Washington posed for photographers. Both men smiled as the young woman flashed past them to the crowd's cheers.

Ms Johnson, who was working as a catering assistant at the tournament during her summer holidays, wore nothing but her regulation pinafore. She paused to lift the tiny garment, reveal-ing all, in front of a packed Royal Box. The Duke of Kent rocked with laughter as she ran into the arms of police. Ms Johnson was held at Wimbledon police station and released after the match. A Scotland Yard spokeswoman said: "There will be no further action."

Lone sailor celebrates his return to life

BY LIN JENKINS

FOR a man thought to be dead, Leslie Powles was enjoying life to the full yesterday. After a fuli English breakfast topped by strawberries, the 70year-old mariner recalled how on two spoonfuls of rice and a quarter of a tin of corned beef

a day. Mr Powles stepped ashore at Lymington, Hampshire, on Saturday, seven months after losing radio contact during his three-year circumnavigation of the world. He gave up his job as a radio engineer to build a yacht in the early 1970s and embarked on his first global trip in 1975. The next time he went the other way round. becoming the first man to circumnavigate the world in both directions single-han-

He left on the last trip, in his 34ft sloop Solitaire, in Sep-tember 1993. Last December he left New Zealand but failed to reach the Falkland Islands in March as expected. Storms in the Southern Ocean had disabled his radio and left him injured.

Powles: apologised for

The cover over my hatch ripped open and water started flooding into the cabin. Then I was knocked unconscious and woke up about six hours later with a gash in my head and blood pouring out. 1 don't know how the boat stayed afloat," he said. "It is wonderful to be back here. I am sorry if anyone was worried about will return to a heroine's welcome at Southampton tomorrow after her voyage around the world. She is the first woman and the youngest person to complete the "wrong way" solo trip.

Poetry lack of interest

By ERICA WAGNER

and rock musicians at the Royal Albert Hall yesterday filled only a tenth of the seats. joined the American singer Patti Smith, Ray Davies of the Kinks, James Fenton, the British poet and journalist, and Miroslav Holub, one of the leading Czech poets, in what had been billed as the biggest poetry event ever staged. More than 60 artists from many countries performed their work over nine hours. Michael Horovitz had envisaged an "Olympics of poet-celebrated gathering of beat poets he organised in 1965 which packed the Albert Hall. nie."

☐ Samantha Brewster, 29, However, yesterday after-noon, only 500 of the 5,000 seats in the hall were filled. The audience made up for its small size by its appreciation. Photographs, page 22 beaten by

MARATHON international festival of poetry and music upon his time of the major Opera Houses of the world that, wherever he travels, Placido Domingo takes with him a series of green bound books. Into these he ry" reminiscent of the writes his engagements three years ahead.

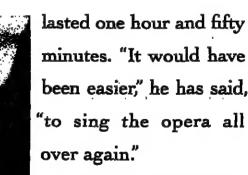

> As a singer, Placido Domingo has committed almost one hundred different operatic roles to memory.

Such are the demands

He firmly believes this daunting repertoire is necessary to attract the widest possible audience, so that he is able to fulfil his ambition of helping more people, all over the world, enjoy the music he loves.

He has enthralled audiences from Covent Garden to China. And one legendary curtain call in Vienna

However, Domingo is a highly-respected conductor as well; a challenge he appears to relish. "The operatic conductor is like a Roman charioteer. He has a hundred horses on stage and a hundred horses in the pit. And he has to control them all."

To keep up with these ever-increasing demands on his time

Placido Domingo, the Ambassador of Opera, relies on his Rolex.

"This watch is perfect for me," he says, because, unlike me, it never needs a rest. You could say it is one of my

Only a select group of jewellers sell Rolex watches. For the address of your nearest Rolex jeweller, and for further information on the complete range of Rolex watches, write to: The Rolex Watch Company Limited, 3 Stratford Place, London W1N 0ER or telephone 0171:629 5071.

Curtains for old cinema

 ONE of Britain's earliest purpose-built cinemas is about to be demolished, hav-ing been mistaken as a public convenience for the past 56

The Gem. in Boreham Wood, Hertfordshire, was opened in 1914 to preview films made by the Neptune film company. Since Neptune went into receivership in the 1920s the building, outside Boreham Wood railway staion, has served as a public convenience. John East, a BBC radio producer whose grandfather, caring the same name, was a a director of Neptune and creator of the Gem, said yesterday: "I do feel sentimental about it because it is one of the last tangible me-mentoes of my grandfather's career and a source of great memories of the early cinema days."

The Gem, though small, accommodated an audience

The NEPTUNE FILM Co.

Poster advertising one of Neptune's movies of up to 150 on wooden benches. The Neptune films, which John East directed, scripted and performed in, were principally melodramas which included early appearances by such names as Jack Buchanan, Dame May Whitty and her husband, Ben Webster. The site of Neptune's studios, across the road from the Gem, is now where the BBC films East-Enders, and the only remaining part of the original building is now used as a wine cellar.

Mr East said yesterday: "I do not think there is any campaign to save the Gem from demolition. They are unveiling a plaque to my grandfather on the studio site next year and I shall be going ☐ Hammer Films, the company which kept the nation's cinemagoers in a state of terror from the Fifties to the Seventies, is experiencing a resurrection. The company went into liquidation in 1979 but present owner Roy Skeggs, who bought out the receiver in 1987, has a dozen projects in development. "All of a sudden we are flavour of the month," he said, "We have signed deals with Fox, New World and Warner, and we go into production this year."

Shocking role of lethal bacterium passed fit for cinema appearance

ing of the dangers of toxic shock syndrome, strongly as-sociated with tampon use, have been passed as acceptable for general viewing in the cinema. The syndrome is a rare, but frightening, dis-ease initially thought to be confined to children, but by the late 1970s it was recognised that it was a problem found mainly in young

The cause was confirmed when the number of cases

ADVERTISEMENTS warning of the dangers of toxic tampons started to use a once the shock develops, a tampons started to use a more absorbent material. The flow was contained so effectively that toxins were absorbed into the > Toxic shock syndrome is caused by poisons released into the circulation by an infection with phage-group I Staphylococcus aureus. The patient develops a sudden high temperature - some times as high as 105F (40.5C) - with shivering. The syn-very low blood pressure and circulatory collapse. The failure of the circulation leads to damage to the kidneys, liver, lungs and other organs. A widespread red skin rash is common and, as in other bacterial infections, the soles of the feet and palms of the hands become bright red and the skin on them later peels. In 1981 the improved from use in tampons and the death rate dropped dramati-

was withdrawn

Dr Thomas Stuttaford

cally. Cases of toxic shock syndrome are still reported but not all are the result of tampon use; 15 per cent occur in males and another 15 per cent in women who are either not menstruating or are using diaphragms, cervical caps or vaginal sponges. It is probable that many minor instances of toxic severe enough to be diagnosed the mortality rate is about 5 per cent.

infected more than once but it is not clear whether this represents an unusual vulnerability to the toxin or whether the staphylococci were not fully eradicted from the patient and her immediate family.

In those instances in which the infection cannot be blamed on tampons or other intra-vaginal devices the sponsible for the syndrome nose, throat and abscesses or an infected wound. Sometimes the wound maybe comparatively trivial. Toxic shock syndrome is also an occasioncomplication of gynaecological operations or childbirth. Toxic shock syndrome is rare and tampons are so convenient that it is unlikely that their use will ever be abandoned, but women are advised to take certain simple should be changed every four to six hours. Women who sleep for many hours must either change tampons during the night or use a pad. Hands should be washed before tampons are inserted so that any staphylococcus from the nose and throat are not transferred. Treatment is carried out in hospital: antibiotics are ad-ministered with an intravenous infusion to maintain fluid and electrolyte balance and blood pressure.

Despair disfigures brave face of city rocked by bombers

THREE weeks after the IRA tried to tear the heart out of Manchester, some of the shops closest to the blast reopened. With balloons. bunting, brass bands and celebrity guests, the city sought to draw shoppers back to the streets devastated in the

Sue Blythe, with her daughter Samantha, lost the family's sandwich bar in the Corn Exchange, below

nor their customers felt ready to celebrate yet.

The partial reopening of the Arndale Centre was said to be both a gesture of defiance to the bombers and a celebration of Manchester's spirit. The city fathers, who are planning a E21 million rebuilding programme, had hoped the people would come to shop -

Yvonne Baskeyfield, manageress of the K Shoes shop close to the centre of the blast, was in no doubt why some had returned to the scene of last month's outrage: the pre-cinct held a morbid fascination for "rubber-neckers". Her hands shook and her eyes filled with tears when she business as usual three weeks after the attack. However.

most people just stared blankly at their city's still-gaping wounds, wandering the precinct aimlessly or standing as close to the boarded-up wreckage as they could.

talked of the bombing. Mrs Baskeyfield, 51, is seeing a psychotherapist three times a week and talking to him on the telephone every day about her overwhelming feelings of panic and her depression.

She was caught up in two previous IRA attacks on the city: "I suppose the third bombing was just too much." As she spoke the shoppers browsed, not really interested in the shoes on display, but looking for evidence of damage. Mrs Baskeyfield seemed unaware of their presence. "You just keep thinking, What if?. I had half-a-dozen staff to look after. Suppose I had taken them the wrong way?" She feared that months, if not years would elapse before the collective memory of the bombing was laid to rest.

On the floor above, Matthew Lenton, manager of the Burton Menswear store, was more bullish. However, his smile seemed a little fixed when he spoke of returning public confidence. "All my staff have had counselling." he said. "It was the same team called in after Dunblane, so we had the very best."

On Corporation Street, where the IRA left its one-ton bomb, passers-by stopped to watch enormous cranes lifting huge blocks of concrete and rubble from shattered storefronts. The Corn Exchange was literally gutted in the explosion. Some of the 300 or so traders and stallholders who occupied this once magnificent building gathered forlornly at the crowd control barriers. Many had lost everything and were not covered by insurance. They have no stock left and cannot work or pay household bills.

Sue Blythe opened a sandwich bar at the Exchange six months ago, using every penny of her husband's £35,000 redundancy to buy the busi-

"I'm worried sick, I'm not sleeping. Our life's work has quite literally gone up in smoke," she said, "We had no business or loss-of-earnings insurance." The most she can hope for is compensation for damaged or destroyed equipment in the sandwich bar -£8,000 at the very most.

Listening to her mother talk of the family's impending ruin at the hands of the bombers, Mrs Blythe's 11-year-old daughter Samantha, who was working with her mother on the morning of the blast, started to sob. "They are tears of rage, we think she has got over the shock. Samantha just can't bear what has happened to us and all the others in the Exchange," her mother said.

Cheek by jowl with the Corn Exchange, Manchester Cathedral took less of the blast but bears some scars. The clock on the tower stopped, fissures appeared in the roof and showed the damage to Mary Robinson, the Irish President, when she visited the city over the weekend to express her country's condolences. As they posed for the cameras, she said she was impressed by "the very positive spirit" shown since the bombing. After she left, the Dean spoke of his fears and concern for those who had lost everything. He agreed that the city still had a "wounded feeling".

"Some are a long way from being healed, particularly in the business community. The Church's job is to try to keep hope alive, if possible. It is going to be a very long time before some get back on their feet again. This talk of optimism for the future is insensitive when there are still so many in pain."

The Dean described the city volved in the rebuilding plan as "great movers and shakers, second to none". Talk, of a swift return to normal life was premature, though. "There's a great deal of bravado coming across at the moment, but I think everyone should remember Manchester is still in deep shock. We copped the lot this

Alzheimer's woman wins right to NHS care

By Dominic Kennedy

PATIENT dying from Alzheimer's disease has won the right to be looked after in a health-service hospital instead of having to sell her home to pay for care.

Kathleen Richardson, 76. has been a patient at the Royal Hampshire County Hospital, Winchester, for 18 months. The Winchester and Eastleigh Healthcare NHS Trust wanted to discharge her into long-term care, for which social services would have required her to sell her house to pay the El6,000-a-year fees.

Her daughter-in-law, Valerie Richardson, 50, a businesswoman and founder of the care-rights group Health Aid, argued that Mrs Richardson should be treated on the NHS because she was terminally ill. The trust has relented and agreed to let her stay.

Valerie Richardson said: "This is a landmark which will affect tens of thousands of people, perhaps hundreds of thousands, throughout the country. They don't have to sell their homes to pay for their care. "My mother-in-law has now been given a long-term healthcare plan as an inpatient. Earlier in the year she at was told she could be discharged. The whole battle has been about trying to force her out of a health service bed into welfare provision.

Three years ago you would never have found Alzheimer's patients being discharged into residential care homes but they have done it to save money because they are £5,000 a year cheaper."

Health Aid advises families latients how to make th health service pay for care.

Winchester and Eastleigh NHS Trust declined to comment. It is likely to be sensitive to such cases after the health service ombudsman last week rebuked Winchester Health Authority for moving a 95year-old man from hospital to long-term care against a con-

Former minister heads seal protest

By James Landale

ALAN CLARK, the former Tory minister, is spearheading a campaign to prevent the Government scrapping a law that curbs the trade in seal

Mr Clark, a former Defence Minister, said it was monstrous that ministers were planning to make it easier for Canada, the main trader, to export seal skins to Britain.

The Government wants to repeal a regulation that forces clearly to show whether they are made of sealskin and from which country they come. Ministers hope to push the move through just before the summer recess, when few MPs are in Westminster.

The Trades Descriptions (Sealskin Goods) (Informa-tion) Order 1980 prompted a huge drop in sealskin imports after public distaste at television pictures of seal cubs being clubbed to death in Canada. A MORI poll this weekend found that 92 per cent of people support retaining the law.

Trade officials claim the move is prompted by the Government's deregulation drive to cut red tape. They say the law is defunct because there is little scalskin trade in the UK. However, they emphasised the matter was still subject to consultation.

The International Fund for Animal Welfare wrote to John Taylor, the Junior Trade Minister, last week, arguing that if the order were repealed sealskin products would flood into 9.00 AM WEDNESDAY 10TH JULY THE SALE.

JOIN MISS HOLLY HUNTER FOR THE COUNTDOWN TO SAM ON WEDNESDAY 18TH JULY.

SALE OPENING HOURS:

WEDNESDAY 10TH, 9AM TO 8PM. THURSDAY 11TH AND FRIDAY 12TH, SAM TO 7PM, SATURDAY 13TH, SAM TO 8PM. SUNDAY 14TH, HAM TO 5PM. MONDAY 15TH & TUENDAY 16TH, 10AM TO 6PM. WEDNESDAY 17TH, THURSDAY 18TH & FRIDAY 19TH 10AM TO 7PM.

LAST DAY SATURDAY 20TH JULY, 9AM TO 7PM. VISIT THE HARRODS SALE DURING THE FIRST FOUR DAYS AND YOU COULD WIN AN MGF CONVERTIBLE. Offer open to customers aged 25 or over. Qualifying purchase required. THERE IS ONLY ONE HARRODS.

MONDAY JULY 8 1996

Alzheimer

Woman win

rightto

VIIS care

A STATE OF THE STA

A model in a lemon-yellow sheath with inset spiral, displaying Versace's skill as a cutter

Versace takes new direction in couture's cut and thrust

STYLE EDITOR

GIANNI VERSACE, the king of overtly sexual eve-ning wear, has abandoned the "happy hooker" look. His couture show for autumn/ winter, shown at the Paris Ritz on Saturday, was verg-ing on the prudish. Where once flesh would have been bared, there were panels of chiffon, and nothing to com-pete with the sado-masochisyears ago. Valentino, the other Italian designer showing this week, exchanged his traditional good taste for something raunchier. One model was sent down the catwalk in nothing but pinstripe trousers and a strategically placed scarf, and some evening dresses were in seethrough lace with one opaque black panel at the front.

Only one Versace dress revealed anything. Worn by Naomi Campbell, it was a long, single-strapped dress with the area between bust safety-pin dress worn by Elizabeth Hurley two years ago. But Versace is a showman and what he was showing off was his skill as a cutter. The most striking dresses had contrasting stripes of colour that snaked round the body - a feat of design. They appeared first in black with blue and red stripes, then with yellow and blue as the dominant colour. The only flash of bad taste was teaming grey animal-print dresses with blood-red stoles. They were fake, but was this a sign of support for vant; they are watching for the clothes beneath. Versace's new conserva-tism comes at a time when designers are under pressure to justify the existence of couture. Most collections are loss-leaders, kept up to lend prestige to the ready-to-wear and perfume businesses. This has led to a tendency to create sensations, rather than to joke at their expense? To the buyer such niceties are irrele-design wearable clothes. Though the emergence of Karl Lagerfeld at Chanel. Christian Lacroix and, most recently, John Galliano at Givenchy has revived inter-break even and designers are under pressure to find buyers for their creations.

Lisa Marie Presley and Elton John at the Paris show

Versace's decision to enter the couture market in 1989 was another boost, though strictly speaking he is not a conturier. His clothes are made in Italy, sometimes using machines, rather than the petits-main, as the seamstresses are known. As a result, he does not meet the stringent requirements of the chambre syndicale.

Significantly. Versace's celebrity entourage was pared down this week. Two years ago, Elizabeth Hurley, Hugh Grant, Brian Ferry and Prince were in the front row. On Saturday there was only Elton John, who spends a reported £1 million a year on Versace, and Lisa Marie Presley, who is due to appear in his advertising campaign.

But for Versace, the emphasis may have shifted to women such as Mouna al-Rashid, wife of a Saudi businessmen and one of his wealthiest clients, who will actually place orders.

A light-rey satin ensemble from the Italian designer Valentino, who showed a raunchier side

Teenagers go to court for right to see siblings

TWO teenagers are taking legal action against their former stepmother to win the right to see their younger halfbrother and sister. Lisa and Gareth Rogers have been granted legal aid to take their battle to Newcastle upon Tyne County Court next week.

The pair lost touch with Lauren, 4, and Aaron, 5, when their father and his former wife failed to resolve their dispute over access to the children. They saw an article in a newspaper about a child who went to court to be allowed to see her sister and asked their father, Hedley, if they could do the same.

My solicitor said it was not advisable as I was still trying to get some sort of access and was going backwards and forwards to court," Mr Rogers, who works for the Department of Transport, said. But now he has said that they might as well try." Lisa, 16, who has just taken her GCSEs, and Gareth, 14, have not seen the other half of their family for over a year. Mr Rogers and his second wife, Susan Spencer, separated in October 1993 and divorced in June 1994. An interim court order allowed Mr Rogers to see his younger children every fortnight on Sunday afternoon but the couple have yet to reach

Mr Rogers said: "Whatever happens between myself and the children. Lisa and Gareth are very fond of them and want to see them. They were around when they were born and were thrilled by them. They do not want to lose contact."

The case is being brought under the Children Act 1989, which has provision for children to use the courts, independently of adults.

Lisa said: "If going to court is the only way we're going to see our little brother and sister that's what we'll do." Gareth added: "We just want to get to know them. They were only babies when my dad and Susan split up."

Ken Carlisle, their solicitor, said: "Bringing a case through the children is unusual. The court will investigate whether it is in the best interests of the younger children to see their brother and sister."

Mrs Spencer, who lives three miles from her former husband in Kenton, Newcastle, said: "My kids are so settled and happy that they

FROM ONLY £6,995 ON THE ROAD

THEMOST STUNNING FIGURES YOU'LL SEE THIS SUMMER.

MP demands investigation into 30-year lease

Government pays £1m a year for empty offices

BY IAN MURRAY, COMMUNITY CORRESPONDENT

THE Government is paying nearly El million a year in rent for an empty 17-storey office block that it does not want, cannot use and has been unable to sub-let. It will have to go on paying the money until 2009 unless it can find some way of escaping from a 30-year lease agreed in 1979.

The asbestos-clad tower was built for London Transport (LT) in 1971 above Archway tube station in north London In 1978 LT let it on a 150-year lease to Hambros. who sub-let it to the Department of Social Security.

Hambros later transferred the long-term lease, which runs until 2122, to a Mr Patel and a Mr Shah, who are now paid the fixed £913,400 annual rent by the Property Advisers to the Civil Estate (Pace), the government agency that manages public buildings.

The building was originally used as clerical offices and benefits payment bureaux for the Department of Social Security. However, the Government's decentralisation policy, introduced in the 1980s, shifted clerical work to Glasgow, Belfast and Wigan. The two benefits-payment bureaux, which occupied two floors of the building, were moved to smaller local offices last March, leaving the tower empty. The rent, however, still Jeremy Corbyn, Labour MP for Islington North, the con-stituency in which the tower stands, is calling for an inves-tigation by the Public Spending Committee into why the department took out the 30year lease, "It is mind bog-gling," he said yesterday. "We need to know why such a longterm lease was taken out when it could probably have bought the entire building for a lot

http://www.the-times.co.uk

"As it is the taxpayer is saddled with finding nearly El3 million to pay rent for a totaly useless building. My constituents would like to see

The tower has stood empty for 15 months it pulled down because it is so ugly and useless. It just stands

Even when it was in use by the DSS it was totally unsuit-miles away from the area they served. People used to throw furniture through the win-dows in frustration while they were waiting. It is full of asbestos and it can't be properly cleaned. It costs El million a year that ought to be going to people on benefits." A Cabinet Office spokeswoman said that Pace was trying to market the building and it might be converted into flats. The trouble is that it is in need of major refurbishment and that will cost so much that it might be cheaper to go on paying the rent. This kind of problem is not unique and affects the private sector as well as the Government. There are just more offices than the country needs."

Islington Council would also like to see the tower pulled down. "It is a complete blockage on the comprehensive development of the area," a spokesman said. "It's a wasted resource, a blight on

EVERY MONDAY,

ALL SUMMER,

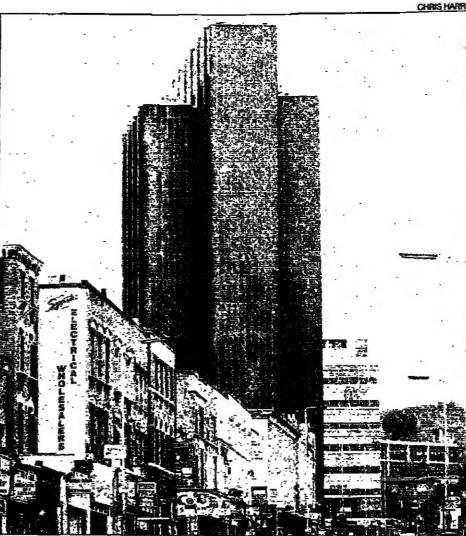

THE TIMES

IS ONLY 10P.

AND OUR 15-PAGE

SPORTS SECTION IS THE LARGEST

OF ANY DAILY NEWSPAPER.

The block in Archway, north London, which residents want to see pulled down

THE TIMES

Five-year project to seek cause of asthma

By Andrew Pierce

A NATIONAL five-year. £5 million research programme to try to identify the cause of asthma will be announced today by Stephen Dorrell, the Health Secretary, in a speech

The news comes as ministers are considering upgrading the significance of asthma. which affects about three mil-lion in Britain. Mr Dorrell may give asthma a specific target in the way that breast cancer and heart disease are working with the Medical Research Council, will evaluate the effectiveness of treatments such as homoeopathic medicines, drugs and the con-ventional inhaler. The study will also look at the effect of air pollution which, while a big factor in the aggravation of the disease, is not its cause, according to the Committee on the Medical Effects of Air Pollutants.

Figures published by the British Medical Journal in January showed that cases of asthma had doubled in schoolchildren in five years. One child suffering from an attack is admitted to hospital every four minutes.

at Southampton University.

Government scientists, finalist through in 734 minutes

ENEWS HERIEF

Crossword

The Birmingham regional final of The Times Aberlour crossword competition was won by Peter Biddlecombe, 36. a computer programmer from Hyde Heath. Buckinghamshire, who solved the four puzzles in an average time of 734 minutes. The runner-up was Michael Clarke, 46: third was Jack Robertson, 54; the doubles title went to Paul Collacott and Andrew Bull. aged 39 and 23, in an average time of Crossword, page 22

Zoo's charity day

A zoo owner on the Isle of Wight who refused entry to a group of mentally disabled people because be said they would frighten his animals is to hold a fund-raising day for Mencap. The charity had criticised Jack Corney but praised his gesture yesterday.

Hang-glider hurt

A man was taken to hospital with suspected spinal injuries after two hang-gliders collid-ed over Combe Gibbet, near Hungerford, Berkshire. Police said his condition was not life-threatening. Another person was treated at the US sailor rescued

A coastguard helicopter flew 205 miles from Sumburgh to airlift a sailor with internal bleeding on the USS Loyal, near the Arctic circle. The four-man crew was scrambled on Saturday afternoon after an SOS relayed by the US Coast Guard in Virginia.

Victim named

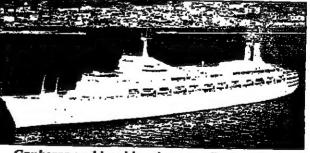

A two-year-old girl killed when a car ran across a pavement and into a shop was named as Jennifer Edgar. Jennifer, of Thirsk, North Yorkshire, was walking with her mother and two young brothers in the town centre on Friday.

Gas getaway

British Gas is offering prizes of weekends in Europe to try to cut the millions of unread meters. Four in ten bills are currently estimated. All customers who allow meter readers into their homes or read tered into the draw.

Village gossip

Villagers in Sharow, North Yorkshire, are trying to find out who cost the village hall fund £475 in a telephone call to a chatline lasting 20 hours and 20 minutes. The committee had already decided calls must be cortailed after its last

Canberra could end her days as a floating hotel

Buyers plan to keep Canberra afloat

By STEPHEN FARRELL

THE cruise liner Canberra looks certain to escape the scrapyard when her sailing days are over. Prospective buyers plan to use her for millennium projects in Britain or a floating hotel in Australia. P&O received several inquiries a day after announcing last month that the ship was to be withdrawn from service in September next year.

The company, which holds the rights to the name Canberra and will stop any buyer operating her as a potential cruise rival, declined to disclose details of interested parties or the size of their offers. Gwyn Hughes, managing director of P&O Cruises, said no decision had been taken about the Canberra's future, but it now seemed unlikely the vessel would be sold for scrap. We have had a significant number of approaches since the announcement. Some projects have been very interesting and might involve lottery funds to convert the vessel for millennium celebrations. he said yesterday. It is our judgment that there is a very good chance something feasi-ble will come about before the ship goes out of service."

The 44,807-tonne Canberra cost £17 million to build and was the largest postwar British passenger ship when launched 36 years ago.

1.

(R.O.L 30P MON TO FRL)

NEWS IN BRIEF finalist

ONDAY JULY & 1914

Crosswon

through in T34 minute

in a

10 to 200 the transfer in $2.9 \leq 9 (k_{\rm Pe})^{-1}_{\rm Alph}$

 $\frac{1}{f_{1}} \cdot \frac{1}{f_{2}} \cdot \frac{1}{f_{1}} \cdot \frac{1}{f_{2}} \cdot$

21 Ships ...

Britain saves EU from shameful compromise on Rushdie cre is good news for federalists and sceptics alike. The EU's "common foreign policy" has just avoided making a monstrously silly mistake thanks in part to the beleain minutes the state of the sta guered British stubbornly insisting on the right result.

rotating presidency, currently Ireland, holds the European side of the conversation. Recently there has been a good deal more dialogue than criticism; but Iran and its proxies have gone on treating the EU as a killing field just the German police recently arrested an Iranian national suspected of involvement in the murder of Reza Maziouman, once a minister under the Shah, who was killed in Paris on May 30. Quite apart from bullets and knives aimed anywhere in the world at people who have translated or published Rushdie, the main Iranian opposition group reckons that 12 dissidents have been killed outside the borders of

Iran this year alone. Tehran has never lifted the seven-year-old fatwa against Mr Rushdie; a semi-official Iranian foundation offers a run the critical dialogue com-$2 million (£1.55 million) mittee met in Brussels, most bounty to his killer. But the EU-Iran dialogue recently dreamt up a truce: Iran would confirm in writing that it had no intention of killing Rushdie or sponsoring anyone to do so. In exchange for

Now that this squalid surrender document has been torn up, almost nobody will admit to having supported such a formula. But by June 19, when the officials from the 15 EU foreign ministries who this overwhelming act of charity, the EU would accept the "validity and irrev-ocability" of the original governments were in favour the deal. Only Britain frontally opposed the whole idea - France, Germany, Italy and Spain were in nder a foreign policy made by majority vote, Britain would have been overruled and the EU would have been rid of the turbulent and expensive Rushdie problem.

Remember that Britain as opposed to almost everything at that stage of the non-cooperation campaign over beef. The Iranians, sensing a good moment to exploit Britain's isolation, dropped hints about the rewards waiting for governments ready to sign the pieces of paper. Germany could have a quarter of Iran's second five-year plan worth $25 billion, Iran's Ambassador to Bonn claimed. He denied that Iran supported terrorism. "London has blocked the talks, just as it is now doing with BSE."

On July 1, the day Irish diplomats took over the case, the Iranian national news agency murmured silkily that Dublin had an "ideal opportunity to improve ties with Iran based upon depoliticising the row over the apostate author, Salman Rushdie." For "ties" read trade. Ireland already sells Iran large quantities of beef. But by then Mr Rushdie's supporters had leaked the scheme to swap letters and Mr Rushdie had dropped in on Hans van Mierlo, the Dutch Foreign Minister, while publicising the Dutch edition of The Moor's Last Sigh. Mr Van Mierio agreed that the EU should say nothing that "would seem to accept the death verdict over Rushdie".

That did the trick: the scheme went in the bin. In Brussels on July I, the British delegate to the EU's "working group on Iran" found himself suddenly popular. Delegates fell over each other to object to unprincipled commercialism as a basis for relations

Mr Rushdie had been asked by the Foreign Office for his view of the proposed compromise and his answer cannot be printed in a family newspaper. He did reflect wearily to a Dutch news-paper that "the EU is very bored with the issue and is desperate to get it off the agenda". Mr Rushdie's liberty to stay alive plainly requires ceaseless vigilance.

GEORGE BROCK

Our man in Paris sails off to work

By MICHAEL BINYON

DIPLOMATIC EDITOR MICHAEL JAY will be greeted with elaborate diplomatic ceremony and naval honours when he arrives in Portsmouth tomorrow and sets sail in HMS Manchester.

hours later in Cherbourg.

travelling south to take up residence as Her Majesty's envoy in one of the grandest and costliest missions in the world — the British Embassy in Paris. His unusual arrival is partly a publicity stunt, a way of matching the journey of Sir Christopher Mallaby, his precedessor, who walked to France through the Channel tunnel while it was still under

But the naval arrival has a more serious political symbolism; it comes only days before the signing of a new Anglo-

French naval agreement, and five days before British airmen fly down the Champs

Elysees, during the celebra-tions of France's national day.

to mark a year's existence of the Anglo-French air group.

Defence co-operation with France is unprecedented in its construction.

He will disembark four

French corruption scandals reach Chirac party funds

THE detention last Friday of Loik Le Floch-Prigent - the head of SNCF. France's stateowned railway - poses an embarrassing dilemma for the ruling Gaullist party, which came to power promising a clampdown on graft but which now faces a major corruption scandal within its own ranks.

ca's great annovance, the Europeans have been holding what is coyly known as a "critical dialogue" with Iran.

The EU state holding the

The list of industrialists already under formal investigation reads like a selection from the Who's Who of French business: Louis Schweitzer. president of Renault, and Gilles Ménage, former head of the state electricity company. for alleged involvement in government wire-tapping: lean-Louis Beffa, head of the St Gobain group, for alleged "influence-peddling", and dozens more. The credibility of French business leaders received another blow in May when an international arrest warrant was issued for Serge Dassault, head of the respected aircraft-makers, by a Bel-allegations of corruption. In La Santé prison, Paris. just a few cells from where M Le Floch-Prigent spent the weekend, languishes Jacques Crozemarie, the founder and former head of ARC. France's largest cancer research association, who is being held on suspicion of fraud over his charity's finances.

The jailed SNCF chief is suspected of abusing corpo-rate funds, receiving stolen goods, and publishing false information and accounts to help a friend's ailing textile company when he was chairman of the oil giant. Elf-Aquitaine, from 1989 to 1993. Meanwhile, the Government itself has become embroiled in a scandal, which some have described as a French Watergate, over al-leged illegal funding of the Gaullist party through the Paris city housing authority when M Chirac was Mayor and head of the party. Public anger has been fed by allegations that the Government is seeking to hush up investigations and impede the work of magistrates.

When judicial power is too long shackled, it can be hard to control when it is let loose. By attempting to control it, by treating judges and journalists with arrogance, the Govern-ment is botching the job." Le Journal du Dimanche newspaper said yesterday.

The detention of M Le Floch-Prigent is particularly embarrassing for President Chirac, who personally insisted on his appointment. So far, the French Government has defended the jailed railway boss against calls for his resignation, at least partly through fear that the SNCF rescue package hammered out by M Le Floch-Prigent will be scuppered if he goes.

Chirac promised to crack down on graft

can argue that many of the scandals date back to the Socialist era and that the latest wave of investigations is mere-ly a fulfilment of its poll promise. But in recent weeks the law has turned its attention to those now in power.

A fortnight ago the public prosecutor of Paris abruptly dropped an investigation into claims that the Paris Mayor. Jean Tiberi, one of the leading lights in the Gaullist Rally for the Republic party, had allocated a luxurious apartment to his son when he was head of the city housing office.

In the last six months, three other party members have avoided prosecution, thanks to rulings by the same government-appointed judge.
Two anti-corruption magistrates have emerged as particularly tenacious sleuths. Eva. Joly, the Norwegian-born investigator probing the Elf case, might have been expected to tiptoe round the investigation. gation, particularly after she received a series of death threats. Instead, she demanded police protection and it was she who detained M Le Flochent last week

Similarly, the magistrate Eric Halphen, when denied police co-operation in his investigation of M Tiberi, simply carried out the search of the Mayor's home on his own. unearthing a raft of docunents, two handguns and £2,500 worth of crisp Fr500 notes.

For French politicians and business leaders alike, this may prove to be a most uncomfortable summer.

The leading steer guiding Miura fighting buils through central Pampiona yesterday leaps over a fallen runner during the "running of the bulls" on the first day of the week-long San Fermin festi-val, which attracts people to the northern Spanish city from all over the world.

Pamplona tourist gored risk their lives was Robert Therwell, 25, who was gored in the groin. The South African underwent an operation, but there was no his condition. The goring came a day after a man from Madrid, aged 50, died in Fuentesauco, western Spain, in a similar bull run. Pampiona's festival was made famous by Ernest

Hemingway in his 1926 novel The Sun Also Rises, Each morning six fighting bulls are let loose on an 825-yard dash along narrow streets from a corrai to an arena.

An American runner was killed last summer, the first to die in 15 years; 13 have died this century. (Reuter) scope, depth and amity.

Although political business is increasingly conducted down the phone by John Major and President Chirac. Mr Jay insists an ambassa-OT'S TOLE IS SILLI VITAL

Tall, spare, precise and articulate, Mr Jay, 50, has to make the key contacts, act as the go-between for British and French bankers and industrialists, brief the French press, control the spin on British policy, and report to London at the first sign of a problem on the horizon.

More immediately, he will attempt to persuade the French that they can still do business with Britain, despite the widening chasm over Europe. It would not make sense, he insists, to try to weaken the Franco-German alliance. But his mission is like that of all British diplomats over the centuries: to keep a balance of power in Europe.

role still vital

Man runs amok and destroys Madrid cathedral treasures

FROM TUNKU VARADARAJAN IN MADRID

A MAN believed to be mental- when I did not find it, I lost my ly disturbed is being held by police after running amok in Madrid's La Almudena cathedral, causing extensive damage to sacred images and parish records. Church authorities have described much of the destruction as being 'irremediable".

The 40-year-old man, who was arrested after cleaners raised the alarm, confessed later that he was in search of the cathedral's chalice. I wanted the sacred chalice, and temper," he said.

The man, who offered no resistance to police, had earlier destroyed two rosette stainedglass windows, an early 19thcentury wooden statue of the Crucifixion, and an image of the Virgin from the same period, known as Madre de Dios. Ornaments on the crypt altar were also smashed. Also slashed beyond repair was a collection of 12 etchings by contemporary Spanish artists, including the sculptor

Eduardo Chillida. A cathedral spokesman was unable to estimate the cost of the damage.
The trail of destruction extended to the cathedral's office, where computers were smashed and archives torn to shreds. The man, whose name has not been released by police, also destroyed much of the large collection of religious material on video, apparently tearing many tapes out with

Bonn fury as beef | Coin reopens holy shroud debate arrives via Italy

FROM ROGER BOYES IN BONN

THE German Government tion and explanation from the yesterday demanded an indepth investigation into how British beef is being infiltrat-ed into other European Union states in defiance of the export ban. Bonn was alerted by a cable from the German Ambassador in Rome, who reported that beef from herds that should have been slaughtered under the British culling programme was mov-ing from Scotland and Ireland into France and then to Italy with forged health certificates.

According to the diplomatic cable, which has sent Germans into a new spiral of panic, live British cattle are also ending up in Italy and being reclassified as Italian. Behind it all, there is a "meat mafia". The ambassador's report says, in part: "Last Friday Italian police discov-ered a shipment of meat falsely described as potatoes." A spokesman for the German Health Ministry said yesterday Bonn was demanding an immediate examinagovernment of Hesse, one of Germany's 16 provincial states, has already announced an siert and is stepping up its controls on all animal and meat transports. "If our suspicions are borne out, it will be another heavy blow against the confidence and the health protection of the consumer, said Dietmar Glasser, a State Secretary (junior minister) in the Hesse government. He and other provincial politicians are pressing Bonn to reconsider its policy on lifting the ban on British tallow, gelatine and bull semen.

European Commission. The

The German Federal Government is allowed to uphold its national ban on British beef derivatives until September but must then, as part of the Florence compromise, allow these products to be imported. The governments of Germany's provincial states are against any such lifting, and the whole issue is likely to create a major constitutional row.

FROM RICHARD OWEN IN ROME TWO scientists at Turin international team of experts University claim to have new evidence that the shroud of Turin is not a medieval fake, but dates from the time of Christ's death.

Pier Luigi Baima Bollone, professor of forensic medicine, and Nello Balossino, professor of computer science, announced in the Catholic newpaper Avvenire that they had detected the faint impression on the cloth of a Roman coin from the reign of Tiberius. The coin, which has been dated to AD29, was above the left eye of the elongated bearded face on the cloth, the scientists said. The Turin newspaper La Stampa said it was "new proof that the shroud is authentic". Awenire said it was "sensational and definitive", since in AD29 Pontius Pilate was still governor of

The shroud, kept in Turin Cathedral since the 16th century, was venerated for years as the image of Christ in a winding sheet or burial shroud. In 1988, however, an concluded after exhaustive tests, including Cl4 carbon dating, that it was a medieval forgery, made between 1260

Avvenire said the newly detected coin, or "lepton", clearly bore the letters LIS -L for year, I for 10 and S for six. This meant the sixteenth year of Tiberius's reign, or in modern reckoning, AD29.

This definitively resolves the question of dating," the paper said. The report said the scientists had also made out the letters TIB and CAJ. the first letters respectively of Tiberiou Kaicaros, or Tiberius Caesar, with an initial C instead of K for "Caesar". Professor Balossino said he had used the latest computer techniques and had compared the coin to Palestinian coinage of the period at the British Museum. He said it was a common Hebrew pracnice to place coins on or near the eyes after death. Giuseppe Ghiberti, one of the shroud's custodians, said further tests were needed.

SALE STARTS TODAY

Neff 6120 Microwave, 0.6 cu ft (brown only) 50% off	was £250.00 now £125.00
Bosch SMS6032 Dishwasher (6 programmes)	WAS £530.00 NOW £459.00
Electrolux ER2659B Frost Free Fridge Freezer	was £519.00 now £399.00
AEG 1260 Washer Dryer, 1200 spin	was £799.00 now £699.0 0
Miele W800 Washing Machine, 1000 spin	was £850.00 now £795.00
TD son SW	was £1550.00 low £1320.00

MASSIVE

> OPENING HOURS Monday 8th July 9.00am - 8.00am Tuesday 9th July 9.00AM - 8.00PM From Wednesday 10th July - normal hours apply.

SELFRIDGES

	MENT	s are down in our base:	PRICE was £1849.00	Loewe Arcada 72/100	MASSIVE	ıļy) WAS £250.00
now £1570.0 0	Television		NOW £125.00
was £249.00	Grundig GV5000		WAS £530.00
now £209.00	VCR		NOW £459.00
20% off	SELECTED SEPARATES ALL AT.	SAVINGS ON	WAS £519.00
WAS £169.00	JVC RCX540	ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES	NOW £399.00
NOW £129.00	Portable CD Radio		Was £799.00
was £849.00	Mitsubishi CT 28AVIBD5	ltems subject to availability. OPENING HOURS: Monday 8th July 9.00au - 8.00bu	NOW £699.00
now £799.00	Dolby Pro-Logic Television		WAS £850.00
R EXTENDED WARRANTY	ALL NEW TV'S OVER £500 FREE 5 YEAR	Tuesday 9th July 9.00au - 8.00au From Wednesday 10th July - normal hours apply.	NOW £795.00

Israeli leader's US visit overshadowed by growing claims of his partner's tyrannical ways

Netanyahu's wife steals limelight with new demands

FROM CHRISTOPHER WALKER IN JERUSALEM

FRESH disclosures about the Netanyahu, Israel's Prime Minister, and his third wife. Sara, 35, continued to domi-nate the Hebrew media yesterday, causing concern among his entourage that they may overshadow his first official trip to the United States.

starting tomorrow.

Mrs Netanyahu — a former air stewardess turned child psychologist, whose imperious ways have been likened to those of Hillary Clinton - is reported to insisted on having a personal hairdresser at her beck and call in the US and to have sent a "shopping list" of baby requirements, including nappies, to be purchased by the Israeli Embassy in

There was concern in the Prime Minister's office last night that reports about the Netanyahus' private life, and allegations that Mrs Netanyahu subjected two nannies to tyrannical treatment, would distract from political coverage of the Prime Minister's image-building trip. There is also concern that American journalists might attempt to secure stories from Mr. Netanyahu's first two wives -Micky and Fleur - and his 18year-old daughter. Noa, who ali live in America.

in a profile of the new Israeli leader, Vanity Fair

Ben-Yair: shouted at for eating a tomato

6 There is a shadow over them which reappears again and again. It is worrisome 9 tracked Fleur, his second wife, to an investment office in New York where, although she has recently remarried, her secretary answered the phone as "Fleur Netanyahu's office". The magazine quoted Mr Netanyahu's spokesman as asking apprehensively: "Are you planning to call either of the former wives?"

The political damage that stories of disharmony in the Netanyahu household are causing Israel's youngest Prime Minister was illustrated by a commentary yesterday in the respected Tel Aviv paper Haaretz, the leading Israeli broadsheet. Sara Netanyahu is trying to make her life easy when she dismisses the whole issue as a politically motivated story. There is a shadow hanging over them which reappears again and again. and it is worrisome.

"Political differences aside. all of Israel's citizens would want their Prime Minister to function in a healthy atmosphere, free from emotional shocks in his home life," wrote Amnon Danker, a columnist.

'Under most circumstances, the press should not intervene in the goings-on in the private lives of their leaders; they deserve their privacy. even in the age of direct elections and even though the leaders themselves use their families to generate positive reports. On the other hand, leaders cannot demand privacy when the press exposes worrisome human activities." Another disclosure about

Mr Netanyahu - who three years ago admitted adultery

with an Israeli political consultant - involved a frontpage photograph of him sharing drinks with a previ-ously unknown Italian friend, 46-year-old Catherine Mondadori. Yediot Aharonot reported that their platonic relationship had pre-dated his

According to the paper, which described her as a "soulmate" of the Prime Minister's, Signora Mondadori denied that they had ever had an

Last week Manchester-born Heidi Ben-Yair, 22, confirmed earlier claims that Mrs Netanyahu subjected domestic servants to obsessive and tyrannical behaviour. Miss Ben-Yair claimed she had been shouted at for eating a tomato, had been forced to work from 5.30am to midnight, and that she had resigned after only one week.

Yediot Aharonot, Tel Aviv's biggest-selling daily, meanwhile secured an embarrass-ing official denial that Tanya Shaw, another disaffected nanny in the Netanyahu household, had been sacked for "security reasons" - as had been claimed by the Prime Minister's office. Raising the political stakes.

Yediot's military correspondent reported that there had been no recommendation by Shin Bet, Israel's equivalent to MI5, to dismiss Ms Shaw, 21, who was unceremoniously ejected from the Netanyahu home eight days ago after burning a saucepan vegetable soup. Ms Shaw bsequently painted a picture of domestic tyranny imposed by Mrs Netanyahu and her session with cleanliness.

The newspaper quoted a Shin Bet official as saying: Not just any security guard can decide to fire a namny for security reasons. There must be a proper recommendation. The closer a worker is to the PM, the more wide-ranging the investigation. Tanya Shaw also underwent such an

Mossad dossier to set peace priorities

By CHRISTOPHER WALKER

A SECRET Mossad report on Syrian and Iranian involvement in terrorist activities against Israel, America and Binyamin Netanyahu on his visit to Washington tomorrow.

According to the Tel Aviv paper Haaretz, the new Mossad chief, Danny Yatom, and the head of military elligence were ordered to draw up the document to reinforce the Israeli Prime Minister's drive for more concerted anti-terrorist activity. It will also support his demand that a halt to terrorist activities against Israel is the sine qua non of any new peace talks with Damascus.

The week-long trip will have far-reaching regional and US political implications with both President Clinton — who openly supported Shimon Peres in Israel's May election — and the leading Republican candidate, Bob Dole, anxious to use their personal ties with Mr Netanyahu to secure the Jedda: President Chirac of France, on an official visit to Saudi Arabia, yesterday urged Israel to disclose quickly whether it intends to pursue the Middle East peace process. He gave a warning that it was obvious "uncertainty will lead to a resumption of terrorism", adding: "This is not an academic theory, it is a genuine risk". (Reuter)

Jewish vote in the November presidential election.

Senior Western sources predict that, despite differences over Mr Netanyahu's plans to expand Jewish settlements and his opposition to the "land for peace" formula favoured by the Clinton Administration, the two men will reinforce the two countries" traditional ties. "America itself is now convinced that Syria had a link to the Dhahran bombing, so minds will be meeting on that issue, and on the need to freeze out Iran," one diplomat said.

on which diplomats expect Mr Clinton to seek answers from the Israeli leader. He will want to know if Mr Netanyahu intends to pull Israeli troops out of the West Bank town of Hebron, in line with the 1993 peace deal; and whether he intends to meet personally with the Palestinian Authority leader. Yassir Arafat.

Israeli political sources said they believed that Mr Netanyahu would attempt to improve his hardline image by offering a pledge in principle to go ahead with a watered-down version of the Hebron pullout and to commit himself to a face-to-face meeting with Mr Arafat without naming a date.

So far Mr Clinton, 49, and Mr Netanyahu, 46, have deliberately played down their differences behind a barrier of cliches which American reporters will be hoping to penetrate during the host of briefings and press conferences which Mr Netanyahu has arranged. Israeli papers have played up the similarities, noting that both having leapt past more seasoned politicians while battling questions of marital infidelity.

They also have a language in common. Educated in America in business and architecture, Mr Netanyahu is an outspoken admirer of American ways who speaks fluent English and, like Mr Clinton, is a master of US-style politics in the television age. He has been credited with doing much in his first weeks in power to switch Israel to a more presidential style of government.

His

in the second se

"I've an imi

LAN MONTE

Costello

One conclusion of the talks is expected to be a dramatic switch in emphasis from the so-called "Syrian track" in the peace process towards the "Palestinian track", in which Mr Netanyahu will attempt to convince the Palestinians to accept wide-ranging autonomy over their affairs, combined with economic benefits instead of any more hope of eventual sovereignty over the Israeli-occupied West Bank, east Jerusalem or Gaza Strip.

15 JULY - 1 SEPTEMBER

FORTE

FOR RESERVATIONS SEE YOUR TRAVEL AGENT OR CALL 0345

FORTE

Heritage

All reservations are subject to availability with a limited number of rooms available at these promotional rates. Offer walld from Monday, 15th July, 1996 and only at the hotels bited above and cannot be used in conjunction with any other offer or special promotion. Breaks are for 2 rights only and must be completed by Sunday, 1st September 1996, Where single rooms are not available a supplement may be charged, please ask. Reservations Agents for details and costs. Offer available to UK residents only

Support grows for Kuwaiti Two die as Christian sentenced to die

By Eve-Ann Prentice, diplomatic correspondent

A BUSINESSMAN, effectively sentenced to death by an Islamic court in Kuwait for converting from Islam to Christianity, said yesterday that the disclosure of his plight by The Times had given him hope of survival. Robert Hussein, 45, speaking from hiding in Kuwait. said: "It has been a miracle that I have survived for so long. Now many people have come forward to offer to help me because of your exposure of the terror I have lived with. I feel wonderful today."

The newspaper reported on Saturday that Mr Hussein had been forced into hiding after the Islamic court ruled that he was guilty of apostasy, which Islamic lawyers said was punishable by death. Mr Hussein said earlier that he had rejected offers of large sums of money from Muslims to try to persuade him to return to Islam. He spoke as calls for action to help im spread at the weekend in Britain and America. The growing clamour sur-rounding Mr Hussein also prompted criticism of the West by a Kuwaiti politician, who said the Islamic court's ruling was sound, and suggested that Mr Hussein would have to get used to it. Britain has expressed concern over the case to Kuwait, through the British Embassy

Mr Hussein, once an affluent businessman but now an Hussein: "Many people have offered to help" outcast because of his new faith, has not seen or talked to his children for seven months. His only contact with his wife has been by telephone, he said, from the house where he is hiding. Once the general manager of a family building and trading business that had $5 million (£3.2 million) in assets, Mr Hussein now fears reprisals and has had to move from house to house, mostly staying with Western expatriates.

In a bitter retort to the West, meanwhile, Khaled al-Adwa, a leading Islamic politician in Kuwait, said that the country's Islamicists did not want an international uproar over Mr Hussein. Mr Adwa, a fiery member of the powerful Islamic caucus in Kuwait's 50seat elected assembly, said alternative for this conversion.

Mr Adwa said.

which is forbidden in Islam,"

Christian pressure groups in the United States and Britain protested strongly to Kuwait's embassies in Washington and London about the Donald Anderson, Labour MP for Swansea East, said the Kuwaitis should reverse the ruling, and urged the British Government to intervene on Mr Hussein's behalf. "If they [the Kuwaitis] have any regard for world public opinion and their image outside, they must do something about this," he told the BBC. "Clearly it is quite unacceptable that people who change their faith into conforming with international laws. The Kuwaiti Government owe us and the Western allies for their very existence as a Government now, following our intervention on their behalf with our men, with our materiel, during the Gulf are persecuted in this way and they must be embarrassed

jet engine explodes

FROM QUENTIN LETTS

A WOMAN and her 12-yearold son died on a Delta Airways jet when one of its engines disintegrated before take-off and fragments of metal sliced through the fuselage. The McDonnell Douglas 88 aircraft was within seconds of taking off from Pensacola, Florida, on Saturday when its port engine, on the rear of the fuselage, blew apart. Anita Saxton and her son, Nolan, who were sitting towards the rear of the plane, died almost instantly after being struck by debris. Five others were seriously injured and several people received minor injuries during an emergency evacuation.

An "obvious hole" could be seen in the fuselage of the eight-year-old plane yesterday, said Bill Berry, a Delta official. The incident was described as a "rotor burst" or uncontained engine failure". an occasional phenomenon with jet aircraft when an engine falls apart at speed, shooting out shrapnel.

The accident came at a time of widespread American concern about airline safety after the ValuJet Everglades disaster in May, which also hap-pened in Florida, Valuer's aircraft are now grounded.

Delta's Flight 1288, bound for Atlanta, was accelerating for takeoff when the engine failed. It stopped 500 yards

Quinn: hospital visit

after heart scare

THE American actor Anthony Quinn, 80, has be-come a father for the twelfth time. His former secretary. Kathy Benvin, has given birth to a 71b Hoz boy, Ryan Quinn, in Bristol, Rhode Mr Quinn, who was last week released from hospital after a heart scare, was described as being "ecstatic" at the news. The infant was healthy and slept in his parents' bed on the night after his birth. Miss Benvin is the fifth

BY QUENTIN LETTS

'Zorba' star, 80, a father again woman to give the actor a child and stands to become Mrs Quinn next month once he has completed an ill-tempered divorce from his

Mr Quinn underwent a coronary bypass operation in February 1990, but doctors said that he had a strong heart and his career would not be affected. He won an Oscar for best

Zapata!, a film made in 1952 in which he played a Mexican revolutionary, and another four years later for Lust for Life, in which he portrayed the French paint-er Paul Gauguin. His other films include

Hunchback of Notre Dame (1956), Requiem for a Heavyweight (1963). Lawrence of Arabia (1962). Guns of Navarone (1961). Zorba the Greek (1964) and

Mandela should be pledging change, not more of the same

FROM R.W. JOHNSON IN DURBAN

REACHING a judgment on the achievement of Nelson Mandela as he nears the halfway stage of his presidency is no easy matter. On the one hand he enjoys an unchallengeable authority and huge popularity in South Africa and yet he has only a limited control over affairs of government. Similarly, he enjoys enormous status internationally but has signally failed in his constant appeals for foreign investment. And while he is universally admired by his fellow South Africans, new figures show a steadily rising curve of emigration by the skilled professionals on whom the economy crucially depends.

Mr Mandela himself is fully aware of these contradictions and the widespread misgivings about what will happen when he hands over to his anointed succes-sor, the Deputy President Thabo Mbcki - which is why he is now energetically trying to "sell" Mr Mbeki to British and European businessmen. In fact, Mr Mbeki is already clearly as much in charge of the Government as Mr Mandela, perhaps more - it is he who chairs the Cabinet and who attempts such policy co-ordination as exists. In the French Fourth Repubfic it was commonly said the President existed only to open the flower shows — un président pour les chrysanthemums. Mr Mandela is rather more than that, but even he insists that he is too old (now nearly 78) to be in charge of the when he steps down, and that already "rather than being an asset I'm a decoration".

COMMENTARY

If one asks investment bankers why there has been so little response to Mr Mandela's repeated pleas for foreign investment, one gets the succinct answer "policy drift". After more than two years in office the Government, paralysed by its wish to placate the trade unions and the Communist Party. still has no real economic strategy, merely a wish list.

Both Mr Mandela and Mr Mbeki have repeatedly announced their determination to privatise state industries, but nothing has been privatised. Education is in a mess and yet the Government shows no inclination to deal with the riotous students who have brought one campus after another promises to bring forward proposals for a national health service, but has not done so. Meanwhile, the right to free care has been extended while state hospital subsidies have been cut, bringing many hospitals to the point of collapse.

The Government's centrepiece. the Reconstruction and Development Plan, has had its ministry abolished and the plan as a whole is beginning to drop from public sight. The Minister of Housing, despite promises of a massive building programme, is putting up houses at only a third of the rate that F.W. de Klerk's Government did. The Minister of Justice constantly warns that the justice system is near breakdown, while the police confess they are almost powerless to stop the massive crime wave. And so on and on.

The Commonwealth Human Rights Initiative yesterday urged President Mandela and John Major to press Nigeria to release political prisoners and move quickly towards civilian rule (Eve-Ann Prentice writes).

The Government, which has enormous ambitions to transform and reconstruct South Africa, seems to preside ineffectually over a Wild West society it cannot control. Meanwhile, the black poor who voted the ANC into power have seen almost no real change. Many observers blame this situation on ministerial incompetence and affirmative-action appointments. In reality, the situation is somewhat more complex. Mr Mandela has subordinated all else to the goal of national reconcilia-tion which he so tirelessly preaches, and the ANC is also a broad church that seeks to keep together an alliance of Africanists, Communists, black businessmen, students, trade unionists, peasants and the unemployed by means of endless consultation. The result is a general squeamishness about offending pressure groups which, in turn. tends to paralyse action.

There is no doubt race relations are better than ever and that Mr Mandela's policy of national reconciliation is working remarkably conspicuously failed to do is create confidence in the future. Oddly, the two things frequently coincide: if you ask the opinion of any of the army of skilled professionals leaving the country, the chances are they would tell you they liked Mr

Mandela and applauded national reconciliation.

In that sense Mr Mandela is making a mistake by reassuring investors that the transition to Mr Mbeki will mean complete continuity. The problem is precisely that what is needed is not a continuation of the present drift but some decisive action to reconfirm national priorities and cut through various policy log jams. Nothing Mr Mandela can say would be half as effective as, for example, announcing that the Government would make appointments on merit to help to deliver real change to the black poor. launching just one major privatisation, acting firmly to restore order on troubled campuses or sacking a few of the more obviously incompe-tent ministers. Of such decisions there is, sadly, as yet no sign.

Clintons clear of . Whitewater 'until after the election'

BY MARTIN FLETCHER, US EDITOR

KENNETH STARR, the Whitewater special prosecutor, dealt a blow to Bob Dole's hopes of winning the White House yesterday by suggesting that he was unlikely to recommend criminal charges against either President Clinton or his wife before November's election.

Mr Starr said he planned to adhere to the Justice Department's traditional practice of taking into account the effect any charges would have on the electoral process. "That's a powerful counsel for restraint," he told The New Yorker magazine. The special prosecutor's comments will delight the White House, as an indictment of either the President or candidates for the US Senate, still less the sort Victor Mo-

Nissan pick-up with a crumpled door and crack across its windscreen. In the back was his suitcase, a picnic basket

tion of 3,185, was the sixty-second town Mr Morales had visited in 19 days. He spent an hour telling how he - a man with practically no funds and still less political experience planned to topple the mighty

Phil Gramm this November.

He took a collection for petrol money, then set off for the next stop in America's most quixotic campaign of the year. You're either crazy or the gutsiest person I've ever met. one leathery old Groesbeck rancher told him.

"Either way you'll fit in up in Washington." Mr Morales is a Groesbeck, with a populaand campaign leaflets.

He drove his battered white rales paid them.

I wo di

iet ens

explois

First Lady has long seemed the biggest potential threat to Mr Clinton's re-election. However, the article by James Stewart, author of an acdaimed book on Whitewater, also delivers a warning that Mr Starr could snare Mr Clinton in a second term. Mr Stewart reported that Mr Starr's inquiry was "heading towards the President himself", and he had considered the politically explosive step of naming the President as an "unindicted co-conspirator" in the recent fraud trial of Jim and Susan McDougal, Mr Clinton's former Whitewater

Mr Stewart also suggested that Mr McDougal's loyalty-

men and one other well-

He took leave of absence from his job, withdrew $8,000

(£5,100) from his savings, and last June set off on a 60,000-

Mr Morales, the only

Hispanic running against three white men, emerged victorious as the state's first-ever Hispanic Senate nomi-nee. He drove his pick-up on to the floor of the state Demomile journey around Texas.

known Texan politician.

business partners.

Hispanic picks up

votes in Texas

FROM MARTIN FLETCHER IN GROESBECK, TEXAS

THE people in this hot, dusty year dared him to run for the town in rural east Texas are Democratic nomination

vering" since his conviction, implying he might co-operate with Mr Starr in return for a lesser sentence. "There's no reason to do anything for the Clintons because they're not going to do a damn thing for while, giving videotaped testimony at the White House yesterday for a second Whitewater trial now taking place in Little Rock. Mr Clinton's testimony was summonsed by lawyers for two Arkansas bankers accused of illegally channelling more than $13,000 (£8,200) of bank funds into Mr Clinton's 1990 campaign for re-election as

This was the second time in three months that the President had suffered the indignity of being called as a defence witness in April the Mo-Dougals summonsed him to testify in their trial in a bid to discredit David Hale, the former head of a Little Rock loan company and the prosecu-tion's chief witness. Mr Hale claimed that in 1986 Mr Clinton, as Governor, pressured him to make an illegal 000 loan to McDougal from governmentinsured funds earmarked for the economically disadvantaged. Mr Clinton categorically denied the charge, but - to the President's embarrassment — the jury convicted the McDougals anyway.

The New Yorker article said Mr Starr's team was investigating whether Mr Clinton was part of a criminal conspir-acy to obtain that loan to buy a cratic convention in San Antonio to a thunderous ovation. On the face of it, Morales v. Gramm, the current state Republican senator, is a hopeless match. Mr Morales knows he can never beat Mr Gramm at his own game, and is continuing as before. But he has caught the imagination of the public. Bob Dole, the leading Republican presidential candi-date, should be uneasy. Mr Morales could conceivably de-us," said Mr McDougal. Mr Clinton was, mean-

Governor.

property that would save the Whitewater Development Corporation from collapse. The article noted that the prosecutor's questioning of both the McDougals and Mr Clinton in that first trial went well beyond what was necessary to secure the McDougals'

It seemed designed to elicit information about Mr Clinton, particularly an alleged meeting at which Mr Hale claimed he. Mr Clinton and Mr McDougal agreed on the loan. Mr Clinton denied any Major Daniel Zajac, from New York, in talks with Bosnian Serbs who were protesting over the presence of US helicopters, serving with the lfor peacekeepers, near Han Pijesak, 35 miles east of Sarajevo.

Hundreds of people had blocked a road and Bosnian Serb forces threatened to shoot down the beliconters.

Hunt for graves begins ting illegal Serb heavy weapfew miles from Srebrenica ons. Civilians jostled with American troops on Satur-day, believing they had come where hundreds of slaughtered Muslims are thought to arrest General Ratko be buried. The 20-strong Mladic, the Serb military team, assisted by a group of leader who is based there. local workers, cleared under-Yesterday war crimes ingrowth from a patch of ground on a densely wooded vestigators completed their

Cerska, preparing for me-chanical diggers to start work today. Earlier a team of Norwegian experts swept the hill-side with mine detectors and marked out an area with yellow ribbons. As many as 8,000 Muslim men from the enclave are still missing and presumed dead after it fell to the Serbs last

Virgin Islands at risk

BY OUR FOREIGN STAFF

TROPICAL Storm Bertha advanced on a swath of Caribbean islands yesterday, heading directly for the Virgin Islands with hurricane-strength gusts. Governor Roy L. Schneider ordered shelters to be opened for hundreds of residents still living under tarpaulin roofs following damage in last year's storms.

The eye of the storm is expected to cross over St Thomas, the main American Virgin Island, sometime today, forecasters said. Government officials and the US National Weather Service posted hurricane warnings from Puerto Rico east and south to Dominica. They told residents to expect winds of at least 74mph and high waters within 24 hours.

Bertha raced toward the islands at about 24mph - fast for a tropical storm - producing sustained winds of 70mph and gusts of over 74mph. Tropical storms become classified as hurricanes when their maximum sustained winds reach 74mph.

Acapulco, Mexico: A violent storm that lashed Acapulco on Saturday left seven people dead, four injured and hundreds homeless, said the official news agency Notimex. The cost of damage, so far, to farms, homes and fishing was

Phone lines are open Sam-Spm Mon-Fri and 10em-2pm Saturday, issued by Midland Bank plo

Boon: Russia would damage its ties with Bonn if it went ahead with plans to national-ise works of art and other valuables seized from Germany in the Second World War, Klaus Kinkel, the German Foreign Minister, said.

He told Welt am Sonntag that proposed Russian legislation would violate international law and bilateral treaties. "Unilateral action as envi sioned by the Duma would block the way for resolving mutually this difficult and sensitive matter," Herr Kinkel said. (Reuter)

Voting limited

Niamey: A poll to return Niger to democracy went ahead in the interior, but only government ministers and their families could vote in the capital. The public is expected to vote today. (Reuter)

Shuttle record

Cape Canaveral: The space shuttle Columbia and its seven astronauts returned from the longest flight in shuttle history, nearly 17 days, after solving last-minute problems with a cooling system. (AP)

Planes grounded

Wellington: Ash from Mount Ruapehu in New Zealand's North Island forced the closure of all airports north of the volcano, including the main gateway at Auckland, hundreds of miles away. (Reuter)

Flag protest

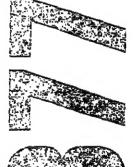

Manila: President Ramos ordered the prosecution of Christian politicians who reportedly urged followers to fly the national flag upside down in protest over a peace deal with Muslim rebels. (Reuter)

Edible edifice

Frankfurt: A 20ft tall cake built over a fountain in the central square here, for a place in the record books, was so big that it needed a special building permit. It was 18ft wide, and used 2,400 eggs. (Reuter)

Meet Vanessa.

Vanessa's just insured the contents of her home for £10.20 a month.

She did it by calling DIRECT

Vanessa's just bought her first home. When she realised that she needed contents insurance, she rang Midland and got some good advice about the level of cover that was right for her. We also gave her an extremely competitive quote, which must have sounded good to Vanessa, because she accepted it. If you've got a house that needs insuring, why not call us now on 9800 277 377 for a free quotation? And remember a copy of the policy document, giving full details of cover, is available on request.

Revealed—the truth about false memory syndrome

he details were stom-ach-churning. In 1994, Connie Sievek, a 30-year-old teacher from Metropolis, Illinois, swore on oath that she recalled her father, Larry Stegman. and another man raping, mur-dering and disembowelling a

There was one problem for the prosecution. Connie was three years old at the time of the alleged crime, and her "memories" had been eased out by a psychotherapist whom Connie had contacted while feeling depressed. The case was thrown out and Connie's recollections — which tallied disturbingly with an unsolved death of a woman in 1967 - were dismissed as gruesome fantasies made up under hypnosis.

False-memory syndrome, of which the Stegman case is thought to be an example, has been the unsa-voury flip-side to The the rise in popularity of psychotherabrain's py, hypnosis and counselling. This is why a report to be published in the most secret August issue of workings Neuron, a journal on brain research. can be is so important. American scienpicked out tists have discovered a way of showing the difference between a true memory

Although they emphasise that their method could not be used in court yet - it is too complicated and expensive the research shows that even the most secret workings of the brain can be picked out. The "memories" show up as tiny, bright blobs in brain scans. which were obtained from 12 volunteers at the Good Samaritan Regional Medical Centre in Phoenix, Arizona. The positron emission tomography (PET) scanners measure blood flow to brain cells, which is a measure of activity. Cells be-come active when they retrieve memories. The researchers found that a true memory results in more cerebral activity, and therefore more blobs.

seem a nightmare. First the had to get human guinea-pigs to recall true memories, and then get them to recall false ones. The trouble was, the subjects had to be convinced that they were telling the truth and recalling real events. After all,

On paper, the logistics of setting up such an experiment that is the hallmark of falsememory syndrome. The research team, led by Scientists in the United States have discovered that the brain appears to be more active when it is recalling the truth. Anjana Ahuja reports for 12 people were put together," Dr Reiman explains.

These scans showed that both accurate and illusory memories, as Dr Reiman labels them, trigger brain activi-ty in the region of the left hippocampus, the part of the brain involved in conscious memory. Dr Reiman and his colleagues propose that this region of the brain gives the sense that both the true and false memories are authentic.

The difference between real and imagined memories was concentrated in the temporoparietal region, a site in the brain known to decipher

information is not available to people who have not heard the word being said." Had the words been written down.

Dr Reiman explains: This sound information.

Dr Daniel Schacter from Harvard University, came up with a simple but ingenious idea. The 12 volunteers, all women. were read a list of words. These words were vaguely related by subject — examples are candy, cake and chocolate.

The women were then read a second list, which featured some of the words on the first list. They were asked to sort out which words had been repeated and which were impostors. Most volunteers recalled true memories. Then a third list was read out. But this time the impostors included words very similar to the original ones, such as sweet. These impostors fooled eight volunteers into thinking they had heard them before. As the women tried to distinguish between the original words and the impostors. their brains scanned. The brain more active in a certain region while recalling a true memory. Dr Eric Reiman, Associate Professor of Psychiatry at the University of Arizona and second author of the Neuron paper, says this is easily understood.

"In the case of a real word, the brain both recognised and retrieved it. In the case of an impostor word, the brain was looking at a word that was neither heard nor recalled."

r Reiman speculates there may be another reason for true memories stirring the brain more than false ones - our senses. For example, if you recalled smelling a rose on a summer's day, part of your memory might be the sweetness of its perfume, or how hot the day was. These sensory details are not availactually smell the flower.

As might be imagined, the effects are extremely subtle. Once the scans were made, a powerful computer program moulded each person's image into the same shape and overlaid them. "We then enhanced regions of blood flow. and the red patches generated he says, then the brain might have retrieved the shape of the letters instead. But the scientists are reluctant about this technique being used to prove or disprove whether something hap-pened. Dr Schacter is constantly being asked wheth-er it could be used as a liedetector. He said recently: "I think not. It's all far too

And there are further, serious hurdles that would have to be overcome, according to Dr Reiman. "I am not optimistic about the uses of PET scanning being used in this way." he says. The extremely subtle for very short-term memory. We know that memory fades with time, and sensory memory may disappear. Real but distant recollections would be confused with false memories. Also, I think it's possible that people could be trained to

However, the technique has proved a powerful tool for studying memory. The next step will be to uncover the roots of malfunction, such as

COMPUTER-ENHANCED brain images, above, show the region of the brain involved in memory. The dark spots highlight increased blood flow, a sign of brain activity. When a word was remembered accurately, left, and falsely. centre, the left hippocampus was stimulated. But a true memory stirred additional activity in the region known to handle sound patterns, right. This hallmark of authentic memory emerged when researchers looked at the differences between the first two images. It suggests sensory details distinguish true memories from false ones.

False-memory syndrome has been the unsavoury flip-side to the increase in popularity of psychotherapy and hypnosis

Secret listening devices stun oceanographers Farmers in Wagga Wagga fight off ryegrass as an early-warning system to prevent ships from running down whales. This is a real problem:

this year six right whales, the most

cies, have been killed by ships.

Research could never have paid for such a complex system, nor can it even hope to find the annual running costs.

which at their peak in the late

1980s amounted to $300 million a year. But so long as the US Navy finds most of the cost, the oceanographers are happy to take advantage. To track a creature like a whale.

more than one microphone is

THE end of the Cold War has brought an unexpected bonus to oceanographers. A network of secret seafloor listening devices installed by the Americans to listen to the sound of Soviet submarines is being opened for use by scientists. And what they can hear is astonishing them.

In one study, Dr Christopher Clark, of Cornell University, used the microphones to follow a single blue whale for 43 days as it swam south from Bermuda and back, covering nearly 2,000 miles. Others have listened to shoals of fish, the seabed shaking as a result of tremors, volcanoes erupting, and the sound of the French testing nuclear

The oceans are a world of sound, which can travel huge distances and contains a vast amount of information. Listening to the sounds "is the same as the Hubble telescope pointing out to the stars". according to Chris Miller. who manages a series a microphones off the California coast. "Acoustics in the ocean is the equivalent of light in space. It's the one thing that can transmit for hundreds or thousands of miles," he told The New York Times.

The network of microphones, called Sosus (sound surveillance system), was originally installed by the US Government at a cost of $16 billion (£10 billion). Hundreds of microphones feed sound by optic cable into processing stations, most of them in America but two in Britain, at Brawdy in Wales and St Mawgan Comwall, Some stations are staffed, while BRIEFING others are filled with computers that record and Nigel analyse the data.

Spying from sounds the whales make. Different species can be distinguished by their different rampant

Hawkes feeding it on to a central station at Dam Neck, Virginia. Once, the entire network was used to listen to the throbbing of Soviet submarines in an attempt to track their movements. How successful that was is still classified data. but slowly the American Government has begun to allow others access, using filters to remove the sounds of submarines. Among those who have campaigned for the change in policy is the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation in Washington, whose executive director. Amos Eno. says that There are plenty of other sounds under the sea, not all of them identifiable. Among the mysteries are sounds that the scientists call the Echo. the Carpenter, and the Woof-Woof, by analogy with familiar sounds on land. Where they come and what causes them, nobody knows,

Another use of the system will be to monitor the oceans for the sounds of nuclear explosions, as an aid to verify ing a global test-ban treaty now being negotiated in Geneva. It works, as the microphones off California proved last year and early this year as they picked up the sounds of the French tests thousands of miles away across the Pacific. The same microphones have tracked humpback whales, listening to them round the clock to check migratory patterns. mind-boggling," says Clark.

WAKE up. gardeners. Here's bad news from Wagga Wagga. Weeds are showing signs of resistance to the world's favourite herbicide. glyphosate, the active ingredient in weedkillers such as Roundup. If this spreads, there will be no cure for obstinate weeds but eternal digging, a prospect too awful

The resistant weed, reports the New Scientist, comes from a farm near Echuca, which lies on the Murray River in Victoria. The farmer last year tried to clear his fields of annual ryegrass, Lolium rigidum, but the weed refused to succumb. He sent seeds to Dr Jim Pratley at Charles Sturt University in Wagga Wagga, who grew plants and confirms that they are resistant to the weedkiller.

Herbicide resistance is nothing new, but for 20 years

glyphosate has remained in-vincible. "Resistance to glyphosate was unexpected," Dr Pratley says. "But at this stage nobody knows how significant it is. It may be an isolated case or it may be widespread."

Monsanto, which sells $1.5 billion in Roundup a year, remains sanguine. It says it has seen false alarms in the past, and has usually found that the herbicide had failed to penetrate a hard surface on the leaves of apparently resistant plants. When a surfactant - a drop of washing-up liquid. for example - is added, the problem is usually solved, because that ensures that the surface is thoroughly wetted. Dr Pratley disagrees. He says he is in no doubt that the herbicide is getting into the plant, but that it is then somehow being metabolised or stored, or simply made inoperative in some way. And if it happens in annual ryegrass, even in distant Australia, can it be long before it pulls off the same trick in convolvalus or ground elder in British gardens? That would be a nightmare.

Muggus thugeri

American Express annual travel insurance for £89.

Because you never know who you'll meet on holiday.

No matter who you bump into on holiday, you can rest assured our comprehensive annual travel insurance covers almost every eventuality, including up to £2 million medical expenses.

What's more, you don't have to be an American Express Cardmember to enjoy this worldwide security from a worldwide company.

So, to relax before you go on holiday, call the number below between 8am and 8pm quoting reference TA7

Arrange 365 days of cover in just 5 minutes.

0800 700 737

NEW DIVORCE LAW - EFFECTIVE AFTER JULY 151 To arrange a confidential discussion at a time to suit you with an approved solicitor in your area call Direct Law. Direct Law Solicitors provide personal attention

CONSULTATION EXERCISE

Maximising Potential -

New options for learning after 16

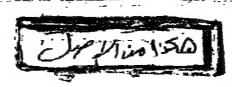

Taking Forward the Recommendations for National Entry provision and National Traineeships in Sir Ron Dearing's Review of 16-19 Qualifications.

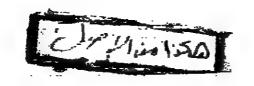

The Desring report proposed two new options for 16 year olds: National Traineeships mainly for those aiming at NVQ Level 2; and National Entry provision for those not yet ready for further learning or who need special help in order to progress.

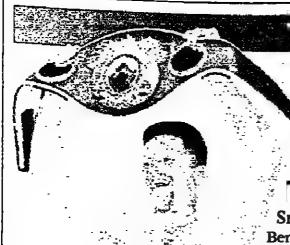

The Government has welcomed these proposals and the Department for Education and Employment (DfEE) has launched a consultation exercise on the development of the new provision.

A public Consultation Document seeks views on a range of issues related to the proposals. The closing date for comments is 30 September 1996.

Copies have been distributed widely. If you have not received one by 12th July 1996 and would like to do so, please contact Tracey Williams on 0114 2593038 or fax 0114 2593565. If you require more than five copies, please contact: Cambertown Ltd, Unit 8. Goldthorpe Industrial Estate, Goldthorpe, Rotherham, South Yorkshire S63 9BL, Tel: 01709 888688.

Noah Hally

TOP OF THE WORLD

Srikumar Sen on Benn's last stand against Collins PAGE 37

TO THE OLYMPICS

Five-day trip to Atlanta for two to be won. Details PAGE 34

GRAND DESIGNS

Oliver Holt takes the fast track on the future of Formula One PAGE 28

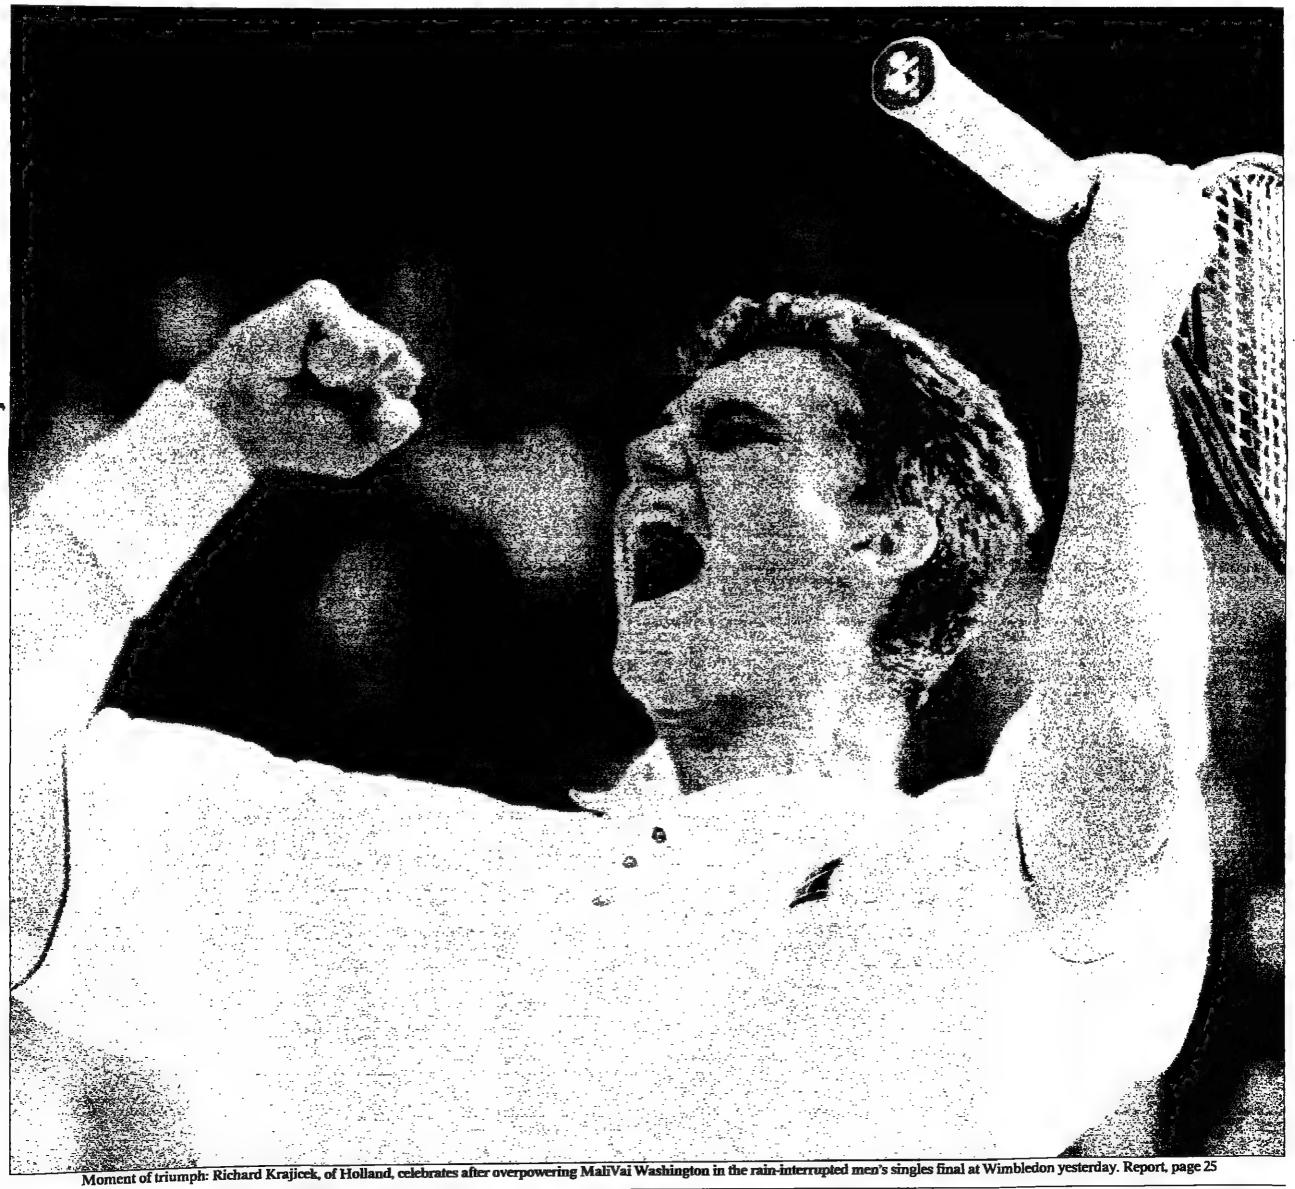

ENGLAND v INDIA

Alan Lee at Trent Bridge for the final Test PAGE 29

TIMES SPORT

MONDAY JULY 8 1996

POWER AND GLORY IN DUTCH MASTERY OF THE ELEMENTS AT WIMBLEDON

GRAND DESIGNS In part two of our series: Oliver Holt on the future stars of Formula One THURSDAY SHOW TIME The best of British horsemanship: Jenny MacArthur at the Royal International Horse Show

FINALE

WHY THE TIMES IS BEST EACH DAY FOR THE GREAT SUMMER OF SPORT

WEDNESDAY

Alan Lee and Michael Henderson on the end of England's Test series with India

FREE 16-PAGE BRITISH GRAND PRIX SPECIAL

ONE-DAY

WONDERS Who will take the season's first honours? Alan Lee previews cricket's Benson and Hedges Cup Final at Lord's

SATURDAY

FOOTBALL

Fifa plans to scrap its golden vision

BY OUR SPORTS STAFF OLIVER BIERHOFF could earn a unique place in world football history as the only player to score a golden goal in a leading tournament. The Germany forward's effort, five minutes into extra time in the European championship final at Wembley two weeks ago, gave his country a 2-1 victory

Euro 96 was the first leading tournament to use the golden goal experiment - where the first goal scored in extra time decides the match

- but Fife, the game's world governing body, has decided that the concept was not a success. Bierhoff's effort was the only goal scored during the period in the tournament,

despite two quarter-finals and two semi-finals finishing level

Walter Gagg, technical di-rector of Fifa, said: "We have found something which is good for women's and amateur football is not necessarily good for professionals." He said the ruling had tended to encourage defensive play.

Controversial plans to expand the European Cup

Champions' League from 16 to for at least three years. Uefa, the game's governing body in Europe, has said that the fixture programme is already of Rangers, will seek the advice of Roy Evans, his Liverpool counterpart, during his planning for the European Cup qualifying round tie with Vladikavkaz, of Russia. Liverpool overcame Vladikavkaz 2-1 in the Uefa Cup last season.

Smith said: "I will have a chat with Roy, a repeat of Liver-

CHAMPIONS CUP: Qualifying round: Maccabi Tel Avir (Isr) v Fenerbehçe (Tur); Rangers v Alania Vladikavkaz (Rusa); Paradimakos (Gi) v Rosemborg (Nov) IFK Gotherburg (Sve) v Ferencyaros (Hur); Wiccell Lode (Pol) v Ferencyaros (Hur); Wiccell Lode (Pol) v Ferencyaros (Switz) v Stava Prisquis (Caschi FC Bruges (Bel) v Steaus Bucharust (Hom): Rapid Vienna (Austra) v Dynamo Kev (Uke)
15) kg Aug 7; 2nd leg Aug 21
15) kg Aug 7; 2nd leg Aug 21
15 PERIOPEAN CUP WINNIERS* CUP.

CUP DRAWS

pool's result would be fine."

de cel

N. 22

and the

Min-

TO the 0.03-dung je i

the affect and $\sigma_{2,\gamma,\alpha}$ and di

Normal Maint

Promise Something

Ms recommendation of the second of the secon

Walter Smith, the manager

after 90 minutes.

teams have too crowded.

over the Czech Republic.

Montgomerie has luck on his side as Oldcorn crumbles

GOLF

FROM JOHN HOPKINS, GOLF CORRESPONDENT, IN NEWTOWNMOUNTRENNEDY

THE Murphy's Irish Open could not end tamely. After a week in which players had complained about everything from the amount of sand in the bunkers to the fairways being too narrow, and that it had rained enough in this part of the Republic, known as the garden of Ireland, to last for one month, the first Irish Open to be held at Druids Glen could not conclude without one last twist of drama.

Nor did it. One of the two central figures was Colin Montgomerie, who had led the support of this new course against its critics all week long, and was on a mission to make up for the indignity of missing the cut in the French Open the week before. Montgomerie on a mission is an impressive sight. much as Montgomerie at the meal table used to be before he started to lose weight. He marches with his head down. taking enormous strides. The other figure was Andrew Oldcorn, 36, who was in the last group of the day, having been the leader after 54 holes.

Oldcorn is easy to like, though Englishmen may be puzzled by his decision, after being born in Bolton, to move to Edinburgh, pronounce himself a Scot and become a rabid Heart of Midiothian supporter. His face is cheery, his belly expanding, his swing easy.

You know Oldcorn went through personal anguish when he was suffering from ME, and whereas Montgomerie lost a few more supporters with his outbursts at spectators in the third round. Oldcorn went about his business calmly all week, as quiet as a church mouse. He did cave in, however, when the pressure was applied to him as he played the closing hole.

The core of Druids Glen are the holes from the 13th to the 18th. Conquer these and you conquer the course. Over these holes Montgomerie demonstrated why he was ranked third in the world by stepping up a gear. He birdied the 14th to move to four under par and then holed from 25 feet for a two on the 17th. Two under

Oldcorn: double bogey

LEADING FINAL SCORES

of 68, his best of the week, deservedly took him to within one stroke of Oldcorn. Scotland's newest recruit needed a par on the 413-yard 18th to achieve what would have been his third victory in Europe. He was up against it from the start on what is one of the harder finishing holes on the European tour, a long twoshotter played uphill to a green that is fronted by three linked ponds. Oldcorn, per-haps slightly anxious, hit his drive left and from there he chose to lay up short of water and hope to chip and putt.

His approach shot ended 25 feet below the hole, which was the good news. The bad news was that he had to play to a flag that was on a higher tier. Oldcorn's first putt raced 3½ feet past the hole, his second, a nervous, uncertain stroke back down the hill, one reminiscent of Davis Love's second putt on the 72nd green in the recent US Open, missed the hole. A double-bogey six for a 70 meant that Oldcorn fell to

It was Montgomerie's eleventh victory in Europe and his second this season. It took his earnings for the year to £412,811.02, nearly twice as much as Ian Woosnam, his nearest challenger. And though it brought a smile to his face, the way it had come about gave him cause for "My heart goes out to Andrew," Montgomerie said. "I feel for him as a fellow Scot, The way it happened was very unfortunate." Montgomerie will travel to Scotland today and stay at Gleneagles Hotel while trying to win this week's Scottish Open. He is in good heart for that, not to mention the Open Championship, his ultimate prize, next week,

Faldo flies to secret hideaway

CHICAGO was hardly Nick Faldo's kind of town, but he remained in the Windy City trying to fathom what had gone wrong with his game before attempting to win a fourth Open Championship at Royal Lytham and St Annes next week.

He spent long hours on the practice ground after failing to survive the halfway out in the Motorola Western Open, in the Illinois suburb of Lemont. concentrating on his short game, although it was the longer clubs which led to his downfall in this tournament. Faldo flew to London last night and a secret destination on the British coast, where he will prepare for Lytham with two days of intensive practice on a links course. He is hoping that some of the wind normal ly associated with Chicago will accompany him across the Atlantic

I am not saying where I am going because I just want a quiet couple of days on my own with no distractions," he said. "I want to get accustomed to playing in the wind and the awkward bounces I can expect in the Open. My priority right now is Lytham." Faldo has already equalled the modern-day record of three Open titles by a British golfer, set by Sir Henry Cotton. Faldo, 38, is hungry for a fourth, which would take his tally of major championships

Chell 72, 72, 71, 72, M Mactemate 75, 70, 70, 73, 1 Woodman 71, 70, 73, 74, A Lyle 73, 74, 68, 74, 288; R Chepmen 72, 72, 73, 68, P Beker 74, 70, 75, 70, P O'Maley, Lucy 75, 70, 74, 72, M Wills 73, 70, 74, 72, A Cottart 72, 68, 76, 73, P Nobles (N2), 71, 72, 72, 74, P Hedbarn (Swel 71, 68, 75, 75, 290; S Tomance 71, 72, 75, 71; J Sandelin (Swel 74, 73, 72, 71; J Caceres (Arg) 71, 72, 75, 72, M Turnscift 78, 89, 72, 73, P Mustr. (Holl 73, 70, 72, 75; D Chopsa (Swel 73, 73, 74, 74, 74, 75), 75, 76, 71, J Backerton 76, 71, 73, 71; S Surveson (Sp) 76, 71, 72, 72; S Ames (Tinn) 71, 74, 72, 74 Alfredsson enjoys first triple victory

FROM PATRICIA DAVIES IN COLOGNE HELEN ALFREDSSON, of

Sweden, became the first woman to win the Hennessy Cup for the third time when she rattled home a 30-foot birdie putt to beat Trish Johnson, of England, at the second extra hole at the Golf und Landclub here yesterday.

Alfredsson, Johnson and Liselotte Neumann, another Swede, were ried for the lead after 72 holes on 280, eight under par, three shots ahead of Annika Sorenstam, the defending champion. Both Neumann, who came home in 3i, five under par, and Alfredsson, who had been three shots ahead of Johnson after three rounds, had birdie fours at the last to draw level with the Englishwoman. Johnson, the last non-Swede to win this title, back in 1990, was chasing her first win since back-to-back victories in the United States in 1993. Three birdies in the first four holes saw her catch Alfredsson, but in two attempts she could not squeeze what would have been the winning birdle out of the 465-yard 18th.

The play-off started at the 18th and Alfredsson had the luck of the bounce, literally. when a wayward second shot sent the gallery scattering for cover. The ball hit one woman on the head - she stayed upright and smiled when Alfredsson apologised — and rebounded onto the fairway iust in front of the green. Alfredsson secured a par five, Neumann three-putted and Johnson faced a five-footer for victory. It slipped past the cup and, at the 10th, the second play-off hole. Alfredsson gave her no second chance.

As adrenalin and relief flowed in equal measure, the ebullient Swede jumped in the air to celebrate her first victory since the Evian Masters in 1994. "It means so much," the 31-year-old from Gothenburg. said. "You start doubting yourself and I began to think I didn't have the game to be in contention. In the US Wom-en's Open I only hit two fairways and that's beyond comprehension."

It was at that Open, a few weeks ago, that Alfredsson realised her pelvis was out of alignment and, as a result, her swing plane was out of kilter. However, she was rarely too wayward on a course where she had won twice before and now she is top of the Ford order of merit with £71,250 and has moved up to twelfth place in the Solheim Cup standings.

On a dry, sunny day, ideal for golf, Dale Reid, the veteran Scot, won a Rolex watch for the best round of the tournament, a closing 66 that fea-tured an eagle and four birdies. Laura Davies finished with a 67 that was notable for two eagles in the last six holes.

Topping display by Oldham

Oldham Bears ...

BY CHRISTOPHER IRVINE

THERE were 60 seconds remaining yesterday when Jason Temu, in front of Oldham's exultant supporters, crashed beneath the posts and Paul Topping's conversion sealed his side's first win at Headingley for nine years. The Leeds players sank to their knees, a position they are used to adopting. Victory looked to have been secured at 26-16 with Dean Clark's second try; yet present Leeds with a winning hand these days and the odds are on them throwing it away. Oldham are up to sixth place in the rugby league Stones Super League after their fourth win in five matches, while relegation fears again stalk Leeds after their sixth home defeat. The exodus by another disappointing crowd of 6,754 had begun even before Topping had lined up the winning conversion.

It was a revenge for a lastkick defeat by Leeds on Oldham's last visit in the centenary season. "We just keep plugging away and were not frightened to take our opportunity." Andy Goodway. the Oldham coach, said. "This is a small squad, with one or two quality players, but we keep turning over teams full of would give for the same spirit. Between isolated wins, their performances generally this season have been miscrable.

Bill Shankly said it of a football winger, but his words might easily apply to Clark, Leeds's New Zealand stand-off half. "He's deceptive; he's slower than he looks." Clark was twice in the right place for his tries, but more often he was caught in the wrong one. On three occasions, Clark found himself the last line of defence. Two missed tackles were responsible for Oldham tries and, as the visitors began ing over from acting half back for his second try. Leeds supporters have grown wise to beware good starts. Within ten minutes, Tait had scored and Clark, impregnable Hulme were unable to prevent Munro crash-ambling in pursuit of a speculative kick that rebounded off the posts and into his hands, touched down to the frustration of the hapless Atcheson. That lead was frittered in three minutes. Munro beat three tackles, and then Clark,

Smith's departure a blow for Bradford

BRIAN SMITH was characteristically diplomatic about his departure from Bradford Bulls to fill the coaching job he has always had his eye on at Parramatta (Christopher Irvine writes). The sense of loss. however, extends a good deal further than Odsal, where the Australian has worked wonders in ten mouths.

The Super League has lost someone of vision, and not simply as a coach. As chief executive at Bradford, one of the few clubs to embrace league, he is disappointed at the negativity that largely prevails elsewhere. Smith. who guided Bradford to their first Challenge Cup final for 23 years, said: "Many other clubs don't want to roll up their sleeves and make the Super League and summer rugby work."

The announcement on Saturday of Smith's departure at the end of the season, halfway through his contract — for which Parramatta are reportedly paying Bradford £250,000 compensation was made the day after the Bulls toppled St Helens from the top of the Super League with a 50-22 victory.

Maloney, impressive before limping off with a dead leg. hared off to the right corner and eluded Clark's attempt to clip his ankles.

What impetus Leeds had largely went with Shaw's disappearance due to an elbow injury. Without the hooker. Hall was put away from a scrum, but Maloney outwitted Tait in a 60-metre run to bring Oldham to within two points at the interval.

Early in the second half. Holroyd landed the fourth of his five goals and Clark touched down the scrum half's kick ahead. But the lead Leeds held from the seventh to 79th minutes was swallowed up by Munro's second try and the clinching score by Temu, the Cook Islands prop. Topping's successful goal was deserved reward for Oldham's unflagreward for Oldham's unflagging effort.

SCORERS: Leeds: Trius: Clark (2). Tan.
Hal. Goals: Hotroyd (5). Oldham. Tries:
Mainto (2). Malorey (2). Temu. Goals:
Malorey (2). Topping (2).
LEEDS: A Tan. M Golden, P. Hassan, C. Hal.
S Tuppilotu, D. Clark, G. Hobroyd, E. Farmalo,
M. Shaw, B. McDermoll, G. Mercer A. Morley,
D. Halme, Subr. A. Gibbons, G. Marin, M.
Forshaw, N. Foczand
OLDHAM BEARS: P. Alchason, A. Bofle, H.
Hall, P. Topping, R. Myfer; F. Maloney, M.
Complon: I. Gidant, J. Clarke, J. Termu, J.
Farmalo, M. Murno, D. Bradbury, Subs: P.
Crook, G. Lord, R. Guy, J. Cowang,
Relereu: R. Cornolly (Wigan)

I. Mick, O'Neill, the Keighley, Cougars chairman, an-

Cougars chairman, announced his resignation to the crowd at half-time during the club's 37-10 defeat by Huddersfield, that virtually ended their hopes of promotion to the Super League.

charect (Porni: Rapid Vienna (Ausma) v Dynamo Key (Mer. 15) leg Aug 7, 2nd leg Aug 21

ELPROPEAN CUP WINNERS' CUP, Custiliying round: Chemion Humenne (Siovaka) v Framunan (Abh) PC Son (Swid) v Kareda Sautia (Lith), Olimpia Lubbiana (Siovena) v Levé» Sola (Bul), Red Stat Belgratia (Yug) v Heart of Mictiothian: Parabash Agdam (Acerbasjan) v MyPa-41 (Fin) Potrak Abovern (Armona) v AEK Laneac (Cyp.) PC Construction (Modova) v Happed Iron Rishon (Isst, Valetta Maria) v Glora Betras (Rom), MPC Moory (Betras) v FC Reyhah, (Isa); FK Brann (Nor) v Shebburne (Fin), Laneanstitratid (Wal) v Buch Chorzow (Pol), Espest-Honved (Hur) v Sloga Jugomagnat (Maco), Variets (Coliv US Latent) v Vadur (Lechtersean), Glemotran (Nire) v Soaria Prapie (Crech), Dynamo Baturn (Georga) v Hamar Bolfelag (Farce I), Sadam Tallinn (Est) v New Yorinsa (Ibh), lat leg Aug 8, 2nd leg Aug 22

LEFA CUP Preliminary round. Jeunessa (Est) v Sooria Prapie (Crech), Dynamo Baturn (Georga) v Hamar Bolfelag (Farce I), Sadam Tallinn (Est) v New Yorinsa (Ibh). Ist leg Aug 8, 2nd leg Aug 2. Bueris (Vale) v Mara (Slovena). Lalgres Vinus (Jun) v Cousarders (Nire), Newtown (Wales) v Skorite Roja (Larva). Tigul Traspol (Micidona) v Dreamo Minsk (Belanus); Khazit Buzoma (Azerbasjan) v Humi Nazion (Pol). Portactown (Nire), Newtown (Wales) v Skorite Roja (Barry). Ornamo Minsk (Belanus); Hela Ry (Fin) v Polica Colina (Slovena) v Tenan (Alb), Bears Jenusalem (Sri v Fforons (Mata), Polica Pagual (Varies) v Newton Soria (Pul), Int Gonca (Slovenes) v Sirena (Pul) v Apoal Nicosa (Lyp), Lohamolw (Sirena) v Apoal Nicosa (Lyp), Lohamolw (Sirena) v Apoal Nicosa (Soura) v Stevens (Marie); Varies (Georga) v Sirena Wanderers (Marie); Varies (Rul), Aporticos Famagusta (Vy) v Stestphorn (Georga) v Siema Wanderers (Marie); Stona Sohe (Bul) v Interas-Gritas (Lith), Aporticos Famagusta (Vy) v Stestphorn (Georga) v Siema Wanderers (Marie); Stona Sohe (Bul) v Interas-Gritas (Lith)

(Lith) 1st log July 17 2nd leg July 24

Broncos Currie favour with style

London Broncos 45 Sheffield Eagles

BY CHRISTOPHER IRVINE

MR GRUMPY is now Mr Reasonably Satisfied. Tony Currie's after-match comments, often in victory, were a sustained grumble, but the London Broncos' coach has high standards and his side is beginning to meet them and earn even occasional praise. Currie is a hard taskmaster when it comes to effort and discipline, as players who have variously been heavily fined, suspended or ordered to leave the club have found. "When I arrived, I had to get to know the team, then I had to show them how to play to my style and then see if they had any talent," he said. "We've done that this season and it was time to let the shackles

The net result on Saturday night at The Valley, Charlton, was a resounding affirmation of the defensive fortitude and creative ability that had, hitherio, been seen only patchily. "I'm happy," Currie said, adding "very happy" in case

A top-four finish in the Super League is still an achievable ambition for the Broncos, a target now seem-ingly beyond Sheffield. This latest crash-landing was the Eagles' seventh away defeat. A Brisbane, learning his trade in make-do-and-mend team competed reasonably for an hour before disintegrating on the impact of London's powerful running. Five tries were scored in the last quarter.

After previous home defeats by Halifax and Bradford, London first got their defence right. Broadbent's pounce on a kick by Aston early in the second half was Sheffield's only successful way through a well-drilled Broncos' line. Currie has shuffled his half back combination all season, but the pairing of Dynevor and Tollett is firmly established as the most dynamic one. There was also an inventive debut at full back by Tony Martin, 17, an apprentice from an impressive Academy team. which is also producing a few home-grown talents for the Broncos to draw on in future. The backing-up of Barwick carned the centre a hat-trick of tries. Maguire's finishing. with two touchdowns, was as assured as his place kicking; he landed six conversions and Rosolen, Tollett and Allen chipped in with further tries. Chipped in with further tries. SCORERS. London: Tries. Barwick [3]. Maguint [2]. Rosoler. Toiler. Allen Gook Maguint [6]. Propoed gook: Prif. Sheffield. Try: Broadbent. Gooks. Action [2]. LONDON BRONCOS: T Martin. M Maguinte, G Barwick G Strutton. J Mirro, Trolled. L Dyrower, H Barden. I Ros. T Moster. L Dyrower, H Barden. I Ros. T Moster. D Prik. N. Lingor Sheffeld. D Prik. N. Lingor Sheffeld. D Rosoler. D Prick Magnitud. B Sodje L Stot. K Semor. J M Gardie D Mycoe, M Aston, P Broadbert M Cook. D Laughton. A Hey. D McAlhator. A Famell Substitutes D Lawford, D Turner P Diron. J Dalrutoga.

ligon v Laver (1962), Laver v Olmedo (1959), Nielsen v Trabert and Seixas (1955 and 1953), and Allison v Tilden (1930). Washington, from Flor-ida, is in notable company. When he stands motionless, his finely sculpted frame bent slightly forward prior to serving. Washington has the timeless grace of a bronze Olympic statue. From the start, he had the crowd's sympathy: the classic Wimbledon underdog. He hit some superb backhands, particularly in his only break of service at 1-4 down in the third set. Unfortunately for him, he was facing the man who has genuinely been the supreme player of this event. Well might Washington say afterwards: "When you can come into a tournament with everyone there, the best players, and it's a grand slam, and you're still standing on the last day . . . I look at that and say, for the fortnight I was the second-best player in the world." He is entitled to his

He had achieved the impos-sense of satisfaction.

TENNIS: POWER GAME FINDS A WORTHY NEW CHAMPION AS MEN'S SINGLES TITLE GOES TO HOLLAND FOR FIRST TIME

Booming Krajicek proves irresistible force

On the men's singles final

SOME said that it was a Wimbledon's men's singles final between a Mr Who? and Richard Krajicek, becoming The first Wimbledon champion from Holland, and MaliVai Washington gave the Centre Court more rallies and as many spectacular winners as had Pete Sampras and Boris Becker last year. Not a great climax to the championships, certainly, but here was a match more memorable than most previous finals involving an unseeded player. This will be recorded as the first between two such players, yet Krajicek, who won 6-3, 6-4, 6-3, was in effect the No 17 seed, having replaced the injured Thomas Muster, the original No 7 seed, in the Krajicek. 24 and born in Rotterdam of Czech parents, had earlier disposed of Sampras and Stich, the respective No I and No 10 seeds. His service power had always been likely to be a major force in this foremost of grass-court tournaments, and so it proved. Krajicek said he was surprised to be unseeded but understood, even though ranked No 13 on the computer, because of his poor previous Wimbledon record. Yesterday he struck 14 aces, the fastest timed at 129mph when taking a 3-1 lead in the third set. Krajicek thought that against Sampras he had perhaps served even better. "But today, I served big when it counted," he said. "I think that's the most important. You can hit 20 aces in a match, and they were like bad aces, and you can hit 10 aces and they were on the big points. Today

Washington at full stretch in making a forehand return as Krajicek takes control on Centre Court yesterday. Photograph: Ian Stewart was a good day." His consistency had overpowered Sampras and Stich in straight sets, then Stoltenberg in the semi-final and now Washington. Only Steven, of New Zealand, had managed to take a set from the Dutchman in seven rounds.

Krajicek reflected that the draw had been helpful, not giving him tough matches in the first two rounds. "I've lost the last two years in the first two rounds, so I was pretty anxious about my first match," he said. "I don't feel like a great grass-court player, but I felt I should win at least a couple of rounds in Wimbledon. I think also my game just improved, that I now have more shots on grass.

"It's not only the serve. I think my footwork also improved, so I'm moving better around the grass, because it's pretty slippery and I'm almost two metres [tall]."

Krajicek made a formidable start yesterday, dropping only two points as he raced to a 3-0 lead and breaking Washington to 15 in the second game. In the fourth, Washington characteristically dug in, saving three break points with big serves to hold the game, but that single break was enough to concede the first set. In the second, the score was I-I and 30 all when rain halted play for half an hour. Back they came for five minutes, only to retreat again after another eight points. Back on court, Washington held his ground for four games, but at -4 surrendered his service on the third of three break points. Two aces and a sizzling crosscourt backhand gave Krajicek

At 1-4 down in the third, Washington silenced the mounting shrieks from Dutch supporters when he broke back after one hour and 23 minutes of play, but one more game saw the end of his worthy resistance. The Dutchman simply held too many weapons. Some of his forehand drives and volleys were almost as devastating as his

"I think that was the difference in the match," Washington said, "and one of the reasons why Richard had so much success here. When you're serving like that, heck, all you have to do is hold out ... and boom, mother, you're The Dutchman simply held too many weapons' looking at it as an opportunity.

Maybe I could get a little

Other than Boris Becker,

when winning aged 17 against

Kevin Curren, all other unseeded finalists lost in straight sets: Lewis v McEnroe (1983),

Bungert v Newcombe (1967).

Stolle v McKinley (1963), Mulmomentum change.

sible when coming back from 1-5 down in the final set against Todd Martin in Saturday's semi-final, and his honourable performance yesterday provides a role model among black people in America, indeed everywhere. There are few others on the circuit, Brian Shilton, Todd Nelson and Steve Campbell among them. With American society so television-orientated, Washington's achievement and exposure, following that of the former champion, Arthur Ashe, can perhaps convince kids in the inner-city Washington denied that the ghettos that there is a future breaks in play had affected awaiting them in tennis as well as basketball, football him. "It didn't put me off at all," he said. "I was down most of the match, and I was kind of ☐ Amelie Mauresmo, France, won her second junior grand-slam singles title in a month when she took the girls' singles title at Wimbledon yesterday. Mauresmo, winner of the French Open junior title last month and seeded No 10, beat the unseeded Maria Serna, of Spain, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Misspent youth earns a final reward for private champion ou can keep your private in most places, but not on the Centre Court. The day began with a streaker, comely and female, trotting across the sward and lifting her only garment, a white apron, to show all those who cared exactly what she was made of.

Richard Krajicek then proceeded to do roughly the same thing. In fact, as the events of the afternoon, the incessant and exasperating rain delays and the sheer bloody-minded courage of his opponent. Malivai Washington, stripped away the layers of his personality, you suspected Krajicek was revealing parts of himself that were so private that he himself did not know he possessed them.

He is one of those athletes who began fairly sizzling with promise, but whose career somehow missed its trajectory. He is the son of an overbearing and bullying tennis parent - I know this sounds like a tautology, but this was a childhood strained even by tennis standards. He started playing at three, has been with the Dutch federations since he was six, and by nine he was having tennis tournaments instead of

It is the sort of childhood that has broken many, and Krajicek has not through it unscathed. He has taken refuge more than once Simon Barnes on how victory revealed the character of a surprise winner in injury. For the stressed and oppressed athlete, there is sweet relief in an injury. In strained and torn soft tissue lies one of the few comfortable places to be found in his world: a place free from recrimination, free from guilt, free from blame. Krajicek's best grand-slam result before his victory at Wimbledon yesterday was to reach the semi-finals of the Australian Open in 1992. He forfeited the match with a shoulder injury. He is at present ranked 13, and grass is a surface huge-serving game. However.

he was unseeded Wimbledon this year because of a tendency to go out in the first round; he managed that two years run-ning and was fearful that this would be a third. This was clearly a man who sinks to the big occasion. In fact, the most notable thing Krajicek has done at Wimble don was a few years ago to announce that all women tennis players were "lazy fat pigs" and that they were not worth their prize-money. This callow bit of attention-seeking seemed to sum Krajicek up for all time: a man to decorate the peripheries of the big tournament, but doomed to remain always a certain distance from the centre.

But as this strange Wimbledon has progressed, and the seeds failed to germinate and the stars were eclipsed, Krajicek has found himself, to his amazement, growing to fill the space available. Washington came in as the underdog and the crowd's favourite. 'It was the Always on grass, when a big server plays a touch-and-speed man, the of hot streaks' server finds himself cast in the role of bully. Krajicek embraced the role and the

> And after the last rainbreak, he showed himself one of the great flat-track bullies of recent years. Reeling off 12 successive points, he broke Washington twice over and never looked like losing from there. It was the hottest of hot streaks and it was quite devastating: you wondered what he had comsumed in the interval. Whatever it was, I'll have a Washington, as modest in defeat as he had been brave in combat, praised the develop-ments in his opponent's game. "More consistent," he said. "He doesn't give you free points any more." Clearly. then, the progression Krajicek has made has been mental rather than technical. His game has become grown-up.

He follows that monster service with crisp and con-stant volleying. Was there even a whiff of Edberg in some of those airborne backhands? "If he continues to play like that, he could go to the top," Washington said. Krajicek was in that mood of terrible emotional flatness that only great achievments can give you. Shocked into a kind of deadness, he spoke mainly of his relief at not getting knocked out in the first round again. But in one revealing aside, he spoke of the emotion of disbelief that hit him a split second after the delight of his match point. He was hit by the awful thought that maybe it was not match point after all, and he was rolling about in the grass for no reason. "For a split second I thought I was making a fool of myself."

But it was really victory, and it really was him. How extraordinary: to watch, be-tween delays for rain, as a person stripped away layer upon layer of callowness, finally to stand revealed, as a person of substance.

Krajicek sends down one of his trademark services

'Woodies' confirm place among finest double acts

BY ALIX RAMSAY

THE pundits and the gurus have taken something of a hiding this year at Wimbledon. With seeds disappearing over the rain-drenched horizon at a rate of knots, nobody knew where to look next for the likely winners. The dou-bles, however, provided a little sanity and comfort. Two weeks ago, few would have bet against Mark Woodforde and Todd Woodbridge retaining their crown and, on Saturday evening, they did just that, the first team to win four successive men's doubles

It was one of their most impressive displays so far on Centre Court. They dropped the first set against Byron Black, from Zimbabwe, and Grant Connell, from Canada, but then played near-perfect tennis to win 4-6, 6-1, 6-3, 6-2. It overshadowed the achievements of their Australian elders, Tony Roche and John Newcombe, who won five times at Wimbledon, but never managed to dominate the event four years running.

Not that their success came as a surprise to anyone, least of all the Woodies themselves. They have been planning for this since the start of the year. making their way to SW19 with their eyes firmly fixed on the record-books. After the disappointment of losing in the semi-finals of the French Open last month, this win meant that much more to them both.

"If ever you are part of a piece of history, I think that's very, very memorable," Woodforde said. "I think this is the best we have played in the four finals here. I think both of us have struggled mentally through the whole tournament and we've just really hung in with each other. It's the first time anyone has done it since the turn of the century and it's little old us that's done

When it comes to Wimbledon and history, John McEnroe is never far away. In 1990, Woodforde was partnering McEnroe while Woodbridge played with Jason Stoltenberg. McEnroe, thinking of calling it a day, offered a few tips on who Woodforde might partner next. Woodbridge's name was mentioned in dispatches.

"I was looking for someone a bit younger," Woodforde said, "and Todd was looking for someone a bit older with a bit more experience." His trainer started talking to Woodbridge's coach, a deal was struck, and the four men are now part of a recordbreaking team.

The only thing that might have scuppered the Woodles' run was the rain. In 1992, they lost in the semi-finals after a wet and miserable championships. In the past three years, Wimbledon had been a rainfree zone and the Australians had basked in the sunshine, but this year they spent as much time in the locker-room watching the weather forecast as they did on court.

"I think that was in our minds the whole way through, that we could have got to the final in '92 and didn't." delays in the third round, the quarters and the semis this year, and every time we came back on court we played great from the very first point

The rain has played havoc with the doubles schedules, leaving the referees to pack in matches whenever there has been a spare court, a few dry moments and four players available at the same time. Late on Saturday evening, Arantxa Sanchez Vicario suffered her second defeat of the day as she and Jana Novotna, the defending champions, lost to Martina Hingis and Helena Sukova in the quarter-finals of the women's event.

Back on court bright and early yesterday, Hingis and Sukova were put to work by Liz Smylie and Linda Wild and were forced to go the distance against the Australian-American team, eventually booking their place in the final 6-4, 4-6, 6-4.

The winners' cheques are generally viewed as recompense for two weeks' work only, but the mixed doubles teams might think about putting in for overtime as the finals of that competition will be held today, the third Monday - if the backlog of matches leading up to the final encounter can be cleared.

Whenever it is played, Martina Navratilova will have no part of it. Defending her title here and partnered by Jonathan Stark, she lost to Connell and Lindsay Davenport 7-6, 7-6. Navratilova had been hoping to claim her twentieth title at Wimbledon, matching Billie Jean King's record. Never mind, there is Back on familiar territory. Woodbridge, left, and Woodforde accept the applause from the lofty heights of the royal box on Centre Court

Lee decides to mix it with the big boys at last

BY ALIX RAMSAY

THE time has come, according to Martin Lee, to stop being a big fish in a small pond and risk becoming a minnow in an altogether larger body of water. Lee, who is the top-ranked junior in the world, was knocked out of the boys' singles at Wimbledon on Saturday, losing to Ivan Ljubicic, from Croatia, 7-5, 6-4. The defeat was no disgrace: Ljubicic went on to beat the No 2 seed. Peter Wessels, from Holland, to make his way to the final.

That made up for defeat at the hands of Wessels in the ITF junior event at Roehampton last week, but asked to go one step further. Ljubicic fell at the final hurdle. He was beaten by the No 6 seed, Vladimir Voltchkov, from Belarus. He lost 3-6, 6-2, 6-3 in a little over 14 hours.

Lee, meanwhile, now has his mind on other things. His first taste of playing on the senior circuit came at Oueen's Club three weeks ago, when he was beaten in the first round. Nevertheless, it gave him a taste of life in the grown-ups' world and he discov-ered that he liked it. Lee's next target is the Bristol Challenger next week, where he has been given a wild card.

All things considered, it was not the greatest of weekends for Lee. Not only is he the top junior in singles, but he is also the best young doubles player in the world as well. Alongside James Trotman, he won the Wimbledon junior doubles last year and was heading happily towards the All England Club to defend his title until Trotman was forced to withdraw with a wrist injury.

In a scratch pairing, he teamed up with David Sherwood, from Sheffield. and they fought through to the semifinals before losing 7-6, 7-6 to the No 2 seeds, Damien Roberts and Wesley Whitehouse, from South Africa, But there is time yet for Sherwood, who only turned 16 at the start of the month, and when it comes to professional sport, there is not much he does not aiready know.

Sherwood comes from a family of sportsmen. His father, John, won the hurdles in the 1968 Olympics, while his mother. Sheila, won the silver medal in the long jump at the same Olympics.

Young David has also been around the sports himself. signing schoolboy forms with Sehffield Wednesday before deciding to trade in his football boots for a tennis racket and moving to Bisham Abbey to be coached by lan Barclay.

The rest of the British hopefuls also failed to get beyond the semi-finals. with Ben Harran from Alton in Hampshire, and Simon Pender, from Penzance, losing to the top seeds. Daniele Bracciali, from Italy, and Jocelyn Robichaud, from Canada, 6-4.

201

 ${}^{p}\mathcal{Y}_{\mathcal{F}}$

70) 3)

 ∇G_{ij}

ig.

動力

M_k... îc.

1 of a twentieth Wimbledon title had been dashed yesterday

RESULTS FROM THE ALL ENGLAND CHAMPIONSHIPS

Men's singles

Winner: £392,500 Runner-up: £196,250 Holder: P Sampras (US) Semi-finals M Washington (US) bit T MARTIN (US) 5-7, 6-4, 6-7, 6-3, 10-8

R I-RAJICEK (Holl) bt J Stollenberg (Aus) 7-5, 6-2, 6-1 kRAJICEK bt Washington 6-3, 6-4, 6-3

Women's singles Winner: £353,000 Runner-up: £176,500 Holder: S Graf (Ger)

S GRAF (Gen) bt A SANCHEZ VICARIO (Sp) 6-3, 7-5

Men's doubles

Winners: £160,810 Runners-up: £80,400 Holders: T A Woodbridge and M Woodforde (Aus) Semi-final

A WOODBRIDGE and M WOODFORDE (Aus) bt M PHILIPPOUSSIS and P RAFTER (Aus) 6-3, 7-6, 7-6

WOODBRIDGE and WOODFORDE bt B BLACK (Zim) and G CONNELL (Can) 4-8, 6-1, 6-3, 6-2

Women's doubles Winners: £139,040 Runners-up: £69,300 Holders: J Novotna (Cz) and A Sanchez Vicano (Sp)

Drighter Aircoig G FERNANDEZ (US) and N ZVEREVA (Balo) bt Y BASUK; (Indo; and C M VIS (Holf) 6-1, 6-4 M HINGIS (Switz) and H SUKOVA (CZ) bt J NOVOTNA (CZ) and A SAN-CHEZ VICARIO (Sp) 3-6, 7-6, 6-3

M J McGRATH (US) and L NEILAND (Lat) bi FERNANDEZ and ZVEREVA 6-4 3-6, 11-9 GROUP SHYLLE (Aug.) SHYLLE (Aug.) SHOULE (Aug.) SHOULD (US) 6-4, 4-6, 6-4

Mixed doubles Winners: £68.280

Runners-up: £34,140 Holders, J Stark and M Navratilova (US) Third round C SUK and H SUKOVA (Ct) bt D MacPherson and R McOullan (Aus) 6-1, 4-6, 6-3

P GALBRAITH and P H SHRIVER (US) bt J Eagle and A Elwood (Aus) 6-2. 6-4.

M WOODFORDS (Aus) and L NELAND (Lat) bi M J Bates (GB) and N Bradike (Aus) 6-4 6-4 Quarter-finals C J van Rensburg (SA) and L Golarsa (ft) bt R Bergh (Swe) and L Po (US) 6-4. 6-4

CONNELL and DAVENPORT by J STARK and M NAVRATILOVA (US) 7-6, 7-6 Men's Over-35 doubles

Winners: £13,250 Runners-up £10.500 Holders. P McNamara (Aus) and L Shiras (US)

J B Fitzgerald (Aus) and R Tanner (US) bl A Amptraj and V Amptraj (India) c-4, 6-1 W J Fibak (Pol) and T Wilkson (US) bt P Fleming and H Pfister (US) 6-4, 6-4 A A Mayer and G Mayer (US) bt A M Jarrett and J R Smith (GB) 6-3, 6-2

Curren and J C Y.riek (US) bt C Dowdeswell and C J Moltram (GB) 6-2, 6-7, 6-4

P Stozil and T Smkd (C2) bt Fitzgérald and Tanner 6-3 7-5 Fibak and Wilkson bt M R Edmondson and N Warwick (Aus) 7-6, 6-7, 6-4 Phak and Willeson by Slocal and Smirt

Men's Over-45 doubles Winners: £10,500 Runners-up £8,250

Holders: J D Newcombe and A D Roche (Aus) Sami-finals M C Riessen and S E Stewart (US) bt I Nastase (Rom) and T S Older (Holl)

Nastase 6-3, 7-5 J GAR-ander and P C Dent (Aus) bi R A J Hewitt and F D MctAffan (SA) 6-0, 7-6

Alexander and Dent bt Ressen and Sterrart 7-6 6-2 Women's Over-35

doubles Winners: £9,400 Runners-up £7,200

Holders: W M Tumbull (Aus) and S V Wade (GB)

Boys' singles Holder: O Mutrs (Fr) Quarter finals

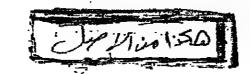

V Voltchkov (Belo) bi N Massu (Chile) 7-5, 2-6 8-6 P Wessels (Holl) bi P Snchaphan (Thai) 6-4, 6-4 I Lubicic (Cro) br M Lee (GB) 7-5, 6-4 J Crabb (Aus) bt J R Brandt (Ger) 7-6, 6-3

Ljubicic br Wessels 7-5, 6-4 Volkchkov br Crabb 6-4, 1-6, 6-3 Volichkov bi Ljubicic 3-6, 6-2, 6-3 Girls' singles Holder: A Olsza (Pol)

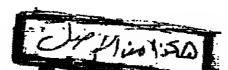

Ouarter-linals N Dechy (Fri bt S Reeves (US) 6-3, 7-5 M Sema (Spi bt M Jeon (S Korj 6-4, 6-7 E-3 A Mauresmo (Fr) bi A G Sidol (Fr) 6-4. Sema to Dechy 7-6, 6-1

Mauresmo bi Sema 4-6, 6-3, 6-4 WOMEN'S PLAYBACK: Final: J M Oure IGE: and A E Smeh (US) bt M Jausovec 'Sloven's and Y Vermaak (SA) 6-3, 6-2

MEN'S SINGLES Fourth round Final L Paes (India) v M Petchey (GB) Pelchev J Slemertrik (Holl) v (16) C Plotine (Fr) Pioline (19) M Bitch (Ger) v S Schalken (Holl) Krajicek C Roud (Nor) v S Metalioles (Japan) S Stoffe (Aus) v D Nargiso (it) M Woodforde (Aus) v M Larsson (Swe D Nestor (Can) v G Rusedaki (GB) D Kempers (Holl) v B Steven (NZ) D Roetagno (US) v J van Herck (Bell) J Sánchez (Sp) v (17) R Krajisek (Holi) (4) G Ivenisovic (Cro) v D Nainten (SA) P Boutsyre (Fr) v C Moya (Sp) Krajioek L Manta (Switz) v A Volkov (Russ) O Ogorodov (Uzb) v M Damm (Cz) G Pozzi (k) v J Cunha-Silva (Por) P Refier (Aus) v D Vacek (Cz) A Othovskiy (Russ) v H Dreekman (Geri S Draper (Aus) v (14) M Resect (Switz) (12) $ Edberg (Swe) v G Forget (Fr) M Tillstrom (Swe) y M Göliner (Ger) M Tebbutt (Aus) v A Corretta (So) A Chesnolov (Russ) v J Hlacek (Switz) J Renzenbruk (Ger) v J Novek (Cz) J Stollenberg (Aus) v A Voince (Rom) M Navarra (f0 v D Riki (Cz) A Caste (Sp) v (6) M Chang (US) (5) Y Kafelnskov (Russ) v T Henman (GB) P Tramecchi (Aus) v D Sepstord (GB) J Bjorksteen (Swe) v L Milligen (QB) K Carlson (Don) v N Lapento (Ecu) T Woodbridge (Aus) v S Huel (Fr) M Gustatsson (Swe) v A tile (Aus) M Joyce (US) v A Gaudenzı (III) B Prinosii (Ger) v (11) W Ferreira (SA) (13) T Martin (US) v M Ondruska (SA) Macin..... E Sanchez (Sp) v J Grabb (US) R Furlan (it) v A Medvedev (Ukr) C Beecher (GB) v N Gould (GB) H Arazı (Mor) v N Kutu (Swe) T Johansson (Swe) v J Eltingh (Holl) J Palmer (US) v T Champion (Fr) D Flach (US) v (3) A Agessi (US) (8) J Courier (US) v J Stark (US) M Knowles (Beh) v J Golmand (Fr) Washington F Mantala (Sp) v P Heathuis (Holl) Haarhuts..... M J Bates (GB) v N Pererra (Ven) B Uffihrach (Cz) v C Costa (Sp) Whrach F Dewalf (Bel) v F Spedez (US) R Fromberg (Aus) v M Washington (US) A Chang (Can) v (9) T Enqvist (Swe) (15) A Bostsch (Fr) v A Radulescu (Ger) Washington S Pescasalido (R) y C Woodruff (US) D Wheaton (US) v F Fetterlein (Den) G Raoux (Fr) v Y el Ansour (Mor) G Stattord (US) v S Noszały (Hun) Champion N Godwin (SA) v C Caratti (II) R Kraficek (Holf) F Clavet (Sp) v T Carbonell (Sp) .Carboneii

J Fleurian (Fr) v (2) B Becker (Gar)

CRICKET: BOLD BATTING, FICKLE FATES AND PLACID PITCH COMBINE TO FRUSTRATE SRINATH

Atherton still setting lofty targets

By Alan Lee, cricket correspondent

TRENT BRIDGE (third day of five): England, with nine first-innings wickets in hand, are 199 runs behind India

MICHAEL ATHERTON believes that all things remain possible over the coming two days in Nottingham and, on a strictly personal level, he is correct. Nothing need be beyond his ambitions against the record books this morning. On a pitch of numbing torpor, however, the one thing that does not seem possible is a positive outcome to this final

England lost only one wickand that to a bad umpiring decision — in an entire day of batting on Saturday. Only with their last run of the day, though, did they wavoid the theoretical threat of following on and they remain the equivalent of two produc-tive sessions behind India. It takes a supreme optimist to devise a winning scenario for either side from this stalemate, but Atherton, who was yesterday reappointed England captain for the coming series with Pakistan, is play-

We can still win it," he said. "First, we must aim to but for another four sessions. The pitch is still playing well but it's a mind game and the mind can play some funny tricks on you when you are under pressure. If we can get them in for the last two sessions on Tuesday, anything can hap-pen." It was hearteningly upbeat talk, as one might expect from a man enjoying his rest day unbeaten on 145. The practicalities are somewhat less promising.

Hussain: confident

The truth is that Trent Bridge has provided a pitch to strangle the life out of this game. It is as stacked against the bowlers as was the Oval last August, when only 22 wickets fell in five days of a Test against West Indies, and the outcome is liable to be the same. Frank Dalling, who spent many years as assistant groundsman to Ron Allsopp. feared beforehand that his first solo Test pitch would be a batting benefit and he has been proved right. Eleven wickets have fallen in three days. Each, on average, has cost 77 runs and that ratio could rise by this evening. It is a moot point whether this one-dimensional cricket is any better than the opposite extreme achieved in the first Test at Edgbaston: either way, the spectator is not seeing a satisfactory contest.

The cricket on Saturday was not without interest. Indeed, given the towering quality of Javagal Srinath in two spells. at the start of play and immediately after lunch, the England batting and the fickle fates must both take a bow. Flat and lifeless surface this may be, but Srinath somehow made the ball talk on it and his analysis of one for 82 was dreadfully unjust.

Alec Stewart remains below his best but he had completed a second successive half-century when K. T. Francis upheld an appeal for a catch behind. The ball actually missed the bat by some distance on its route past the inside edge, but Stewart at least departed with the consolation that he had shared an opening stand of 130, only the third time in 32 attempts that he and Atherton have given the England innings a century start.

That it happened now is something that Srinath will find incomprehensible, so great was the fortune that both batsmen required during his opening spell. Atherton, too far across, somehow survived a leg-before appeal when all three sturns seemed threatened and was then dropped for a second time at third slip, this one by Azharuddin.

Srinath's deceptively quick bouncer brought flawed, posthumous strokes from both openers and, when he returned after lunch with England in full sail, he bowled an over of such controlled variation, all of it too good for the batsman, all of it unrewarded, that his grin at the end of it said much for the character of the man.

The recipient of that over was Nasser Hussain, Atherton's partner in a secondwicket stand so far worth 192. That both have made hundreds is wonderful news for England, because Atherton needed a long innings to repair his rhythm and the team needed Hussain to underscore the fact that he has solved, for some time to come, the discomfort over who must bat at No 3. Hussain likes doing the job and he does it well: judging by the brimming confidence with which he began on Saturday, driving like a man who had been entrenched for hours, he will not easily be usurped.

Atherton and Hussain go back a long way. They played together for England under-15s and, in 1984, on opposite sides in a match between Southern Schools and The Rest, they got each other out. Bowling aspirations have subsequently perished but the joy of two old friends was evident to all as they celebrated their centuries - Atherton with as broad a grin as he has ever exhibited in public, Hussain with both arms thrust above his head. On the team balco-Raymond Illingworth πy,

A fortnight ago, during the Lord's Test, Atherton had been subservient to another superb spell from Srinath and confided: "I couldn't see how I could get a run against him." There will be mutual respect now, for while Atherton struggled at first on Saturday, long before the close he was into the old rhythm. "I started to reacquaint myself with my technique," he said with a smile. "It had been missing for smiled paternally.

Atherton rediscovered his most fluent form during his unbeaten 145 at Trent Bridge on Saturday

SCOREGOMD

Illingworth resists censure

By Alan Lee

(NDRA: Pinst Innings 521 (S.R. Tendulker 177, S.C. Genguly 136, R. Dravid 84, S.V. Munjinkar 53)

ENGLAND: First innings

Extras (b 3, b 9, nb 8) Total (1 wid, 102 overs, 410min) . 322 G P Thorps, G A Hick, M A Eathern, †R C Russell, C C Lewis, D G Cork, M M Patel and A D Mulially to bat.

FALL OF WICKET: 1-130 (Atherion 70). FALL OF WICKET: 1-130 (Adminor 70). BOWLING: Srinstin 27-7-82-1 (nb 5; 10 fours; 13-3-45-0, 8-3-21-1; 3-1-10-0, 3-0-6-0); Present 24-6-78-0 (nb 3; 9 fours; 4-1-16-0, 6-2-15-0, 4-1-16-0, 3-1-12-0, 7-1-19-0; Kumble 18-3-62-0 (nb 1; 7 fours; 10-2-0, 3-1-4-0, 4-0-21-0, 10-2-35-0); Raiju 22-4-45-0 (3 fours; 10-3-21-0, 11-1-23-0, 1-0-1-0); Garnguly 6-0-24-0 (nb 2; 3 fours; 1-0-6-0, 5-0-18-0); Tendulker 5-0-18-0 (3 fours; cne spell).

spell).
Umpires: K T Frencis (Sri Lanka) and G Sharp Third umpire: D J Constant.
Match referee: C W Smith (West Indies).
SERIES DETAILS: First Test (Edgbaston): England won by eight wickets.
Second Test (Lond's) Match drawn. Compiled by Bill Frindell

RAYMOND Illingworth yesgame, and his England team, terday ended three weeks of are being done a disservice by moping and agonising with further prolonging a matter confirmation that he will apthat should satisfactorily have been dealt with some months peal to the Cricket Council ago. It was first the fault of muddled thinking within the Test and County Cricket over the £2,000 fine imposed upon him for bringing the game into disrepute through passages within his new book. Board (TCCB) that it proceed-It is not a surprising move, ed so far, now it is down to though it is a profoundly regrettable one. Illingworth is Illingworth for pursuing the Illingworth, the chairman of by nature both proud and obstinate and he understandselectors, has recorded his ably has no wish for the blemish on his record, appeal in a letter that will be received this morning by Alan Smith, chief executive of the brought about by indiscre-TCCB. It is then for the Board tions over selection affairs and a candid summation of his to liaise with the Cricket relationship with Devon Mal-Council and set a date for the colm, to remain with him hearing, at which both parties when he retires at the end of will be legally represented.

"I am determined to see that the summer. On the other hand, the offered a lot of money to write my side of the story but I am not interested in money at the moment. The important thing

45 years and I don't want to leave it without restoring my reputation for straight dealing. I am sure I am doing the right thing."

Illingworth said. "I have been is to clear my name. "I have been in the game for

Trent Bridge pitch is too true to be good

John Woodcock says few bowlers look forward to performing at Nottingham

tions, some might say the futility, of the third Test match. Blessed with the sort of weather, anyway for its dry-ness, which the organisers of Henley and Wimbledon must have longed for, they have made awfully little of it. The only progress has been towards the near certainty of an always predictable draw.

After India's first innings had ended late on Friday with 521 runs on the board, David Gower told television watchers that England's bowlers had "done a fine job". He will have meant that, on the whole, they had bowled a steady line and a reasonable length, and had not sagged at all. In other words, they had bowled to the best of their

Even against an insecure and inexperienced India side, though, that was not enough to make any lasting inroads. It might have been if Tendulkar had been caught in the gully for nought, as he really should have been, and for a while after that India had their share of luck; but, all too soon, perseverance be-came England's main

When, in their turn, India's bowlers were equally unsuc-cessful, the pitch became the villain of the piece, just as it did in the first Test at Edgbaston, though for very different reasons. Whereas there it was too bad to be true, here it has been too true to be good. It is one of those which might have looked full of mischief if the West Indies attack of the 1980s had gone to work on it, Indeed, there is enough occasional bounce in it to have made that perfectly likely. But, between sides comprising 21 ordinary mortals (and one extraordinary one, and he not a bowler), the balance this time is too much in the batsmen's favour. This is no new phenomenon, especially at Trent Bridge. The legendary Bill O'Reilly's views on the same strip of turf in 1938, after England, batting first, had made 658 for eight declared in the first Test match against Australia, were barely printable. As he came off the field at an interval he was hailed by Bob Menzies, then Australia's attorney general, later to become their greatest prime minister and always an impenitent cricket lover. "Well bowled Bill," Menzies said, "but I thought you were a spinner of the ball"; to which the tiger replied, eyes burn-ing: "Not on a brothel of a wicket like that." We have ngland and India had time yesterday to reflect upon the frustraas well as his opinion that O'Reilly was the finest bowler he ever played with. So, except when Harold Larwood and Bill Voce were spearheading Nottingham-shire's attack, or Richard Hadlee and Clive Rice were doing the same some 50 years later and the groundsman was not averse to siding with them, bowlers have seldom passed through the gates in Bridgford Road with expectations high and hearts pounding. The difference from 1938 is not in the conditions for play so much as in how the game looks and the way it is played. In that respect, many of the things that could have changed have done so, from the paraphernalia the players wear to the bats they use, or from the rate at which they bowl their overs to the histrionics they perform; but the runs still come in abundance, if not with the same abandon.

When O'Reilly thought so poorly of the Trent Bridge pitch, Charlie Barnett made 99 on the first morning and England 422 for four on the first day; and in Australia's first innings, when they were more or less committed to playing for a draw, Stan McCabe's 232 came in 235 minutes (only 18 minutes longer than it took Manjrekar, also a natural stroke player, to make 53 on Friday). But England and Australia finished up where England and India are most likely to finish up tomorrow — in a vacuum. It is just less fun to watch now than it was.

'Reilly's counterpart at Trent Bridge at the moment is Anil Kumble a right-arm wrist spinner of similarly brisk pace, low trajectory and high standing. That he, too, has been in despair prompts a thought, albeit in a roundabout way, regarding overseas cricketers in the English game and whether or not they do more good than harm or harm than good. Anyone proposing the motion that they are a good thing could probably make something of Kumble's fortunes in the present Test series Playing for Northamptonshire in 1995 he took 105 wickets at 20.40 apiece, at a striking rate that Curtly Ambrose or Frank Tyson or George Tribe would not have bettered by much when bowling for them. Yet in 126 overs in 22 Tests this summer, he has taken only four wickets at 74.5 apiece. Are we benefiting. therefore, from the chance to see so much of him and his wiles last year?

India shackled by men in white coats

o play as poorly as Michael Atherton has done at Trent Bridge and still make a hundred, with power to add today, says much for his determination, quite a lot about India's wretched fielding, a fair bit about the dismally flat pitch and rather more than anybody would like to know about the standard of umpiring. The variable quality of decision-making (and decision-dodging) has been the recurring theme of this occasionally interesting, but far from bewitching, series. England have been the big beneficiaries, as the home side usually is. The Indians — in particular Javagal Srinath, the best bowler on either side by the width of the Trent — have been short-changed.

What K. T. Francis, the Sri Lankan umpire, was thinking about when he gave Atherton in against Srinath on Saturday morning must remain a mystery. Cloud formations. perhaps, or maybe the films of John Ford. Possibly, he was 🛰 not thinking at all. It was just about the clearest leg-before decision an umpire can expect to uphold in a long summer's work and his finger didn't even twitch. It was a real "captain's decision".

Reprieved. Atherton scratched out his tenth Test hundred, the least convincing he will ever make. Alec Stew-

MICHAEL HENDERSON

At Trent Bridge

was given out caught behind by the man who had spared his partner and, in his moment of disbelief, he showed commendable restraint. His bat was not within three inches of the ball and he was fired off without a second

These things even themselves out over a career and Atherton has certainly had some bad uns in his time. On his Test debut seven years ago, against Australia at Trent Bridge, he was given out legbefore without scoring when he nicked the ball into his pads. Against Australia three years ago, again at NottingElizabeth last winter, Cyril Mitchley erroneously gave him out caught behind. That day Atherton did not show Stewart's restraint, and he was not playing for his Test place. Nobody can doubt that India have had the worst of things in this series. Had one crucial decision gone the other way at Birmingham, they might have come to Trent Bridge one-up in this series. instead of being a Test down, and David Lloyd, who often sounds as if he should be working for CJ — "Great! Super!" — would not be quite so chirpy. When Darrell Hair gave Nasser Hussain the benefit of a doubt not evident to other observers as the batsman gloved a leg-side catch to Mongia during Srinath's magnificent spell on the second morning, he was not to know how significant the consequences of his error would be, for Hussain and the series. Hussain was 14 at the time and went on to be the last man out for 128. England took a first-innings lead of 98 and won the match by eight

The International Cricket Council (ICC) selects a panel of umpires, the best it can find, and sends them round the world to make decisions "without fear or favour". It is. heaven knows, a devilishly hard job and there will always that Hair's performances in the first two Tests and Francis's at Nottingham have been sub-standard. The umpires are not helped by the giant screen that replays every ball, no matter how boring. A second viewing of borderline decisions puts a match under the tinderwood of crowd reaction and the players, being curious, are keen to have their impressions reinforced, which will not help to build bridges with the match officials. If the ground authorities did away with these screens, nobody would Neutral umpires are here to home bias was alleged, or assumed, even when that was not the case - witness the hounding of Roy Palmer at Old Trafford four years ago by angry Pakistanis - but the ICC should make every effort to appoint the very best men and it is clear that Hair, for one, does not merit his ranking.

Ah, Pakistan. The second half of the summer features Wasim Akram's team and there should be some bracing cricket. Umpires will have noted that their bowlers won seven leg-before decisions at Northampton on Saturday. five of them going to "Waz"

THE FITNESS FRAGRANCE BY RALPH LAUREN

Available from major Department Stores, leading Boots branches

Kabir offers glimpse of golden future for Pakistan

BY JACK BAILEY

NORTHAMPTON (second day of three. Northamptonshire won toss): Northamptonshire, with all second-innings wickets in hand, are 100 runs behind the Pakistanis

SHADAB KABIR may not figure largely for Pakistan in the forthcoming Test matches with England — at 19, he was picked for this tour chiefly to gain experience — yet, yesterday, he played an innings to relish, rich in promise, if not quite in fulfilment. He fell one short of a well-deserved century after featur-ing in a stand of 171 for the Pakistanis' eighth wicket with another 19-year-old, Saqlain Mushtaq, that revived their team's fortunes after seven wickets had been lost for 140 and Pakistan were still 12 runs behind.

More than that, these two striplings swept into oblivion the previous highest eighth-wicket partnership made against Northamptonshire. Surprisingly, this had stood Larwood and W R D Payton put on 151 at Trent Bridge. Good players both, but they will not have batted better than the young Pakistanis did on this occasion.

The left-handed Kabir sprang first to prominence in English eyes when he took 74 off England in Karachi during a warm-up match before the recent World Cup. Described by the little master,

SCOREBOARD

PAKISTAN: First Innings Jaz Ahrned flow b Boswell Agri Murzbir nur out Systabl Kabir c Ripley b Capel
"Wasim Akram b Shape
Rashid Latif low b Capel
The Company of the Capel
Rashid Latif low b Capel

FALL OF WICKETS 1-30, 2-86, 3-91, 4-106, 5-131, 6-138, 7-140, 8-311, 9-321 BOWLING, Mattender 2-0-20-0; Bouwell 23-3-77-2; Hughes 22-5-82-1; Capal 17 1-1-60-1; Snupe 23-7-83-1; Bailey 6-3-13-0

Hanif Mohammed, as a prodigy. Kabir certainly has all the makings. Neat, the possessor of positive footwork and a sound temperament, quick to punish the wayward ball, he was so rarely in trouble that it came as a shock when David Capel moved a beauty away late and had him caught behind from the second new ball.

Mushtaq, his partner through-out an afternoon that saw Pakistan rebuild an innings that had all but collapsed, is trumpeted as one of the best off spin bowlers around. On this evidence, while not in the same class as Kabir, he is also a batsman of considerable talent. confident and uninhibited.

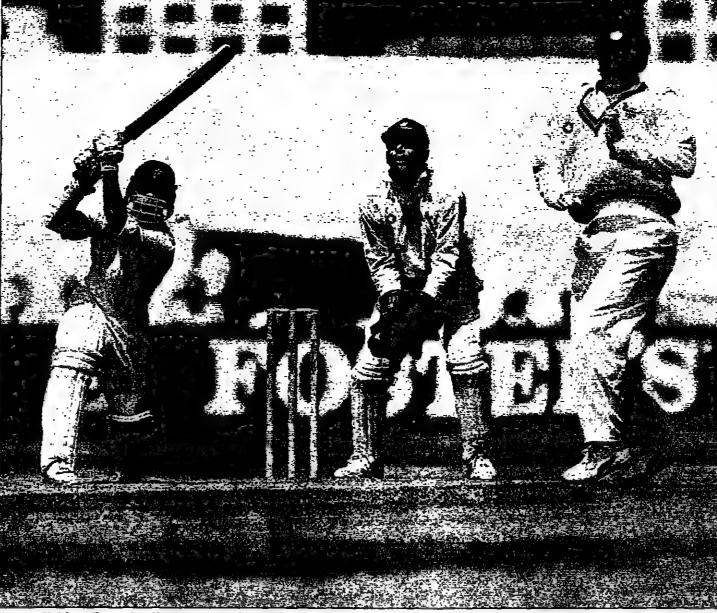

The Northamptonshire attack, it is true, lacked the razor's edge -Ambrose, Taylor, Curran, Penberthy and Emburey were all resting before the Benson and Hedges Cup final next Saturday - but, with Capel working up a fair head of steam and Scot Boswell anxious to prove himself, the Pakistanis, resuming at 79 for one, lost Shahid Anwar to Boswell in the day's first over and, after 80 minutes, were reduced to 140 for seven. Shahid was taken by Capel at slip and Boswell soon had liaz Ahmed palpably in front. All arms, legs and eagerness. Boswell generated a lively pace, without quite making the most of his oft 4in frame. He will, however, remember his first two wickets for Northamptonshire, which started the Pakistanis' slide. The running out of Mujtaba by a fine throw from Swann, substituting for the injured Mallender, did not help the Pakistan cause and, once started, the Pakistan decline gathered momentum, aided chiefly by the ever-willing Capel. But Kabir played himself in, watchful

Once Mushtaq became established, Kabir blossomed. His first 50 came in 22 hours from 104 balls. He faced only 89 balls for his second 49 runs. When he was out, his partnership with the increasingly-confident Mushtaq was worth 171 from 49 overs and although Mushtaq finally perished after an innings of 24 hours,

Pakistan held a lead of 171.

This was reduced to exactly 100 Alan Fordham and Richard Montgomerie as the shadows lengthened. Nevertheless, the day belonged to the sure and wristy batting of Kabir. Of him, the personable Pakistan manager, Yawar Saeed, while not willing to be drawn on the immediate future, said: "I was delighted not only with his runs, but the way he made them. He is a young batsman who will feature with Pakistan for a long time to come." Those here yesterday will find it hard not to agree with him.

Kabîr strîkes a six off Snape to provide evidence of his huge potential as the Pakistanis take control at Northampton

Adams gives Schultz swift response

BY SIMON WILDE

CHESTERFIELD (second day of three: South Africa A won toss; South Africa A, with all secondinnings wickets in hand, are 134 runs ahead of Derbyshire

THE biggest obstacle to South Africa becoming the world's leading Test match nation by the end of the century, as Ali Bacher tells them they can be, is their players' lack of practical experience. Tal-Jacques Kallis and Paul Adams, is all very well, but sporting isolation has left players, coaches and administrators alike with a lot of catching up to do. . Fifteen promising South Africans arrived in England last week to do just that. Playing under the title of South Africa A, they were engaged at Oueen's Park, Chester field, yesterday in the second fixture of a 12-match tour. Even though the average age of the players under John Commins. the captain, is less than 24, eight of them have already played at international level, so they are here not so much to lay claim to places in the full South Africa side as to sample English conditions. It has not escaped Bacher's notice that South Africa are due to tour England in 1998, or that the next World Cup is to be held here the following year. Unfortunately, their first match in Leeds was spoiled by the rain and their second is being staged on an unhelpfully slow pitch, the slowest at Chesterfield for many a year. It is making for an unbalanced contest between bat and ball, one kept alive only by two pragmatic first-innings declarations. The visitors were taught some lessons, though, as Derbyshire spent much of the day scoring 316 for five before declaring six runs in arrears. This inmings contained four half-centuries, so there were few easy pickings for the bowlers. Each man had to be chiselled out and it made for hard going.

If Schultz, the man who began

S G Koenig c Rolline b Vandrau
G F J Lieberberg b Vandrau
J H Kalis tow b Griffith
H D Ackennan c May b Aldred

N Boje, †N Pothas, L Klusener, E J Smith and B N Schultz did not bet,

FALL OF WICKETS: 1-85, 2-115, 3-260, 4-274

BOMUNG Dean 20-3-89-0, Aldred 22-2-83-1, Gmith 20-1-70-1; Walls 3-0-12-0; Vandrau 24-4-82-2; Khan 2-0-20-0.

Second Immega

Example (75 (1)

Total (4 wids dec)

S G Koenig not out G F J Liebenberg not out

Total (no wid)

the winter Test series against England with such high hope and hype, came here thinking he could bounce out a few locals, he is discovering otherwise. But he still

He was dealt with summarily by Chris Adams, whose 66 was the best innings of the day. Schultz tried to give him something to remember him by the moment he came to the crease but the ball - it bowled far too short vesterday.

was, in any case, a no-ball — was fetched from outside off stump and up against the boards on the midcket boundary in a trice. Adams also seized the initiative against the left-arm spin of Boje, hose first ball turned and beat his bat. He took 19 runs off one of

DERBYSHIRE: First Innince

M J Vandrau, P Aldred, F A Griftish and K J Dean did not bal.

FALL OF WICKETS 1-84, 2-135, 3-173, 4-180, 5-291.

T J G O'Gorman c Globs b Smith ... J E Owen c Globs b Schultz "C J Adams c Smith b Boje

G khan c Pothas b klusener ... C M Wets c Pothas b klusener M R May not out tA S Rolins not out

Umpres: K J Lyons and J F Steels

Extran (b 4, lb 15, nb 14)

Total (5 wids dec) .

tained his attack for longer, but holed out tamely to mid-on. Even so, when he had scored 35, Adams became the fourth batsman this season to reach 1,000 runs and deserves an A tour of his own: with England to Australia in October. Of the other Derbyshire half-his overs and should have main-centuries, O'Gorman's was the most workmanlike. Wells's the most entertaining and May's the most commendable, being the first of his short career.

The South Africans' response to all this resistance was to allow their over-rate to drop to the wholly unacceptable level of 12.1 per hour. In this way alone did they resemble a Test match

Assuming this does not become a habit, though, they have much to offer. Kallis batted beautifully on the first day for his 92 and Goolam Rajah, their manager, has no difficulty identifying the successors to the present generation. MacMillan's mantle of all-rounder could go to Klusener. Rhodes, as batsman-cum-fielding-livewire. may be succeeded by Gibbs; and Richardson can hand over the gauntiets, when the time comes, to Pothas.

Liebenberg and Koenig also showed, in putting together a stand of 128 in 31 overs, that there is no shortage of batting talent.

Lancashire mauled by Moody's all-round domination

BY PAT GIBSON

OLD TRAFFORD (Lancashire won toss): Worcestershire (4pts) beat Lancashire by 4 runs

TOM MOODY, Worcestershire's 6ft 7in Australian captain, cast a long shadow over Old Trafford in the evening sunshine. His 104 off 86 balls, four wickets and a catch, were just enough to put Worcestershire back in contention for the AXA Equity & Law League title, but not before Lancashire had shown why they can never be written off in any one-day competition. The good news for them, as they prepare to face Northamptonshire in the NatWest Trophy at home on Wednesday and again in the Ben-son and Hedges Cup linal at Lord's on Saturday, is that Peter Martin, their England bowler, came through eight overs without any apparent trouble from the calf injury which has kept him out of the current championship match. In addition, John Crawley, who has not played for almost a month because of a hamstring injury, could also return provided that he suffers no reaction when he turns out, at Lancashire's request, for MCC against St Ambrose College at Altrincham today. Otherwise, the outlook for Lancashire looked bleak until an amazing last-wicket stand of 82 in nine overs, a Lancashire record on Sunday, between Chapple and Martin took them within five runs of their target before Chapple was run out off the penultimate ball. At least they had salvaged their pride and their consolation was that defeat was entire due to the towering presence of Moody. His 108 on Saturday was his third consecutive championship century against Lancashire and vesterday they found it almost impossible to bowl at him.

He and Curtis had already given Worcestershire a brisk enough start after Lancashire had put Worcestershire in, but the floodgates really opened when Yates was brought on to bowl his offbreaks. Moody, his mouth water-ing at the sight of a 60-yard boundary on the railway side. dispatched him for four sixes and a four, all in the mid-wicket region, in his second over.

By the time he lost his off stump to Watkinson, aiming in the gener al direction of Sale, Moody had struck six sixes and seven fours in scoring his sixth century in all competitions this season. With Curtis joining him in an opening stand of 136 and Weston and Spiring clipping along at almost seven an over, Lancashire had to chase a total of 261 for 3.

Twice this season, they had failed to reach daunting targets by only one run. This time they did not look like getting close once Moody had removed Watkinson and Gallian in his opening spell. He also caught Lloyd at short mid-wicket and two more wickets in his final over, giving him his best Sunday figures. seemed to settle the game until the last-wicket heroics.

AN EXCLUSIVE TIMES READER OFFER

1000 Makers Of Sport FREE binder offer

To coincide with The Sunday Times 1000 Makers Of Sport series The Times is offering readers a FREE speciallydesigned, high-quality laminated binder, worth £3.50.

The Sunday Times 1000 Makers Of Sport is a six-week series of FREE 32-page colour supplements which builds into a definitive 192-page. A to Z guide to the men and women who shaped sport in the past and those who are moulding the future. The final FREE supplement in the series, which runs from soccer legend Bill Shankly to Alpine skier Pirmin Zurbriggen, appeared in The Sunday Times To get your free binder collect four tokens from those appeared in The Times every Monday over the past six weeks. The final token appears right. Send them to the address given with the coupon below. The offer

closes on August

31, 1996.

1880 MA	KERS OF S	SPORT B	INDER	OFFER
Mr/Mrs/Ms/Mi	· . 95,
Adamus				:.
			-	-
	·
Postcode	والمربوساسات البوروسوسات
.Week 2 (qty) Week 3 (qt	y) Week 4	(qty) Wee	. (qty) k 5 (qty)
Week 6 (qty	/) Week 3 (qt /) @ £1.50 each ir que/postal order	ic p&p.	•'	k 5 (qty)
Week 6 (qty I enclose a ched) @ £1.50 each t	ic p&p. (s) payable to	•'	k 5 (qty)
Week 6 (qty I enclose a chec	r) © £1.50 each ir que/postal order	ic p&p. (s) payable to	•'	k 5 (qty)
Week 6 (cty I enclose a chec Value E No Write your name cousing and rem	e and eddress or interpretations of the contract of the contra	ic pep. (a) payable to the back of unday Times	: The Time	k 5 (qty) s FT561. Seind ss Ql Spon
Week 6 (qty I enclose a chec Value £ No	e and address of hitance to: The S	ic pep. (a) payable to the back of unday Times	: The Time	k 5 (qty) us FT561. 3. Seind us Ol Spon services from The Sunday Times or companies approved by us.

Middlesex stay top despite loss to Surrey

BY IVO TENNANT

MIDDLESEX, who only last week gained the leadership of the AXA Equity & Law League, came to realise yesterday how difficult it is to remain at the top. Surrey, six points behind them at the start of play, beat them by eight wickets, Darren Bicknell making an unbeaten half-century.

Surrey bowled Middlesex out for 131, which was their lowest total in this fixture. Hollioake took three wickets and Martin Bicknell two. His brother then put on 57 for the first wicket with Brown and reached his half-century off 86 balls. Middlesex, however, continue to lead the table.

Kent beat Durham by six wickets at the Mote. The champions made certain of victory through Hooper and Cowdrey putting on 130 in 19 overs for the third wicket. The West Indian took three for 21 and then struck an unbeaten 76 off 86 balls.

Simmons, the West Indies batsman, enabled Leicestershire to gain their first Sunday league victory at Grace Road through striking 71 off 70 balls. He then dismissed Irani just as Essex were thinking of an unlikely victory. The England all-rounder hit 60 off 50 balls, but his side were nine runs short of their target.

At Bristol, Glamorgan lost their first six wickets for 56 but still managed to beat Gloucestershire by 94 runs. This owed much to a partnership of 91 between Evans, making his Sunday league debut, and Gibson. Gloucestershire were dismissed for 102 in 30 overs. | Ecras (b 5. w 1)

AXA Equity & Law League FALL OF WICKETS: 1-48, 2-62, 3-182, 4-182 BRISTOL (Gioucesterstare won toss) Glamorgan (4pts) boat Gloucesterstare by Umpres: R Palmer and N T Pleus

GI WINDERGAN S P James run out
H Morrs c Wilsams b Walsh
R D B Croft low to Smith
M P Maynard c Smith b Lewis
P A Codey the b Smith
G P Butchor c Wilsams b Alleyne
A W Except paylored A W Evans not out O D Gibson b Lewis tA D Shaw not out Extras (6 2, 15 8, w 7) Total (7 wkls, 40 overs) . S L Wallen and S R Barwick did not bat. FALL OF WICKETS 1-21, 2-23, 3-23, 4-25, 5-51, 6-56, 7-147,

Gloucestershire v

Glamorgan

BOWLING Walsh 8-3-20-1 Smith 8-0-39-2; Lewis 8-1-37-2; Alleyno 7-0-32-1, Symonds 4-0-22-0; Ball 5-0-36-0, A J Wright low b Butcher R) Dawson low b Glosoft H I Dawson flow b Gilosoft
M W Alleyne b Watten
A M Smith c Shaw b Watten
H C Hancook run out
A Symoratis b Coolt
M G N Windows c Shaw b Butcher
HC J Williams c Morns b Butcher
C J Williams c Morns b Butcher
C A Walsh c Watten
J Laws not out Extras (8: 8. w 5) Fotal (29.2 overs) . FALL OF WICKETS: 1-6, 2-27, 3-27, 4-29,

BOWLING Watkin 6-2-9-2. Gibson 6-1 17-1 Butcher 6-2-0-32-4: Barwick 6-1 18-0, Croft 5-0-18-2. Umpres G1 Burgess and JH Hams Kent v Durham MAIDSTONE (Kent won toss): Kent (4pts beat Durham by six wickels

Extras (b 1, lb 5, w 3) Total (8 wkts, 40 overs) J Boying did not bat. FALL OF WICKETS 1-86, 2-113, 3-120, 4-129, 5-162, 6-163, 7-196, 8-187
BOWLING When E-1-31-0, Thompson 8-0-42-0, McCague 8-0-42-2, Hooper B-1-21-3, Florming 8-0-63-2, Long 2-0-12-0

7 R Ward b Killeen ... 30 M V Fleming a Collingwood b Brown 27

Yorkshire (12) Somerset (14). Note: (11) -... Glamorgan (6) Hempshire (18) Laics (7). ...

YESTERDAY'S SCOREBOARDS Leicestershire v Essex LEICESTER (Essex won toss): Leicesti shire (40ts) best Essex by rune runs Lancashire v Worcestersbire OLD TRAFFORD (Lancashire won loss) Wordestershire (4pts) best Lancashire by low runs

WORCESTERSHIRE *T M Moody b Waterson
T S Curtis c Gallian b Waterson ...
K R Spinng not out ...
W P C Weston c Austri b Elworthy Total (3 wids, 40 overs) O A Litatherdale, 15° J Rhodos, 5° R Lamptt, R K Wingworth, A Shenyar and S W K Ellis did not bet FALL OF WICKETS 1-136, 2-168, 3-244 BOWLING Austrn 8-0-32-0: Martin 8-0-13-0. Chapple 8-0-62-0; Elworthy 8-0-40-1, Yates 2-0-30-0, Wattlinson 6-0-44-2.

LANCASHIRE J E FI Gallian c Rhodes b Moody M Walkinson c Leatherdale b M *M Walterson c Leatherdale b IN H Farrhother run rud ...
G D Lloyd c Moody b Lampet N J Soeak c Elfe b Moody ...
TW K Hogg c Curte b Moody ...
TW K Hogg c Curte b Moody ...
D Austin b Sheriyar ...
S Elwarthy c Lampet b Elfe G Yales c (Singworth b Elfe G Chapple run out
P J Martin not out Extras (b 2, lb 8, w 6, nb 2) Total (39.5 overs) FALL OF WICKETS 1-43, 2-51, 3-64 4-83. 5-126, 6-127 7-143, 8-167, 9-175

TABLE

BOWLING: Moudy 8-0-46-4, Ellis 8-0-46-2: Lampit 8-0-41-1; Shenyar 8-0-49-1 llfingworth 7 5-0-67-0

Umpres HD Bird and A A Jones.

D L Maddy b Androw P A Nixon run cut P A Nixon run oul ... C C Remy b Greyson J Compand not dul Extras (fb 15, w 3, nb 14) Total (8 wids, 40 overs) . M T Brimson did not bat BOWLING: Andrew 8-0-42-2; Cowen 2-0-19-0; Grayson 7 5-0-43-1; Iram 8-0-61-1, Such 7 1-0-24-1; Wilhams 7-0-56-2 D D J Probusson st Noon b Brimson
P J Prichard c Macmillan b Walsinso
A P Grayson c Whiteker b Wells R C Irani c Markly b Smi R J Rollins c Williamson J J B Lewis not out ... A J E Hibbert not out ...

Extras (b 4, to 5, w 12) Total (5 wkts, 40 overs) FALL OF WICKETS. 1-80, 2-86, 3-92, 4-152, 5-215 BOWLING Romy 8-0-59-1, Simmons 8-0-37-1, Wells 6-0-23-1, Williamson 4-0-25-1, Brimson 8-0-37-1: Ormand 3-0-27-0, Maddy 3-0-33-0 Umprest J H Hampshire and J W Holder Surrey v Middlesex THE OVAL (Surrey won toss) Surrey (4pts) beat Middlesex by eight wickets MIDDLESEX

P N Woskes c Kersey b M P Bicknot M R Ramprakash c B C Hollicake b M P Bicknot M W Getting b Benjamin J C Pookey run out J C Pockey run out
J D Carr C Kersey b B C Hollicake
K R Brown b B C Hollicake
O A Shain c Ward b B C Hollicake
J P Hewist b Pearson
R L Johnson c B C Hollicake
b A J Hollicake
M A Feltham run out
A R C Froser not out

BOWLING M P Bicknell 8-1-29-2, Benjamin 8-0-27-1; Julian 2-0-10-0 B C Hollioake 8-0-42-3, A J Hollioake 3-2-0 SUBFIEV Extras (b 1, lb 5, w 7, nb 4) 17 Total (2 wkts, 28.4 overs)132 B C Holiocke, "A J Holiocke, B P Julian, Will Various M.D. Berlevill D.M. D. among

FALL OF WICKETS: 1-57, 2-95. BOWLING: Fraser 5-1-30-1, Felthern 3-1-8-0: Johnson 7-0-43-0; Carr 6-2-16-1; Weekes 4-1-21-0, Ramprakash 0,4-0-8-0 Umpires: J D Bond and A G T Whitehead Sussex v Hampshire ARUNDEL (Susses won loss). Hampehi (40ts) begi Susses by 40 runs

*J P Stephenson run out J S Laney c Law b Jarvis R A Smeh Ibw b Lenham n A Sman low b Lenham

W K M Benjamin o Law b Lenham

M Keech run out

- R Whitaker c Greenfield b Lewry

- A N Aymes b Drakes

S D Udai not out

K D James not out Extras (b 5, lb 5, w 12) FALL OF WICKETS 1-42, 2-64, 3-111, 4-144, 5-188, 6-197, 7-199, BOWLING Lowry 8-0-33-1: Drakes 8-1-32-1, Law 5-0-24-0; Jarvis 4-0-43-1, Lenham 8-1-32-2 Selisbury 6-0-35-0.

R K Rao lbw b Stephenson . K Greenfield c Aymes b Stephenson M P Spaight c Aymes b Milbum . "A P Wels c Aymes b Stephenson N J Lenham b James Total (36 overs)

Umpres J C Balderstone and D R Shepherd Warwickshire v Nottinghamshire EDGBASTON (Nothinghamshire won loss) Wanviolchire (4ptc) beat Nothinghamshire by 18 nms

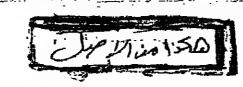

4. Y WARWICKSHIRE N V Knight to Downson N M F. Smith to Downson D P Oster low to Bales . HM Burns to Evans D R Brown not out Edras (5 2, 15 6, w 6) ... Total (6 wkts. 40 overs) .. A F Gilos, "T A Munion and G C Small did not bas. FALL OF WICKETS 1-2, 2-5, 3-57, 4-78, 5-82, 6-172, BOWLING: Dowman 8-0-34-2; Evans 8-0-40-1, Bowen 8-0-40-0; Pick 8-0-41-1, Bates 8-0-34-2 P P Pollard c Burns b Pollock A T Robinson b Giles ... C L Cairns e Pollock b Smith . P Johnson c Gles b Pollock
A A Metcalte c Penney b Munton
M P Downnen low b Gales
R T Bates not out
TWM Noon not out Entras (to 8, w 1) Total (6 wkts, 40 overs) ... M N Bowen, R A Pick and K P Evens did not bal. FALL OF WICKETS 1-25, 2-67, 3-129, 4-144, 5-161, 6-161 BOWLING: Munton 8-1-38-1: Pollack 8-1-21-2: Small 8-1-33-0, Smith 6-0-19-1, Giles 8-0-41-2, Brown 2-0-19-0 Umpires M J kitchen and K E Pelmer.

DIDNE TO -

Second women's Test match England v New Zealand WORCESTER (Imal day of lour) England drew with New Zeeland ENGLAND, First invenge

ENGLAND, First Inrange
H Plantine to Withers
J Britten c Illingworth b Withers
B Daniels c Brown b Withers
S Metcalle tow b Withers
J Godman b Brown
K Smathes c Lewis b Brown
J Smathes c Lewis b Brown
J Smathes c Lewis b Brown
M Reynard c Campbell b Withers
K Leng c O'Leary b Brown
M Reynard c Campbell b Withers
S Rediem c Withers b Hams
C Taylor not our FALL OF WICKETS: 1-6, 2-22, 2-31, 4-37, 5-90, 8-159, 7-190, 8-200, 9-255 BOWLING Withers 40 3-19-73-6 Hams 34-10-74-1 Brown 22-4-66-3 Campbell 34-15-41-0; Nigholson 8-2-10-0

NEW ZEALAND: First innings S Frum c Smrt b Taylor C Hockley c Redlem b Leng K Flaveli c Smithles b Redlem A Cleary & Smith Leng
A O'Leary & Smith Leng
M Lewis & Redden to Taylor
C Nicholson & Revicard
3 litingworth not out
Kithers not out Edras (b 2, ib 5, w 2 nb 4) Total (5 wids) BOWLING Taylor 22.13-64.2 Regiem 32-10-82-1, Long 26-12-74-2 Smithles

Injured Reeve to contemplate early retirement

IT HAS been a turbulent summer for Warwickshire and now they must complete i without the soul and inspiration of their success. Dermot Reeve, who has led them to six trophies since 1993, is to have surgery on an arthritic hip and will not play again this season; the chances are, indeed, that we shall not see him in competitive cricket again.

This news might appear to dominate the county scene this morning, until one delves beneath the bare bones of a damp Londoners' reunion at the Oval. There, defiant against Surrey in particular and the world in general. Philip Tufnell, of Middlesex, took five wickets for the third time in four innings.

To liken Reeve to Tufnell would be disingenuous. Neither man would care much for it and it would not strictly be accurate. Though both are gregarious characters with a maverick streak, Reeve is essentially High Life: Tufnell tends more to the earthy. One inclines towards champagne and black tie, the other towards beer, fags and no tie. Where they can be compared is in perception of their personalities. Peers admire them as cricketers and observe them with fascination rather than feeling drawn towards them as men, while the top table which sits in judgment selectors and their like regard them with suspicion. It is largely for this reason that Reeve was not chosen initially for the World Cup and Tufnell is not now selected regularly in the Test team. In a game that depends upon team unity over long periods, their faces do not fit. Now there are unquestionably valid factors involved here and the suggestion of simple prejudice would be false. Taken in isolation, Reeve's cricketing ability is limited, while Tufnell, after a sensational start to his Test career, spent too long in

Reeve: hip condition

ALAN LEE

Championship Commentary

regression. Both, however, are match-winners in their specialist field. Reeve should have played considerably more than 29 one-day internationals and Tufnell more than 22

Reeve was considering retirement at the end of this season, even before the injury that is now likely to convince him. He is not the most supple 33-year-olds and the callisthenics he routinely performs in mid-match are not done entirely for show. Longterm back problems have given way to a hip condition that refuses to heal, even after an injection. "I've got to have the joint scraped and that means two to three months out," he said. "I have to decide whether I will be able to play again and I won't be doing that hastily."

The odd thing is that there will be those in authority at Edgbaston not entirely mourning this development. Some members of the committee were agitating for Reeve's replacement as captain last year, even as his indefinable qualities of leadership were conjuring more silverware for them to show off. This heresy was resisted, but Reeve, unarguably, can be a difficult man to govern and the enforced appointment of a new captain will be greated by some with

Tim Munton, the natural successor, is injured, too, and for the second time this summer. So, for the time being, the side will be led by Andy Moles. Reeve's legacy is a team struggling to stay within sight of their old supremacy. within a club preoccupied by a defective pitch that now presents a genuine threat to its Test match status.

Last September, of course, it was Middlesex who took Warwickshire to the wire in the championship thanks to the dramatic last wicket of Tufnell's ten against Leicestershire. Funny, that, for while Tuinell is continuing to take headlines. Middlesex, beset, like Warwickshire, by injuries to key players, could confront a fourth defeat today against Surrey. But Tufnell, even without his old mucker and motivator, John Emburey, is both bowling well and talking himself up as a mature 30-year-old. The selectors, it seems, are not listening.

In recent weeks, a number of spin bowlers have been mentioned by Raymond Illingworth, but only Min Patel has played. He is neither as innovative nor as skilful a bowler as Tufnell, and far less likely to influence a Test match. But the next in line is lan Salisbury and, if not him, then Richard Stemp. Tufnell has too many touring endorsements to be considered for overseas duty again and, if there is not a long-term gain in picking him, perhaps the seectors are right.

There is irony, however, in the fact that while two champion clubs struggle and two talented, charismatic figures head, respectively, for retire-ment and disillusionment, a deeply unfashionable county is being swept into title contention by a largely unheard-of player. Vince Wells was out for 197 on Saturday, and might regard it as a failure after making 200 in his previous championship innings and 201 in the NatWest Trophy. He is 30, the same age as Tufnell, and has been playing county cricket for nine years without emerging from the small print. In 76 first-class games before this season, he had managed two centuries. Now, if Leicestershire com-plete their probable win over Essex today, perhaps it will be Wells who is debated by amateur England selectors everywhere. But then again, mavericks make for better

Turnell: bowling well

FALL OF WICKETS, 1-116, 2-177, 3-195, 4-203, 5-204, 6-204, 7-391, 8-425, 9-430.

80MLING: Covern 162-82-0; Williams 30-5-79-1; Andrew 22-5-57-3; Irani 25-4-100-3; Law 14-4-38-0; Such 13-3-31-0; Grandon 12-23-4

Bonus points: Leicestershire 8 Essex 3.

Umpires: J H Hampshire and J W Holder

Surrey v Middlesex

THE OVAL (third day of four): Middleses, with eight second-immigs wickets in hend, are 91 runs behind Surrey.

MIDDLESEX: First Innings 232 (M R Remprakash 80, M W Gatting 52; M P Bicknell 5 for 54, B P Julian 4 for 63)

Extras (b 1, w 3, nb 2) 8

BOWLING, M P Bicknell 6-2-16-0; Benja-min 6-5-4-2; Julian 7-1-22-0

Extras (b 2, fb 11, w 4, nb 16)

FALL OF WICKETS, 1-85, 2-118, 3-132, 4-206, 5-296, 6-315, 7-320, 8-320, 9-364.

BOWLING: Fraser 22-5-59-1. Fay 29-9-95-0, Johnson 17-0-70-1 Tulnell 25-3-5-55-5: Weekes 11-4-29-1; Hewitt 12-4-

Bonus points: Surrey & Middlesex 5.

Total (116.3 overs) ...

Second Immings
P N Weekes Ibw b Benjamin
J C Pooley b Benjamin
M R Ramprelassh not out

Total (2 wids) ______ FALL OF WICKETS: 1-3, 2-16

Total (9 wids dec) _____ Score at 120 overs, 415-7.

Mushtaq keeps secret weapon for Test

Simon Wilde on how the Pakistan leg

spinner plans to unveil

a mystery ball against England

ushtaq Ahmed, Pakistan's cherubicfaced but devilish leg spinner, is preparing a new delivery with which to torment England's batsmen when he meets them in the begins at Lord's later this month. He was shown how to bowl the ball earlier this year by Shane Warne, the Austra-lia leg spinner, with whom be has shared the secrets of their trade in the past.

Mushtaq, who has yet to employ the ball in a first-class match, was seen practising the delivery before play at Taunton last week. He was helped by Rob Turner, the wicketkeeper at Somerset, for whom Mushtaq took 225 wickets between 1993 and 1995 and where he returns in 1997 and 1998.

"His new delivery spirals in to the right-handed batsman from outside off stump through the air," Turner said. "On pitching, it does not break so much as carry on its path.

"Batsmen will find it very difficult to pick out," he said. "The hand action is identical to that for the leg break, so that will be of no help. By the time they realise which ball it is, it will be on them."

Two years ago, Brian Lara said Mushtaq presented a reater challenge than Warne because he possessed more variations. Asked at Taunton if he did not already enough deliveries which batsmen could not play, Mushtaq simply smiled in that disarming way of his and said: "One can never rest in this game. You have to keep looking for something new. I like to experiment." According to one source,

Mushtaq was planning to use the new ball in his first spell against Somerset but "got shy". In fact, he did not need it. By bowling his familiar repertoire beautifully on a pitch offering turn, Mushtaq

Mushtaq has a new delivery up his sleeve for the coming Test series was more than a match for his former county teammates, taking five wickets and adding five more in the second innings. Even Turner, with his insights into Mushtaq's methods, could not help twice losing his wicket to him cheaply.

However, provided that England's batsmen show more resolve than Somerset's when they play Pakistan in the Test matches, Mushtaq will surely test them out with his new delivery.

Mushtaq has made another change to his bowling since he was last in England and that, too, is down to Warne. During Pakistan's tour of Australia last winter, Mushtaq noticed how straight Warne ran to the crease, while he himself had long come in at a sharp angle. By following Warne's lead, Mushtaq found greater com-fort bowling his stock leg break, which had previously put great strain on his back. It was a ball that his Pakistan and Somerset team-mates be-infrequently.

"We got onto him last year to bowl fewer googlies and variations to his leg break," one Somerset player said. "Part of the reason was that it hurt his back, but he also got excited if he saw a turning pitch and tried too many variations when all he need-ed to do was bowl five stock

Mushtaq so enjoyed barnboozling batsmen with his googly, though, that - even if he did not dismiss them - he was reluctant to use it less. The message got home partly by accident, after he had started falling away in delivering the googly. He was advised to bowl more leg breaks to get his action back and it was then, when the wickets came in even greater numbers, that he finally accepted the wisdom of his colleagues' words.

The reward for Mushtag was not only 95 wickets for Somerset last season but also a recall to the Pakistan team for which he had previously achieved disappointingly little. This time he took 18 wickets in two Tests against Australia after which Warne showed him the "mystery" ball — and ten wickets in a one-off Test against New Zealand.

Mushtaq readily acknowledges what county cricket has done for him, which is why he had no qualms about re-signing with Somerset last week. "The main thing I have learnt in county cricket," he said, "is to be patient."

All this may sound like a strong argument in favour of the moratorium on overseas players in county cricket, but the failure of so many English players to learn how to play him may have more to do with Mushtaq's ability to keep on improving his game. At 26, he can only get better.

If England pay this sum-mer for Mushtaq's latest modifications, it really ought to be their old foe Warne they ship in the United States when

He has no great ambition to play Test cricket. Indeed, he

Brown stands by to swing into action Ivo Tennant talks to an unassuming left-arm bowler whose yeoman was offered a sports scholar-

FAST bowlers like to relax in a variety of ways. Brian Statham would spend winter months in his slippers by the fire. Fred Trueman, whose rages would be stilled only by the sleep of the truly tired, exhausted himself through talk and more talk. At Mote Park last week, Simon Brown merely collapsed in his tracksuit amid the cluttered accessories on the dressingroom floor. Brown is not Statham or has, though, a record they would respect. in 412 seasons, he has taken 286 first-class wickets for a side that is constantly at the foot of the championship table, and thus has earned such moments of Trueman and nor would he claim to be, for he is the most self-effacing of cricketers. He efforts for Durham could earn overdue recognition from England and have always got through my share of overs." That is an understatement.

relaxation as he can find. Durham have not won a match this summer, yet, on Saturday, Brown became the first bowler in the country to take 50 wickets.

It is hard for cricket followers in the North East to avoid concluding that, had Brown been playing for, say, Middle-sex or Essex, he would have been chosen for England by now. He was close to being picked for a Test against Pakistan in 1992, Durham's first year in the championship, but Neil Mallender's greater experience was preferred. Four years on, the Pakistanis are back and once again Brown's name is mooted.

If the England selectors decide to continue to play a left-arm opening or firstchange bowler, Brown will bear close comparison with Alan Mullally. The figures of the latter in this Test will ultimately decide the matter, but, presumably, thought will be given to Brown's form and, importantly, whether he has a greater ability to bring the ball back into the right-hander in addition to his natural slant across the bat. This ability to swing the ball both ways is what has made Brown such a performer in county cricket. "I find that batsmen are more inclined to push out at the ball in case it comes into them," he said. "I can bring it back more often than not, sometimes gaining more rhythm in my second spell. I am naturally pretty fit

Brown has carried Durham's attack this season, as indeed he has every season. It is extraordinary to think that he had four years with Northamptonshire and scarcely made an impression. He shrugs the memory away. "They had a very strong seam attack at the time and it was

Dennis Lillæ. Or perhaps that is just his nature. He will bowl 25 or 30 overs in a day without complaint, but he is just as happy not playing. His wife hates the hard to get into the side," he has no great ambition at all. It said. The experience constricted his ambitions, but he did is a part of his charm. When he left Northamptonshire, benefit from the coaching of having been homesick away from his native North East, Brown nearly gave up the game. He would have done so had Durham not become a first-class county, falling back instead on his winter work as an electrician for the North game and he is fond of his golf and his basketball, at which East Electricity Board. he had so much talent that he Whether or not this lack of ambition has counted against him, a perception that he has taken a goodly number of wickets on dodgy pitches in age Brown is now. "If you have had enough grounding, Test cricket is not quite such a step up as it is for bowlers who are rushed in." Lever said. "John Snow used to argue that you are at your strongest as a pace bowler between the ages of 27 and 32. There are four left-armers fighting for one place, but Simon has proved he is strong. can swing the ball and bowl at a brisk pace. The selectors

Edwards to come of age for England

ENGLAND'S women have turned to youth in an attempt to win the threematch series against New Zealand. For the third Test, which starts at Guildford on Friday, Charlotte Edwards, 16, an opening batsman, will become the youngest English woman to play Test cricket.

face in the 12-strong party. Edwards, who also represents East Anglia, replaces Helen Plimmer, of Yorkshire, and Pearson, a left-arm medium-pace bowler, takes over from Jan Godman, who, like Plimmer, disappointed in the rain-ruined drawn second Test at Worcester. Anne Gordon, the chief of selectors, said: "We have made the changes with an eye to the future, but also to try to win the three-match series. Edwards has shown excellent form and has a maturity beyond her years; I think she will handle the occasion well."

The second Test ended in a predictable draw after rain interrupted play through-out Saturday, New Zealand reaching 296 for six in reply to England's 276. Debbie Hockley, the New Zealand opener. moved confidently to her fourth Test century, only the third woman to score four hundreds in Tests after Enid Bakewell, of England, and Sandya Agarwal, of India. Her hundred came off 226 balls and included 15 boundaries. She had scored 115 and batted for just over five hours when she was well caught in the gully by Suzie Redfern off the bowling of Kathryn Maia Lewis recorded her best Test score with a maiden half-century off only 57 balls. She hit ten fours, before Clare Taylor finally claimed her wicket after she had been dropped four times.

SCORES: England 276 (J Smit 69, S Metcalle 66, K Wither 6-73); New Zealand 296-6 (D Hockley 115, M Lewis 65

ENGLAND PARTY: K Smithies (East Midlands, captain), S Rediam (East Midlands), J Smit (East Midlands), B Daniels (West Midlands), K Leng (Yorkshre), S Metcelle (Yorkshre), Shret, M Reynard (Yorkshre), C Taylor (Yorkshre), C Edwards (East Anglia), L Pearson (East Anglia), D Stock (Thames Valley), J Brittin (Suney).

SATURDAY'S SCOREBOARDS

Britannic Assurance county championship Gloucestersbire V Glamorgan

BRISTOL (thed day of four) Glamorgan have a first-minings lead of 328 over GLAMORGAN: First Immings 509 for 3 dec tM P Masmard 145 not out, S P James 118, H Morris 108 P A Cottey 101 not out)

GLOUCESTERSHIRE: First Immings A J Winght & Maynard b Butcher R J Carattle b Walkin T H C Hancock low b Butcher R I Dawson & Shaw b Butcher A Symonds & Mores b Walkin A Symonos C Morars b Burcher ...
H C J Williams c Shew b Burcher ...
H C J Baid c Evans b Burcher ...
A M Smith not out J Lewis c Croft b Burcher ...
O A Walsh c Meynard b Burcher ... Editos (lb 7, nb 12)

Total (71 3 overs) ... 60//UNIG Walkin 24-8-64-3, Parkin 16-4-26-0 Burcher 23 3-4-77-7: Croft 6-4-7-0: k-andrick 2-2-0-0. Bonus pomis Gloucestershire 1 Glamoroan 9

(Impires G / Burgess and J H Harris Kent v Durham

MAIDSTONE (third day of lour) Dutham, with all second-mining wickels in hand, need 225 runs to beal kent. y JE⊕rovan Stor76)

Second Innings Second Innings
M / Fleming of Ugerhwood bi Brown
N J Long Ibw bi Brown
T Bi Ward non out
C L Hoope bi Co3 R Cowdrey of Eigerhwood bi Brown
HS A Marsh still Eigerhwood bi Brown
M J McCague of Ligerhwood bi Brown Eigerhwood bi Brown
D P Eigerhwood bi CoN W Preston of Ligerhwood bi Wood
E I Stanford not out

Egras (b.2 tb.1) F4LL OF WICKETS 1-9, 2-16, 3-170, 4-165, 5-200, 6-204, 7-209, 8-224, 9-239

DURHAM: First Innings Edias (b. 1, lb.4 nb 16) ... 269 Total (95 1 overs) FALL OF WICKETS: 1-23, 2-31, 3-52, 4-59, 5-148, 6-168, 7-230, 8-239, 9-267.

BOWLING: McCague 28-7-89-4; Headley 27-4-86-2; Preston 16.1-4-42-2; Fleming 14-3-37-1; Hooper 9-2-24-1; Stanford 3-1-8-0. Second Innings

Bonus points: Kent & Durhem 6 Umpires: N T Plews and R Palmer. Lancashire v Worcestershire

OLD TRAFFORD (thed day of four): Lancashre, with eight second-trinings wickets in hand, are 68 runs ahead of Worcestershire LANCASHIRE: First Innings 392 (J E R Gallian 140, G D Lloyd 59, V S Solanid 5 for

Second havings Total (2 wkts) FALL OF WICKETS 1-8, 2-26 BOWLING: Shenyar 4-0-11-0; Ells 5-3-7-1; |Hingworth 3-1-6-0, Solenki 2-0-2-1. WORCESTERSHIRE First Invinge

Extras (b 11, w 1, nb 2) Total (3 wids dec. 95.2 overs) V S Solanki, S R Lamplet, †S J Rhodes, R K Bingworth, S W K Ells and A Sheriyar did

FALL OF WICKETS, 1-70, 2-105, 3-329 BOWLING: Chapple 12-1-61-0; Ewontry 10 2-2-42-0; Wattanson 23-4-82-1; Austin 17-5-52-0. Keedy 27-7-67-1; Galtien 6-0-Bonus points: Lancashire 5

Umpres H D Bird and A A Jones. Leicestershire v Essex LEICESTER (third day of tour): Essex, with six second-innings wickets in hand, are 98 runs behind Laicestershire ESSEX: First Innings 163 (G J Parsons 4 lot 21, D J Millins 4 for 74)

Total (4 wkts) 193
FALL OF WICKETS: 1-44, 2-104, 3-184, 4-190 4-190 BOWLING: Milins 6-0-34-0; Parsons 13-4-16-1 Simmons 14-2-61-2; Pierson 19-6-44-0; Wells 4-1-16-0 Brimson 7-1-16-1 LEICESTERSHIRE: First Immigs

P V Simmons c Gooch b Andrew

Umpires: J D Bond and A G T Whitehea Sussex v Hampshire ARUNDEL (final day of four) Sussex (7pts) draw with Hampshire (9) HAMPSHIRE: First Innings 270 (M Keech 104, V P Terry 52) Second Innings J S Laney ibw b Lewry V P Terry lbw b Lewry K D James b Lewry M Keech b Lewry "J P Stephenson not out †A N Aymes not out 238 FALL OF WICKETS: 1-21, 2-129, 8-173, 4-216, 5-217. BOWLING. Giddins 16-2-48-0; Lawn 19-4-73-5; Law 13-2-28-0; Larvis 4-0-10-0; Salisbury 18-2-56-0; Lanham 5-1-11-0. SUSSEX: First linnings 193 (J P Stepher son 6 for 48, C A Connor 4 for 57) Second Innings C W J Athey c Terry b Jamell ... T A Radford the b Connor A P Wells c Aymes b Milburt ... K Greenfield they b Stephenson

J Lenham not out #P Mocres not out Extras (b 4, lb 9) Total (5 wkts) ... FALL OF WICKETS: 1-7, 2-22, 3-84, 4-68, BOWLING: Connor 11-2-33-1; Miliburn 10-2-29-1; Stephenson 16-7-30-2, James

Umpires J C Beiderstone and A Clarkson Warwickshire v Nottinghamshire

EDGBASTON (third day of lour): Werwic share, with all second-innings wickets hand, are 172 runs ahead Nottinghamshare WAITWICKSHIRE For STRINGS "A J Moles c Pollard b Afford N V Knight c Calms to Bowen

Extras (b 2, 16 5, w 2, nb 18) Total (8 wids dec, 110,5 overs) FALL OF WICKETS: 1-57, 2-67, 3-108, 4-218, 5-220, 4-221, 7-238, 6-304, BOWLING Calms 25-4-84-3, Evens 33-5-101-0; Pick 16-4-35-1; Bowen 22-5-80-3; Alford 13-4-43-1

Second Innings "A J Males not out ______25 N V Knight not out ______5 Edras (fb 2, nb 2) ______4 BOWLING Pick 4-3-4-0; Bowen 4-1-28-0 NOTTING WASHIRE FIRST IMMINISTR P R Polland c Burns b Pollock
R T Robinson c Moles b Pollock
G F Archer retired fruit
A A Metcaffe c Penney b Smith
P Johnson b Pollock
C L Carns not out Total (4 wkts dec. 58.2 overs) tLNPWelker, KPEvans, MN Bowen, RA Pick and JA Afford did not bet. FALL OF WICKETS: 1-0, 2-5, 3-72, 4-212.

BOWLING: Politock 10-1-31-3; Small 11-4-24-0; Smith 16.2-4-52-1; Brown 9-1-53-0; Gles 12-0-48-0

Umpires. M J Kitchen and K E Palmer.

Borrus points: Warwickshire 5

Edwards's uncapped Cambridge teammate, Lucy Pearson, 24, is the other new

Bijou D'Inde shines through Eclipse

BY RICHARD EVANS

BLIOU D'INDE is likely to reoppose Halling in the Juddmonte International Stakes at York after earning top billing among the classic generation and a stallion valuation in excess of £2 million in a thrilling Coral-Eclipse Stakes at Sandown Park.

Nigel Gray, the British Horseracing Board handicapper responsible for the middledistance category, yesterday raised the Stuart Morrisonowned and Mark Johnstontrained colt by 4lb to a rating of 127 after he had failed by a neck to prevent Halling becoming only the fifth horse to win the group one race in successive years.

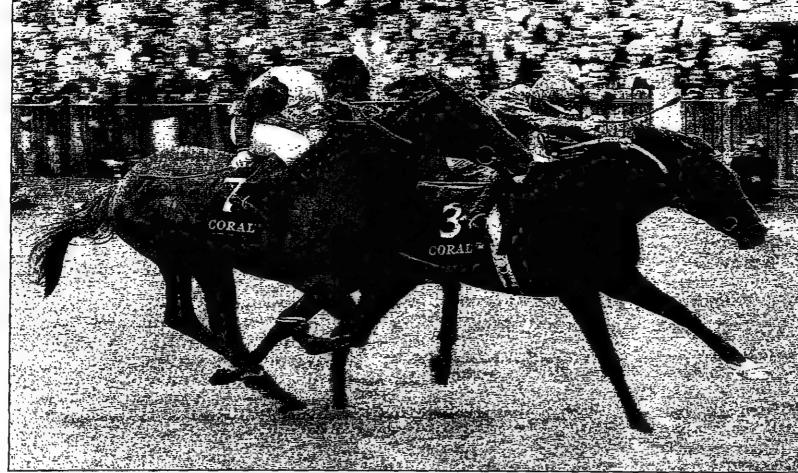

The official assessment, set against the mark of 123

RICHARD EVANS

Nap: ARABIAN STORY (7.35 Windsor) Next best: Ouestonia (9.05 Windsor) allocated to Shaamit, the Derby winner, and the 125 given to Zagreb for his runaway success in the Irish Derby. makes Bijou D'Inde the top rated three-year-old in

While Johnston was the first to acknowledge Halling's class, which enabled the Godolphin-owned five-yearold to quicken a second time when Bijou D'Inde made a threatening challenge a furlong out, he said the outcome would have been even closer with different riding tactics. "Jason [Weaver] should have come up the stands' side on the better ground. It is always difficult to beat a horse that is hanging into you. Anyone who says we were lucky in the St James's Palace Stakes would have to say we were unlucky in the Eclipse, although I am

Halling runs on strongly to hold the determined challenge of Bijou D'Inde in the Coral-Eclipse Stakes at Sandown Park on Saturday not complaining about either

After the doubts about the ability of the Royal Ascot winner to handle the easier ground and extra quartermile, Bijou D'Inde confounded the sceptics and in so doing opened up a world of options. Before the Eclipse we had said there was nothing for him until the Queen Elizabeth II Stakes at Ascot in September, but the Juddmonte International Stakes at York, where the track and the ground would suit us better, is now a distinct possibility. It is quite

we will reoppose

The Breeders' Cup Mile, the original end-of-season target, may be reviewed as his proven stamina could open up other races at Woodbine, the Canadian venue. "We have a little bit of a dream about wintering in Dubai and going for the Dubai World Cup. If we go to the Breeders' Cup, Bijou D'Inde could then fly on to Dubai rather than coming

Morrison, the Glasgow sol-D'Inde for just 20,000 guineas as a yearling, now finds himself in a most enviable position as would-be purchasers assess his value as a stallion.

Representatives of a British and an Irish stud had informal negotiations with Johnston last week about a possible purchase and, before Saturday. Morrison was thinking in terms of agreeing to a sale within the next week or two. Not surprisingly, the outcome of the Eclipse has prompted a change of heart. "After yesterday I think I will be keeping him until at least the end of the season, although ultimately it is inevitable he goes. I can't keep a horse of that quality." Morrison said yesterday.

Johnston told Morrison before the 2,000 Guineas that his Cadeaux Genereux colt was better bred than Mister Baileys, who won the Newmarket classic for the Middleham trainer in 1994 and was subsequently sold for El.3 million. Informal discussions had taken place last week with bloodstock agents about his possible value "but everything has changed dramatically now".

He added: "We are not trying to negotiate a sale. We don't put for sale signs outside stable doors but personally I would say his value is now considerably more than £1.5 million. I don't think we would sell him for less than £2 million.

Halling, unbeaten on turf since August 1994, will now be aimed at the top ten-furlong races in Europe, starting at York and continuing with the Irish Champion Stakes and the Dubai Champion Stakes, before possibly having a crack at the Breeders' Cup Turf over 14 miles.

Godolphin plans future by investing in youth tory of Halling at Sandown Park on Saturday means that Godolphin has now registered five group one, or championship. victories this season and won around £1.6 million in prizemoney - and it is tempting to suggest "you ain't seen nothing yet".

No sooner had the Coral-Eclipse Stakes trophy been returned to the sideboard in Newmarket where it had been displayed for the previous 12 months, than a hint of what lies in store was given by Simon Crisford, the eloquent voice of the Sheikh Mohammed-inspired racing operation.

When the Dubai team set up camp in Newmarket for the first time in earnest last year, they relied almost exclusively on horses aged three and upwards as they made successful hit-and-run raids on the top races. This year there has been a subtle change in strategy. Many more runners have been sent out from their Moulton Paddocks base, and those horses which have failed to come up to scratch have been given their P45s and dispatched back to Dubai without delay.

The reason for such ruthlessness is simple to free as many boxes as possible for two-year-olds. Twenty of the 46 boxes at the Godolphin yard off the Bury Road are now given over to juveniles. Two-year-olds will be the backbone of our organis-ation in future, Crisford said yesterday.

There is an emphasis on trying to develop and bring through these horses to the race track, rather than hang-

THAINERS: W Mur 3 winners from 8 nuners, 50 0%; M Channon, 8 from 24, 33.3%; E Alsten, 5 from 26, 19.2%; C W Elsey, 4 from 21, 19%, R Allian, 5 from 34, 14.7%; D Nicholis, 4 from 29, 14.3%, S Kettlewell, 3 from 21, 14.3%, Mrs M Reveley, 10 from 72, 13.9%, T Sarron, 7 from 54, 13.0%

JOCKEYS: J Weaver, 33 whreens from 129 ndes, 25 6%, K Darkey, 37 from 173. 21 4%, J Carnoll, 31 from 154, 20 15%, A Cuthane, 8 from 43, 18,6%, D Wright, 5 from 30, 16 7%; K Fallon, 22 from 137, 16.1%, J Fortune, 17 from 130, 13,1%.

RACELINE

0930 1684 COMMENTARY

FULL RESULTS SERVICE 168

101 | 201 | 102 | 202 | 103 | 203 | 104 | 204

Musselburgh

ing on to older horses that are not going to do a job for Newmarket trainers might shudder at those words, but the latest chapter in the Dubai experiment bodes well for British racing. The adventurous ploy to throw a trio of two-year-olds into the deep end at Royal Ascot paid off handsomely with Shamikh winning the Chesham Stakes and the other two

> RICHARD EVANS

Racing Commentary

running with credit in the Queen Mary and Coventry

The most talented Godolphin juveniles are still under wraps but should make their debut later this month. If they prove themselves on the racecourse they will no doubt join Shamikh and line up for the autumn's best two-yearold races, which traditionally provide the clues to the next THAINERS: H Cecil, 19 winners from 42 numers 45.2%: J Gosden, 13 from 51, 25.5%. L Curriers, 8 from 32, 25.0%: S Sowing, 6 from 24, 25.0%; 8 Hills, 6 from 30, 20.0%; M Johnston, 15 from 94, 16.0%; Miss S Hall, 10 from 64, 15.6%; J Pearce, 3 from 20, 15.0%; B Hambury, 4 from 30, 13.3%. J Code2YS: M Hills, 5 winners from 21 rides, 23.8%, 0 Urbins, 3 from 13, 23.1%, W Ryan, 18 from 65, 21.2%; K Carley, 33 from 163, 20.2%; J Wasver, 17 from 86, 19.8%, P Robinson, 4 from 31, 12.9%; J Carroll, 15 from 120, 12.5%.

TRAINERS

COURSE SPECIALISTS

Ripon

H Cocil
R Hannon
J Berry
J Deniop
H Hollman
J Eye
A Chapman
A Chapman
A Chapman
A Halls
P Chapple-Hya
M Sloute

produce a Reference Pointtype horse: one that is thoroughly campaigned as a twoyear-old and is well known to the racing public come the Derby - unlike Lammtarra and Shaamit.

have been trying, without much success, to L calculate the combined wealth of Peter Savill. Sir Eric Parker and Bill Gredley. £15 million? £50 million? £150 million? £ven more? My guess is that the last named is closest to the mark.

What prompted the thought was the Racehorse Owners' Association (ROA) annual meeting last week, when the three made a heartfelt plea that any cut in betting duty should swell racing's prizemoney, rather than being shared with punters in the shape of reduced deductions. There was even talk of an owners" "strike" to press home their case.

The ROA annual meetings are curious affairs. The atmosphere is similar to that found at fringe meetings of the Conservative Party conference or at a well per-formed Punch and Judy show. What happens does not always coincide with day-to-day reality.

It is not that I disagree with the need for Britain's internationally low levels of prize-money to be increased. but there was something slightly unreal, almost grotesque, about three of the wealthiest people in the land effectively saying the punter must contribute more to-wards the cost of their plea-

TRAINERS: H Coci. 12 warners from 37 numers, 32 4%. M Jarvis, 9 from 29. 31 0%; R Guest, 4 from 14. 28 6%. R Hannon 48 from 237, 20.3%, R Charfton 4 from 22, 16 2%, Lord Humbrodon, 9 from 55. 16 1%; A C Stewest, 3 from 21, 14.3%; L Cobreil, 4 from 29, 13 8%. M Ryan, 4 from 30, 13 3%. JOCKEYS; Par Eddery, 40 sewmers from 187 notes, 21 4%. T Outrn, 21 from 148, 14.2%, J Red, 19 from 145, 13 1%, W Woods 5 from 39, 12.6%. W Carson, 12 from 99, 12.1%, T Sprake, 6 from 59, 10.3%.

Windsor

LEADERS ON THE FLAT

Pat Eddery J Weaver In Fation T Country In Cochanne J Read I Cochanne J Read I Cochanne J Terriore S Sacrate W Ryan

WINDSOF THUNDERER 6.40 Premier League, 7.10 Victory Dencer, 7.35 Arabian Story, 8.05 Gentle Irony, 8.35 See Danzig, 9.05 Questonile. Our Newmarket Correspondent: 9.05 QUESTONIA (nep) GOING: GOOD DRAW: 5F. HIGH NUMBERS BEST TOTE JACKPOT MEETING 6.40 EARRY AND SHEILA HOAKES HANDICAP (£3,453: 1m 2f 7yd) (25 runners)

MM, 14-1 004/5
7.10 MACKESON CONDITIONS SKY SKY
201 10 MELRSAH 17 (F) M Bell 9-2 G Fasiliere (7) 7 202 31 VETTERY DANCER 16 (F) B Median 9-2 B Doyle 1 203 41 PEARTRE HOUSE 16 (6) B Halls 9-0 Pra Edday 6 204 DOCKE BRID A Hasen 8-10 R Hughes 5 205 216 GREEN SEYEL 18 (6) A Hasen 8-9 Dane (Front (5) 2 206 143 HL RHAPSOUY 25 (5) B Falling 8-9 T Sprake 3 207 56 14.7 MOURE 19 F Oole 8-6 T Oole 4
3-1 Ergen Josef, 7-2 Pearier House, 4-1 Malitania, 5-1 Victory Dancer, 64 Respondy, 6-1 Dictor Bert, 14-1 Lify Japans
7.35 WHITEREAD LIMITED STAKES SKY

7.35	WHITBREAD LIMITED : 3,558: 1m 3i 135yd) (9)	STAKES	SKY
301 0-37 302 2000 303 1 304 12	HAYAARI 9 (D.P) W Hem 8-13 WEANOUS 20 (5) P Cole 8-13 JAZZ KING 21 (F) Mics G Felleno SWAH HUNTER 75 (D.F.) D Cong ARABAN STORY 82 (SF.P.) Long	y4-13 W.10	Carson (F Carror S Corner S ckerry 2
36 4-23 307 -521 339 324 339 123-	NORTHERN PLEET 64 G HITMOOD IBERIAN DANCER 17 IP; J HIRS B BALTIC DREAM 72 (F) K Butto 8 LETTH ACADEMY 328 (F) B Hills	18-11 Par 1-10 WH -8 SW 8-8	entry (a) a bitworth i Holians 2
7-2 (bes pi D	nazer, 4-1 Manthem Fleet, 9-2 Haya	on Action Sjory, 6-1	offers.

8.05 FRENCH HORN AT SONNING HANDICAP (£3,274: 1m 67yd) (48) 481 0-61 BIDIAN JOCKEY 9 (D.F.(1) M Pipe 4-8-11 ... 1) Bridgeoster 2 482 400 - JUST HARRY 263 (D.F.S) M Rian 5-9-8 ... A McCarriby (7) 15 483 -035 ARRICAN-PARD 37 D Haydh Jones 4-9-8 ... T Chaing 3 484 -654 WINSOME WOOSTER 12 (6.5) P Mauginy 5-8-7 S Greene (3) 17 8.35 CHAMPAGNE RUNART HAMDICAP

(3-Y-O: £3,128: 5f 217yd) (18)
501 - 601 TIMES OF TIMES 5 (D.F.G) M Norm 0-7 A McGarthy (7) 1 502 9220 LA TAMISAN 3 R Harron 9-7 Dieze D Neill (3) 9
S03 483 KIND OF LIGHT 157 (G) R Guest 9-1 8 Sanders 6 5M 2543 HEVER GOLF BORRESS 25 (F) T Naughton 9-2 0 Holland 18
SON MINE SEA DANZIG 9 P Howling 9-1
SAS STAN YOURS HADDINAN BE IN DE COLD About 51 Con Colour 10 567 - 10-0 (TS0/THEPOST 42 (D.G) V Sourie 9-0 A McGlorie 14 SCH (THE DUMNER GOLF TIME 12 (V,D,G) Land Hundredon 8-11
D Harrison 12
500 0314 NORY'S SRAB HIRE 21 (8,7) K Ivery 0-11 Martin Dayler (5) 16 510 4420 SCATHEBURY 2 (D,6) K Burles 84
$10 4420 SCATHEBURY 9 (D,S) K Burks 8-0 D R McCabr 15
511 2404 MERANTI 19 S Dow 8-0
$12 424 CROESO CYNNES 14 (D,6) B Paling 8-7 T Sprain 17
$13 2444 MEMBERS WELDING 25 J Bodey 8-5 $ Drowns (3) ?
$14 -880 DARING VENTURE 45 T Haughten 8-5 A Clark 4
S15 D400 YOLATE 2 B Mestan 7-13
$16 9046 MILLASH HILL LAD 12 (B.S) B McMahan 7-12 _ G Carter 17
517 USUS SUNSET HARBOUR 3 (5) T Haughton 7-10 J Cultum 8 510 0000 BELLA'S LEGACY 10 H Hodges 7-18 F Norton 5
5-1 La Tassan, 6-1 Times (il Tures, 7-1 Kind (il Light, Klags Harmony, 8-1 Hover Golf Express, Ivery's Goah Hite, 10-1 Crosso Cyapes, 12-1 citiers 9.05 BONUSPRINT MAIDEN STAKES (3-Y-0: £3,948: 1m 67yd) (18) for a management and all final

	9.1 (3-Y-	5 BONUSPRINT MAIDEN ST 1: E3,948: 1m 67yd) (18)	TAKES
ł	601	BEAR HUG Lithy Herries S-0	d Total No.
١	605	20 DOUBLE MARCH 23 P Webber 9-0.	A Timerrary to
1	683	ENDAU SAM R Ingram 9-0	D Holland S
ı	804	AT BEEN PAKAPH 37 H DATI GA	A Marketon Co.
Ł	605 195 697 688	6-4 MELFORD SOUND 9 J Fanchaus 4.0	D Harrison 16
ŀ	100	PRIVATE PERCIVAL J Poulton 9-0.	A Morte 4
1		5 SERIOUS SENSATION 4 W Property	9.0 W Woods 17
1	680	STACKATTACK P Webbet 9-0	W.J. O'Gotter 1
ŧ	689	A 24 AND REPUBLICATION OF KINDLEY AND	G Darbara 7
ı	618
ı	611	YALTA II Cruston 9-0
Ł	$12	19PSILANTI Lady Herrie: 9-0	A Clark 6
١	613	CHAIR DUST 254 P Colt 8-9_ CHAIRT D'ALDUETTE R Hodges 8-0.	T Cutro 2
ŧ	614	CHANT D'ALDUETTE R Hodges 8-0.	S Crowne (3) 2
1	618	U LAUT IN-MSTRI 75 U Preference II.O.	Md Distance CD
L	616	MESE ROMANCE MISS & Referency &	4 Dane O'Nell (2) 🛈
}	617	CHESCAGE PLICE INC. OF THE SEC. OF A	Printerpretate 17
1	618	TANKS I CHANGE 33 (GR.) H CROIT S-15 ""	· · · · · Pal Eddery 8
1	3-1 Out	Helds, 7-1 Charle Diese, Valle, 10-1 Glein Paul	er, 14-1 Bear Hup, Yestland
ı	SHIP	ercalion, 16-1 alburs
_

MUSSELBURGH THUNDERER

2.15 Farewell My Love. 2.45 Crystel Warrior, 3.15 Swan At Whelley. 3.45 Bobanlyn. 4.15 Allinson's Mate. 4.45 Roseate Lodge. DRAW: NO ADVANTAGE SIS

2.15 EBF PRESTORPANS MEDIAN AUCTION MAIDEN STAKES (2-Y-O. £3.046-51) (3 moners) DII COLONEL'S PROE 18 A Whitaler 9-0 Di MicKeymu 3 SODA 9 T Barros 9-0 J Forbros 2 FAREWELL MY (OME 8 QIE) P Cade 8-9 ... K Dauber and French Marketing The State, And Comment of Princip

2.45 NEWBATTLE SELLING HANDICAP ($2,388: 1m 3f 32yd) (13) -522 METHERIC 5 W Construction 4-18-0 MAT RESTAL REFEE 42 By W Mar 4-9-3 0400 CRYSTAL WARRIOR 2: D Nichols: 3-9-3 5560 GREEK GOLD 5 (0.0) D Byton 7-9-2

3.	15	LE SARCON D'OR HANDICAP (£2,775: 51) (8
7-2 ha	istal (in	eze, 4-1 Militais: 0-1 Tomped, 7-1 Crysial Wenter, 8-1 offices.
13	9000	BELACULA 16 (8) () Chapman 3-7-10 I, Charmest
12	0-00	NO MORE HASSLE 11 Ms of Renewy 3-7-13 D Weight (3) KALKO 39 (F) J Enight 7-7-10
		PORTITE SOPHE 21 M Britain 5-8-1 J Louis
		MILL TOWN CLASSIC 7 J Paries 4-8-3 J Farming
		COTTAGE PRINCE 28 J Owen 3-8-5 T Williams 1
		BRIGHT PET 52 plus S Swith 3-8-8 III Commortan
		TEEJAYN'AFTCH 7 J Golde 4-9-13
	0047	TRUSAPED 14 P Number 4-9-1

1 2221 SIMMA AT WENNLEY & (CD.E) M Warm A-10-7 P Robusto (6) 3 2 3222 SILK COTTAGE 4 (4.05) R Whitelet 4-9-8 D McKennin 1 3 0805 SIX POLICIZA ((1.05) D Instan 4-9-5 D McKennin 1 9 5022 KM AA 6 (7) C, (0) Chapters 7-9-2 J Forbush 8 5 0720 LEADWIS PRINCESS 16 (8.0.1 C, (0) Man. 1 Prince 5-9-2 J Warmers 7 6 3000 THE RISTITUTE BOY 31 (0.5) Man. 1 Order 6-8-12 II Converted A 7 0050 GOMENO 2 (VII.F.C.S) E Alsian 9-8-11 Lead Wards (7) 4 8 0000 COURSE GLOW 5 (8.0.1 C, (0) M Morah 4-9-1 Lead Wards (7) 4 3-1 Secon At Whistory, 7-2 State Contract, 4-1 (Glass, 5-1 Grando, 6-1 piless.

3.45 MUSSELBURGH FILLIES HANDICAP (£2,814: 1m 4f 31yd) (9)

2,014: Till 4: 3170,107 1 221: MOBARI, W. 6 (20,F,6,5), 1 Waterlijk 4-10-4 (5c) . J Brands (7) 5 2 BASE SHMARESHO 7 M (Damon 3-0-13 J Brandell (7) 5 2 BUDS FORGOTTEN EMPRESS 9 (5) A Hamilton 4-3-9 D McCourn 4 4 107 PERSAR SYMPHONY 41J (0.6) Mrs A Manylaton 5-4-3 4 10/ PERSAN SYMPTHAGE 16 Page 49-8.

5 2125 PRILARST 19 (8.0.5) W Sharp 49-8.

6 -900 HATS OF TO HILDA 34 Nrs M Remier 49-5.

7 -000 CARMENDIANA 38 FAMOR 44-3.

J Princing 6 0005 FAMORY ROSE 21 (C.) P Montain 64-2.

T WESTERN 8 9 0001 RAGTIME COMMERL 7 (D.F) C Territon 3-8-2 (See)

L Charmock 2 9-4 Yetsatiya, 5-1 Skalateuro, Philadol, Ragileo Compiri, 7-1 Fényellen Ecoprese Famy Rusa, 8-1 Persian Symptory, 10-1 pitors.

4.15 DUNBAR CLAIMING STAKES (£2,605: 71 15yd) (5) 1 4504 4000N/98 4 (D.F) 6 Wichells 4-9-18 J Branchill (7) 2 2 0041 ALLINGON'S BARTE 6 (CD.F.G) 7 Barren 8-9-5 ... J Forston 3 4 0005 JERF 9 (N) C Marton 6-9-3 J Westers 4-9-3 J Westers 4-9-3 J Westers 5 200- 1000 CF 6 (V.C.P.G.G.S) Miles L Paront 10-8-1 K Dardy 5 5 200- 1000 CF SKION 221.J R Allam 5-4-13 K Egiton 4

7-4 Amerijan, 2-1 Allistoon's Majo, 4-1 Alling Ol States, 5-1 Diet, 8-1 Jets 4.45 MILL HILL HANDICAP ($2,736: 1m 16yd) (10) 1 600 CSLEPATION CARE TRU (C.P., 500: 1711 (1970) (10)
2 5021 DUNESCON PROVESS 21 (CD.F.) C Musty 7-8-11-1. IK Darley 7
3 0819 BOWNESS PER 21 (CD.F.) Mrs. A Raughten 5-8-7. IK Connection 8
4 402 TROUS TYRANT IT No. A Sebapte 3-9-4. IK Connection 9
5 3000 HAWMAN 2 (D.F.G.S) E Alson 10-9-1. IK E Fation 4
6 1-400 JAMPO 25 (C.F.) J. Eye 3-9-3. IK Lappin 8
7 5369 PERCY PARROT 4 (D.P. IK Whater 4-9-12. J. D. Williams 5
8 0000 ROSEATE LODGE 18 (D.F.G.) S Kellewell 19-8-12. J Forture 10
9 0004 RAIRBOWS PRAPSODY 6 (D. Chapters 5-8-7. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. J. Love 3
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. J. Love 3
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) Britain 5-8-2. L. Chambook 2
10 -000 ARONTE CAVO 17 (B) ARONTE

Blinkered first time BATH: 200 Btd: Court. 230 Decision Melver. MUSSELBURGH: 4 45 Morte Caro. RIPON: 7.00 Vestoa Lady 7.25 Casual Cottage WINDSOR: 8 US Souled. Bullsteens 8:35 Duramer Golf Time. Multigit Hill Lad

7-2 Dampstor Princess, 5-1 Coloration Citie, 8-1 Rambons Respectly, 7-1

THUNDERER

2.00 Beyond Our Reach 2.30 King Of Sparta 3.00 Fabulous Mtoto

9.30 Muscatana 4.00 Special Beat 4.30 Bangles vmarket Correspondent: 2.30 King Of Sparta. 3.00 Meg's Memory.

SUIDE TO OUR RACECARD

DRAW: 5F-6F, LOW NUMBERS BEST GOING: GOOD TO FIRM

2.00 knockdown selling handicap

Long hamiscap: La Belle Shyanne 7-8, Cooche 7-5, Formenbere 7-5, Doi: Dee 7-5 BETTING: 7-2 Durham, 5-1 Supremick, Brick Count, 6-1 Cooches, 8-1 Beyond Our Reach, Broose Russes Break, 1985 NO CORRESPONDING PURCE

FORM FOCUS

DURHAM 1461 2nd of 12 to Chalquist in selling handicap at Linghald (1m 51, AM) BEYOND OUR REACH 61 6th of 18 to blast Lauptier in selling handicap at Chapatere (1m, good). BRONZE PLIN-NER 946 6th of 23 to Voices in The Sily in selling handicap at Market 11m of the Sily in selling

SUPERMICK 18/ 8th of 17 to Dramatic Moment in mades handiscap at Eatingsay (1m. 2/ good to from) BREST, 3/ 2nd of 16 for Rebly Rose in setting handiscap at Notingsham (1m 6, from) COOCHE 16/ 6th of 14 to Wadada in setting handiscap at Bath Can 11, frm)
Section (Senomo Dr.A. Reach)

$2,40 ;7 %

4.5

2.30 LIMPLEY STOKE MAIDEN STAKES

2.4566 DECISION MAKER 21 (V) (The Bloadroom Synd) R Homon 9-0 Dame O'Neal (3)
420- R. Vinid Green 386 (5 De Zoere) R Charlton 9-0 T Storake
420- R. Vinid Green 386 (5 De Zoere) R Charlton 9-0 T Storake
420- R. Vinid Green 386 (5 De Zoere) R Charlton 9-0 T Storake
420- R. Vinid Green 386 (5 De Zoere) R Charlton 9-0 T Storake
420- R. Vinid Green 386 (5 De Zoere) R Charlton 9-0 T Storake
420- R. Vinid Green 386 (5 De Zoere) R Charlton 9-0 T Storake
430- R. Vinid Green 386 (8 De Zoere) R Charlton 9-0 T A Clark
431- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T A Clark
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Rotter
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Mohammed B Milks 9-0 T Charlton
440- R. Vinid Moham SETTING: 3-1 Ning Of Spains, 4-1 Typhocan Lad. Ridston Lass, 5-1 Flying Green, 10-1 Phonetic 12-1 others. 1986: SPARROWHAWK 8-9 Pal Eddary (11-10 lay) B Hitls 3 ran

FORM FOCUS

PLYMIC GREEN 2 Set of 15 to White Contract is maiden at Recopion (7), good to fam) last visus. Intel OF SPARTA 244 3 at 0.5 to Record Over is maiden at Langueld (1 in 2), fam), maiden auction at York (1 on 4t, good) PHONETIC (1 in 3), fam), maiden at York (1 on 4t, good) PHONETIC (1 in 3), fam), maiden at York (1 in 4t, good) PHONETIC (1 in 3), good to 201) SHARP PROGRESS 10:41 5in Selection; KING OF SPARTA

3.00 RACING CHANNEL HANDICAP (£3,849: 1m 2l 46yd) (6 runners)

1996; SBLERTY 3-9-7), Dehor! (15-8 tay) i Balding & san FORM FOCUS

3.30 EUROPEAN BREEDERS FLIND EVERSHOT MAIDEN STAKES

(2-Y-0; £3,625; 5f 161yd) (11 runners) 2 (3) GRYNNAVOC (A Rebinson) J Amorid 9-0. T Quinn 3 (7) GEFFENYSCHNES 11 (The Gold Buster Syndicate) R Hamson 9-0. R Hughes 4 (2) 243 MAPULSEF 14 (4) FM Motomapy (2) ffrench Dense 9-0. Danse Credel (3) 9 (4) RAMBAN WESTALIS (A LLeye-Webber/A Pye-Jeany) J Duniop 8-9. S Waterorth 1 (10) RYTEA (H A) Maldoumly P Wateror Rading Ltd) R // Softwan 8-7 S Sanders 5 (2) RYTEA (H A) Maldoumly P Wateror Rading Ltd) R // Softwan 8-9 S Sanders 5 (2) RYTEA (H A) Maldoumly P Wateror Rading Ltd) R // Softwan 8-9 Pat Endary 9 (2) 40 ONSONGHT WITH YOU 11 (5) Clee) M Federasion-Bodiny 8-9. D Hodand 10 (11) SLVER PURSE (A Jones) A Jones 8-9. D R MICCaba 10 (11) STREET (Commits Reading) K Cursonsplant-Brown 8-9. D R MicCaba 10 (11) STREET (Commits Reading) K Cursonsplant-Brown 8-9. D R MicCaba 10 (11) R John 1 Edwardsons. 4-1 Farmmy Vestalis, 8-1 Imputed, 10-1 Irbie, 12-1 street 1999 VOLA VIA 9-0 L Dation* (5-1) (Balding 7 rish

1995: VOLA VIA 9-0 L Detter! (5-1) / Balding 7 rdn FORM FOCUS

COMMANDER JONES 241 Srd of 7 to Frachs The Person in making at Checker 451, good to firm)

EFFERIVESCENCE 10%1 filt of 7 to Atown in maxing at Newbury (8, firm) AMPULSEF 41 3rd of 5 to forcom's Gordon in maxing at Notingram (87, good to limit).

FLASHMA VESTALIS (floated Apr 29, cost

4.00 ACTOR TURVILLE MAIDEN HANDICAP

(£3,667: 2m 1f 34yd) (7 runners) 1 (3) 55-0006 CYPRESS AVERILE 3 (C Spencer-Philipps) R Hamton 4-10-0... R Hughtes 98 2 (2) 54550-0 SPECIAL BEAT 24 (C Marner) P Cole 4-8-6 T Culant 95 3 (7) 63-4 DOUBLE DASH 38 (Middleham Pinis) M Johnston 3-8-5 ... D Holtend 95 4 (5) C30-00 PRINTES CULUL 37 (His 9 Moodfort) D Chappet 4-8-4 ... A Clark 90 5 (1) 3/650-43 SOPHISM 9 (Martin Pipe Rating Club) M Pipe 7-7-10 ... M Henry (3) 65 (4) 3-25084 PEDALTOTHEMETAL 23 (6 Narra) P Microel 4-7-10 ... J Quant 97 66 40 0000-0 B OTE THE BULLET 33 (8 Directorator) A Clark 10-10 ... J Quant 97 66 0000-0 B OTE THE BULLET 33 (8 Directorator) A Clark 10-10 ... J Quant 98 10000-0 B OTE THE BULLET 33 (8 Directorator) A Clark 10-10 ... J Quant 98 10000-0 B OTE THE BULLET 33 (8 Directorator) A Clark 10-10 ... J Quant 99 10000-0 B OTE THE BULLET 33 (8 Directorator) A Clark 10-10 ... J Quant 99 10000-0 B OTE THE BULLET 33 (8 Directorator) A Clark 10-10 ... J Quant 99 10000-0 B OTE THE BULLET 33 (8 Directorator) A Clark 10-10 ... J Quant 99 10000-0 B OTE THE BULLET 33 (8 Directorator) A Clark 10-10 ... J Quant 90 10000-0 B OTE THE BULLET 33 (8 DIRECTORATOR 10-10 ... J Quant 90 10000-0 B OTE THE BULLET 33 (8 DIRECTORATOR 10-10 ... J Quant 90 10000-0 B OTE THE BULLET 33 (8 DIRECTORATOR 10-10 ... J Quant 90 10000-0 B OTE THE BULLET 33 (8 DIRECTORATOR 10-10 ... J Quant 90 10000-0 B OTE THE BULLET 33 (8 DIRECTORATOR 10-10 ... J QUANT 90 10000-0 B OTE THE BULLET 34 (8 DIRECTORATOR 10-10 ... J QUANT 90 10000-0 B OTE THE BULLET 34 (8 DIRECTORATOR 10-10 ... J QUANT 90 10000-0 B OTE THE BULLET 34 (8 DIRECTORATOR 10-10 ... J QUANT 90 10000-0 B OTE THE BULLET 34 (8 DIRECTORATOR 10-10 ... J QUANT 90 10000-0 B OTE THE BULLET 34 (8 DIRECTORATOR 10-10 ... J QUANT 90 10000-0 B OTE THE STANCETOR 10-10 ... J QUANT 90 10000-0 B OTE THE STANCETOR 10-10 ... J QUANT 90 10000-0 B OTE THE STANCETOR 10-10 ... J QUANT 90 10000-0 B OTE THE STANCETOR 10-10 ... J QUANT 90 100000-0 B OTE THE STANCETOR 10-10 ... J QUANT 90 10000-0 B OTE THE STANCETOR 10-10 ... J QUANT 90 10000-0 B OTE THE STANCETOR 10-10

SETTING: 7-4 Sopinsm 7-2 Special Best, 5-1 Double Desit, 7-1 Pedulationerial, Cypress Avenue, 12-1 others 1996: TORAJA 3-9-10 W Carson (8-13 lav) J Durdon 4 mm FORM FOCUS

CYPRESS AVENUE 32%1 6th to Centenards in matter at Sandown (I'm 61 good) SPECIAL BEAT over course and detance (firm). PEDAL TOTHS-SI 5th to Missaul Time Beat or matter handicap here (I'm 51, baryl bast year DOUBLE DASH 101 4er of 5 to Candile Smile in matter at Ayr (I'm 51, good)

Selection: DOUBLE DASH

4.30 SALTFORD APPRENTICE HANDICAP ($2,141: 5f 11yd) (11 runners)

Long handcap: Woodlands Electric 6-9 BETTING: 2-1 Week The Best, 7-2 Secret Mics, 5-1 Terratry Temples, 7-1 Bangles, 8-1 Astrol Invades, 12-1 Deardon, 14-1 Duni, 16-1 others. 1995; PALEY PRINCE 9-9-1 Armse Cook (9-2) M Ushon 7 ran

FORM FOCUS

WALK THE BEAT beat Spender short-head in handicap at Lingheld (5f. firm) with TORMAY TEMPEST (3th beater off) 15H 5th ASTRAL INVADER 24H 5th to Always Grace or handicap at Brighton (6L good) SECRET MISS 24H 4th of 16 to Hair lard in selling handicap at Lingheld (5f. good to Selection: WALK THE BEAT (resp))

ĺ			OUR	SE S	PECIALISTS	3
	IRANIERS II Charles Lard Humangdon J King J Dumlop J Toder P Cole	Wins. 14 8 7 9 3 20	Retts. 36 29 39 45 16 110	% 38 9 27 6 34 1 20.0 18.6 18.2	JOCKEYS M Henry Pat Eddisry T Quitas R Hughes S Sanders Daire O'Nertl	Winners 6 22 26 10 4 3	Andes 24 94 154 60 13	250 234 169 167 121 120

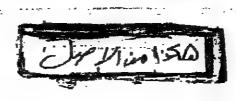

Bosra Sham eyes Goodwood

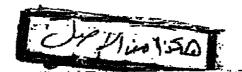

BOSRA SHAM, the Henry Cecil-trained winner of the BOSKA SHAM, the Henry Cecil-trained winner of me Pertemps 1,000 Guineas, is set to return to action in the Sussex Stakes at Goodwood on July 31. She has been sidelined since her classic victory in early May, and was forced to miss the Coronation Stakes at Royal Ascot.

However, Cecil said: "Bosra Sham is coming along nicely now. She is in the Sussex Stakes and we will just have to see if we can get her there." Cecil earned wide presses for landing the

we can get her there." Cecil earned wide praise for landing the Newmarket Classic with Bosra Sham after the filly suffered two well-publicised setbacks in the build-up to the race.

He bids for another big mile fillies' prize on Wednesday when Dawna and Sardonic are both intended runners in the group two Falmouth Stakes on the July Course at Newmarket.

ROWING: IMPERIAL COACH ON OLYMPIC DUTY MISSES COLLEGE'S TWIN TRIUMPH ON FINAL DAY AT HENLEY

Crew heeds Mason's Grand instruction

By MIKE ROSEWELL ROWING CORRESPONDENT

RACECARD

BILL MASON, who is training the British women's Olympic eight in Canada but is due to return to his coaching job at Imperial College in September, sent a message to the Imperial crew at Henley: Win the Grand. I did."

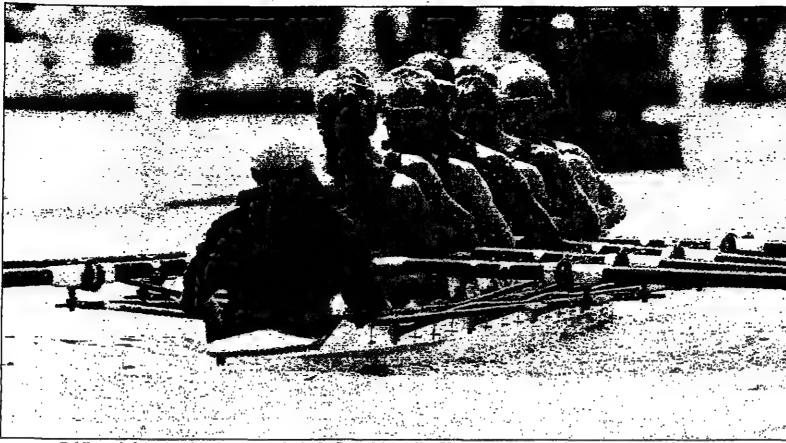

The Imperial/Queen's Tower crew did just that yesterday with a two-length victory over the Dutch national lightweights in the fastest time of the regatta. This was the first Grand eights success for Imperial and the news will presumably get to Mason, with the icing that another Queen's Tower crew also won the Wyfold fours after rowing through a tough Molesey crew in the second half. Yale, from the United States, in the hundreth anniversary of their first Henley entry, deprived Imperial of a hat-trick in the final of the Temple Cup eights.

Those who expected a tight Ladies' Challenge Plate final hetwen Leander and Goldie were thwarted by the Cambridge crew, who produced a scintillating row to win by 32 lengths. Miles Barnett, the Goldie stroke and one of five Boat Race winners in the lineup, introduced an unscheduled early spring just 90 seconds into the battle. Pushing the rate to 40½, his crew led by a length at the Barrier and Leander were history.

Four of the Goldie crew also raced in the Stewards' Challenge Cup final but were beaten by four Nottingham County/London lightweight internationals. One of them, Bill Baker, was a last-minute replacement for Andy Butt. whose wife went into labour on Friday. Baker got a Henley winners medal: Butt has a 61b

THUNDERER

GOING: GOOD

Goldie on their way to victory over Leander in the final of the Ladies' Plate at Henley yesterday. Photograph: Julian Herbert Overseas crews swept the board in the doubles, pairs and singles. The Double Sculls Challenge Cup was won by Greg Walker and Greg Lewis, from the United States, some consolation in a year when they just missed Olympic selection. Hermann Bauer, of Austria, with his new partner, Andreas Nader, regained his grasp on the Silver Goblets and Nickells' Cup after a gap of five years, during which time Steve

Redgrave and Matthew

preme. The Austrians, who were pushed hard by Jon Singfield and Adrian Cassidy on Saturday, won comfortably yesterday against the Swiss Olympic spare men.

Maria Brandin, Sweden's world champion, duly defender her Women's Sculls title, her only hiccup in the process being the need to find a stronger boat after her first race. Merlin Vervoorn, 20, from Holland, displayed maturity in sculling past Andy Bihrer, of Switzerland, in the second half of the Diamond Sculls final. The young Dutchman has decided to race in the Under-23 Nations Cup rather than go to Atlanta as spare man "I have chosen to row, not to watch," he said.

Oxford Brookes won the Britannia Cup for coxed fours, their third Henley trophy in four years, beating London University narrowly. For the two London bow men, Dominic Hill and Jamies Cornell, it was a sad rerun of 1995.

Holders; imperial College, London

Neptune (ire) bt London A ¼i, 6min 45eec

Neptune bt Waltingford A ¥I, 6:29

Holders: Oxford Brookes University

Univ of London bi Newcastle Univ (4), 6:38

Imperal Coli, London A bi Nereus (Holf) 275, 6:38

Trinity Coll, Dublin bt Oxford Brookes Univ A 4%, 644

Imperial Coli A bt Univ of London %1, 6:25

Yale Unity by Imperial Coll A 1%1, 5:26

Princess Elizabeth Cup

St Edward's bt St Paul's 1%1, 6 56

Brentwood Coll (Can) bi Canlord 21, 6:41

Oxford Brookes Univ bt Georgétown Uni (US) 1%, 731

Univ of London bt Kingston 11:1, 7:27

Yale Univ (US) of Goldie 1 %), 6.50

Yale Univ bi Trinity Coll 11, 6:29

Final

Temple Cup

Semi-finais

Holders: Elon

Wyfold Cup

Holders: Lea A

Samilinate

Semi-finale

Oxford's other university just missed out in the Visitors Cup for fours. The crew, with the new president, Ed Bellamy, at bow, led the polished Argo crew from Holland, before succumbing in the last 20 strokes. Neptune, the Irish champions, took the Thames Cup, in spite of a strong late challenge from Wallingford. The standard of the school

RESULTS FROM HENLEY ROYAL REGATTA

Britain's top junior scullers boy-winners at Henley was exceptional this year, in the Princess Elizabeth Challenge Cup eights and the Fawley being led at halfway.

Holders: San Diego Training

Notts County and London bi Notts County and Auckland (NZ) 341, 702 Goldle bt Notts County 11, 7:03

Notte County and London bi Goldle 41, 5:44

Holders: Windsor Boys' School

Mariow and Notes County bt Sir William Borisse's Sch 2WI, 7:02 Windsor Boys and Popter bt King's Coll and Mercantile (Aus) 21, 8:58 Staines and Star bt Mariow and Star 1%), 7:20

Durham and Queen Elizabeth HS bi Shipley Sch (US) 1%1, 7:17

Mariow and Notis County bt Steines and Star let, 7:11 Windsor Boys' bt Durham and OEHS 11, 6:50

Windsor Boys' and Popler bi Marlow and Notes County 4 hi, 6:48

Argo (Holf) bt Reading Univ 4%1, 7:11 Oxford Brookea Univ B bt Imperial Coll. London 11, 7:09 Oxford Brookes Univ A bt Easter Univ 3:1, 7:25

isis bi Downing Coll, Cambridge 3%, 7:33

Potomec and Arco (US) bt Notte County

Berim (Ger) bt Laga (Holf) 1%1, 7.15

Burlin bt Potomac and Arco %1, 6:56

Holders: San Diego Training Center (US)

Argo bt Oxford Brookes B 4l, 7:15 lsis bt Oxford Brookes A 1i, 7:04

Stewards' Cup

Center (US)

Fawley Cup

Semi-finale

Visitors' Cup

Holdone: Into

Quarter-fireds

5 cm fines

Semi-fination

Grand Cup

Final

Argo bit late 151, 6:50

Prince Philip Cup

Holders: Leander A

Semi-finals

Challenge Cup quads. After ending Canford's giant-killing act on Saturday, Brentwood College School, Canada, really opened up in the Princess Elizabeth final yesterday to overwhelm St Edward's, re-cording a time only three seconds outside the record.

were scattered among the two final Fawley Cup quads. The winners were the favourites, from Windsor Boys' and Poplar, who recovered despite

RUGBY UNION

Australians fall apart beneath All Black storm

New Zealand43 Australia

> BY DAVID HANDS RIIGEV CORRESPONDENT

NEVER let it be said that poor weather in the northern hemisphere is an excuse for poor play: the Australians proved that they could overcome British conditions in 1984 and, in windy Wellington on Saturday, New Zealand produced a phenomenal display of wet-weather rugby. The All Blacks have laid down a marker for the first match in the inaugural trination tournament — the next is between Australia and South Africa in Sydney on Saturday - which their partners will do well to match. They did so at Athletic Park, one of the poorest international grounds in the world, into the teeth of a south-easterly gale and heavy rain. The secret, John Hart, their coach, said, was in attitude. That is a message which lan McGeechan, among others, has been trying to drill into his charges at Northampton, but all too often English teams pay only lip service to the concept. Now they are professional, they will have to embrace it: as Sir Tasker Watkins, president of the Welsh Rugby Union. tartly pointed out to his union's annual meeting: "No sensible person pays, or goes on paying, for failure."

It is less than a month since Wales returned from Australia beaten 56-25 and 42-3 and it may be some solace to Scotland that Hart believes their forwards tested New Zealand more in the two internationals ast month than did Australia. "I don't think Scotland received the credit they deserved," Hart said. In the 93-year history of matches between the Antipodean rivals, Australia have never received such a hiding. in the midst of which Andrew Mehrtens reached 200 points in only his twelfth internationa) - the fastest double-century on record. But the young Canterbury stand-off half was only one of a team whose positive approach shone in the gloom from the first moment.

'We have to be very careful not to get carried away with that performance when the Australians didn't play any-where near their potential." Hart said. Four tries into the wind tthe first in only the second minute) and stout defending during the second-half phase, when Australia created their only genuine tryscoring opportunities, were cause for deep satisfaction. Nor were the All Blacks dependent upon set-pieces: the key to their domination lay in the loose, where the Australian back row was obliterated. Josh Kronfeld and Michael Jones, both open-side flankers by nature, worked in tandem so well that Zinzan Brooke could play the roving role he loves. At no stage did the Australian runners cross the advantage line, more often than not they were devoured in the tackle and stripped of Australia have brought in Pat Howard and George Gregan to replace Scott Bowen and Sam Payne at half back against South Africa at Sydney on Saturday.

AUSTRALIA: M Burke, B Tune, J Rolf, T Horan, D Campese: P Howard, G Gregan, M Brial, D Wilson, D Manu, J Eales, G Morgan, A Heath, M Folay, D Crowley possession, leaving the New Zealand half backs, Mehrtens and Justin Marshall, to dictate the pattern of the game.

For the first time in 77 appearances, Sean Fitzpatrick did not complete an international, but the All Blacks captain, who chipped the bone in his elbow, expects to be fit to meet South Africa in Christchurch on July 20.

church on July 20.

SCORERS: New Zestand: Tries: M Jonos, Cullen, Marshall, Z Brooke, Wison, Lornu, Convensions: Mehriers (2). Penalty goals Mehriers (3) Augitralia: Penalty goals Mehriers (3) Augitralia: Penalty goals Burke (2).

NEW ZEALAND: C M Cullen (Manswatu), J W Wison (Otago). F E Burine (North Harbour), W K Little (North Harbour), J T Lornu (Countess: A P Mehriene (Cantes-Lory), J W Manshall (Cantesbury), C W Dowel (Auckland), 3 B T Prizpatrick (Auckland, captern), O M Brown (Auckland), M N Jones (Auckland), I D Jones (North Harbour), R M Brooke (Auckland), J A, Kronleid (Otago), Z V Brooke (Auckland), Fizzatinck replaced by N J Hewitt (Southland, 72mm), Cullen temporatily replaced by E J Rush (North Harbour, 10-11).

AUSTRALLA: At B Buries (NSW), B N Turne E J Rush (North Herbour, 10-11) AUSTRALIA: M B Surice (NSW), B N Turne (Curensland), J Roff (ACT), T J Horen (Ourensland), D I Campese (NSW), B Rowen (NSW), B Payres (NSW), R Harry (NSW), M A Foley (Queensland), D J Crowley (Queensland), O Finegan (ACT), G J Morgan (Queensland), J A Eales (Queensland), BJ Wilson (Queensland), M C Breat (NSW)

Referee: E F Morrison (England)

Pugh pours scorn on Union over TV stance

By DAVID HANDS

THE charm offensive being conducted by the Rugby Foofball Union (RFU) will continue this week as the potentially stormy annual meeting looms on Friday, but it received scathing condemnation from Wales on Saturday. What the RFU perceives as commercial logic was given short shrift by Vernon Pugh, the chairman of the Welsh Rugby Union, at Port Talbot All of England's clubs have been circulated with the justification for the RFU's independent stance over television negotiations, which has caused a deep rift with the

its own annual meeting in other home unions. Scotland and Ireland have aiready confirmed their opposition to England's move. which threatens their place in the five nations' championship. Wales have now raised queries over the nature of the £87.5 million agreement which the RFU has reached with BSkyB, the satellite teleby News International, owners of The Times. "The impression created is that pay-per-view has по place in the contract." Pugh said.

vision company part-owned

"We believe, on good grounds, that the position is different from that. I think the rugby public in England should know what the details of the contract are."

The RFU says there is no pay-per-view planned for the duration of the proposed five-year contract. Pugh poured scorn on the RFU's claim that its actions are in the interests of all. "What is good for Wales will be decided in Wales," he said. "What is offered us is, in relative terms, patronising and unfair. If we accept, we will be consigned to the role of poor neighbours in world rugby. We say that if England follow the narrow path defined for them by a few, they will have no championship in which to play."

The best value plain paper fax you can get

With a Canon B100 fax machine, you get high quality plain paper faxes without the high price. For more details call free on 0500 246 246.

If anyone can Canon can

RIPON 7,00 Guesstimation, 7,25 Sheraton Girl, 7,50 ONE POUND (nap). 8.20 Malteamie. 8.50 King's Academy. 9.20 Champagne N Dreams. The Times Private Handicapper's top rating: 7.25 HOH SURPRISE DRAW: NO ADVANTAGE

7.00 FISHERGATE SELLING STAKES (£2,707: 1m 2f) (13 runners) -C2, 707 171 27) (13 rUPINETS)

(9) 0245 FORZAR 3 (8.5) J O Netl 4-7-12 J Whenver I 131 -111 MORTH ARDAR 17 (D.E.G. Mrs. M Rymbry 5-0-12 S Copo (5) 16, -050 ACQUITTAL 14 (V.P. A Sametar 4-7 ... R Harris (6) 17 (110 000 CAMANDO CORONET 7 (D.E. M Mars 5-7 ... R Falco (110 000 CAMANDO CORONET 7 (D.E. M Mars 5-7 ... K Falco (110 000 CAMANDO CORONET 7 (D.E. M Mars 5-7 ... K Packer (110 000 CAMANDO CORONET 7 (D.E. M Mars 5-7 -7 ... K Dackey (10 0-04 BOY BLAKENEY 10 Mrs. 5 Smith 5-7 ... K Dackey (10 0-04 BOY BLAKENEY 10 Mrs. 5 Smith 5-8 ... K Dackey (10 0-04 BOY BLAKENEY 10 Mrs. 5 Smith 5-8 ... M Birch (11 40 LEBEDONSKI) 44 Mrs. 5 Smith 5-8 ... M Birch (12 40 LEBEDONSKI) 44 Mrs. 7 Smith 7 Mrs. 5 Smith 7 Mrs. A Cultimate (12 0 PRINCESSE LYPHARO 17 M Polylano 8-8 ... M Birch (12 0 PRINCESSE LYPHARO 17 M Polylano 8-8 ... M British (12 0 PRINCESSE LYPHARO 17 M Polylano 8-8 ... M Parmang (12 0 PRINCESSE LYPHARO 17 M Polylano 8-8 ... M Parmang (13 000 Mrs. 4 Cultimate 12 000 Mrs. 4 Cultima J-1 North Arger, 9-2 Forcel: Guesspreakon, 5-1 Willy Star, 7-1 others

7.25 SKELLGATE MAIDEN AUCTION SKY FILLIES STAKES (2-Y-0: £2,576: 51) (7) 3-4 Hoth Surprice, 11-4 Five Live, 4-1 My Gall, Under Pressure, 5-1 Others.

7.50 BONDGATE HANDICAP (3-Y-0: £4.458: 1m 4f 60vd) (12)

7-2 Yillings King, 5-1 Dilego, One Pound, 6-1 Mersei Pressure, Mellend, Berlin Blue 8-1 Exectly, 12-1 Others. 8.20 SINGER & FRIEDLANDER HANDICAP (3-Y-0: £4,302. 61) (9) (3) 0311 PIDIAN RELATIVE 9 (DJF) R Gent 9-7 D Griffiths (5) (4) 02-0 BRANSTON DANISI 17 (F) Mar J Parsson 9-7 K Fation (5) 5-33 MERREY 34 MAS S Hell 9-5 MERREY 5-2 K Darrey (7) 1106 LIMERICK PRINCESS 18 (0.6.8) J Biology (8) 1212 MATEAMA 25 (8 D.BF.B.B) S Bowing 9-2. J Womer (5) 4204 THE WAD 4 (D.F.D Mekalis 8-12 ... W Types (1) 0007 PHARACH'S JOY 11 (D.F.D Types 6-2 ... PRoblems (9) 0322 PATHAZE 12 (F) N Bycatt 7-15 ... Date 63scos (7) 6444 CAMICHORUR 4 (8.Br) T Easterly 7-15 ... J Lowe. 9-2 Indian Relative, 5-1 Manageme, Lamence Princess, Phenick & July, 6-1 ethers 8.50 YIRKGATE MAIDEN STAKES

O'AA MHYRY IF MYINEY 214YE2
(£3,680: 1m) (14)
1 (7) OC- SICARIAN 290 M Heaton-51/2 4-9-7 A Proctor	ė.
2 (9) 8 PETIT FLORA 2 6 Holmes 4-9-2 J Faming	-
3 (3) 43 TOULSTON LADY 2 M Carnetin 4-9-2 L Charment	71
4 (8) 649 GOLDEN THUNDERBOLT 17 / Gosdon 3-8-12. J Lown	10
5 (5) 035 KING'S ACADEMY 17 H Cacal 3-8-12 W Ryan 1	18
1 (7) 00- SGARIAN 200 M HISTON-1913 4-9-7. A PROCEST (9) 8 PETIT FLORA 2 6 Hohms 4-9-2 — J Faming 3 (3) 43 YOULSTON LADY 2 M Carnetio 4-9-2 — L Chemolis (8) 848 60/LDEN THANDERSON LT 17 / Bending 3-8-12 — L W Byin 1 (5) 035 KING'S ACADEMY 17 H Cacil 3-9-12 — W Byin 1 (4) 0 ROAD RACER 14 Mrs J Runskian 3-4-12 — W Byin 1 (7) 10 42 45 STELLAR LIME 77 (87) 6 bits 3-9-12 — M Hists (1) 4 Bits 1 Mrs 2 Mrs	14
7 (10) 42-4 STELLAR LINE 77 (BF) B Hots 3-8-12 M HB/s
8 (11) SWINFORD SUPPRINE J Biocorday 3-8-12. R Lappa 9 (2) CAMERON EDGE A Matholiana 3-8-7	-
9 (2) CALLETION EDGE A MAINDIANS 3-8-7 J Carroll	м
10 (14) $440 DISPOL GEM 42 G Chiroyd 3-8-7 K Fallon 1	3
11 (12) 5-0 HAYSONG 4 J Leigh 3-8-7	-
12 (1) JEOPARDEZE C Britain 3-8-7 M. Birch	-
12 (8) 00 MUSTARD 18 A Multipliand 3-8-7 T Williams	40
14 (13) BB PETARINA 30 Mas J Craze 3-5-7 N Connorton	75
5-2 Bolden Thunderboll, 7-3 States Line, king a Academy Jeoperalise 18	et.
Seymord Supreme, Road Recer, 20-1 Carreton Edgs. 25-1 others.	-
the second secon	_
0.20
9.20 WESTGATE HANDICAP (£3,096: 1m) (12)
a war and a services in a series of the series of the series of
1 (10) 0334 SCARABEN 1D (D.BF.F.G.S) S KANDOWN B-10-0 J Stoick	53

| 1 (10) 0354 SCARABEN 10 (D.BF.F.G.S) S Mathemel B-10-0 J Stack | 2 (8) 0355 CHINENSIS 24 (BF) L Centers 3-9-7 ... 0 Lithins 3 (9) 1023 SAN-JAROV 3 (BF, Cg) M Johnston 7-8-4 ... J Wissen 4 (4) 54-0 P.LASSIPE TRICK 25 (D.F.G.) E locas 5-9-1 Kim Timbler 5 (3) 6-60 LANP 1097 100 (V.D.F.G.) C Farbrut 8-8-13 L Charnock 6 (5) 0000 DAKBURY 24J Miss L Sedon 4-8-13 ... K Felton 7 (17) 0250 LUCKY BEA 16 (D.G.) M 9 Exterby 3-9-17 ... Disc Bisson 8 (6) 0020 NORTHERN JUDGE 10 (8) 8 Isasbary 3-8-17 ... W Rysts 9 (17) 6-905 BEJUARDIS LAW 16 (D.G.) J Pickerop 5-8-6 ... H Lappin 12 (8-60 CHARPASER N DESABS 26 (F) DAKOLIS 4-9-7 K Darby 11 (7) 0444 EJRO SCEPTIC 10 (E.D.F.G.) T Exterby 4-8-7 F Lynch (3) 12 (10 0250 BEDAZZE 3 (D.G.) M Bruken 5-7-12 J Lovid 14 Service Chartose 4-1 Service Chartose 4-1 Service (Chartose 4-1 Service Chartose 4-1 Service (Chartose (Ch | 19 | 6232 MENTAL PRESSURE 17 Mrs M Reveloy 9-7 K Daristy | 19 | 661 VALLAGE NING 12 (0.F.) F Herman 8-8 ... J F Egan | 93 | 19 | 661 VALLAGE NING 12 (0.F.) F Herman 8-8 ... J F Egan | 93 | 16 | 60 | 6020 MCRIHERRI MORE 10 (8) E Harbory 3-8-11 ... W Ryan | 93 | 123 | 6005 BSULMARDS LAW 16 (1.6) J Pricency 5-8-6 ... F Luppin | 94 | 123 | 6005 BSULMARDS LAW 16 (1.6) J Pricency 5-8-6 ... J Robinson | 94 | 123 | 6005 BSULMARDS LAW 16 (1.6) J Pricency 5-8-6 ... F Luppin | 95 | 10 | 21 | 6002 MILNEED 15 J Gooden 9-2 ... Date Gibson | 94 | 123 | 6005 BSULMARDS LAW 16 (1.6) J Pricency 5-8-6 ... J Robinson | 95 | 10 | 21 | 6002 MILNEED 15 J Gooden 9-2 ... Date Gibson | 95 | 10 | 21 | 6002 MILNEED 16 J Gooden 9-2 ... Date Gibson | 95 | 10 | 21 | 6002 MILNEED 16 J Gooden 9-2 ... Date Gibson | 95 | 10 | 21 | 6002 MILNEED 16 J Gooden 9-2 ... Date Gibson | 95 | 10 | 21 | 6002 MILNEED 16 J Gooden 9-2 ... Date Gibson | 95 | 10 | 21 | 6002 MILNEED 16 J Gooden 9-2 ... Date Gibson | 94 | 10 | 21 | 6002 MILNEED 16 J Gooden 9-2 ... Date Gibson | 94 | 10 | 21 | 6002 MILNEED 16 J G MILNEED 16 J GOODEN | 95 | 10 | 21 | 6002 MILNEED 16 J G MILNEED 16 J

SATURDAY'S RACING RESULTS

Sandown Park Going good to soft 2.15 (71 16yd) 1 Gretel J Reid, 7-21; 2. Medaaly (3-1), 3. Dark Green (5-2 law) 8 ten NF: Sker Wodget 94, 21 M Stoute, Tokic 24 80 52 00 51 70 DF 55 40 CSF 512 81 24 80 2:00 170 br (and CS) 170 br (and CS) 2.2 5.2 (Im 14yd) 1, Concer Un (M HNS, 6-1 Hz 14yd), 2, Golden Pond (8-1), 3, Green Green Desen (12-1) Options Open 6-1 (4-4x 13 ren Hd, ch nd S Williams Toter 26-60, 22-90, 22-30 23-00 DF, 21-7 50 Thos 249-80 CSF 246-98 Tuckst 2520.77

269 60 Con 146 98 THE8ST ES20.77 3.25 ($4 Gyd) 1. Eveningserformance (C Rotter 7-7) 2. Venture Capitalist (11-1), 3. Croft Pool (8-1), Mubhig 6-1 flav 12 ran, NR: Welsh Mast, VI, 31 H Candy Tote 17-30, 12-50, 64 10, 62-10 DF 146 70. The 1149 90 CSF 177-23. $1.49 90 CSF $272.23.
4.10 (1m 21 7yd) 1, Haifling (J Reid 100-30);
2. Biyou Dinde (12-1), 3. Pentire (2-1 fev) 7, an Nil., 1 will 8 bin Surgor Tote $2.80.
20 $3.00 DE $288.00 CSF $2.418 After a stewards' inquiry result stood 4.45 (2m 78-x5), 1, Pearl Venture (W Woods $1.-1), 2, Boxockite Court (9-1), 3, Danging (14-1) Sharel 7-2 law 13 rain NR Canary Fotoon 1 shipt, $8 Woods Tote $14.00.
5.310 $2.410 $2.490 DF $66.90. The $2.90 CSF $10.689 Thesat $2.402.54.
5.18 $78.641 1 Lord Hoth Admiral (J Reid).

E27 90 (SF £10639 Irrest £1,40234 5.15 (51 6;4) 1 Lord High Admiral (J Red, 12 (a), 2 Beau Venture (71), 3 Judea (10-1) 9 ran NR Fernme Savante, For The Prosert, 291, hd. M. Heaton-Elis, Toter (3.10, £1.40, £2.00, £2.50 DF £12.40 Tho £3.50 CSF £24.01 Thosat £173.10 5.45 (177 319) v/d) 7 Edan Heights (A Daly, 16-11), 2 Eagle Carryon (5-1), 3, Shu Gas (9-0) The Boccing Brief 4-1 lay 10 ran 2-4, 31 S feet. Tote C21 50 (4 00 6 17 0) C21 0 F 250 30 Tho C144 60, CSF £88 68. Thosas £388 05 Jackpot not won (pool of £8,289,98 carried forward to Windsor Ioday). Placepot £895.40. Quadpot £92.70.

Beverley 2.05 1 Aons Revenge (12-1), 2. Clonavon Gid (5-1) 3 Suca 5 My Ney (6-1), Impala 9-4 fav 11 ran 1/R Apiculale 2.35 t Darling Clover (7-4 tav) 2 Set The Fashion (3-1) 3, Sporting Risk (100-30) 8 ran NR Conic Hill 3.05 1 Give Me A Ring (8-1) 2, Enc s Bert 12-11 3, Smarter Charter (4-1) Mercury 100-30 av 10 ran 3.35 1, Pepaha (1-15 lav), 2, With The Tempo (15-1), 3, Toutston Lady (12-1), 5 ran. 4.05 1, French kry (12-8 fev) 2, Huffbenk (4-1), 3, Atherion Green (13-2) 7 ran. NR. Legal Brief 4.35 1, imperial President (4-6 lav): 2, Grate Times (13-2): 3, Tough Leader (2-1): 4 ran.

5.05 1, Bolshol (100-30 g-lav); 2, Just Dissident (14-1); 3, Dominelle (100-30 g-lav) 10 ran. NR: Rotherfield Park. Chepstow

2.25 1, Alaflak (11-4 fav); 2. Volla Premiera (7-1); 3 Pay Homage (15-2), 9 ran. 2.55 1, Catch The Lights (8-1), 2, Bon Luck (14-1), 3. Attanik (12-1), Brighton Road 9-2 Lav. 11 ran, NR. Heltos iav. 11 ran, NR. Helics 3.30 1, Mr. Bombestique (7-4 tav); 2, Double-J (5-1), 3, Bold Spring (4-1) 7 ran, 4.00 1 Mr. Speaker (14-1); 2, Littletta (9-2 fav) 3, Real Gern (18-1); 15 ran NR: May Queen Megan, 4.30 1, Shadow Casting (11-2), 2, Santella Katle (8-1); 3, Juneaueh Sunset (9-4 tav) 12 min

Haydock Park 2.00 1. Colombia (5-1): 2. Ghayyur (8-11 lav) 3. Danenii Princess (5-1). 6 ran. Javi 3, Denema Princess (2-17, 0 rain.) 2,35 1, Babay Babe (6-1), 2, Spticing (6-1); 3, Alpine Hideaway (11-2) Blessinginds-gusse 7-2 tav. 7 rain NF: Stoney End 3,10 1 Spout (13-2), 2, Phantom Gold (11-2) 3, Nanotchka (9-1) Shismozzle 2-1 tav 10 rain.

3.40 1, Key To My Heart (9-2); 2, Royal Scimilar (9-2), 3, Nabhaan (7-4 lav) 8 ran Scritter (9-2), 3, Napheart (7-4 larly 6-larl 4-15-1, Royal Court (15-8), 2, Shenbou (7-4 tav), 3, Weet-A-Manure (10-1), 5 ran. 4-50-1, Noble Sprinter (9-1), 2, Danogold (9-1); 3, Le4 The Lucky (10-1), Bakheta 7-4 lav 10 ran.

Carlisle 7.10 1, Can Can Lady (7-2), 2 The Deejay (7-4 bay), 3, Kmy Galore (5-11 7 ren. 7-40 1, Move With Edes (11-4), 2, Thota Blues (6-1), 3 Double Oscar (9-4 fav) 9 ran NR- Talkulah Belle. 8, 10 1, Gilling Dancer (11-1); 2, Cec-Jay-Ay (5-1), 3, Zain Dancer (3-1 lav) 11 ran NR yyarwick Mist 8.40 1, Desert Frolic (1-2 tav), 2, Hare Comes Harbre (5-2); 3, Island Cascade (50-1); 5 ran 9.10 1, Time To Tengo (9-2), 2, Captain Carat (5-1); 3, Ned's Bonanza (5-2 lav) 10 ran, NR Rich Glow. 9.40 1, Shashi (7-4 tav); 2, Barato (2-1); 3, Regal Fantare (9-1) 6 ran, NR: Thwaab

3. hyman (12-1), 4. Cuto Erre (23-1). Io ran 7-20 1. Union Town (25-1) 2. Smugurs (2-1 lav), 3. Jack Flush (8-1). 10 ran 7-50 1. Summer Risotto (3-1), 2. Marka Di-casiglie (5-4 lav); 3. Teome (13-8) 3 ran. NR- Insh Fiction, Jucy Ting 8-20 1. Racting Hawli (13-2); 2. Rex Mundi (12-1), 3. Sowet King (9-2): I-lav). Deta Casa 9-2 p-lav 13 ran. 9-2 (I-rav 13 ren 8.50 1, Hawksley HSI (2-1 lav); 2, How Could-I (3-7) 3, Flame Of Hope (5-1), 9 ran.

Wolverhampton 7.00 1, Mister Rm (11-8 tav), 2, Komlucky (50-1), 3, David James' Get (3-1), 12 ran 7.30 1, Embest (9-2), 2, Northern Celarion (12-1), 3, Sandmoor Denim (5-1), Dragonjoy 9-4 fav. 12 ran. 8.00 1. Mr Teigh (5-1), 2, Johnne The Jokes (12-1), 3, Tautan Boy (6-1). Equeny 7-4 tau 11 ran NR: Lead Him On. 8-30 1, Etterby Park (7-4 tav); 2, Claque (8-1) 3, in The Money (5-1), 10 ran. 9.00 1, Tintearbell (2-1 (t-tav); 2, Grovetair Dancer (7-2); 3, Abstone Queen (13-2), Recatto 2-1 (s-law, 6 ran. 9.30 1, Napler Ster (9-21; 2, Delrob (9-4 lav), 3, Licc (6-1) 9 ran.

Motesey A bt Nottingham B 2141, 7:08 Queen's Tower bt Nortingham A3%l, 7.12 Queen's Tower bi Molesey A %1, 6:46 Diamond Sculls Holder, J Jaanson (Est) Sami-linels

Nottingham 6.50 1, Risky Rose (7-2 lav), 2, Bresil (6-1). 3, Trytran (12-1), 4, Club Ente (25-1), 16 ran. Veryoom bt Bihmr 1%L 7:42 Britannia Cup Holders: Wallingford

9.20 1, Frog (9-4 tav) 2, Two Socks (11-2), 3, Flona Sharm (7-2), 11 ran.

Oxdord Brookes by Univ of London %1. Women's Sculls Holder: M H Brandin (Swe) Semi-finals M H Brandin (Kingalvs Roddidubb, Swe) bt R C Stanhope (Tideway's Scullers Sch) easily, 8 41 C Luthi (Reuss Lucerne, Switz) bi 8 Wicki (Stensstad, Switz) easily, 9:01

Brandin bt Luthi 4%1, 8:17 Double Sculls

Holdens: M.D. Free and P.T. Antonie (Aus)

G Walker and G Lewis (Potomac and National TC, US) bt J Bulow and M Schwalze (Gar) no. 7:27 G Schwalze and J Habarmay (Theliw and Thun, Switz) bt L Colini, and E

Walker and Lewis by Schneider and Halbermayr 31, 7:07

Ladies' Plate Holders: Notts County A Semi-finali

Leander bt Notis County and London 18 6:29 Goldle bt Boston (US) 141, 6:30

Golde bt Leander 31/1, 6.23 Silver Goblets and Nickalls' Cup

Holders: S G Redgrave and M C Pinaent (GB)

A Nader and H Bauer (Wiking Linz Austrie) bi J G Singfield and A R Cassidy (Ster Crub and London University) 1 kl. 8.14 C L Codoni and B Schmidt (Zunch, Switz) bt D B Lsyton and K S Weller (Cambridge 99) Ski, 7:50

Nader and Bauer IX Schmidt and Codors 41/s1, 7.22

Queen Mother Cup Holders: Augusta Training Center (US)

A R Birrer (Grasshopper, Switz) bt O W Hall-Craggs (Tideways Scutters' Sch) 4%1, 8.22 M L O Vervoom (Delitsche Proctus-Erele Holf) bt P E Reedy (Melbourne Univ Aus) 214, 8:19

Imperial Cot, London and Leander bt Castle Semple, 2941, 7:01 Mainzer and Neusser (Ger) bt London 314, 6:59 Retzeburg (Ger) bt Univ oi London and London 114, 6:46 Notis County bt Tideway Scullers' Son B 161, 6:52 (after re-race) Semi-finals

Reizeburg bi Imperial Coll and Leander 13rt, 6:38 Mainzer and Neusser bi Notis County 2tr., 6:45

Mainzer and Neusser br Retzeburger 44, 6:29

Imperial Coll, London and Oueen's Tower bt Hanover (Ger) %1 6:26 Final Imperial Coli and Queen's Tower bt Skadi and Argo (Holl) 21, 6.11

The best value plain paper

The hest Inlain namer

The best value

CYCLING: FIVE-TIMES TOUR DE FRANCE WINNER NOW HAS MOUNTAIN TO CLIMB

Induráin joins ranks of mere mortals

SIX days before Bastille Day. an unmistakeable air of liberation hangs over the Tour de France. Yesterday, a time-trial up the mountains to Val d'Isère merely confirmed the revolution begun on the climb over the Col de Madeleine and up to Les Arcs the day before. Though the decline of their own champion. Laurent Jalabert, dampened French celebrations, Paris will no procession led by Miguel Indurain.

Induráin will start the ninth stage today to Sestrière, another brute, 4min 53sec behind the overall leader Evgeni Berzin, in eleventh place, his hopes of a recordbreaking sixth Tour win shat-tered by rivals who finally exposed a weakness in the Tour's greatest champion.

The deficit is not insuperable but, if the stage into Pampiona on July 17 is not to turn from a triumphant cavalcade into a funeral cortege, the Spaniard will need to respond swiftly to the challenge of old soldiers like Tony Rominger and Bjarne Riis and the young guns, Berzin, winner of the time-trial, and Peter Luttenberger. But attack has never been Big Mig's favoured form of defence.

Induráin did not suffer alone. The ambitions of the Once pair of Jalabert and Alex Zúlle were blunted, the worst fears of Chris Boardman realised. Boardman recovered from a terrible battering on his Tour debut in the Alps with a highly creditable eighth in the time trial but he is still half an hour adrift of the yellow jersey, his aims now limited to reaching Paris and winning one of the rolling stages between the Alps and the Pyrenees later this week.

To complete his anguish. Boardman returned to his room after the stage on Saturday to find that a watch worth E1.500, his wallet and wedding ring had been stolen from his suitcase. Ever the analyst, Boardman soothed his disappointment with science. His pulse was 152 flat out, he explained, 30 beats per minute below its normal maximum.

I can see the potential for going better," he said, "but it's still a huge disappointment. I felt good at the start, then I just

ANDREW ... LONGMORE

On the Tour de France

blew. We'll just have to see what we can salvage." Stephane Heulot, his Gan team-mate, was also forced to abandon the race while wearing the yellow jersey because of tendinitis in his knee. "This has changed everything," Roger Legeay, the team manager of Gan. said.

If Induráin's reign is ended, the stage to Les Arcs on Saturday will be enshrined in Tour folklore. "A day of madness, magic and tragedy," read one headline in yesterday's French newspapers. But the battered remains of Johan Bruyneel's bicycle lying at the bottom of a ravine showed how much worse it could have

The Belgian's fall in heavy rain on the descent from the Cormet de Rosmelend was cushioned by a tree. "I felt like I was flying," the Belgian said later. "But I know I am lucky to be alive."

Since Greg LeMond cracked in the Pyrenees five years ago, Induráin has exerted an iron grip on the Tour, driving the French to distraction with his stilling invincibility and his unemotional response to each successive triumph. Whatever happened, Big Mig would be there, face stoneclad, legs like pistons. trampling on the soul of their precious Grand Boucle. Every year the cry became more desperate. When will Indu-ráin give us our Tour back? The rise to the plush ski resort of Les Arcs, a sweeping ascent widely thought to be ideal for the big-geared rhythm of Big Mig, provided more than the glimpse of an answer. As a helicopter shot captured the familiar figure trailing up the final two miles to the mountain-top finish and close-up shots revealed lines on his tanned face drawn with a clarity unseen before, mouth panting for breath in the mountain air, the voice of the commentator rose to a shriek.

Induráin en difficulté, ooh la, la, la, la." The surprise could not conceal his delight at the suffering of a champion. Watching the drama unfold from the television monitors. the press gasped as one. Indurain in difficulty? It could not be. The suggestion from the Banesto camp was that their champion, who earned a 22second penalty for taking a drink from his team car within the last 20 miles, was dehydrated. However much that lapse smacked of desperation, there were still good judges prepared to believe that indurain, as he has so often before, was simply letting his rivals burn themselves out. Not once did the Spaniard climb out of the saddle to thrash the pedals.

"I know Miguel." Pedro Delgado, Induráin's mentor, said. "He will be strong again." Maybe. Indurain's psychological hold on the Tour has been broken for good. No longer are the rest racing for second place.

Sensing that Indurain's Banesto henchmen could be divided and their leader isolated, the other teams launched a series of damaging attacks through the 124-mile stage. Riis, then Udo Bolts, Dufaux, Virenque and, decisively, the stage-winner, Luc Leblanc, each chipped away at Indurain's spirit until nothing was left and, when he flagged, Olano, Rominger and Berzin showed no mercy. By the finish, Indurain had lost 4min Indurain has never had to claw back such a deficit nor overcome such confident opposition. Boardman might reflect he was not the only one who left Les Arcs without his rightful possessions.

Berzin extends his lead in the Tour de France during yesterday's time-trial

TOUR DETAILS

SEVENTH STAGE (Chambery to Las Ascs., 122m): 1. L. Labianc (Fr. Polit) Shy 47min 22sec. 2. T. Rominger (Switz, Mapoel-38) at 47sec., 3. P. Litterberger (Austria, Camera) at 52sec; 4. R. Vinenque (Fr. Festma), same time; 5. L. Dutter (Switz, Festma) same time; 6. A. Olano (Sp. Mapoel-GS) same time; 7. B. Riss (Den, Telekom) at 56sec; 8. F. Escartin (Sp. Keirne) same time; 9. J. Ulrich (Ger, Telekom) same time; 19. J. Ulrich (Ger, Telekom) same time; 11. Y. Berzin (Plus, Gewiss) same time; 12. L. Pispoli (R. Refin) et 2min 19sec; 13. B. Hamburger (Den, TVM) et 3.14; 14, A. Germendia (Sp. Once) at 3.29. 15. A. 20lle (Switz, Once)

at 28.56: 142. M Sciandri (Motorola) at 37.24. EGHTH STACE (Bourg-Sant-Maunce to Val d Ishra. 19m): 1, Berzin 51mm 53sec: 2, Ris at 35sec; 3, Olano, 4, Rominger 1.01; 5, M Induran (Sp. Banestoi all same time, 8, Ulinion 1.07. 7, P Lustenberger 1.36, 8, Boardmen 2.30; 9, Züte 2.36, 10, U Boits (Ger, Telekom) 2.52: 11, Leiotanci 3.09; 12, Vinerque 3.28; 13, Garmenchis 3.28; 14, Dudaux 3.31; 15, P. Jorker (Aus. Once) 3.37, 16, J. Bruynnel (Bel, Rabobank) 3.41; 17, Ugrumov 3.45, 18, Escarith 3.48; 19, G Guering (R. Potit) 4.18.

4:26 British: 104, Sciandin 9:12 Leading overall standings (after eight stages); 1, Berzin 41h; 29min 46sec; 2, Rije at 43sec; 3, Claro st, 4, Rominger; 108, 5, Littleriberger; 2:35, 7, Viranque; 3:58; 8, Dutatix 4:06; 9, Ligrumox 4:25, 10, Esparin 4:50; 11, Indurant 453; 12, 2016; 5:06; 13, Garmendia 6:58; 14, Lebland; 7:27, 15, Hamburger 7:39, 18, Bote 8:45; 17, V Bornov (Russ, Rabobank) 9:41; 18, Piepoli 9:50; 19, Fernandia Gress; 10, 7; 20, Bruynes; 10:29; British; 39, Boardmen

Essex schools take honours in athletics cup

By LOUISE TAYLOR

f success in track and field is your aim, it prohably pays to be educated in Essex. That much-maligned county may be better known for bad perms, boob tubes and boy-racer motorists but, on Saturday, Essex boys and girls dominated the TSB English Schools track and field cup final in Gateshead.

So it was that the spiritual home of British athletics well, at least the backyard of Brendan Foster, Steve Cram, Jonathan Edwards et al was forced to applaud a near-Essex monopoly, It almost seemed on a par with West Ham United crossing the River Tyne and beating Newcastle United 3-1 at St James' Park.

Talking of football, there were plenty of Newcastle and Sunderland replica shirts on view as spectators cheered on the 48 teams vying for top honours. Those 48 had been invited only after a pruning process had whittled down an original entry of 2,125 teams from 750 schools.

Fitzwimarc School, Essex, took four teams up the Mil and Al and were rewarded with victory in the intermediate (under-16) girls category. where they saw off strong challenges from St Hilda's. Liverpool, St Albans Girls School and Cooper's Company and Coborn School. Upminster.

Essex pride in the junior (under-14) girls' sphere was sustained by Southend GS, who beat locals from Newcastie Central High in to second place.

Central High's brother school, Newcastle Royal Grammar, had, along with Ponteland High, nurtured high hopes in the male events, but, instead, the junior boys' title went to Thomas More, from Wood Green. London. with Greensward School, Hockley, and William Edwards School, Grays, finishing second and third respectively.

Kentish honour was upheld by the intermediate boys. where Ravenswood School,

HOW TO ENTER

tion rules apply.

SPORT IN SCHOOLS

phant. finishing in front of King Edward VI, from Aston, Birmingham.

On a day characterised by fitful, indifferent weather, the frustrating combination of sunny intervals and cloudcovered interludes were countered by some consistently pleasing athletic performances as each team member competed in two events from either track and field, field 💣 and relay, or track and relay, Their individual scores contributed to each side's overall result and standing.

All had slogged their way through several of those gruelling preliminary rounds and fully deserved a slice of the glamour inevitably associated with an appearance at Jonathan Edwards's home training ground and a leading British athletics venue.

ome competitors will. no doubt, be dreaming of emulating Edwards and aspiring to international status. Almost all are preparing to tune their televisions into BBC's Olympic coverage. ready to watch personal idols pursue glory in Atlanta. Per-haps by 2000, one or two might even be competing for Britain in Sydney.

Rather more immediately. several had a night on the Teen to look forward to. Indeed, that Essex contingent probably felt at home out celebrating on Saturday night. Wandering around Newcastle's trendy Bigg Market area after 7pm, the lasses are out in force, no doubt on the look out for boyfriends with go-faster stripes down defined the side of their cars.

Schools results, page 35

EXCLUSIVE TIMES COMPETITION

Goia in Atlanta

Your chance to win a VIP trip to the Olympics STARTING today The Times, in association Motorola has supplied 6,000 Alphanumeric with Motorola UK Paging Subscriber Division, is offering you the chance to win a holiday for two to see the Olympic Games live in Atlanta. The winner of our competition and a partner will be flown to Atlanta to spend four nights at the luxury five-star Evergreen Hotel in Stone Mountain. They will also receive two Olympic event tickets for each day. Five runners-up will receive prizes of takes place from July 19 to August 4, will be the largest peace-time event in the 20th century with more than 10,000 athletes from 197 nations taking part. Millions more will tune in to watch the live coverage on television.

Motorola, a partner-level sponsor of the Games, and active at various levels of Olympic sponsorship since 1972, has wireless communications for the Olympic movement with its state-of-the-art, digital twopagers. 1,500 cellular phones, 1,500 computer modems and secure two-way communications equipment, all of which will be used throughout the Games, meeting the diverse communications needs of each event venue.

Motorola UK Paging Subscriber Division has also supplied members of the Olympic British Athletics team with Alphanumeric Pagers. Jamie Baulch, one of the 4x400m relay runners, is using his pager both for work and play, keeping himself in contact with fellow team mates, friends and family. Alphanumeric Consumer Pagers are the latest way

Jamie Baulch of the 4x400 British Olympic relay team, going for gold with his Motorola pager

THE TIMES-OLYMPIC MOTOROLA COMPETITION ENTRY FORM Send this form with three tokens to the address below with

You will need to collect three of the six tokens which will be printed in The Times this week.

Token one appears below. Attach the tokens to the entry form with your answer to the question which appears on the form and post your entry to arrive by first post Wednesday July 17 to the given address. The winner will be the first name selected at random from all correct entries received by the closing date. Normal Times Newspapers competi-your answer to the this question: Where will the Olympic Games be held in the year 2000? a) Sydney [] b) Canberra [] c) Brisbane []

Post to: The Times/ Motorola Olympics Competition, PO Box 8382, London SE7 72G. The closing date is Wednesday July 17, 1996. Normal Times Newspapers competition rules apply.

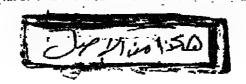

it would help us if you answered these four questions: wing age groups do you fall into? (Please Uck box) 1) 15-24 25-34 31 35-44 4) 45-54 51 55-64 61 66-

Which national daily newspaper(s) do you buy regularly (4-6 copies) during the week? Which national daily newspaper(s) do you buy ocasionally (3 copies or less)

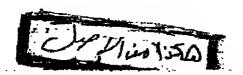

Which rational Sunday newspaper(s) do you buy regularly (2-4 copies a month)?

of services from The Times or companies. carefully selected by Times Newspapers Limited please bok this box

Official Sponsor of the 1996 Olympic Games

Nov. h.

174 SCHOOL

FOR THE RECORD

AUSTRALIAN RULES	J 133 magazi Cara-1
TOTAL NOTES	(1) mnengsi Saturday Montreal 3 Your 11 Los Angeles 3 Colorado 3. P
AL MOTTON LANGUE CO.	PP 44 2 FROME 11 12 From 5 Plants.
AUSTRALIAN LEAGUE (ARL) North Mel-	I CHANNE 4 HOURION 2 Common & C.→
bourne 21 18 (144) Carrion 13 11 (89).	2. San Diego 7 San Francisco 3
Hawthorn 17 12 (114) College / 10 (52)	Eastern division
	W i Dea
	1 AND THE ST 79 C10
	1000V63 40 20 cc6
	New York 41 45 477
(67) Sydney 18 17 (125) Geelong 11 8 (74)	Florida 39 47 453
W 1 D 9	Philadelphia 37 48 .435
North Melbourne 11 3 0 1986 44	Si Louis Central division
Syuriey 10 3 122 2 22	Houston 46 40 535
mea coms 10 4 U 131 g 40	Cincinnati 70 42 min
Godese 6 V 1105 40	Chicago 40 46 466
- 1612 38	Priisburgh 38 48 442
	Wastern division
700 1 1239 34	LOS Anceles 47 49 coa
AGE(3)G8 7 7 0 107 1 TW	San Diago 47 41 534
Hawthorn 67 i 946 56	Colorado 41 44 482 Sen Francisco 39 47 447
307,000	San Francisco 39 47 447
Methourne 5 9 0 732 20	BOWLS
Colingwood 4 10 0 928 M	POWES
Fremantle 4 10 0 87 5 16 Footscray 2 11 1 20 2 10	4400-0-
E-b	MIDDLETON CUP Group one: La
110 0 020 4	I ≥ PIS I'D L'UMARTI) 77 Mohinamen
BASEBALL	Northumberland 130, Derbyshire 94 bna 129; Yorkshire 130 Lancashire
PROFESALL	Group two: Huntingdonshire 113 Wa share 118 Nortolk 111 Bedfordshare
AMERICAN LEAGUE, Friday: Chicago 7	Northamptonshire 128 From the f
CIPVERITIO U. Detroit 4 Toronto 7 Roctos 7	i 4800; feni 144 Austrahamehre
Baltimore 3 New York 12 Minutaukoe 3	Uppointed to Berkshim in Alena
Minnesota 9 Kansas City 8, Scottle 6 Texas 3, Oakland 16 California 8 Saturday: Bat-	Lighten 112 Combre 116
more 4 Boston 3 Cleveland 2 Chicago 3.	WORTHING: Open tournament: Sk
Detroit 0 Toronio 15: New York 2 Milwaukee	Continues: C Jones (Hollinghary Pa
0. Calland 6 California 5 (in 10): Minnesola	i Pilamon (Guidhnich 21.10 Cilette
5 Kansas City B: Texas 5 Seante 9	i End, Northempion) bi Mi Rown (
Eastern division	Taris (1) Final Jones by James 1
W L Fot CAR	Triples: Semi-finals: L Thompson Peacock and M Overington (Cra Royal Brish Legion) by D File F Kai
	Harmes (Horley) 30-7; B Hayward
Tanana and and and and and and and and an	thing). J Chubb (South London) a Hayward (Worthmo) ht D McFwan (Pa
50 49 417 17 Daniel 26 61 356 375	Park), D Graydon (Fleming Park) a

FOR THE

(50 miles), 1, G Longland (Radiord Accounteries) 15156, 2, N Gilos (Antelope RT) 15617, 3, M Elworthy (Manchester In Cubit 15805 Tasm: Manchester Whoelers 6:28:11, Bramley Wheelers (York, 50 miles) 1, A Coogrove (Teacdale CRC) 155:16, 2, 3 Sowier (South Pervaria RC) 155:18; 3:5 Bunouse (Goole Vernaria RC) 155:18; 3:5 Bunouse (South Pervaria RC) 1, C States (Bynes CC) 157:29; 2 D Abbott (Forn Tabot Wheelers) 204:13; 3. N Williams (Manchester) 204:13; 3. N Williams (Manchester) (C) 248:23; 16 Hernouse (C) 52:34, VC Slough (25 miles); 1, B Hernouse (Los RC) 54:22; M Pyno (Lee RC) 52:17; 3. R Jeakson (Reading CC) 52:28; Tegent Loo RC 2:38:20. Knarrasborough CRT (Distributh North Yorkshire, 25 miles); 1, H Walker (GS Melro) 2:48:17 Bootshire (State Vernaria RC) Melro 2:48:17 Bootshire (State Vernaria RC) Melro 2:48:17 Bootshire (Collection Wheelers (Thritis, North Yorkshire, 25 miles); 1, B Walker (GS Melro) 32:31; 2, W Randle (Optimum Performance HT) 53:24; 1 miles (Granthien, 25 miles); 1, A Homes (VC Carnelo) 52:58; 2, M Bothir (CosMito Wheelers) 5:59; 2, M Bothir (CosMito Wheelers) 5:59; 2, M Bothir (CosMito Wheelers) 5:59; 3, M Bothir (Cosmito C) 20:00; 3, Miles (Linconse RC) 5:50; 3, Miles (Linconse RC) 5 Z2-10. Fours: Semi-finals: Rothor Park 22 Laner's Thetle 16: Notston 21 Ruthergion 14. Final: Richar Park (M. MacEven, M. Wrighl, M. Stratten, B. Donogray) 18, Notiston 17 BOXING NYNEX ARENA, Mancheser: World Boxing Organisation: super-middleweight championship: Steve Colins (in; hoder) by Ngol Born (illord) rise 4th. World Boxing Council super-middleweight championship: Vinconzo Norsialio (it) by Trulane "Sugar Boy" Malinge (SA hoder) by World Boxing Organisation light-heaty-weight inter-continental ethampionship (12mds, vacant): Mark Princs (Totenham) bt Manahor Core (Manchester) rot 7th Commonwealth and International Boxing Federation Inflar-continental light-middleweight championship of Vinconthip Steve Foxter (Saltor), (SF holder) bt Chris Pyetr (Lelcester, Commonwealth holder) pits Heavyweight (19mds): Herbis Hide (Notwich) bt Michael Murray (Manchester) pits. Super-middleweight (Amds): Canen Littlewood (Snofhold) bt Paschal Coltins (Dublin) pits.

MANILA: World Boxing Council feather-weight championship: Lustia Espinosa (Phi, holder) bt Casar Soto (Mar) pits. CRICKET BAIN TROPHY: Umrator: Lancarwa Na-9, Derbyshire 183 (C Brown 4-21). Lan-castrae wort by 13 runs Monmouth: Glamorgan 158-8 (J R A Williams 89). Hampshire 129-9 (G R Trasqus 51). Hampshire won on laster scoring rate. CYCLING

TIME-TRIALS: RTTIC econom's militared sto-mile champolonship (Lincoln): 1, J Rearner (Swelluckie CC) 2hr Orter Seac; 2, J Demarn Tweckenham CC 2,01:38; 3, L Lamoni (VC Meudon) 2:02:42 Teem. Swelledale CC 5:14.09 Suesex CA (Yapton, West Sussax, 100 miles): 1, R Keesi (SS Stella): 4 06:42; 2, A Seitzer (Easthourne Rovers): 4 10:42; 3, D Shepherd (Bognor Regis CC): 4 12:10 Teem: GS Stella: 12:36,46 Stroppshire CCA (Press, 100 miles): 1, R Lewis (Britanhead Vacoria CC): 4 10:19; 2, J Howard (Mersenyide Wirechers): 4 10:29; 3, S Williams (Westernickie Wirechers): 13:22:23 Northempton and District CA (Thrapston, 50 miles): 1, J Purdy (Lancashere RC): 15:107; 3, A Devis (Covertin Olympic): 1:57:26; 3, J Domin (Cochville Wirechers): 1:58:13 Teem: A5 Rangers 6:29:06 Manchester Wheelers TRACK SOF Autional champlementes, Laioester: Open ormitum: 1, J Toylor (Stretter: Open ormitum: 1, J Toylor (Stretter: Open ormitum: 1, J Toylor (Stretter: Open ormitum: James Racing learn) 39 pts; 2. P Sneppard (Cwmcam Paragon) 31; 3, 8 Wiggins (Archer RC) 25. PROAD RACES: Ribbia Valley CRC (Oakenclough, Lancashre, 88.5 miles): 1, W Weight [VC La Motes] 3/02/37; 2, 1

Mountain (Insh Herriage CC) at 2:30; 3, 5
Forrell (Tunstell Whuders), same time Aberdeenshire Classic (BCF Premier Calandar 182 miss), 1, 17 anner (SA ArwaysPaugeor) 7:01:59, 2, P. Curran (Optamum Portermance RT) at Geoc; 3 C. Lillywhite (Kammon) at 9sec. Harrlow CC (1:10-cm), 1,
G. Baker (Okympo Sport) 2:53:25; 2, P. Harre
(Leo RC) at 31-sec., 3, D. Staff (North Road RT) at 34-sec. EQUESTRIANISM EAST SUSSEX: Brighting Park Horse Triats: BEIB Finst: 1, Hilsofe Griest (Sopher Alicon), 30, 2, Double Trust (Sarah Bullen), 30, 3, Campballs Promise (Julian Travor Rope), 30 Accumulation: Winner of 10 Classes: Double Trust (Sarah Bullen). GLIDING

ST AUBAN, France: Levender glide preworlds: Open' Day 11 (281lon poly, 20 correletions of 25) 1, G Litrom fir ASW22], 101. 4kph, 907pts, 2. P Kuntz (Fr. ASW25), 1011. 902. 3, G Gerbaud (Fr. Nimbus4), 992. 872. 4. J-W Andersen (Den, Nimbus4), 988., 866; 17. P Harvey (GB, ASW22), 84. 1, 38. Overall open final (11 days) 1, Liherm, 9.279pts; 2. Gerbaud, 8,996; 3, Kuntz, 8,982. 4, B Ganrisnbrink (Gar, Nimbus4), 8,965, 23. Harvey, 5,890.
15m; day 11 cancelled by airbome recall
Day 10 (Nime completions of 36), 1, T
Holichiaus (Indep, Ventus2), 85 dep,
1,000cts; 2. G Gaterio (ft. Ventus2), 78, 5,
983. 3, K Raboder (Hustra, Ventus2), 78, 5,
983. 3, K Raboder (Hustra, Ventus2), 78,
982. 4, T Armadeu (Fr. LSS), 71, 911, 5, A
Kay (GB, Ventus2), 289. 2, 900 Chrie Britishr
10, J Wils (ASW27), 352 Sirm, 824, 21, C
Garton (Ventus2), 277 Jan, 516 Overnall 15m final (110 days) 1, G Naves (Fr.
Ventus2), 7,937, 3, Galetto (tt., 7,973, 4,
WBs (GB), 7,855 Other Britishr 10, Jones,
7,343, 12, Garton, 7,135, 16, Kay, 6,587, 10
denotes penally luming points; 10, Jones,
7,343, 12, Garton, 7,135, 16, Kay, 6,587, 10
denotes penally luming points; 10, Jones,
1, D Heasse (Fr. Discus), 114 Buth, 546pts,
2, L Avranzni (tt. 158), and W B Boneli (US, Decus), 113 6, S37, and W B Boneli (US, Decus), 115pts Overail standard final (11 days): 1, J-D Barros (Fr. LSS), 8, 4(pos, 2, Loptaus (Fr., B. 128, 3, Hauss (Fr.), 7,806, E
Napoleon (Fr. Duo Otecus), 7,548pts, Britishr, 4, Doss, 7,421pts; 8, Sprecidery,
7,372, 7, Wells, 7,024

GOLF

LEMONT, Iffinois: Western Open: Leading thard-round scores: (US whats stated): 2011; Sincker 85, 69, 7208; L. Janzen 87, 68, 71, 207; J. Huston 70, 68, 69; J.D. Blake 67, 67, 73, 2004; S. Judgenson 71, 71, 66, P. Stewent 70, 70, 69; J. Cook 72, 68, 68; C. Parry (Aus.) 68, 99, 70 M Brooks 68, 70, 70; J. Leonard 69, 57, 72, 208; S. Ellungton (Aus.) 70, 72, 87, M Brisky 74, 67, 69; F. Andradé 69, 71, 69; P. Goydos, 71, 69, 69; W. Grady (Aus.) 71, 69; P. Goydos, 71, 69, 69; W. Grady (Aus.) 71, 69; D. C. G. Dey 77, 75, 69; M. Grady (Fly) 71, 70, 69; T. Tryba 71, 70, 69; M. Grady (Fly) 71, 71, 69; T. Tryba 71, 70, 69; M. Grady (Fly) 71, 72, 73, 69; T. Tryba 71, 70, 69; M. Grady (Fly) 71, 72, 74, 60; M. Grady (Fly) 71, 72, 74, 60; M. Grady (Fly) 71, 72, 69; M. Grady (Fly) 71, 72, 69; M. Grady (Sus.) 71, 72, 69; 213; G. Warto (AU) 69; 74, 76; N. Fadio (GB) 71, 73, 73, 74, 76; N. Fadio (GB) 71, 73, 74, 76; N. Fadio (GB) 71, 73, 74, 76; N. Fradio (GB) 71, 75 non-qualitiers: 144: N Fisher 146 G Norman (Aus) 71, 75

MOTOR RALLYING CORDOBA: Argentine rally: Leading final positions: 1, T Malanen (Fin) Mitsubsth Lancer Shr 48mm 42sec; 2, C Sanz (Sp) Ford Escon Cosworth Imm 35sec behind. 3, K Enksson (Sps) Subaru Impreza 4 39; 4, R Burns (GB) Mitsubsth Lancer 801; 5, 8 Thuy (Bel) Ford Escon Cosworth 825

NÜRBURGRING: German Grand Prix vectid championation 500cc Cleas (123 012km) 1, L. Cadalora (D. Honda, 45 36.89; 2, M. Douhan, (Aus.) Honda, 45 36.899; 3, A. Cruille (Sp.) Honda, 45 36.599; 3, A. Cruille (Sp.) Honda, 45 36.566, 4, S. Russell (US) Yamaha, 45 49.805; 8, K. Robarts Jr. (US) Yamaha, 46 43.562; 8, N. Abe (Japan) Yamaha, 45 49.337; 7, T. Okada (Japan) Honda, 45 49.39; 8, A. Barnos (Br.) Honda, 45 53 569; 9, B. Itoh (Japan) Honda,

46:10 695: 10 J-M Beyle (Fr) Yamaha, 46:19:200 World champlonship stand-ings: 1, Doohan 166pts; 2, Chville, 109; 3, Cadelora 106, 4, Barros 91; 5, Abe 78; Russell 75; 7, Pulg 82; 8, Bayle 60; 9 Okada 50:10, Checa 44

50 10, Checa 44
250cc Class; (113,9km) 1, R Weldmann (Ger) Honda, 43,16,909; 2, D Jesque (Fr) Honda, 43,18,909; 2, D Jesque (Fr) Honda, 43,18,930, 3, J Fluchs (Gor) Honda, 43,20,768, 5, L D'Amin (Sp) Honda, 43,20,768, 5, L D'Amin (Sp) Honda, 43,44,724; 7, JP Ruggie (Fr) Honda, 43,44,724; 7, JP Ruggie (Fr) Honda, 43,45,90,834; 9 C Mighorat (R) Honda, 43,51,229; 1, T Urawa (Jepan) Honda, 43,51,229; 1, T Urawa (Jepan) Honda, 43,51,229; 1, T Urawa (Jepan) Honda, 43,52,329; World championiship standings: 1, Biaggi (7,4pts, 2), Weldmann (26, 3, T Harada 97, 4, Fuchs 28, 5, D'Amin 80; 6, Jacque 76, 7, N Aola 84, 8, Ukawa 50; 9, Ruggia 45, 10, Beccascura 43, 125cc Class (104, 788)mir (1, M Tokadomo

Ruggia 49-10, Boscoscuro 43
125co Casas (104-788cm): 1, M Tokadome (Jepen) Aprika, 42 14 721, 2, 5 Perugni (ft) Aprika, 42 15 038, 3, H Abis (Jepen) Honda, 42 16,684; 4, E Azamora (Sp.) Honda, 42 16,684; 4, E Azamora (Sp.) Honda, 42 16,684; 7, J Maritinez (Sp.) Aprika, 42 18,682; 8, T Maroko Liapen) Honda, 42 19,720; 9, M Goisske (Gerl Aprika, 42 28,692), 10, (Gol (R) Honda, 42 29,000, World champonably standings: 1, Aolo 1460is; 2, Toludoma 100; 3 equal, Perugini and Azamora 64, 5, Manako 85; 6, Ueda 83; 7, Oetil 72, 8, Plossi and Kazuro both 57; 10, Gol 47.

RIFLE SHOOTING

BISLEY: Servitas Rifle Meet: Royal Navy and Royal Marines: Queen's Medalt 1, Marine J Waller (RM) 2,035pts 2, WO T Sands (RM) 1,997; 3. Cpl J Russell 1,942, 4, CPO N Ball (RM) 1,997; 3. Cpl J Russell 1,942, 4, CPO N Ball (RM) 1,940 Royal Nevy Championship: 1, CPO J Crewford (Art) 1,676; 3, AEM C Walestam (Art) 1,880 Royal Air Force: Queen's Medalt 1, F/LIL Smith (Aldergrove) 1,359, 2, Sgl J Pictor (Brunnent 1,325, 3, Sgl D Vict (Honington) 1,320 Open Championshipt; 1,5 Perrusse 431 59, 2, D Calvert 415 53, 3, C Behn 415 52, Long Range Aggregate: 1, Petrose 223 30; 2, M Wood 230,29; 3, Behn 220 27 Grant Dalton Trophy: Small Arms Efficiencey; 1, Pretor 1,514 14 Territorial Army Queen's Medalt 1, Capt J Tyson (3 Cheshird 1956, 2 Cpl M Keeling (3 Cheshird 927; 3, Capl J Alexander (AS Green Howatch) 950, 2 Cpl M Keeling (3 Cheshird 927; 3, Capl J Alexander (AS Green Howatch) 950, 2 Cpl M Keeling (3 Cheshird 927; 3, Capl J Alexander (AS Green Howatch) 950, 2 Cpl M Resider (1752) 3, 2 S Pendose 17427; 3, A Jones 17423 Freddy Payne Memorial Trophy (Short Range Agg); 1, Penrose 198,29, 2 D Calvert 198,29, 3, B Harngan 198,23

SAILING

WEYMOUTH: 18-foot Skiffs Prudential Grand Pric 1, R Brown (Prudential); 2, L Smith (The Times), 3 D Witt (Jacob); Craek), 4, E. Lazich (Xecon), 5, M Walsh (Ele Bachel, Overall positions after two regat-tes; 1 Brown; 2, Witt and Walsh; 4, Lazich 5 Smith

SCHOOLS SPORT

ATHLETICS: Gateshead: TSB English Schools Cup Finel: Intermediate boyer. 1. Reversived. Bromley 608pts. 2; Fing Edward V1, Aston 504; 3 King John, Thundesley 488, 4, Our Ledy's High, Blackley, Greater Manchester 475 Intermediate girls: 1 Fixammarc, Rayleegh; 423pts. 2, St. Hikta's. Liverpool 411, 3, Coope's, Company and Colum, Upminister and St. Abaris High 408, 5, Millield 381 Junior boyer. 1, St. Thomas Mane, Wood Green 485pts; 2, Greensward, Hockley 472, 3, William Edwards, Grays 451, 4, Emfeld Grammar 445 Junior girls: 1, Southend High 395pts; 2, Central Newcastle High 395pts; 3, Changdon 185-6 dec, "ECS, 187-7, Bryonston 129 JJ roungs 7-52, "Exster 130-2; Ermeld GS 199-6 dec, "CS, Ricools GS (Aus) 148, MCC 223-5 dec, "Christ"; Hospital 208-6, O Growens 251-dec, "Christ"; Hospital 208-6, O Growens 251-dec, "Christ"; Hospital 208-6, O Growens 251-dec, "Christ"; Liverpilal 1295pts; Liverpilal Christolicum; William College (Aus) 189-9, "Shrewsbury 190-4, Toringo (Aus) 210-9 dec, "Christ"; Hospital 201-8 dec, "Christ"; Liverpilal 1295pts; Liverpilal 201-8 dec, "Christ"; Liverpilal 215 dec, "Christ Should 215 dec, "Christ S home side.

CASTLES FESTINAL (all Kindolaumic Minichester 211, Misemouth 214-7, Almbelton
220-7, Benkrented 179

MILLFIELD FESTINAL: Antipodeans 187-4,
Yorbridge 174, Harrow 152-7, Mished 1532, Amipodeans 115, Miffield 117-2;
Tonbridge 128, Harrow 129-9; Tonbridge
194-7, Millfield 149, Antipodeans 220-3, Harrow 140.

SPEEDWAY

Second division

Chorley

Leigh

Prescol

Hull KR Hunslet Switten

Doncester South Wales York Lagn Bramley Europe Chorley

CONFERENCE LEAGUE: Budon 15 Stell field $1: Michael 38 Engling 40 TENNIS

NEWPORT: LTA Respok Tour Finale: Ment T Spirks (Norfolk) bt T Bibby (Hersford and Worcestershire) 6-1, 7-6 Womers N Egatovs (Russ) bi L AN (Devon) 6-4, 6-1

Carlisia: Tries: Bell 2, G. Ruddy, Nable Goels: Richardson 2, York: Tries: Hopout Moore 2, Goels: Precious 3 Dropped goel Practicus, Alt: 589

16 Brumiev

y; Tries; Finney, Gea. Goel: Bramley; Tries; Blankley, M Long 3 Dropped goel: Long

Donoaster Dragons: Try: Couti Swinton Llons: Tree: Leve's 2, Pros-Jones, Rosch, Goels: Greg Pearce 4 Dropped goel: Holiday Alt: 899.

Leigh Centurions: Tries: Bail, Ingram Goets: Purni 2. Humsist Heavier: Tries: David Plangs. Mass., Murphy 3, Southern-wood 3. Goets: Wilson 6. Att. 1,071

Present Parthers: Try: Callaghan Hull languion Rovers: Trea: Allone, Chember-tein, Crane, D Herrison, D'Arcy 2, G Brown, Garne 2, Goulbourne, D'Bnen, P Fletcher Goels: M Fletcher 10, Att 443.

South Willer Triber Babb 2 Bernard 2, Currer, Hutton 2, Jerkins, Marchall, Walkington Goale: Bebb 4 Barrow: Tribe: Ductre, Hettiburd, Milburn: Doale: Allonacis 2 Alb: 436 Played at Talbot Almoirc Ground

South Wales 48 Barrow

12 Hundet

4 Hull KR

ATHLETICS OSLO: Bislett Garmas. Men. 100m; 1, D. Machell (US) 10 10sec; 2, T. Harden (US) 10 11, 3. J. Lavies, (US) 10.20; 4, D. Brashwerte (GB) 10.27, 200m; 1, F. Frednick, (Nam) 19 85.sc; 2, M. Johnson 19 85, 3, J. Walams (US) 20 44 B00m; 1, W. Kipkaer (Den) 1 min. 42.76sec; 2, V. Rodal (Nor) 1.4296, 3. D. Kiptoo (Nen) 1.44 12, Miler), N. Morcell (Aig) 3mm 48 15sec; 2, F. Cactro (Sp) 3.48 56, 3, J. Mayock, (GB) 3.50 32, 3.000m; 1, P. Bitok, (Lam) 7.7mb; 25 5sec; 2, S. Hescut, Mor) 7, 30 46, 3. S. Korons (Ken) 737 46, 400m hurdiss, 1, D. Achins (US) 48 18co; 2, S. Mylandar (Swe) 48, 86 High jump; 1, J. Edwards (GB) 17 68m, 2, F. Agyecong (GB) 2, 3im, 2 equal, T. Forsyth (Aus), and W. Wreusej (Ger) 2.28. Thole tump; 1, J. Edwards (GB) 17 68m, 2, F. Agyecong (GB) 17 18° 2, M. Gennacky (Ruso), 18 6. D. Bectus; 1, L. Riedis (GB) 407 128, 32m; 2, B. Henry (US) 68, 20, 3, Y. Alekhar (Us), 68 D. Sectus; 1, L. Riedis (GB) 40 12m; 2, B. Henry (Ger) 87 86, 3, P. A. Fagerner (Nor) 85 66 Women: 100m; 1, M. Odrey (Jam) 10 95sec; 2, I. Miller (US) 10 96; 3, G. Yomence (US) 10 50 81; 1, S. Odrey (Jam) 14 95 100m; 1, F. Riberton (Por) (Amn) 41 07sec; 2, G. Szabo (Rom) 14 41 12, 3, J. Vaquero (Sp) 14 44 95; 100m hurdises; 1, S. O'Sülkern (Res) 100m; 1, F. Riberton (Por) (Amn) 41 07sec; 2, G. Szabo (Rom) 14 41 12, 3, J. Vaquero (Sp) 14 44 95; 100m hurdises; 1, E. Fogoules (Swe) 12 480e; 2, 8 840e; (Be) 34 30. Shikolenko (Balo) 34 30. Shikolenko (Sp) 34 35 3, J. Poetsech (Sp) 34 35 3, J. Sobolenko (Sp) 34 3, J. Sobolenko (Sp) 34 30 400m; 1, J. Hydystole (Balo) 34 500m; 1, J. Hydystole (Balo) 34 30 3, J. S

51 36 593 — 50 38 581 1 42 43 494 89 41 44 482 99 37 50 425 149

50 36 581 — 46 38 548 3 43 44 494 7% 42 45 483 8%

NATIONAL LEAGUE: Finday Cincinna 3 Chicago (), Philadelphia 7 Florida 4 New York 9 Monitreal B St Louis 7 Phtsburgh 4: Houston 7 Allania 1; Los Angeles 8 Colorado 1: San Diego 7 San Francisco 8

iBelgrak of 9 07 89, 3 M Herson Instrument 9120 31 100m hundless At 1 N Orsen (Belgrave) 14 07 ber 2 F Campon (Barchieldh 920 31 110m hundless At 1 N Orsen (Belgrave) 14 07 ber 2 F Campon (Thattesbury Barnet) 14 31 B 6 Duroson (Shattesbury Barnet) 14 49 400m hundless A. 1, Hobbert 51 88 sec. 3, E 2 his (Thames Valley) 52 98, 3 D Savega Sale) 52 8 5 D Savega Sale) 52 5 D Savega Sale) 52 5 D Savega Sale) 52 5 D Savega Sale) 53 5 D Savega Sale) 54 5 D Savega Sale) 55 5 D Savega Sale) 57 5 D Savega Sale) 55 5 D Savega Sale) 57 5 D Savega Savega Savega Savega Savega Sa

Walter Control of the Control of the

A Secret Secretary

15 05 8: R Russell (Sale) 15.81 Discus A: 1, R Wer (Birchilek) 80 14m, 2 K Brown (Belgrave) 55 94, 3. N Thompson (Straffestury Barnet) 52 12. Bt. Newmen (Belgrave) 5124 Henmer A: 1, D Smith (Belgrave) 73 30m, 2 P Vivien (Themes Valley) 65:22 3, S Pascock (Birchilek) 63 82, B* P Spayer (Belgrave) 62 65 Janveliz A: 1, N Beven (Belgrave) 70 52m, 2 A Smith (Sharlesbury) Barnet) 69 90; 3, A Girdley (Sale) 61 38 B. M Pernet (Sele) 55 54 4 a 100m retay; 1, Sale 40 95eec; 2, Themes Valley 40 98; 3, Belgrave 31 39 4 x 400m retay; 1, Belgrave 3min 11 68eec; 2 Burchiled 3 12:33, 3, Sale 3 12 67, Match result: 1, Sale 346;04; 2, Themes 340; 3, Belgrave 257; 4, Birchiled 317; 5, Shattesbury Barnet 287, 6, Catchil 203; 7, Liverpoot 180; 8, Heringley 157, Positions saler free matches: 1, Sale 30; 2, Belgrave 19 (975); 3, Themes Valley 19 (975); 7, Hanngley 5; 8, Liverpoot 586; 54, 55 mitterabury Barnet 12; 6 Carchill 9; 7, Hanngley 5; 8, Liverpoot 586; 54, 55 mitterabury Barnet 12; 6 Carchile 19; 7, Hanngley 5; 8, Liverpoot 586; 54, 55 mitterabury Barnet 12; 6 Carchill 9; 7, Hanngley 5; 8, Liverpoot 586; 54, 55 mitterabury Barnet 12; 6 Carchill 9; 7, Hanngley 5; 8, Liverpoot 586; 54, 55 mitterabury Barnet 12; 6 Carchill 9; 7, Hanngley 5; 8, Liverpoot 586; 54, 55 mitterabury Barnet 12; 6 Carchill 9; 7, Hanngley 5; 8, Liverpoot 180; 8, 40 mitterabury Barnet 12; 6 Carchill 9; 7, Hanngley 5; 8, Liverpoot 180; 8, 40 mitterabury Barnet 12; 6 Carchill 9; 7, Hanngley 5; 8, Liverpoot 180; 8, 40 mitterabury Barnet 12; 6 Carchiller 19; 7, Hanngley 5; 8, Liverpoot 180; 8, 40 mitterabury Barnet 12; 8, 40 mitterabury Bar

Royal British Legion by Worthing 19-8
SCOTTISH WOMEN'S CHAMPIONSHIPS: Singless Sent-firms: N Multholand (Glangarriock) by M Lethern (Burnbank Hamilton) 25-24, M Gavin (Mosspanis) by E Cameron (Calderbank) 25-17 Final: Multholand by Gavin 25-18, Junier alingles sent-finals: K Restly Colgramy by L Harvey (Crothipsed) 25-21, P Brown (Irwine Park) by F Duck (Druttis Park) 25-17 Two bonel pairs: Semi-finals: Hawick, b) Cothion 16-13 Crimond b) Crothion Royal 18-10 Final; Hawick & Scoth and A Clarison) by Crimond 24-13 Triples: Semi-finals: Deliketh ist Neith 20-12, Final: Deliketh (B Hadden, J Miller, M MacRae) b) Belishill Hadden, J Miller, M MacRae) b) Belishill

Sarah Butt, of England, attacks the United States defence during the Steel City lacrosse trophy match at Sheffield on Saturday. The United States won the first match of a three-match series 4-3, but an outstanding performance by Wendy Reynolds in the England goal gave England much comfort from defeat. Butt was one of England's three scorers, along with Ali Powell and Di Stearn, the captain. Photograph: Mark Thompson

CLUB CRICKET

APS TWO COUNTIES LEAGUE Ownor 222-7, Achilles 202-8, Maldon 171-6, Bury St. Edmands 121, Dumow 160-7, O Ipowicharie 161-7, Milderhall 148, Whenhoe 151-6 Whenhoe 151-5

BOLTON LEAGUE: Registy 183-6.
Horwich 151-7, Farmworth SC 127-9.
Farmworth 130-1: Greenmount 200-8.
Astley Bridge 201-9: Heaton 158.
Walt-den 160-5. Bradelniew 137-9. Little Lever 139-6. Keensley 112, Tonge 114-9.
Westhoughton 105. Egenton 106-7
BIRIMINGHAM LEAGUE: Coverney and North Wannackshree 194. Moseley 195-5; Kidderminster 31-4. Old Hill 235-6;
Stoutchidge 94. Workerhampton 95-11:
Smethwick 148-8. Walsalt 152/2: Stratford
188-8. Aston Unity 188-2: West Bromwich
Destmouth 213-9. Barnt Green 171-5
BRYAN HERTFORDSHittle USAGUE Destrrouth 213-9, Barril Green 171-5
BRYAN HERTFORDSHIRE USAGUE
Letchworth 135-8 Cheshurt 139-3;
Homel Hampstead 202-7, North Myrrums
204-8; Sawbrodgeworth 251-8, Hischin
198-9, Hentord 120, Radlett 124-0;
Berkharnstead 205-5 Bishop's Stortlord
210-3 Barriet 128-8, Weshyn Gardan Chy
129-2

129-2
CENTRAL LEAGUE: Burton 118-7,
Blossomifield 120-4 Hinckley 185-9,
Nuneaton 55 Lutterwarth 126, Kenèworth
Wardens 127-5. Loughborough 173-8, Lecester Harhoe 161-8, Market Har-borough 103, Bedworth 104-6; Watter
Onon 238-5, Rugby 107
DBAKES HIJDNESSFIEID LEAGUE-DRAKES HUDDERSFIELD LEAGUE: Elland 147-9. Skelmanthorpe 58, Hall GUIDE TO THE WEEK AHEAD

Bower 239-9 Thongsbridge 254-5; Holmfirth 153, Meithern 145-9; Lasceles Hall 207-8, Broad Oak 201-8, Marsden 111, Scholes 184-9, Shepley 158-8, Kritburton 194-5; Stathwate 79-2; Krithesaton 76-7. Almondbury 151. Huddersfeld and Lockwood 200-7; Armazge Bridge 236-9, Paddock 73; Dalton 139, Golcar 132; Honlay 150-9; Linthwate 151-7; Kexborough 188-5, Halifax 209-7; Penetone 116-9, Restrick 84

DERBYSHIRE BUILDING SOCIETY LEAGUE: Stansby Hail 229-4. Illeston 216-8, Limpley Mill 205. Monton 72; Ochtrook 267-7. Wirksworth 166-6. Quandon 237-2, West Hellem 157-8; A and 8 159, Sawley 161-7, Spondon 187, Denby 168-0 EVE SURREY CHAMPIONSHIP: EVE SURREY CHAMPIONSHIP: Ashipted 230-2, Dulwich 139-7; Famham 201-9, Esher 139-7, Cheem 246-6, Malden Wanderers 123; Macn 176-5, Watton-on-Trames 110, Metropolitan Police 151-5, Miccham 152-5, Wimbledon 102, Spencer 103-5; Weybindge 170-3, Benk of England 172-6 KOCKABURRA SOUTH THAMES LEAGUE: Lloyds 99, Beckenham 94;
Bromley 185-9, Hartley 105, Cuaco 1925, Gravesend 194-3, Trubridge Wells
120-9, Darglord 121-1, Midland 228-6,
Sidoup 151-5; Orpington 118, Old Colfe
121-4 LEAGUE: Chresham Hill 188-7, Derton St Law 171-5; Sale Moor 132, Duklinfield 96; Longsight 201-5. Prestwich 158-9, Derton 221-3, Roe Green 101, Thomhsm 20-5. Idam 24; Gloscop 138, 259-5, Irlam 24; Glossop Woodhouses 139-5. Woodhouses 139-5.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY LEAGUE Branthern 113, Wembley 76-7: Enfield 148, Shepherds Bush 147-2; Hornsey 129, Teddington 131-3, Hampslead 241-5, Nh Middlessex 163, Southgate 153, Esting 144-8, Stammore 178-6, Sth Hampstead 170-9, Finchley 166-8, Uxbridge 74-3, Whichmore Hill 172, Richmord 165-8.

MORRANT THAMES VALLEY LEADUE Woldingham 211-6, lokerham 214-6, Hayes 149, Boyns Hill 140-5, Finchampslead 222-8, Basingstoke 106-0, Kidmore End 132, Mariow 135-2; Tring Park 245-4, Madenhead B 188-6; OMT 187, High Wycombe 188-3, Bessborough 185-9, Stough 190-3

WILLIAM YOUNGER NORTH LAN-DASHIPE LEAGUE Actors 116, Descri-119-6; Barrow 153-9, Lindel 154-6, Cartiste 131-5, Camforth 181-8; Haverigg 210-6, Vickerstown 71, Penrith 253-1, Cleator 216-9; Millow 180-8, Uherston 71-9; Whitehaven 179-6, Vickers SC 183-1, Furness 130-8, Workington 128-9. NORTH STAFFS AND SOUTH CHESH-IRE LEAGUE: Stone 177-6, Ashcombe Park 145-8; Audley 142, Crewe 89. Cheedle 217-6, Bignall End 185-9, Ceverswall 193-7. Etworth 182-9: Knypersky 154-8. Statford 119; Lask 258-2, Little Stoke 132; Porthill Park 160, Longton 161-8. NORTWICH UNION NORFOLK ALLI-ANCE LEAGUE: Cromer 183-9, Swardeston 184-5, North Wanderens 143-7, Inghem 147-2.

VALOX NORTHERIN LEAGUE: Fluenwood 148, Chorley 151-2, Lancaster 199-5, Derwen 134-8, Kandal 138, Blackpool 115-9; Preston 120, Leytand Dal 121-9, Netherheid 226-3, Morecambe 172-7; St Annes 225-3 Leytand 104. Armes 225-3 Layers
VALIX RIBBLESOALE LEAGUE: Great
VALIX RIBBLESOALE LEAGUE: Great
103, Barnoldswick 103, VAUX RIBBLESDALE LEAGUE: Sream Harwood 15-8, Barnotiswett 103, Cherry Tree 192-5, Early 188-9; Black-burn N 110. Clitherce 114-4, Edenfisid 200-5, Bead 151-9; Whalley 154-8, Oew Immanuel 188-8: Pacirkam 78, Ribblesdale W 77-2; Settle 173, Basandan 114.

WOOLWICH KENT LEAGUE Gore Court 125, Blackhoeth 129-3; Bromley 228-5, Backenham 115, Chestfield 156-8, Dantiord 136-8, Ashford 230-8, Graves-and 231-2; St Lawrence 214-4, Michael Bank 215-7. YORIGHIRE LEAGUE: Doncester 224-6. Shelf Coll 180-7; Shelffield Utd 151, Appleby Frod 154-1; Hull 235-8, Barnsley 143; Driffield 203-6, Rotherham 137, Yorks Academy 175, Scarborough 178-9; Harrogate 268-7, York 189-4.

SUNDAY

CRICKET

CRICKET

AXA ECUTY & LAW LEAGUE (40 overs)
Derby: Derbyshre v Durtam; Chehrustard:
Essex v Glamorgan, Moreton-in-Marsh;
Gloucestershre v Kent; SouthemptonHampshre v Notinghamshre; Lelcaster: Lelcastershre v Middlesex; The Oval; Surrey v Wordestershhe; Hove; Sussex v
Somenet

RUGBY LEAGUE

28 Oldham Leeds: Thes: Clark 2, Hell, Tat Goals: Holloyd 5. Oldham Beers: Thes: Malonay 2, Munio 2, Temu. Goals: Malonay 2, Topping 2. Att: 6,784. Workington 14 Paris

Workington: Try: Pileo. Goele: Kitchen 5 Peris St-Germain: Tries: Bad, Vergniol. Goel: Banquel. Alt: 2,173. SELET London 45 Sheffield

London Broncois: Tries: Barwick 3, Ma-pure 2, R Alen, Roscien, Toffett Goals: Maguer 6 Dropped goal: Pirt. Sheffield Engles: Thy: Broadbent, Goals: Aston 2 Alf. 3,575.

Friday's lete regults Bradford 50 St Halens 2 Bractlord Bulls: Tries: Bradley 2. Donougher. Knox, Loughlin, Nickle, Scales, Spruce, Tarrent Goals: Mc-Nermara 7 St Heleny: Tries; Curningham 2. Newtowe 2. Goals: Prescott 3. Att: 11.467

Wigan . In Custimora Wigan: Tries: Johnson, Robinson 2, Tugernela Goals: Farrell 5 Cassleford Tigers: Tries: Crooks, Paramore, T Smith, Tutas. Goals: Bolica 4 Dropped goal: Bolica Att: 8,180.

P'W D L F A Pts 15 13 1 1 598 217 27 15 13 1 1 596 217 15 13 0 2 520 345 15 11 0 4 524 304 15 9 0 6 371 388 15 8 1 8 421 329 16 7 1 7 333 426 15 7 0 8 425 457 16 6 1 8 372 388 15 5 0 10 374 096 15 4 0 11 350 450 15 2 1 12 288 542 15 2 1 12 217 648 St Helens Bractord Warrington London Oldhern Shethald Halitax Castreland

First division

Yesterday 12 Rochdae 26 Bastey Bulldogs: Trees: Mrfin, Pnos. Goals: Holmes 2 Rochdale: Trees: Ed-wards 2, Marriolt. Pachniuk. Goals: Agar 2, Pachniuk 3 Alt: 943

Featherstone 31 Widnes Featherstone: Tries: Stripson, Summers 2. Wison Goals: Pearson 7 Dropped goal: Fox Wiches: Tries: Cooper. Packey. Smith. Goal: Tyrer Alt: 1,567 Hua

Hult: Tree: Design, Divorty, Pitzgerald, Marzeng Goale: Hewel 3, Dewelbury: Try: G Bell Goal: Eaton Alt: 2,245 10 Huddersteld 37 Keighley Meighley Cougans: Trise: Deson, Way Goel: Dison, Huddersfield Giants: Trise: Bertori Hanger 2, Mackey, Toole, Wison, Oropped goel: Schofleid, MD: 5,427

Safford Solford Reder Tries: Blakesky, Hampson 2. Marim, McAuby Naylor, Rogers 2. Goals, Bieleley, Hampson, Walson Whiteheven Traes: Curis, Seeds. Goals; Sean Casey 2. Att. 3.343

P W D L F A 13 12 0 1 489 209
14 9 2 3 415 235
14 9 0 5 375 218
13 9 0 6 285 282
13 6 1 7 282 282
13 6 1 7 282 282
14 4 1 9 179 415
14 3 0 11 192 390
14 2 11 211 184 430 Sattord Keighley Feather point Huiders field Huil Widnes Waterheld Dewisbury Whitehaven Footbase

Widnes v Hull (3:30). Second division: Bramley v Carliste (5:0); Doncaster Dragons v South Wales; Hull KR v Chorley Magpiles (6:30): Prescot Panthers v Leigh Certiuri-

OTHER SPORT

OTHER SPORTI
BOWLS: Scottish Masters (at Aberdeen)
EQUESTRIANISM: Floyal International Horae Show (at Hickstead) GQLF: Scottish Open (at Campusties), Open champorethip final qualifying
MOTOR SPORT: Birth's Fand Prac, Formula
Three championship and Auto Trader/RAC touring on championship (at Silverstone), SPEEDWAY: Prantier League: Swindon v
Bradford (6 0): Scottish Monarchs v Cradley
Heath and Stoke (6 30)
SWIAMINE: ASA national championships
(Liedel) TENNIS: Bristol challenger tournament (at Bristol).

AUSTRALIAN LEAGUE (ARL) Camberra 16 Newcastle 14; North Sydney 20 Parametria 18; Menty 16 Westerna 8; St George 30 Sydney Tigers 19; South Queensland 24 Weefs 22, Pennth 21 North Queensland 0; Cronulin 16 Canterbuy 6, Gold Cosel 14 Western Rada 14, Auctidand 24 South Sydney 10 4 RUGBY UNION memalional match

New Zealand 49 Australia New Zealend: Tries. M Jones, Cullen. Marshall Z Brooke Wison, Lorru Conver-elons: Mahners 2 Penetty goels: Mehners 3 Ausbalia: Penetty goels: Burke 2 (in Wellington)

Pacific Rim Championship 57 Hong Kong Student World Cup

Pool C South Africa 71 Russia Pool D

ONARTER-FRIAL DRAW: France v New Zeasand (at Rand Afrikaans Univ. 1.30), Algerbna v Italy (at Rand Afrikaans Univ. 3.0); South Africa v Wales (at Univ. 3.0); South Africa v Wales (at Univ. of Pretoria. 10.0), Southand v Japan (at Univ. of Pretoria. 17.30). At matches to be played Friday, July 12. Currie Cup

De SW Dannols 38 Boland 15 M Free Suse 12 Grigualand W 18 E Province 40 W Transveel

THE WEST TIMES SPORTS SERVICE

RACING Commentary Call 0891 500 123 Results Call 0891 100 123

CRICKET

from the third Test at Trent Bridge Call 0891 881 461 Reports and scores from county championship Call 0891 525 019

Calls oust 39p per min cheap rate, 49p per min at all other times

TODAY CRICKET Third Cornhill Test match 11:0 fourth day of live 90 overs minimum TRENT BRIDGE: England y India Tettey's Challenge Senes

NORTHAMPTON: Northampionshire v

Tour match
11:0 frames, or three
CHESTERFIELD: Derbyshire v South Ainca A Britannic Assurance county championship

BRISTOL: Gloucestershire v Glamorgan MAIDSTONE: Fent L Durham OLD TRAFFORD: Lancashire v (Vorcesanshire v Essex THE OVAL: Surrey v Middlesex EDGBASTON: Warwickshire v Rounghamshire v Rounghamshire v Rounghamshire v

Notinghamshire
SECOND XI CHAMPIONSHIP (Inst day of the process of the College Derosthire victoriassine Shidom Durham victoriassine Shidom Durham victoriassine Sairton Walder Esse visures Sairton Walder Esse visuressine Southampton Hampione vi Luncastine Middleton-on-Sea. Susse: Michele College College Sairton Warner victoriassine in an incompany and North Warner victoriassine in an incompany and in

MINOR COUNTIES CHAMPIONSHIP (6-MINOR COUNTIES CHAMITRONSHIP (II) ha (2), of two) Herdowt Bediordship (II) fortunate Conseal Herdowt City Herdord Strate v Devon Lincoln Lindom Lindom Victoriaties v Cambridgeship Portification of Company Cambridgeship Portification (II) fortunate v Cambridgeship Portification (III) fortunate v Cambridgeship Portification (III) fortunate v Cambridgeship (III) Williships CC. Wildhip v Cambridgeships (III) Williships CC. Wildhip v Cambridgeships (III) will be consequently the control of the control

1 -

*  ; = ` ` ' '

The second service service of the service service service service services and the service services services services and the services ser OTHER SPORT GOLF: Open chempionship regional qualityms. Bath (2.0); Musselburgh (2.15); RACING Bath (2.0); Musselburgh (2.15); Rpon (7.0); Windson (6.40); SPEEDWAY: Premier Leaguer: Exeter v Scotush Monacins (7.30); Wolverhampton v Medidesbrough (7.30); Wolverhampton v Sheffield (7.30); Conference Leaguer: Ryde (1.0 W) v Arena Essee (7.15).

TOMORROW RACING: Newmarket (2.05): Pontelract

PACING: Newharter Lasguer London v SPEEDWAY: Premier Lasguer London v Modesbrough (7 30) Individuel: Golden Harrimer (at Stoke, 7 45) TENNIS: Brisiol challenger tournament, WEDNESDAY CRICKET

NATWEST TROPHY (60 overs) Second round: Werwickshire v Surrey: Essex v Durham, Wordsstershire v Hampshire v Lacestershire v Sussex. Lancashire v Northamptonshire. Somerset v Gloucestershire: Derbyshire v kent; Yorkshire v TOUR MATCH (first day of three) Shenley: MCC v South Ainca A.

OTHER SPORT GOLF Scotish Open (at Carroustie) RACING: Newmarket (2:05), Folkestone (2:20) kempton Park (6:30) Worcester (2.20) Kempton Park (6.30) Wordester (6.45) SPEEDWAY, Premier League; Long Eaton v London (7.30); Poole v Hulli (7.30). TENNIS, Bristol challenger lournament

THURSDAY CRICKET TOUR MATCH (one day) Stone: Minor Countries y Pakistanis.

OTHER SPORT EQUESTRIANISM: Royal International Hopal Shop for Harkstown; GOLF: Scottish Open (at Camouste) RACING: Nevmarket (2.05). Wolver-GOLF: Scotter Open fal Carolosse), Recinds: Newmarkst (2.05). Wolver-hampton (AW, 2.20) Chepstow (6.30), Redicar (6.45). SPECUMAY: Premier Lague: Ipsanch v Oxford (7.30). Middlestorough v Peterborough (7.30). Shellield v Cradialy Heeth and Stoke (7.45). SWIMMIRING: ASA retional chempionships (Leads) TENNIS: Bristol challenger tournament.

FRIDAY RUGBY LEAGUE kuck-off 7:30 STONES SUPER LEAGUE: Breatord Bulls v Wigan Second division: Barrow v Swinton Lions, York v Hunslet Hanks.

VICTORIA: Second division: Altona City 1 Knox City 1: E Brunswick 1 Frankston P 0. E Richmond 5 Nunawading 0; Moorootbark 2 Regent 3: Oakleigh 1 Bell Park 0. S Dandenong 1 East Altona 4; Waverley 1 West Vale 3. Third division: Cranbourne 1 Pascoe Vale 0; Dandenond V 1 Keilor 0; Frankston 2 Chelsaa 0; Ringwood C 1 Banyule 1; S Cauffield 4 Melbourne C 1 Postponed: S Werribee V Cutton Hill Fitznov PS v Springvale, Fourth

Clifton Hill, Fitzroy PS v Springvale. Fourth division: Geelong 1 Langwarrin 1, N Coburg 4

والمرافع أتناعه فتأسمن فيعن أعمادات

CRICKET THIRD WOMEN'S TEST MATCH (first day of lour), Guildford: England v New Zeeland OTHER SPORT ATHLETICS: NP Genes (at Crystal Paleon).
BOWLS: Scottesh Masslers (at Abendhan)
BOUESTRIAMISH: Royal International Home, Show (at Ricesteed)
GOUE: Scottish Open (at Cernouste)
RACING: Lungfield Park (2 20), York (2.05),
Chester (5 30): Hernillon Park (6 45)
SPEEDWAY: Premier League: Hull v Poole
(7 30) Chester (5.30) Harmison man to September (5.30) Harmison man to September (7.30) SWILLIAM SEA Associated championships

LEES BREWERY LANCASHIRE

Loeds) TENNS: Bratol challenger tournament SATURDAY CRICKET SENSON AND HEDGES CUP (one day): Final: Lord's: Lancashire y Northampton-shire

7 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 37 22 33 34 35 26 37 38 39 40 10 42 43 44 56 47

OTHER SPORT
BOWLS: Scottish Masters (at Aberdeen)
EOUESTRIANISM: Royal International Hone Show (at Hickstead), GOUE: Scottish Open (at Cernoustre), RACING: Ungleid Park (220); York (20),
Chester (210), Salitabury (215); Warwick
(225), Southwell (6 40)
SPEEDWAY: Premier League: Bradford v
Salindon (7 30), Coventry v Long Eaton
(7 30), Eastbourne v Wolverhempton (7 30)
Speedway Star Cup: Second round, second leg Cradley Headt and Sloke (43) v
Belle Vue (53) (at Stoke, 7 30)
SWIMMING: ASA national chemponships (Leeds) SWIMMING: ASA national champsonships (Leeds) TENIES: Bristol challenger Laurnament (al.

RUGBY LEAGUE

STONES SUPER LEAGUE: Pana Sainti-German v London Broncos (6.0)

OTHER SPORT

RUGBY LEAGUE

Nick-oil 10 unless stated

STONES SUPER LEAGUE Oldham Bueri.
v Castleford Tigers, Sheffield Engles v
Leeds (at Bramal Lane, 5 0); St Helers v
Hatta, Bue Sox (60), Workington v
Warmington, First division: Devisiony v Warmington State of the State of the POOLS CHECK Monbulk 0: Sandringham 0 Yarraville 6; Seaford Utd 2 Stonnington 1, Sun Heights 2 Moreland 0: Sunbury 0 Lator 3, Williamstown 2 Corlo 1. Fifth division: Ballarat 0 Doveton 0; Keysborough 0 Geelong R 3, Knox Pk 4 Old Scottch 3, Metton 5 N Sunshine 2; Mitcham 3 S Wantins 5; Mornington 2 Heidelberg C 0; Springvale C 2 Glenroy 2. Stath division: Braeside 3 N Glenroy 2; Brandon Pk 3 Dandenong 0; Croaton 9 E Nursewading 0; Endeavour 2 Brunswick C 2; Hoppers C 0 Lyndale U 6; Meadow Pk 0

Hampton Pk 2; S Yarra 2 Berwick Cty 1.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA: Premier division:
Baysweler 2 Alfrena 2:Kingsway 1 Spearwood
2; Perth 2 Sorrento 2; Striing M 2 Krischts 5; Postgoned: Inglewood v Swan IC First division: Balcatta 0 Fremantle C 1, Bassendean
3 Dianella 1; Mortey 0 North Lake 1; Perth City 1
Ashfield 1; Rockingham 0 Joondalup 2; Southside 4 Cockburn 1.

OUSEENSTAND: The division: Calonaux 0. QUEENSLAND: Third division: Clairvaux 0 Souths Utd 1; Rediands 0 Mitchellon 1;

University (CD3) 0 Newmarket 4. Fourth division: Bayside 4 Browns P 1; Greenbank 0 Moggill 9: Samford 1 Brothers 3; Southside 2 Ipswich 0.

Ipswich 0.

NEW SOUTH WALES: Second division:
Praniewood 1 NSWU 1; Postponed:
New Liverpool v Concord, Third division:
Hawkesbury 5 White City 3. Postponed:
Moorebank v Prospect. Fourth division:
St Joseph's 5 Springwood 0; Sydney U 9
Balmam 0.

PORECAST. Tele-phone claims for 23 and 24pts, dividend 49 50 51 52 53 54 65 6 57 58

Sally Jones introduces her children to short-tennis, and meets some of the hopeful stars of the future

The road to the Centre Court, in short steps ith Wimbledon

all but over, the tennis courts in every public park in the land are, for a week or two, crowded with would-be champions; from plump middle-aged chaps with ancient wooden Dunlop Maxplys, to seven-year-olds whacking spongy balls with plastic rackets.

For most, the craze is soon over and then the rackets go back in the cupboard for

Since the early 1980s, however, a revolution has been taking place in schools, clubs and leisure centres, to encourage more youngsters to take up tennis via a simplified, cutdown version of the game, known as short-tennis.

It was in this game as a thin. determined eight-year-old that Tim Henman, the new British hero, won his first national championship. Since then it has brought in tens of thousands of children from nontennis playing backgrounds and kept their interest as they progress from short-tennis to the real thing.

I decided to initiate my two children, five-year-old Roly and Madeline, three, at the beginner's session at our nearest venue, the picturesque Warwick Boat Club, beside Warwick Castle. The session, which attracted about a dozen children, aged between five and seven, was run by club members Sue Lennox and Gill Thorpe, whose own children started with short-tennis.

It seemed at first sight like a party game, with the youngsters split into two teams and sprinting backwards and forwards in noisily, highly-competitive potato races to improve their speed and agility, then scurrying up and down with the ball balanced on the racket. Next, they stood in a circle, gently hitting a low-bouncing. pressureless ball with their small, loosely-strung rackets for the child opposite to catch at waist height after one bounce. The drill became slightly more complex when each receiver was asked to catch the ball on the face of the

"At this stage," Lennox said, "we're simply trying to build up the children's hand-eye coordination — and giving them a lot of fun."

The fun element was never in doubt, even though Roly, in headstrong mood, insisted on demonstrating the "big fronthand" he had learnt in the

There seems no end to the talents of Josie

Heffernan. A former competitor in the world cycling championships, she is now a veteran long-distance

while juggling four part-time jobs with four children. Josie,

45, is also a member of home in the world 25

kilometre road race in Bruges ten days ago, having been inspired to return to athletics when a member of

The Times team for the 1994

London Marathon. It was the team spirit of that event - when the newspaper picked two teams, one advised by Chris Brasher and the other by Mel Batty, from more than 500 applicants - that once again had Heffernan out on the roads. However, this time she was running.

not cycling.

Her background on her bike has unquestionably helped her in athletics.

"When I was 14 there was a clash between a cycling race and an inter-schools athletics event. My Dad told me that I had to make up my mind between the two. I opted for cycling."

Josie rode for Britain in four world championships.

After giving birth to her first two children, Neil. 17. and Mark. 14, she tried triathlon in the 1980s but suffered so

She was the second runner

Christians in Sport.

She trains for both sports runner of rare distinction.

back garden, whacking the ball straight at the child

Lennox tactfully distracted him by enlisting his help in setting out the low nets, with their mobile posts and light netting across the two small rectangular courts, minus tramitines and simply divided down the middle.

After practising forehands and backhands in a group, the children formed two lines behind the baseline and were each fed a few groundstrokes. scoring one point for any shot that went over the net and two if it landed in court.

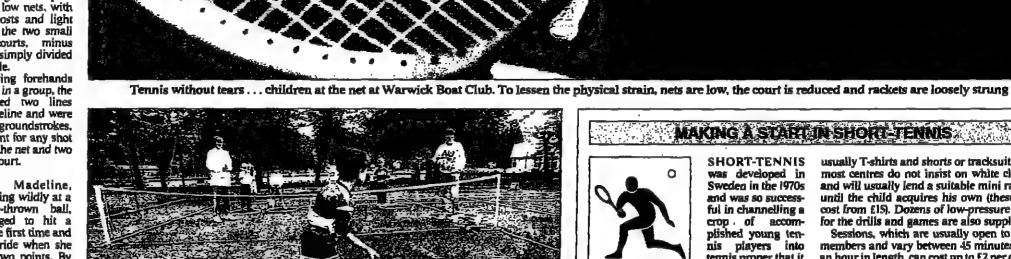

swinging wildly at a gently-thrown ball, managed to hit a forehand for the first time and swelled with pride when she was awarded two points. By contrast. Lucy Tedstone and her friend Andrew Frost, both six, hardly missed a shot and after only a handful of sessions aiready looked capable of moving up into the more advanced group where the children begin to play simple games against one another.

"It's brilliant," Lucy said. "I love being in a group and playing lots of different games. My family are quite sporty now - just about I've made some new friends, too."

"I look forward to it every week," said William Homer, 5, another regular. The first time I got a ball over the net I felt great."

Three children then stood inside hoops on the baseline of each court and tried to catch the groundstrokes hit by the children on the other side of the net. A catch after one bounce gave the catcher the right to change places with the hitter during this drill, which is designed to improve both accuracy and co-ordination.

Only Roly, thrilled to have played his first double-handed backhand on court, refused to change ends when caught

Serving . . . children are involved in competition, but the emphasis is always on fun

"out" and insisted on being fed with delight whenever he made contact.

By the end of the 45-minute session, the children reluctantly gathered up the scores of balls littering the court ("I want three balls in the box from everyone by the time I count ten"). The older children assembled for the more advanced session, several of them training for tournaments that give youngsters their first taste of competition well before they can master the basics of "proper" tennis.

To most youngsters, tennis itself is a frustratingly difficult game in the early stages. Even sustaining a rally is impossible without a modicum of skill and strength.

At full speed ahead

The cyclist and runner Josie

Heffernan is on top of the world

Heffernan trains with her daughter Emily winner in the professional pursuit at the world cycling championships, moved to

Seer Green in Buckingham-shire five years ago, she was too busy working as a teacher and bringing up her two youngest children, Naomi, 8, badly from hypothermia in the swim section that she got pleurisy. "I was so ill that I thought I was going to die."

Triathlon has subsequently allowed wet-suits to be used. When she and her husband, Steve, a bronze medal-

By contrast, short-tennis is a version of tennis and is growing rapidly in popularity. More than 200,000 children now play regularly and more than 70 per cent of the crop competing in the national agegroup championships progressed to the full-scale game via short-tennis.

"Our kids here really love it," Lennox said. "They're so enthusiastic and several, including one of my sons, have gone on to area or county coaching in tennis itself."

As if to prove the point, Roly, as ever unhampered by false modesty, accosted the biggest eight-year-old in the advanced group. "I'm good at tennis." he announced proudly. "I think I'll stay on and play with you."

and Emily, 6, to do any

She says: "I was getting unhappy with myself. Then came the chance of running the London Marathon. To be honest, I did not do enough distance work and hated the

However, she still had enough talent to ensure that she did 3hr 45min. "I was also determined that having got to that level I was not going to give up. I wanted to do shorter distances, like 10

he kept training be-tween her varied jobs

as: a youth worker; a gymnastics coach for underlives; a schools liaison officer for the Persil Fun Fit scheme:

and an administrator for the Chiltern Christians training

the world veterans championships in Bruges, both in the ten-kilometre road race, in which she finished sixth in her age category, recording 38min 33sec, and then, the next day, in the 25 kilometres, when she did Ihr 43min

"I was overwhelmed by my performance, but I was dying towards the end," she said. "I felt as if I was standing still."

It is not an experience that someone as active as Josie

JOHN GOODBODY

Two weeks ago, she ran at programme.

02sec.

often feels.

second half."

HEEHAN on BRIDGE

By Robert Sheehan, bridge correspondent

Paul Hackett's team convincingly won their Premier league match against Sowter. This hand was a rare gain for Sowter. How do you think South managed to go down in Six Spades?

Dealer South Love all

> e J 10 9 6 VAK10 4A76 +K07 N 4A84 ¥Q5 79743 +Q9532 +KJ108 .8 +108732 +KQ782 41862

Contract: Six Spedes by South, Lead: three of diamond

#A65

Tony Forrester won the lead in dumniy and continued with the jack of spades. When that held the trick he thought he might have caught East napping. He continued with a diamond ruff, a club to the king, the ace of hearts and another diamond ruff. He then crossed to dummy with a club, leaving this position:

+ 10 9 5 ♥ K 10 ⊕J N . +A8 W E *974 +8 ¥Q w. +32 eK7 ₩J86

By now the defence's carding had convinced Forrester that West had length in diamonds. In that case, if the trumps were 2-2. East was more likely to have the queen of hearts.

So Forrester decided to play East for having started with ace doubleton of spades. He played a club - that would only cost if East had started with two and had Ax of spades left. If the club had held up. Forrester planned to put East in with a second spade to lead into the heart tenace, or give a ruff and

Alas, East ruffed and Forrester was one down - a feat that only a top-class player could have accomplished. Forrester might have reflected that if East had been looking at Ax of spades and the queen of hearts, he would have risen on the first round of spades to avoid the endplay. Senior said Forrester had only played that way to get his name in the papers. Well, he's succeeded, hasn't he? ☐ Robert Sheehan writes on bridge Monday to Friday in Sport and in the Weekend section on Saturday.

WORD-WATCHING

By Philip Howard

SEMIBOUSY a. Half drunk b. A short blouse c. A hiccup

SMITHAM a. A fine particle b. A forge c. Charlock

SCHADON

a. The iambic caesura b. A bee larva c. A musical tailing-off SOCLE

a. A joint b. A shoemaker's anvil

c. A pedestal Answers on page 41

London W14 9EG (0171-381 7059).

MAKING A START IN SHORT-TENNIS

usually T-shirts and shorts or tracksuits, but most centres do not insist on white clothes and will usually lend a suitable mini racket.

until the child acquires his own (these can cost from £15). Dozens of low-pressure balls for the drills and games are also supplied. Sessions, which are usually open to non-members and vary between 45 minutes and an hour in length, can cost up to £2 per child.

Warwick Boat Club offers a course of ten sessions for £6 and has recruited dozens of children from non tennis-playing back-

To find out where your nearest centres are, contact: Short-Tennis Department, The

LTA, Queen's Club, West Kensington,

Ab7

Kg2 h4 Kh2

Oh5 R17 R18+

Q13 R15 h5 Re5

rig2 14

although many are far cheaper than this.

SHORT-TENNIS

Sweden in the 1970s

and was so successful in channelling a nis players into

tennis proper that it rapidly spread to the rest of Europe. It is now an important breeding ground for future champions. The LTA introduced it with a pilot scheme in 1980 and then broadened it to the whole country the following year.

Many clubs, schools and leisure centres run short-tennis sessions for children, aged between about five and nine. They will need pumps or trainers and loose-fitting clothing.

BY RAYMOND KEENE THESS CORRESPONDENT

Manchester win

The learn from Manchester Grammar School has won this year's Times British Schools chess championship. They defeated their co-finalists Maidstone Grammar School by the score of 3.5 to 2.5 in the final held on Friday at London's Charing Cross Hotel. Results of the third place play-off and games from both matches will appear in subsequent articles.

By drawing game 15 and winning game 16. Gata Kamsky has kept his slim chances alive in the Fide world championship. White: Gata Karnsky

Queen's Indian Defence

Black: Anatoly Karpov Fide world championship Elista Game to, July 1996

Never say die

3 N/3 g3 b3 Bb4+ Ne5 Nvd7 D-0 Nd2

exd5 d:c5 c6 Re1 15 20 Rivar 21 NeA 22 Rivo7 Diagram of final position

On move 20 Black could have played 20 ... Rxc3 but then 21 Nb1 Rc7 22 Rxc7 Qxc7 23 Rxc7 gives White the advantage. Interestingly, Karpov admitted to having analysed this variation before the Raymond Keene writes on chess Monday to Friday in Sport and in the Weekend section on Saturday.

WINNING MOVE

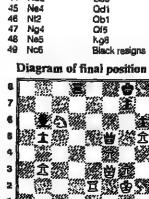

By Raymond Keene

White to play. This position is from the game Berg - Nordsmom, Norway 1978. In this position, Black has a terrible threat of maje by playing ... Oxe2 next move While has no good way to defend against this and so must resort to a swift attack himself. What did he

Solution, page 4i

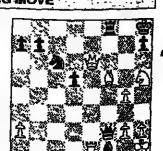

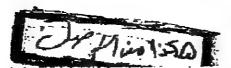

R/8 R/8

55 Bb6

game up to the 25th move, concluding that the position was equal. However, in his pre-game analysis karpov had overlooked the combination 25 Rdxf7 and if 25 ... Rxf7 26 Qd8+ forcing checkmate.

Gra wi

BOXING: RETIREMENT TALK PREMATURE DESPITE LISTLESS DISPLAY

Benn lacks conviction in and out of the ring

By Srikumar Sen, boxing correspondent

THE position of Nigel Benn as a serious world contender was in some doubt after his challenge for Steve Collins's World Boxing Organisation supermiddleweight title in Manchester on Saturday. Immediately after the bout ended in the fourth round, because Benn was unable to continue as a result of an ankle injury, he announced that he was retiring.

ie future

It was reminiscent of his defeat by Thulane Malinga, of South Africa, in Newcastle, when Benn retired immediately after the contest and came back the next day. This time his change of mind, or rather, half change of mind, came just 20 minutes later.

He told the full house of 20,000 at the Nynex Arena and viewers of Sky Television: I think this is it for me. Thanks to all my fans but I know when I have to stop." Then, after a shower and brush-up, he told the press: My fiancée wants me to retire, my dad wants me to retire. I will go home and think about it. I know I can beat him. They say I'm fin-ished but I still have a lot of light left in me.™

There was no urgent reaction when a rematch was mentioned, nor did Frank Warren, the promoter, at-tempt to draw him out on the subject. "I'm not going to ask him to light," Warren said. "If he wants to fight, he must Benn continued: "My fianore, Caroline, is expecting twins. That means a lot to me, more than fighting. I'm going to sit down and think about it. When the babies are born 1 would like to be the champion. We'll talk and talk and talk and if, at the end of it, I do retire, I can say what a blinding career I've had and I shouldn't feel sad." It was strange to see a fighter who likes nothing better than a "tear up" hesitating about his next move, but it would be surprising if he did

£800,000 for his night's work. The 20,000 spectators who had cheered him wildly would return to see him pick up another £800,000 or so. But even Benn will have to do allegiance. As Benn himself said: "If you go out a loser, you are soon forgotten."

His performance was the of his career. It was sloppy and lacked purpose When he turned his ankle, the excruciating pain seemed to wipe out all desire of becoming a world champion again. He accepted the mishap without a murmur. His boxing had no co-ordinating strategy. He was fighting on instinct. He resorted to wild swings which set up attacks and, time after time, found himself in a wrestling match. Twice he missed and fell over. I made the first two rounds even and gave Benn the third. The judges did not give Benn a round. In the third, he caught Collins with four solid punches, two rights and two lefts. Even though the punches seemed to have little effect on the champion, the contest was just beginning to develop.

The champion said after-wards that he did not feel the punches. When his cornermen cautioned him against fighting Benn's fight he said: "He is not hurting me at all. I'm enjoying it. I'm going to go out and knock him out." Benn appeared to be winning the fourth when he swung round with a punch and went down on his right ankle. There was no count as he had not gone down from any blow. Benn got up and tried in vain to put his weight on that foot in order to be able to ward off the blows that Collins was now piling in. Then, suddenly, Benn turned his back on Collins, waved his arms in the air and limped off

Collins, the champion, has Benn in trouble during the truncated world title bout in Manchester on Saturday

Grand design wins battle for Leeds United

By Jason Nisse

ast Tuesday afternoon, Leeds United met to decide which one of three offers for the FA Carling Premiership club should be accepted. Would it be the media minnows. Caspian. the Le Coq Sportif group, Conrad, or, coming in with a bid as late as a tackle by Vinnie Jones, the Norwegian fish giants, Resource Group International (RGI)? In the end, Caspian, the long-time favourites, got the nod, but the losers feel that the bid process left more than a little to be through, but, with the outgoing Leeds chairman. Leslie Silver, and incoming Leeds chairman, But Follerby, accepting the deal, Caspian is assured of 79 per cent of the club's shares. The 250 minority shareholders in Leeds can either like it or lump it. The trouble is that Caspian is offering only £16.5 million for Leeds. This looks cheap given that Manchester United is worth more than £230 million. Tottenham Hotspur is priced at £100 million and, after admitting its flotation intentions last week. Newcastle United is looking at a valuation of more than £100 million. It seems espe-cially cheap once you know that Conrad offered E20 million for Leeds and RGI, which owns another football club. Molde, in Norway, is claiming that it offered £30 million (though this figure is disputed by Leeds insiders).

> THE BUSINESS OF SPORT

One can hardly blame Leeds for turning RGI away. Whereas the other two bidders had talked for weeks and delivered lots of documents. RGI turned up with one sheet of paper and a chap called Rune Hauge. As he was the agent who was so generous to the former Arsenal manager. George Graham, and is still shunned by Fifa, football's world governing body, be would not be that popular at the Football Association.

Yet what reason was there to run down Conrad's offer. especially as the company was promising to put another EI5 million or so into Leeds? It appears that Silver and Fotherby were dazzled by the grand designs and vision of the Caspian chairman, Chris Akers, 31, is a City whiz-kid who made his name brokering cable television and sporting rights deals. He wants to turn Leeds into the sort of sporting club that exists in Barcelona and is planned by Sir John Hall at multimedia, leisure and retailing ideas. The concept is for you to turn off the motorway into Elland Road on any day of the week and find entertainment - be it football, ice hockey, basketball, rugby league, the cinema, a disco, a bowling alley or even Gary Barlow in concert.

To do this, Akers needs money. Leeds's turnover in the 1995-96 season was £18.8 million, of which £8.6 million came from gate receipts and the rest largely from merchan-dising and television rights. Thanks to the new deal with BSkyB (40 per cent owned by News International which owns The Times) this income is set to soar to more than £25 million this year and well in excess of £30 million in

There is a break clause in the BSkyB deal that will allow clubs to negotiate their own pay-per-view television deals come the summer of 1999. According to some quite excitable research, this could lead to annual income of more than £2 billion for the Premiership or an average of £100 million each for the individual clubs. With TelePiu in Italy and Canal Plus in France launching pay-per-view football coverage this year, this revolution is not so far away.

It is easy to see how Akers's vision tempted Silver and co. The trouble is they did just the sort of under-the-cover deal that has haunted football over the years, a deal that heralds a new era with one of the last hurrahs of the old.

Despair doesn't work nine to five. Despair comes in the small hours of the night, or on Christmas Day. It comes at weekends, or when you're surrounded by people.

Samaritans work round the clock, every day of the year. When you pick up the phone, there'll be someone there to help pick up the pieces.

You won't be put on hold, or put through a grilling. And you won't be judged or talked down to.

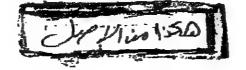

Our number's in the phone book, or you can call our new national number on 0345 90 90 90. Every call is confidential. We'll be there to talk to you.

ing through well go through it with you. The Samaritans

Capitalisation, week's change	Mix cap mallony Company 251.50 Femderson Add 551.71 Marchinard Co. 55.50 heavy Series	Price MAY 7th (P) 4 5 P/5 1164 + 31 49 19 5 244 - 13 24 165 25 270 + 5 36 200	Met cab
150 to state to proper to 1 to 2	203 between fry 992 10 Liberts lad 992 10 Liberts lad 993 10 Liberts lad 177 00 Liberts lad 131 60 Lion Scot Bit 995 40 Min El B F 895 10 Min & Gl	2014 - 44 46 57 136 - 1 36 67 136 - 1 36 67 136 14 26 14 6 14 6 14 6 14 6 14 6 14 6 14	* 50 Mess Brot. 128 - 112 18 20 20 48 Mess Brot. 128 - 12 6 27 25 27
18874—179-20 250 Harmon Rev 1887—179-20 250 Harm	76 9 % harre Loan 65530 Year harre 122 138 80 years 1 122 138 80 years 1 124 5 6 5 5 5 U 126 1 16 1 16 1 16 1 16 1 16 1 16 1 16	461 + 1 34 184 120 120 150 150 150 150 150 150 150 150 150 15	317 D Colhebra 200 - 6 17 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25
7.307.99 Art. Nov. 2 310 + 3 60 76 624 Holests Refs 200 - 3 16 10.5 3 10.0 1 3 60 76 624 Holests Refs 200 - 3 16 10.5 3 10.0 1 3 60 76 624 Holests Refs 200 - 3 16 10.5 3 10.0 10.0 Holests Refs 200 - 3 16 10.5 3 10.0 Holests Refs 200 - 3 16 10.0 Holests Refs 200 Holests Refs 200 Holests Refs 200 Holests Refs 200 Holests Refs 20	15 PHARMA 17 PHARMA 17 159 158 All But But All 17 159 159 Commonwer 17 159 All But But All 17 159 Commonwer 17 159 Commonwer	2260 - 93 644 - 4 585 - 38 391 - 31	10.50 Wite at Leading $4 ^ 4 24 75 00 Average $50 Aver
15,000,70 Date for for v 1487 - 487 0.4 1487 - 487 0.4 1487 - 487 0.4 1487 - 487 0.4 1487 - 487 0.4 1487 - 1887 0.4 14	## 106 31 December 1 December 1 December 2 D	861 + 141, 43 17.8 244 + 3 20 151 240 - 36 748 + 1 343 + 1 777 + 284, 25 199 568 - 20 1664 + 41 26 236
2270 Leophid J 528 33 16 15 30 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16	19.5 10.5 16.3 26.80 A6 Heldings 191 10 APTW 34 10 App Helo	IG & PAPER - 48 125 680 + 6 19 726 129 + 11 173 - 3 54 349	28 20 Bai Data Mg 157 4 3 25 2 1 2 1 2 1 2 1 2 1 2 1 2 1 2 1 2 1
1150 Angle UM 1150 A	1,422 all Anys Wegnus 136 124 143 30 Berunsat 124 143 30 Berunsat 114 40 Bengular 135 886 60 Bouslas Inc. 235 886 60 Bouslas Inc. 236 255 00 Brohythere 246 255 00 Brohythere 255 40 Brohythere 252 20 Burd	195 - J 40 112 353 - 10 51 106 159 - J 252 2634 - 50 172 - 7 28 155 27 + 2 25 126 270 - 6 32 156 170 11 11	25 of Codes Comp 53 $7 m 75 m 55 m 55 fb
4.55 Abruh 53 MG 39 ± 2 8.3 15,074 50 British 198 871 = 26 29 19.8 50 British 199 1 68 . 30 Abruh 199 1 68 . 30 Abruh 199 1 68 . 30 British 199 1 68 British	275 73 50 Fileter 200 66 80 Invites 1111 11390 James Postert	199 15 196 10 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	269 99 Heigh Bahman 255 + 12 32 131 131 176 60 655 8 00v 14579+ 89 17 10 18 100 JiBh Hiller 522 + 5 18 22 15 16 15 15 16 15 16 15 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16
10 for Heavy Memory 1300	16.6 535.10 Lee & Boron 172.0 int Holding 20.4 222.10 int Holding 3.7 in Holo Gp 19.4 Photo Gp 17.50 Physi 4.53 Point Chellon 17.53.20 Point Chellon	122 4 3 1448 129 179 120 25 254 117 + 4 6.2 155 - 2 75 171 156 - 2 75 171 157 - 9 51 140 157 - 9 24 156 159 - 137, 06	77.00 AMPS Comp 77 - [27 57 10 MAS Comp 97 + 7 35 15 24 57 10 MAS Comp 97 + 7 35 15 24 15
7 /7 Personal 6 1 - 1 - 4 2 10 4 10 9 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10	15.50 Water 245.50 Waterspie (2) 255.40 Verification 55.37 Wystolaus	00 + 5½, 101 154 286 + 16 30 98 174 - 3 51 171 - 1 43 100 1 234 + 14 49 117 430 + 2 28 168 240 + 2 10 197	## 30 MPIE 60 388 - 12 1.2 28. ## 50 None Grup 36 - 9 50 ## 30 Orbers 45 + 17, 26 ## 189 SD Page (Motroe) 307 - 23 20 6, 6 ## 1600 Pank, 275 + 13 11 76 ## 25 Percent 55 10 25 27 ## 27 Percent 55 26 ## 28 SD Pank-life 50 36 13 ## 23 SD Pank-life 50 36 14 14 ## 23 SD Pank-life 50 36 14 14 ## 23 SD Pank-life 50 36 14 14 ## 24 SD Pank-life 50 36 14 14 ## 25 SD Pank-life 5
131 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	7 10.9 47 10 Afred Lon 211 40 Argent 11 50 Arles on Eds 11 50 Arles on Eds 11 70 Arbonny Esp	67% - 1 74 75 20 - 1 74 75 64 - 1 15 154 149 - 31 256	279 0 675 Group 126 - 12 34 92 13 18 70 Rattus 67 + 4 25 15 13 18 0 Real Years 197 - 13 25 13 13 18 0 Real Years 197 - 13 25 13 13 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18
15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15	187.20 Blacky 187.20 Blacky 180.0 Barbay 26.00 Barbay 10.7 26.40 Barbay 1,819.20 b Lund 285.00 Barbay	143 . 2.1 235 489 - 1 213 - 1 61 149 176 5.3 12 1 16 + 7 413 35 276 415 45 422 - 1 2.3 35 1 166 + 7 64 154 128 + 4 19 433	6530 Sanderson Beer 157 - 2 A2 161 1800 Calcar Age W 792 - 6 11 1891 10 Sama Eg 736 - 4 0 8 35 1932 6 1 1 2 1 1 2 1 1 2 1 1 2 1 1 1 2 1
114 114 115	21 9 118.30 C.5 Ndos. 24 7 10 Cap & Regal 24 7 15.86.90 Cap Shep City. 8 6 Cap Shep City. 8 6 Cap Shep City. 8 6 Cap Shep City. 8 10 Cap Shep City. 9 10 Cap Shep City. 19 10 Cap Shep City. 19 11 66 Cap She Est 79 1 Cap Shep City.	107 61 137 1727 1728 - 1 33 264 190 + 5 19 256 14 - 1 299 + 1 13 410 431 + 1 37 107 35 156	99.20 Superscript VP 465 - 8 44 123 69.70 Homore Heart 255 - 5 44 123 136 40 Hoste Myl IAI 139 - 6 11 252 153.40 Works Reary 167 - 11 252 TELECOMMUNICATIONS
15 Care 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	28 eu Compas 18.8 19 00 Dagen 11.00 Dagen 11.00 Dagen 21 10 Debethin Tura 28.50 Denoun Hops 45.50 Denoun Hops	97- ', 52 91 135 11 125 290 - 7 32 252 1215 + 25 37 151 - 1 38 151 13 13 366 20 255 191 18 45 + 1 34 119	25 515 20 BT
370 Gene (Ernis) 48 77 72 (10 Chamber) 78 42 12 28 1 150 Chamber 78 2 27 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18	30 1 22 10 Depty 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20	100 54 236 57 4 114 + 4 34 177 99 66 267 35 126 267 3 5 126 26 + 4 69 54 32	207 Altern 53 + 1 4 J 195 46 90 Augusts 4 137 5 9 127 125 PO Band (West 194 5 86 36 1 128 1 199
54.00 Magarder 1.0 276 A3 735 (2014) Because 1.00 747	25.2 00 Fragmoth 16.9 26.00 English 16.9 56.00 En Parliand 178.50 Greycoll 25.9 1.00 400 Horroursen 1.00 40 Horroursen 1.00 40 Horroursen 46 70 Horroursen 32.9 45.70 Horroursen 32.9 45.70 Horroursen	492 - 8 48 232 291 + 7 28 198 199 + 9 77 78 199 - 2 97 84 + 5 24 137 333 - 5 24 137 219 - 2 14.1 44 + 3	2.91 Carganat 22 25 27 28 29 29 29 29 29 29 29 29 29 29 29 29 29
Aut Lorent Read 46 - 1 27 541 117	1,531,201 FV Last 16.2 101 Jernsyn' 6 37 Revisial 177 1600 LSH 28.4 31 70 Lands Imp 1122.00 Land Swift 1170 Landon Wolf 26.40 Lan & Association Wolf 26.40 Lan & Association Wolf 26.40 Lan & March	145'4 41 144 161 35 27 7 0 4 625 4 2 52 18.4 255 4 2 58 18.9 55+ 1 58 18.9	3370 P3 33 - 3 109 7.08 Formalable 77 59 71 7.08 Formalable 77 59 71 7.12 Center (Males) 11 1 7.43 Femala) 63 73 146 7.43 Femala) 63 73 146 7.43 Femala) 73 146 7.43 Femala) 73 146 7.43 Femala) 73 147 7.43 Femala 74 7
22 of Nard Helps 45 4.4 6.4 6.4 6.5 10 10 National State of Nation	205.20 Lin March Sor? 1,606.50 MEPC! 4.52 Michourly A 10.33 Michoy Sets 10.30 Michoy	403 - 3 62 30 8 8 35 52 + 1 61 65 27 + 1 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7	11 40 foliata 8" - 1, 8.2 2.35 friencyschie 26 8 9 2.50 friencyschie 36 13.0 2.50 friencyschie 35 13.0 4.3 7 13 Januare 13 51 3.5 60 30 Johns Stoud 464 3 28 154 77 00 Lambert 123 7.2 7.5 90 Leets 209 81 12.5 7.5 90 Leets 309 81 12.5 7.5 90 Leets 309 87 2.5
7 34 Abbelgions 64 21 36 9 Hollow 25 - 1 25 16.0 1 123 United States 25 - 2 2 16.0 1 123 United States 25 - 2 2 16.0 1 123 United States 25 - 2 2 16.0 1 123 United States 25 - 2 2 16.0 1 123 United States 25 - 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2	15.2 15.70 Premier Land 45.70 Premier Land 45.70 Registert 21.9 20.00 Reviews Sucst 15.00 Registert	967 + 1 18 163 + 1 35 47.2 2 35 - 1 227 + 5 1 171 1 291 20 20 7 94 - 1 29 20 7 98 - 1 29 20 7	4.0 (1985 fa) 5.0 (1985 fa) 6.0 (1985 fa) 6.
2.333 10 OPY	20 3190 Santie Gran (a) 20 3190 Santie 45.6 99.245 Sort Mad 72.00 Challesbury? 662.90 Shouth Estima 21.33 Shout Light 40.10 Sauthman Print 25.10 Specify Chips 26.00 Shouth Chips	54 69 191 80 + 2 59 148 76 + 1 15 200 147 + 1 15 200 148 + 5 149 200 158 + 5 149 200 174 + 4 10 200 174 + 4 10 200 172 + 3 23 294 173 + 4 10 200 174 + 1 10 200 174 + 1 10 200 175 + 1 10 200 176 + 1 10 200 177 + 1 10 200 177 + 1 10 200 178 + 1 10 200 178 + 1 10 200 179 - 1 10 200 170	79 70 Stemeout Op
11 12 13 14 15 15 15 15 15 15 15	34 4 61 10 legs Esta 120 00 John Centhe 75 90 Jegliord Park 13 90 W. Land 13 50 W. W. Sand 14 50 W. W. Sand 15 50 W. Sand	115 35 118 170 - 7 40 154 - 3 51 186 - 3 52 180 208 - 3 48 158 771 20 - 3 7 211	TRANSPORT 11.73 Air Lundon 130 175 19 19 11 11 12 17 17 13 14 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11
16 70 Princips (1876) 4 5 10 1100 Aprilim Metel 115 - 5 60 65 100 Aprilim Metel 115 - 5 60 65 100 100 Aprilim Metel 115 - 5 60 65 100 Aprilim Metel 115 Aprilim Metel		FIS FOOD #18"+ 3" 28 714 17 557+ 1° 32 100	$170.30 Br Albraught) 5.08 16 3.2 113 123 Carron 140 8 10 16 3.2 113 123 Carron 140 8 10 16 3.2 113 125 125 125 125 125 125 125 125 125 125
6 40 Referred 137 - 27 55 13.2 137 40 Series (Chartes) 134 - 4 23 20.1 21 0 Arther 137 - 9 20 27.4 250 Beats of 137 - 9 20 27.4 250	960 AO Dany Farto Int. 71 XI Turquit. 134 OF Turquitan 134 OF Organis. 155 DO Gropp: 140 Marian Cross	17: 77 459 545 - 1: 78 78 20: 51 140 61: 51 140 107 - 1 20 114 1350 - 5 4 171 151 - 2 4 171 152 - 5 15 151 164 - 3 5 5 78 162 - 5 6 6 2 218	43.01 (88 F/sm 144 - 1 40 15.00 (msh) for 1 500 (msh) f
43.10 [cmm Parkins 458 + 3 27 [1917] 5.66 Stroke Tools 174 - 9 28 [121] 1055 90 Sea Accidental 1500 - 79 51 5.5 [150] 1055 90 Sea Accidental 1500 - 79 51 52 [150] 1055 90 Sea Accidental 1500 - 79 51 52 [150] 1055 90 Sea Accidental 1500 - 79 51 52 [150] 1055 90 Sea Accidental 1500 - 79 51 52 [150] 1055 90 Sea Accidental 1500 - 79 51 52 [150] 1055 90 Sea Accidental 1500 - 79 51 52 [150] 1055 90 Sea Accidental 1500 - 79 51 52 [150] 1055 90 Sea Accidental 1500 - 79 51 52 [150] 1055 90 Sea Accidental 1500 - 79 51 52 [150] 1055 90 Sea Accidental 1500 - 79 51 52 [150] 1055 90 Sea Accidental 1500 - 79 51 52 [150] 1055 90 Sea Accidental 1500 - 79 51 52 [150] 1055 90 Sea Accidental 1500 - 79 51 52 [150] 1055 90 Sea Accidental 1500 - 79 51 52 [150] 1055 90 Sea Accidental 1500 - 79 51 52 [150] 1055 90 Sea Accidental 1500 - 79 51 52 [150] 1055 90 Sea Accidental 1500 - 79 51 52 [150] 1055 90 Sea Accidental 1500 - 79 51 52 [150] 1055 90 Sea Accidental 1500 - 79 51 52 [150] 1055 90 Sea Acc	130 Segue 1992 3572 Sefectory 36 504 10 Selectory 36 504 9 Fessel 103 Demonstration 200 103 Of Demonstration 200 203 Without Purps	54	104:00 P & 0.5 9% 126 5 4J 11:90 Seaton 48 - 2 5.7 22 11:90 Seaton 16:70 - 2 14 15:20 71:10:00 Seaton 16:70 - 2 14 15:20 71:10:00 Seaton 16:70 - 2 14 15:20 88 - 1 16:12 89 15 16:12 89 16:10 Seaton 16:10 70:12 70:10:10 Seaton 16:10 70:10 70:10:10 Seaton 16:10 70:10 70:10:10 Seaton 16:10 70:10 70:10 Seaton 16:10 70:10 Seaton 16:10 70:10 70:10 Seaton 16:10 70:10 Seaton
4310 00 0007 350 147 43 10 Best 391 113 33 112 0133 (seeds line) 15 - 1 10 SPENIS (MODEL'S YEARS) 1500 000 745 2005 584 - 15 789 155 00 000 745 2005 584 - 15 789 155 00 000 745 2005 584 - 15 789 155 00 000 745 2005 584 - 15 789 155 00 000 745 2005 584 - 15 789 155 00 000 745 2005 584 - 15 789 155 00 000 745 2005 584 - 15 789 155 00 000 745 2005 584 - 15 789 155 00 000 745 2005 584 2005 5	### FETALLERS ### ### #############################	150 + 5 370 198 + 1 45 127 739 - 7 24 251 195 + 6 01 628	VATER - 1 40
17.74.00 Destination 1	100 50 Belleyazet 113 10 Back Les 139 70 Book Shep 139 70 Book Shep 139 70 Book 147 9 Broom 2 Jacks 159 50 Binno 90 2200 70 Bortes 147 80 Carpetoph 147 80 Carpetoph 150 97 97 10 Carpetoph 150 97 97 10 Carpetoph 150 97 97 10 Carpetoph	593 - 15 29 167 70 4 1 20 4 1 20 215 (54 - 11, 19 250 175 22	589 90 Augum 590 - 3 66 72 977 00 hydrol 777 - 13 69 172 172 173 174 175
465 01 Ratio 177 44 433 by Remark 25 + 2 275 1240 San Lie 8 P 222 + 1 130 San 180 San	271 00 Court Farmin 135 271 00 Court Farmin 135 3.28 Cross Sert 136 50 CO DTS Farmine 137 80 Steams Grp 6 96 Eys (Wredistra) 9 75 EAA Go	577 - 9 32 356 480 - 1 175 + 12 47 175 176 - 1 48 175 177 + 12 47 175 176 - 1 48 175 177 - 1 50 30 11 500 - 1 8 57 20 30 1 17	ALTERNATIVE (NV MARKET 2.48 Abacis Record 45 5.21 Circ Irrs; 183 - 2 16 151 5.30 Cashir Catr.) 46 20 164 76 00 Cashir Irds. 1673 - 10 24 147 16 00 Firmer
DISTRIBUTORS 17 + 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4	17250 First Earlb 534 First Earlb 31 40 Riying Fie Us 40	200 - 10 07 510 - 5 27 152 170 - 15 11 218 75 - 1 22 59 171 - 15 12 18 75 - 1 22 59 171 - 18 12 77 171 - 18 12 77 171 - 18 12 77 171 - 1 22 70 175 - 1 22 70	16 at Ference 70 12 TO Freezage 8 - 19 47 48 Mogationed 105 45 59 Meanty Cutp 77 16 73 Old Englan Plot 112 95 40 Pet City 77 15 30 Conten Netto 68 20 70 Southern Netto 68 20
270 All Links	180 132 Hugher (TJ)) 10 25 19 lendedops 239 40 18 Sportst 421470 Rogisties 27 40 Rogisties 47 50 Ucoty	165 1. 72/6-	UTER F1 Information En dividence Ex. 2022 UTER # Proc. of Supervision En dividence Ex. 2022 En 1990 - Code, #F15 of En code) activation, Figures on legal another No. supplicate data replaces in badg air considerate of the F755 100 labor

TODAY

Markey

Interims: Low & Bonar, AG Barr.
Finals: Bucknall Group, Firth Holdings, Kenwood Appliances, Ivory & Sime, Northern Investors, Rexmore, Shield Diagnostics, Tomkins.
Economic statistics: UK June producer prices, UK May industrial production, US May consumer credit, US Treasury auction of short-term Treasury bills; Japan May current

TOMORROW

Interims; Eurocamp, P&P. Finals: Eurocamp, P&P.
Finals: Birse Group, Budgens, Dudley Jenkins Group,
Farepak, Gibbs Mew, John
Menzies, Morris Ashby, Real
Time Control, Universal Salvage, VHE Holdings, Whood (John D) & Co.
Economic statistics: UK May cyclical indicators. UK May cyclical indicators, UK May new construction orders, UK Treasury summer economic forecast, US Missubishi weekly store sales, US May wholesale inventories, US Johnson redbook weekly chainstore sales, German June un-

WEDNESDAY

Interims: M&W, Finals: Dixons Group, Fl Group, Matthew Clark, Stanley Leisure, VTech Holding.

THURSDAY

Interime: First Choice Holl-days, Kleinwort Charter, Shani Group, Trust of Property

Finals: Caledonian Media Comms, Colefax & Fowler, GGT Group, Hampson Industries, Heiton Holdings, Peel Holdings, Phonelink, Ransom (Wm) & Son.

Economic statistics: UK June retail price index, US June Atlantic Feel suppose 115 weekly.

lantic Fed aurvey, US weekly joblesa claims report, French April current account balance.

FRIDAY

Interims: Olim Convertible

The same of the sa

Parameter (1990)

Finals: British Bloodytock Economic statistics: UK Confederation of British In-dustry June distributive trades survey, US June producer prices index, US retail sales, US June Attanta Fed survey, French June provisi sumer prices index.

Dixons plugs into soaring profits looks bright for Dixons, the electrical goods retailer that owns Dixons, Currys, PC World and The Link mobile phone chain. Brokers are expecting healthy profits when the group turns in its full-year results on Wednes-

Dixons's interim result have already revealed that the group weathered the all-important Christmas selling season in good

Growth has been particularly strong at PC World, where NatWest Securities has forecast a 24 per cent jump in like-for-like sales to £225 million for the year. The group is about to embark on a £100 million expansion programme over two years, led by PC World and The Link, creating up to 4,000 new jobs.

Pre-tax profits are expected to soar 38 per cent to £138 million with earnings per share rising to 23.2p from 16.6p. The net divi-dend is expected to show a 17.2 per cent rise to 8.5p.

The projections take into account the fact that Dixons is facing lower margins on warranties. Over the past year, the company has come under sustained criticism over its extended warranties, which have been very lucrative for the group.

JOHN MENZIES: The bleaker side of retailing is expected to be at the fore when John Menzies reports its full-year results on Tuesday. Analysis at SBC Warburg are expecting pre-tax profits to decline to £35 million from £38.1 million in 1995. Predicted earnings per share stand at 40p. down from 44.6p. The dividend, however, is expected to rise to 13.8p from 13.2p.

The erosion will come as little surprise. In January, when the retailer and newspaper distribu-tor reported its interim figures, it gave warning that the full-year performance would disappoint At the time, the company blamed the erosion on less profitable contracts with publishers.

Francis Baron of First Choice, which is gearing up for a summer holiday price war

Looking ahead, Menzies stands to benefit from new Nintendo hardware, as Menzies has an exclusive contrat with Nintendo. But the company is facing the threat of supermarkets moving into the profitable area of magazine retailing.

TOMKINS: The market has high hopes for an improvement at the industrial conglomerate in pre-tax profits of £323 million, up the wake of Tomkins's $1.4 billion acquisition of Gates, the privately owned US automotive and industrial components group. Any change, however, will come too late to affect Tomkins's full-year earnings, which are due out today. Analysts were disappointed when Tomkins issued a forecast of pre-tax profits in the £320 million range. UBS is looking for 7 per cent, with similar gains in earnings per share to 18.7p. Dividends are expected to rise 15 per cent to 9.95p. The results reflect a grim winter in North America, which had a particularly negative impact on sales at Murray, its lawnmower

STANLEY LEISURE: The popularity of the National Lottery is er, which reports its full-year figures on Wednesday. At the half-way mark, pre-tax profits were down nearly 20 per cent at E6.1 million. Analysts are looking for profits of about £14.5 million for the full year, with earnings per share in the ISp to IS.6p range and dividends of about 6.5p. Last year the hot summer kept punters out of the betting shops. This year the company should benefit from wetter weather, a one-point

FIRST CHOICE: With the holiday price wars for summer 1997 already heating up. First Choice, the third biggest package holiday company, is expected to post an drop in betting tax and the introduction of fruit machines into betting shops.

interim loss of about £28 million. Tour operators traditionally dip into the red in the first half. when they spend heavily in the hopes of recouping their losses during the summer. First Choice, which is owned by Thomas Cook and whose chief executive is Francis Baron, had a rough ride in the year to October when pretax profits tumbled to £1.3 million from £16.3 million a year earlier. Profits were hurt by the huge discounts needed to lure travellers away from competitors.

First Choice may find that this ear's wet summer will drive more families abroad, but the unseasonably early price-war does not bode well.

MATTHEW CLARK: When the drinks group reports its full-yearprofits on Wednesday, analysts will be looking to see how successful Matthew Clark has been in integrating Taunton Cl-der, which it acquired last year. They are looking for pre-tax profits ranging from £23 million to £30 million, but the figures will be distorted by extraordinary items. Excluding exceptional items, the City expects operating earnings per share of about 46.4p, with dividends of 23p.

ECONOMIC OUTLOOK

Clarke likely to cut forecast

The centrepiece of the British economic calendar this week is tomorrow's summer forecast from the Treasury. the economic assumptions of which will provide the backdrop to the Budger in Nonember. Kenneth Clarke, the Chancellor is widely expected to revise down his inrecast for growth this year from 3 per cent and to raise his projection for public borrowing. The new growth forecast will be between 2.5 per cent and 2.75 per cent, while the PSBR could be revised up to £28 billion from £22.5 billion. Inflation for end-1996 is likely to be unchanged at 2.5 per cent.

Before the summer forecast come two important releases today. Producer prices data are expected to show a continued drop in industry's costs and prices. Input prices are expected to have fallen 0.5 per cent in June. giving a fall against a year ago of 0.3 per cent, according to the consensus of market forecasts compiled by MMS International. Output prices are expected to have fallen 0.1 per cent, taking the year-on-year rate down to 27 per cent from 2.9 per cent. Industrial production figures are expected to show a small rise of 0.2 per cent in both total prod-uction and in manufacturing output. On Thursday, the latest distributive trades survey from the CBI is released as well as June retail price inflation figures. Headline inflation is forecast to be flat. pushing the annual rate down to 21 per cent from 2.2 per cent in May. The under-lying rate of inflation is forecast to fall to 2.7 per cent from 2.8 per cent, and RPIY, the measure which excludes both mortgage interest payments and indirect taxes, is expected to be unchanged at 2.3 per cent.

Overseas, there will be interest in US retall sales and producer prices figures on Friday and German unemployment figures tomorrow. The Bundesbank council meets on Thursday, but is not expected to alter rates.

JANET BUSH

SUNDAY TIPS

The Sunday Times: Buy Vardon, SIG. ML Laboratories; Sell Eurotherm. The Observer. Buy Dixons, Zeneca; Sell Rank. Alljed Domecq, Caradon, P&O, BAA. The Sunday Telegraph: Buy CRH, Great Universal Stores, Forward Technology Industries. Reg Vardy, Newman Tonks, Dixon: Property Trust. Sunday Express: Buy HTV

Issues that could spoil the party | Coalfield job creator helped 130,000

Since the lows associated with the initial impact of the mad cow problem, the trend has been quite decisively up. Looked at as the spread over German bunds - the way in which most European bonds are judged these days the UK Government has seen the cost of its funding fall from about a 1.9 per cent premium over bunds to around 1.5 per cent currently.

One factor has been a switch of focus from political issues and back to good old-fashioned economics. Inflation has stayed low, interest rates have fallen further and economic growth has slowed to something seen to be below trend. The level of government borrowing has, at times, caused concern, but the overshoot has, from a market nerspective, been kept within reasonable bounds.

Indeed, when the Chancelfor presents half-yearly economic forecasts this week, he will have quite an upbeat story to tell. True, he will have to revise the growth forecast down and the PSBR forecast up for this year, but, for next year, he will doubtless say, with some justification, that stronger growth will tend to ensure that the trend in the PSBR is down. For this year and next, the inflation target is expected to be achieved.

What has been going on has not been just a domesticallydriven economic story. International investors have been seeking value in bond markets and chasing those that have tended to yield aboveaverage returns. At various times, Italy, Spain and Sweden have been the flavour of the month. The UK has, somewhat belatedly, joined in been a feature of the his yielders so far this year.

Perhaps surprisingly, political risk has not been a deterrent to overseas investors. There are a variety of explanations. Kenneth Clarke has given assurances that he will not go for the traditional pre-election tax or interest-rate cuts. Although a small pinch of salt may be required, a "scorched earth" policy is not on the cards. The Labour Party is not the threat it once was. And with John Major indicating his intention to run the full term, a general election may still be almost a year away.

It may seem churlish, when much seems to be going right. to identify what could go wrong. However, two issu loom and have the potential to spoil the party at some stage. The first is the UK's economic performance. There are clear signs that activity is picking up again. Witness growth in narrow money, consumer credit, house prices and earnings. To talk of a return of the "feel-good" factor may be to overstate the case, but stronger growth in consumers' expenditure is on the cards. What that means is that towards the end of this year, and going into next, growth in the economy is more likely to be above trend than below and there will be (modest) upward pressure on inflation and even more pressure to raise interest rates. However prudent Mr Clarke is likely to be, to expect him to raise interest rates before a general election is to expect too much.

Strong growth rising house prices and expectations of slightly higher inflation may be good for a Government looking to get re-elected, but are bad news for the gilt market, and monetary policy could effectively be on hold at a crucial time in the economic cycle. Whoever wins the next general election is probably going to have to put interest rates up — and the longer the delay, the higher they will eventually need to go. The other issue is the general election itself — far enough away to be ignored to a large degree at the moment, but getting closer by the day. Come autumn, the political temperature at Westminster will have soared and every shift in the opinion polls will make head-lines. The gilt market has a history of reacting to elections surprisingly close to the event. It may be different this time. but not completely different. Some risk is bound to be factored into gilt prices.

JOHN SHEPPERD AND NIGEL RICHARDSON

KAREN ZAGOR

THE job-creation arm of British Coal helped more than 130,000 people to find work in areas hit by the decline of the mining industry over the past 12 years, its final annual report shows today.

More than 60,000 redundant miners found a new job because of British Coal Enterprise, which has built a number of industrial and office units in mining towns and villages to attract new busi- with the aim of creating 100,000 jours in nesses. Almost 55.000 jobs were created by the company's business-funding arm, which gave loans, and another 16,000 jobs came from the industrial and office units. Philip Andrew, chief executive, said:

We have made a real and lasting contribution to the long-term regeneration of Britain's coalfield areas." The organisation was formed in 1984, at the time of the year-long miners' strike,

It invested £101 million in more than 5,300 job-creating projects, which in rurn. attracted a further £730 million from other sources, including banks

BCE's business-funding and external outplacement divisions have now been sold to management buyouts and the sale of its workspace activity is imminent

Travel Promotion

New England in the Fall 8 nights from just £689 per person Departures in September & October 1996

Experience the beauty of New England with its glorious autumn colours and spectacular scenery. This tour will guide you through New England's rich heritage. commencing in Boston and travelling through the mountains of New Hampshire and the Vermont countryside to reach beautiful Cape Cod in Massachusetts. You will come across a region of picturesque contrasts with white-steepled churches, rocky shores, vast sand dunes and majestic mountain ranges.

THE HOLIDAY PRICE INCLUDES Scheduled flights between London Heathrow or Garwick and Boston. FREE coach travel to the airport from selected pick-up points.

7 nights room only accommodation in good quality hotels. Coach travel and a full touring itinerary including Boston, Salem, Kennebunkport, Portland, Lake Morey, Woodstock, Newport,

Plymouth and Cape Cod. Porterage of one piece of luggage per person

Admission to the Salem Witch Museum and to ● Visit to the Yankee Candle Company in South Deerfield. Services of a lour manager.

Send for your brochure today by telephoning Festive Holidays on 0990 55 33 55

quoting The Times or return the coupon below to: THE TIMES NEW ENGLAND OFFER, Festive Holidays Limited, Acorn House, Great Oaks, Basildon, Essex, SS14 LAB This holiday is operated by Festive Holidays Ltd.

ABTA VI06X ATOL 2072 The Times England in the Fall Offer

dent of Times Newspapers Ltd.

Please forward me an itinerary and a booking form
Name (MrAlissAlissAls) Address:
Post Code:

GROUPE PARIBAS

Purchase offer for Compagnie Financière Ottomane by VALEURS ET RENDEMENTS SA

The Luxembourg Stock Exchange authorities, have been advised that VALEURS ET RENDEMENTS SA, a luxembourg registered company, is launching its public offer, guaranteed by Compagnie Financière de Paribas and to be implemented by a guaranteed price (OPA), to purchase 100% of the shares of Compagnie Financière Ottomane (CFO, a Luxembourg registered company), 50.1% being held by the public and the balance by companies within Groupe Paribas. This offer is made at a price of FRF 350 per share, FRF 402,660 per Founders' share and FRF 40,266 per 1/10th of a Founders' share. Shares can be presented by the shareholders of CFO from 8 July to 2 August 1996

a) on the Stock Exchanges of London, Luxembourg and Paris through an intermediary. On the Paris Stock Exchange, sale expenses will be borne by the buyer in accordance with the scale given in the information memorandum.

b) if bearer ordinary shares, Founders' shares and 1/10ths of Founders' shares:

• in London, to Barclays Bank, 8 Angel Court, Throgmorton Street, London EC2R 7HT; in Luxembourg, to Banque Paribas, 10A Boulevard Royal, L-2093 Luxembourg;

in Paris, bearer shares should be sold on the market through an intermediary.

c) as regards registered shares:

· in London, to Independent Registrars Group, Bourne House, 34 Beckenham Road, Beckenham, Kent, BR3 4TU;

 in Luxembourg, to Banque Paribas Luxembourg, 10A Boulevard Royal, L-2093 Luxembourg;

in Paris, the shares should be sold through an account holding intermediary after having been registered with Sicovam.

Settlement will be made in Sterling in London and French Francs in Luxembourg.

This offer to purchase follows the sale by CFO of its sole operational activity, Osmanli Bankasi, to the Garanti Bankasi Group on 25 June 1996. CFO now holds only a portfolio of liquid assets, trade investments and a building in Paris.

The price offered by VALEURS ET RENDEMENTS SA for the shares is 40% higher than the weighted average price on the daily market at the Paris stock exchange during the three months preceding announcement of this operation in May last. It is 17% above the market price on the day preceding this announcement. For Founders' shares and 1/10ths of Founders' shares, the price proposed is 205% higher than the weighted average on the unquoted market of the Paris stock exchange during the 12 months preceding the announcement. The offer represents 97% of the revalued net assets of the company as at 31 May 1996 which total FRF 360 per share.

The board of directors of CFO, having considered the offer and possible alternative courses of action, concluded that on balance and in all the circumstances, it would be in the interests of shareholders to accept the price proposed of FRF 350 per share. Only the independent directors took part in this vote. Furthermore, Salustro Reydel and Robson Rhodes, appointed as independent experts, have concluded that they have no comment on the price offered to shareholders.

An information memorandum is available:

· in Paris at Banque Paribas, 3 rue d'Antin, 75002 Paris;

 in Luxembourg at Banque Paribas Luxembourg, 10A Boulevard Royal, L-2093 Luxembourg:

in London at Ottoman Financial Services, King William House, 2A Eastcheap, London EC3M 1AA, at Barclays Bank and Independent Registrars

Liquidators attacked over BCCI payouts Speaking on the anniversary of the bank's failure, Mr Vaz said the crash of BCCI, had generated fees worth some $285.6 million up to January this year for Deloitte & Touche, the bank's liquidator, and Lovell White and Durant, its lawyer. A spokesman for Deloitte & Touche declined to

The Labour MP added that the principle shareholder in

BCCI, the Sheikh of Abu

Dhabi, had earlier this year paid the liquidators compen-sation of $1.55 billion as part of a total package that will top

There are 250,000 BCCI

creditors worldwide, 38,000 of whom are based in the UK.

The Deposit Protection Scheme, administered by the Bank of England, has paid out

£78 million in compensation to 16,000 depositors. The Bank initially identified 53,000 sterling accounts, but only 40.000 left contact addresses, and in

The BCCI collapse also sparked the largest investigation and prosecution file yet undertaken by the Serious

The investigation has so far resulted in four convictions, including that of Syed

Ziauddin Ali Akbar, head of the bank's overseas treasury division, who was extradited from France and sentenced to six years in prison in September 1993. He pleaded guilty to 16 specimen charges of false accounting totalling $740 mil-bring another BCCI-related case to court against Abbas

Gokal, chairman of the Gulf

Group, over allegations of

Vaz plea to John Major

In September, the SFO will lion between 1982 and 1986.

Fraud Office

the end only 16,000 claimed.

LIQUIDATORS of the collapsed Bank of Credit and Commerce International (BCCI), which crashed five years ago with debts of $10 billion, have been criticised for failing to pay out

Keith Vaz. the MP for Leicester East who has campaigned on behalf of depositors and former BCCI employees, said he was calling on John Major to intervene personally to secure a speedy settlement for creditors.

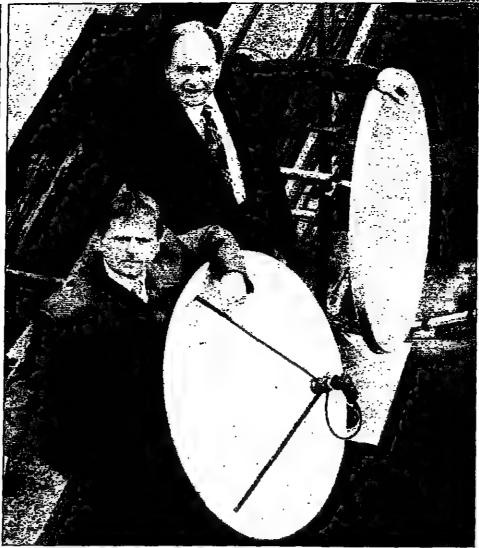

Pressure eased in gas battle BY CHRISTINE BUCKLEY

BRITISH GAS has delayed invoking part of the Gas Act to free it from price controls in a move that may ease tension between the company and the regulator over pric-ing plans for TransCo. the pipelines operation.

TransCo had asked for a price-control disapplication from July 1 next year to put pressure on Clare Spottiswoode, the regulator, to announce her controls. Present price controls expire next April and the disapplication plea meant that if no revised price formula were agreed by then, the business would be free to trade unregulated. The timeframe allowed for the regulator to make proposals, and have a month's consultation with the company, and then for the Monopolies and Mergers Commission to judge the issue. However, TransCo has now put back the disapplication date after Ofgas said that it may need more time. It has been set for September 6. Ofgas has already delayed by three weeks un-veiling final proposals for TransCo after initial ones angered the company. The latest date the industry is thought to be working towards is July 23, but the disapplication date gives Ofgas breathing space into August.

Dean Miles, front, of Retail Broadcast Services, and Tim O'Neill at the launch of Gfm

Society chief waives bonus

BY ANNE ASHWORTH

BRIAN DAVIS, chief executive of Nationwide Building Society, the second largest, saw his pay rise from £286,000 to £337,000 in the year to April. His salary included an annual bonus of £39,000 and a

IT MAY be a fraction of the size of the Stock Exchange, but, last week, the Alternative Investment Market out-

AFA Systems, which float-

the latter's five.

medium-term bonus of included only nine months' £73,000. However, Dr Davis chose to waive total bonuses of £45,000, a decision he also took in 1995 when he waived bonuses of £68,000.

Dr Davis took over the top job in July 1994, which means that his earnings for that year

ALTERNATIVE INVESTMENT MARKET

pay as chief executive. In February the Nationwide, which is pledged to retain its mutual status. launched a mutuality reward package, returning £200 million in profits to savers and

motorway radio link goes on air By JUN ASHWORTH

GRANADA has launched Gfm. its own digital satellite radio station, as part of a revamp of UK motorway service stations. The service, beamed to 39 sites from central London, provides Capital Radio-style news and music to an annual audience of more than 100 million.

The station went "live" last week, bringing 24-hour news, music and product informa-tion to Granada forecourts and cafeterias. About 274,000 people pass through Granada service stations each day.

Tim O'Neill, marketing director of Granada Hospitality, said: "We were looking for something different to communicate more effectively with customers and add value to our service stations. The overall environment of our service stations has improved. with CD-quality music, and news and information."

Gfm is run by Retail Broadcast Services (RBS), which provides a similar service to store groups such as Texas and BhS. Granada's listeners benefit from AA Roadwatch bulletins tailored to a particular stretch of motorway, while DJs draw attention to particular Granada products on sale. An additional screen-based service carries news updates and product information. The station's format changes through the day. Granada Hospitality has spent about £250,000 upgrading speaker systems at its sites. Much of the work has been devoted to a showpiece service station on the M6 at Stafford, opened in April, at a cost of £19 million.

be grateful for the £5.8 million it is raising. By pushing the stake of its largest shareholder to below

50 per cent, the group has satisfied the criteria which allow investors to claim tax

Granada's BUSINESS ROUNDUP

EU to cut fines on cartel whistle-blowers

THE European Commission is expected to adopt controversial new rules that will help it to uncover and investigate secret price-fixing and market-sharing cartels. According to Commiscommission of a cartel in which it took part partial exemption from the fine that it would otherwise incur. This is likely to be adopted on Wednesday.

The Commission can fine companies found guilty of running a cartel up to 10 per cent of their annual trinover. Karel Van Miert, the Competition Commissioner, has argued that without this whistle-blowing policy it would be very hard to dismantle cartels, which he sees as the most serious restriction of competition. Some of his colleagues have contested the policy, arguing that it will be too easy for a company to make huge profits for years from taking part in a cartel and then turn to the Commission for immunity. The proposal says that companies that give the Commission full details of an illegal cartel before the EU's competition watchdog is even aware of it can have their fine cut by at least 75 per cent.

Tarage Control

Hoo

big L

Inward investment rises

A RECORD year of inward investment by foreign companies in Britain will be hailed tomorrow by Ian Lang, President of the Board of Trade, Annual results for 1995-96 for the Government's Invest in Britain Bureau are expected to show almost 500 new projects during the year, up from 434 last time, creating or preserving some 110,000 jobs. Cars. electronics and telecommunications are among the key industries that have benefited. America again tops the list of investors, with about 40 per cent of the total, but the rest of Europe, especially Germany, and the Far East are catching up fast.

Upbeat fund managers

UK FUND managers have become more optimistic on the outlook for the equity market in London over the next 12 months, according to the monthly Merrill Lynch/Gallup survey, with buyers outnumbering sellers by 20 per cent. In the previous month's survey, sellers outnumbered buyers by I per cent. However, apart from US equities, they are even more optimistic on the outlook for other world equity markets. General retailers remains the most-liked sector within the UK equity market, with the balance of bulls minus bears being 11.8 per cent.

MCA growth hope

THE British economy is on a steadily improving upward course and the perceived view that the national "leel-good" factor is returning appears justified, the Management Consultancies Association (MCA) said. Its members logged a per cent increase in revenues in the second quarter compared with the first. They had seen 3 per cent growth in the first quarter. Brian O'Rorke. MCA executive director, said that MCA members' earnings growth demonstrated that business is investing in its future to an encouraging degree, particularly in retailing and manufacturing.

70% pay rise at Hogg

BRIAN PERRY, chairman of Hogg Robinson, the business BRIAN PERRY, chairman of Hogg Robanson, the business travel and financial services group, saw his total pay rise 70 per cent to £555,600 last year. His remuneration comprised a basic salary of £280,000, pension and other benefits worth £35,593 and bonus payments of £240,000, unentuding a discretionary bonus of £100,000. Total emoluments paid to discretionary poses to £1,24 million from £1,24 million in the directors rose to £1.8 million from £1.24 million in the previous year, with bonuses totalling £662,000. Last year the company lifted profits to £26.3 million before tax and exceptional items from £17.4 million previously.

WALES will receive £190 million from the European Union

Wales gets £190m boost

over the next three years to regenerate the economy and create jobs. The lion's share of the money — £178 million is earmarked for south Wales. The sum represents a 13 per cent increase on the 1994-to-1996 allocation, and is expected to pump prime a further £600 million of investment from the private sector. Much of the finance is likely to be spent on revitalising former coal and steel communities in urban areas, and on stimulating self-sustaining community

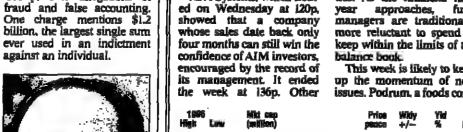

THE Subscriptions

The Times will match any subscription offer you receive from other daily national newspapers.

For further details please call us FREE on the following number:

FREEPHONE 0800 120 130 Lines open 7 days from 8am to 6pm

Offer available in the UK only paced the main exchange by trading was relatively quiet, says Julian Palfreyman, a attracting eight new issues to trader at Winterflood Securities. As the financial halfyear approaches, fund managers are traditionally more reluctant to spend to keep within the limits of the This week is likely to keep up the momentum of new shares the cheapest on the market. Drings, a Bath stonemason, floated at 3p on Friday and achieved a premium of lp. Traders expect Podrum to follow suit. Cirqual, the aluminium and thermoplastics group

pany, is being placed at 3p today, which will make the which floats today at 122p, has more than one reason to relief on capital gains made on its shares. This puts Cirqual on a different level of liquidity, attracting more private investors and catch-ing the attention of the venture capital trusts.

+ ''₂
- 20
- 5

FRASER NELSON

3.4 0.8 2.5 7.0

1.5 2.3 ...

27

21.0 21.5

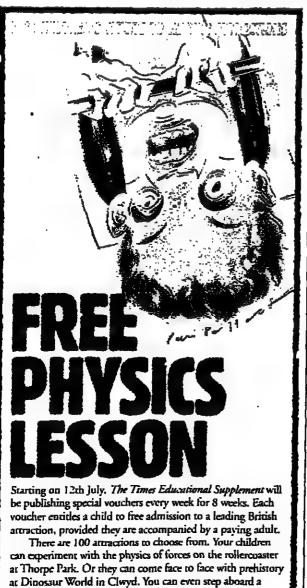

33.0

39.5

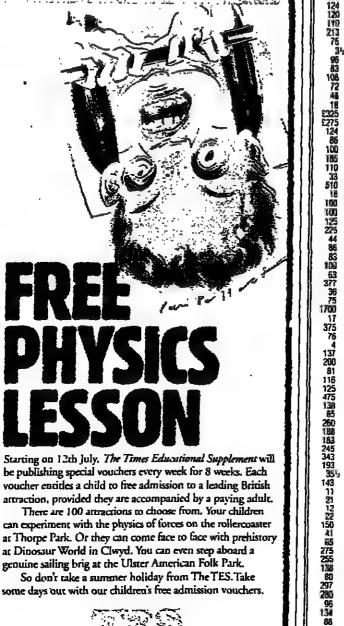

14.0

129

Link	(million)	peace +/-	%	P/E	High	Low	(million) ·
132	13.60 AFA Systems	135			3		0.35 Just
10 9 18	16.70 AMCO Corp 2 48 Abacus Recruit	117 + 3 45	5.3	16.4	125 160	103 151	40.10 KS 50.60 La 8
115	26.70 Active imaging	146 - 7			180	137	26.20 Land 15.20 Land
123 4 74	31.00 A de Grechy 15.70 African Gold	210 154 - 4	3.6	341	300 3750	210 2550	15.20 Lawn 69.30 Lawn
ı 13	7 06 Albernarale & Bd	19,		•••	290	255	47,30 Le F
15 380	7.87 Alpha Omiliron 45.00 Ann St Brewary	15 - 1 470 + 15	4.9	12.7	95 6	85	Long 46,00 Lon
885	5,72 Ann St Cv Pf	965 + 5	8.4		70	55	1.38 Lond 17.70 Lone
75 8	51.93 Antonov 1.89 Anton Props	73 - 2	• • •		360 25	200 15	17.70 Lorie 10.60 Mars
68 55	22.50 Ask Central	140 - 1			195	108	13.00 Mark
2 5's	1.14 Afheinay Trusi 7.72 Bailynasray 5.90 Baris Hidgs	63		44,1	125 117	110 92	2.51 Matri 47.40 Meg
17 #3	5.90 Baris Hidigs 4.12 Belcanto	8 23 - 1 45 + 3			99 113 475	79	6.96 Mem
140	0.99 Bowness Leis	145	3,9	71	475	86 75	45 60 Mem
70 50	Bown Leis Cv Pf 9.15 Brancolu Hidgs	145 70 53 - 7	• • • •	• • •	22 235 200 203 89	18 156	5.17 Metr 15.60 Moor
240	54.70 Brocklank	463	20		200	571s	7.BO Mour
116 116	12 50 CA Coults Hidgs 0.94 CCI Hidgs	463 118 116		6.5	203	150 67	29 70 Mulb 19,90 Mull
110 85	0.13 CC/ Founder Shs		1.6	15 1	1 18	18	1.32 NFC/
55	5 23 Cafe Inns 7.39 Caledonian Tst	183 - 2 65 3 ¹ 4 - ¹ 4	7.0	75 I	340 210	285 175	21.60 NWF 13.70 Nash
55 2 68 58	3.00 Capital & Wath	314 - 14 80 - 1	80	17.4	350	175 335 200 65 63 53	9,11 Neili
58	16.00 Card Clear	71 + 8			470 86 73	65	12.20 Meils Norci
93 60	11.50 Caristrooke Ship 3.39 Cassidy Bros	71 + 8 93 - 7 62	6.3	8.1	73 76	63 63	Noda 6.07 Nitho
41	2.09 Cavendish W F	48	3.9		[6	8	0.07 Nithn
11 6550	5.28 Celebrated Group 53.70 Celtic	18 1245 +2000 1195 +2000 117 - 2	٠.:		70 116	53 111	Nithm 17 90 Nursi
8450	Coltic DF Che	£195 +2000			154	90	16 20 Old F
100 61	7 57 Charwell Int	71 + 6	2.8		136 75	84 51	7.09 Orms 13.80 Orms
53 183	107.50 Chelsea Village 19.90 Curcle Comens	90 + 22			75 123	66	23.90 Optica
110	0.99 Clan Homes	183 110			263	43	22.70 Pacifi Pacifik
28 510	13 90 ChubPartners 12.20 Com de Pri Fin	33 510	•••		109 200	174 180	32.90 Pan / 478 Park
15	8.47 Concurrent Tech	70			445	365	95.40 Pet C
100 100	0.25 Conc Tech A Pri 0.20 Conc Tech B Pri	100		• •	184 565	125 400	28.40 Polym 6.96 Presto
125 225	0.84 Conc Tech Rd Pt	125 225			105	103	16.50 Prima
17	0.17 Conc Tech Cv Pf 8 76 Conister Tst	40	5.0	100	305 67	1 80 32	35.80 Prism 5.66 Rapha
37 58 68 57	15.70 Country Gdns 2.49 Cntry Gdns Pf	40 · · · 85 · · · · 68 · · · ·	28	16.4	111	43 494	6.05 Relies
57	25.90 Creus Intil 23.70 Crown Products	72 72 377 + 17 ¹ ; 32 - 1 1675 + 10		.::	18	16	1 29 Revelo 11.90 Ricem
53 152	27.10 OBS Management	377 + 1712	40	*:: {	88	63 37:	4.55 Romte 3.60 Rushn
32 63	3.41 David Glass	32 . 63 - 1	5.7	(126	0°₄ 31	0.14 Rush 3.19 SCS :
860	76 60 Dawson Holos	1675 + 10	2.4 1.7	147	75	71	10.50 SEA N
305	4.38 Dean Corp 33.60 Dicorri	15 327 + 4 76	1.7	75.6	31 39	20 23	2.16 Scots: 4.91 Scott
60	14 30 Drnatek 3.07 Orings of Bath	76	٠.		68 320	28	Sक्रा
70	10.70 Easynet	4 75 110 – 7	:	::: {	60	270 30	14.60 Scrutto 2.39 Sett S
100 36	71.10 Electrophoretics 41.50 Emtech	110 - 7 48		·	172	2 164	Silliba 20.90 Sinclai
36 73	18.50 Epic Multimedia	80 + 4		:::	5	312	7.64 Sira B
120 325	5.62 Euro Sales Fn Farrato	125 475 + 10		:::	1'2 91	1 ¹ 2 88	0.29 Sira B 5.69 Solid
111 61	45.70 Fiberner 3.05 Fieldens	123 + 12 61 - 2	٠.		595 68	524 50	125 90 Southe
75	6.13 Fini Publs	260		}	615	255 75	South 77.70 Stantu
45 175	16.40 Firecrest 36.10 First Infor	70 . 178		::-	171 315	75 122	11.10 Stentos 28.20 Surrey 15.40 Syst k 29.40 TRACK
186 253	6 15 Flomerics	240 - 5	1.4 0.4	13.8	136	115	15.40 Syst k
135	7 05 Floral SI 16.40 Formscan	156 - 2		20.3		545 · 125	33.40 Tradep 5.15 Tele C
14 93	102 70 Freepages 8.28 Furlong Homes	28 - 1½ 138	2.3		55 43	38 25	5 15 Tale C
8¹₄ 17	30.40 Gander Holgs 27.20 Gold Mines Sardina	101.		757	138	108	18.00 Theo F 17.00 Yoad
8	6 43 Gold Mines Sard Wis	21 + 3 12 + 3 15	٠٠.	.:	116 56	99 43	3.10 Tom H
15 145	4.50 Greenbills 33.10 Guitan	15	34	:. }	180 170	165 165	5.03 Trinity Trinity
18 50	1.83 Hansom	18 - 3		::	74	46	337.91 Trocat
155	1.38 Hercules Prop 6.37 Heavitree	55 275 + 684 255 + 484 180		17.0	42 458	40 383	3.83 Universi 5.82 Util Au
190 120	11 10 Heavitree A 59.00 Hiscox	255 + 48 ³ a	28 24	15.7	2011 ₄ 185	1474 131 ₂	18 30 VOC 48 90 Versail
65 255	0.76 Hurlingham 38.80 IES	65 - 5		: [650	130	15 40 Viewing
240	4.95 IES Warrants	255 ~ 97 240 - 10	0.3	. !	428 15	2 32 7	Wadde Voss
105	19 90 ked Brit Health†	78		.	5	3	Warth
78	12.70 Indpt Radio 13.10 Inner Workings	127 - 5 78 - 7		·	19 6	13 5	5.25 Western 0.31 Western
80 503	18.10 Intelligent Enviro 22.00 Intil Greetings	81 - 4 523 .	12	.	31 95	26 91	3.16 Westro 3.84 Whitecr
108 83	36.20 IOC (nt)	148 + 5		.:	163	150	23.80 Whitten
29D	4.12 Jasmin 23.20 Jermings Bros	101 + 13 315 - 5	_	226	75 145	46 105	6.98 Wiches Wynnsi
. ~~	. 567 Ard Green	313 - 3 A'	- 5		1004	_177 .	25 90 70000

THE TIMES EDUCATIONAL SUPPLEMENT

3.1

vestment rise

ind managen with hope rise at Hoge

4. 1160 m boo

Deadline looms for deal on 'roaring lion' studio

Crédit Lyonnais close to unveiling MGM buyer

FROM QUENTIN LETTS IN NEW YORK

MGM, the Hollywood film studio, is likely to be sold this week after a tense bidding round.

Industry sources believe that the new owner of the celebrated "big cat" studio will be one of three companies: Polygram, the Anglo-Dutch entertainment group; the Morgan Creek film company, or News Corporation, parent company of The Times. At one point, there were more than twice as many bidders. The current owner, Lyonnais, the French bank, has set itself a July 14 deadline for an announcement of which of the bidders has succeeded.

Bank executives spent the weekend "clarifying" the bids. Their decision is likely to be announced simultaneously in New York, Los Angeles and Paris.

Credit Lyonnais took control of MGM in 1992 after the studio's then owner, Giancarlo Parretti, of Italy, defaulted on his loans.

The bank has until next May to wants to sell now after a boost to MGM's profile from a series of box office hits, such as The Birdonge and Pierce Brosnan's first James Bond film, Goldeneye. The three leading bids are believed to hover around the $1.2 billion mark, well shy of the $2 billion that Crédit Lyonnais once hoped to achieve.

Price, however, will not be the only factor in the decision on who gets to buy a studio whose symbolic lion, roaring during the opening

MGM was, for years, the domain of the late Louis B. Mayer, who arrived in Los Angeles in 1916 and formed a film production company that eventually became Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Mayer was a mercurial force, and his reliance on family-orientated, patriotic movies brought him success and power. His hits included the 1926 version of Ben Hur, Dinner at Eight and Grand Hotel.

cluded the Bronfmans, of Seagram's whisky fame, and Kirk Kerkorian, the Las Vegas casino entrepreneur. who sold assets and did little for the studio's artistic confidence. Signor Parretti was another vivid character, but, in recent times, MGM's movie-making prospered under the aegis of Frank Mancuso, and, in 1995, the studio grossed $333 million from 15 films, against $149 million from eight films in 1994. Mr Mancuso, a veteran Hollywood figure, attempted to mount a management buyout, partly backed vision network. The Mancuso bid is thought to have failed.

Bidders have been attracted by MGM's long backlist of films, in-cluding the James Bond and Rocky series, and by the prospect of owning in global entertainment. For the successful bidder will come the satisfaction not only of instant awe and recognition in Tinsel Town, but also of sitting against a backdrop of Hollywood's mightiest symbol, the

Travelling man meets with hitch

MICHAEL Hardern, chief building society carpetbag-ger, seems to lack luck. Having appealed, on the Internet, for money to let him attend building society AGMs, he has hardly made the most of his warchest. Bradford & Bingley's was a success - Hardern was members for conversion, He did not, however, make it on time for the Leeds & Holbeck meeting — only for the canapes. It was simi-lar at the Yorkshire's AGM, and his car would not start afterwards. Yorkshire staff were sympathetic enough to find jump leads.

JONATHAN Clare, managing director of Citigate Communications, is offering a case of champagne to any chief executive or finance director beating him in Wednesday's 3.5mile Chase Corporate Challenge race — if a Cltigate client. It may be hard. Clare runs often and aims to be one of the fastest "40-somethings".

Undies to Japan JAPAN'S yen for top-quality British goods is spreading to ladies' underwear. The Knickerbox chain has opened two stores in Kobe, with 200 planned later. A spokeswoman says: "It's all down to display. They used to keep the stuff in cardboard boxes, but now there are window displays featuring lifesize photographs and cut-out models of Western girls wearing the latest that Britain has to offer."

A long goodbye MYSTERY shopping is growing in financial services. Prospero Direct, directselling arm of Provincial Insurance, uses the method, whereby pretend clients ring staff to see how they handle the public, but Barrie Wells, Prospero managing director, was astonished when the chief executive of one of the UK's top brokers. boasted that his staff compete monthly to see how long they can detain an underwriter on Prospero's free-call line. The record holder hit 53 minutes.

Lloyd's talks aim to win US backing for survival plan

LLOYD'S OF LONDON resumes talks with officials in America today, in the hope of striking an agreement before the Lloyd's annual meeting and securing US support for a £3.1 billion survival plan.

The talks take place as the results of a MORI poll is published in London, appearing to show support of more than 80 per cent of UK investors for the plan.

The 82 per cent majority likely to support the deal, vital for the future of Lloyd's, is the best figure since it was first outlined last autumn. In November, a similar poll by MORI showed only 54 per cent backing the proposals put forward by the ruling Council of Lloyd's. The figure rose to 65 per cent in December and

THE European arm of Hoover, the domestic ap-ready to announce a major investment in the UK this week, together with the launch of a number of new

The move comes one year after the Hoover

European Appliance

Group was acquired from

Maytag Corporation in the United States by Candy, the privately owned

Italian appliance manu-

Hoover's European

base is at Merthyr Tydfil

in Mid Glamorgan, where 1.000 people are employed in the headquarters and factory, it also has a products.

facturer.

pliances company.

Hoover to make

big UK investment

BY CLARE STEWART

company.

79 per cent in May. Up to 2,000 Lloyd's names are ex-pected to attend proceedings, which come soon after the publication of results for the 1993 underwriting year. Aggrieved US names have put pressure on state regulators to try to force an improved offer from Lloyd's. Opposition within America possibly poses the single biggest threat to the Lloyd's reconstruction and renewal (R&R) plan. But Lloyd's hopes to have resolved its American difficulties by the time members gather at the Royal Festival Hall in London on July 15. This Friday, Lloyd's is ex-pected to unveil a profit of up to £1.2 billion for the 1993 underwriting year - its first profit since a wave of catastro-floorcare factory in

The details of the investment in the UK will be the first major changes since

Candy took over the

At the time of the $170 million deal. Candy promised to develop the UK

manufacturing facilities and to develop its links with

Maytag, which retains the Hoover business in the US.

Cambuslang, Glasgow.

phes in the late 1980s began to take their toll. The profit will be the first since 1987.

Names attending the annual meeting on July 15 will have barely two hours in which to address the floor - in sharp contrast to past meetings, at which proceedings have continued for six hours or more. David Rowland, chairman of Lloyd's, will call a halt to proceedings soon after noon, clearing the way for an extraordinary general meeting. Names will hear calls for further increases to the £3.1 billion settlement offer, which was revised from an initial £2.8 billion two months ago. During the afternoon, names will vote on plans for a refundable levy, aimed at raising £440 million towards the Lloyd's settlement.

Statements telling names how much they will have to pay will be sent out towards the end of the month. Names have until August 28 to indi-cate whether they are going to accept the offer.

Lloyd's has yet to decide what level of acceptances will be required to carry the day. Assuming success, names will have until the end of September to come up with the necessary funds.

Lloyd's received a boost last week, when the committee of the Association of Lloyd's Members (ALM), which represents about 9,000 names, indicated its support for R&R. Sir David Berriman, ALM chairman, commended the offer, and said that the future for those rejecting R&R was likely to be bleak.

in order to develop the product range. Candy, which is based in ☐ The latest round of auctions for capacity at Lloyd's begins Monza in Italy, is the today, with a slow start expectfourth-largest manufactured. Introduced last year, aucer of white goods in Europe, tions take the form of sealed and commands a 12 per cent bids, allowing members to sell share of the European underwriting capacity to the highest bidder.

C T Bowring, the insurance firm based in the City, won the annual Mitel Telecom Challengers Trophy. The fourday event, which took place in Ashbourne, Derbyshire, attracted teams from 60 companies. The teams had to cover more than 70 km on foot, by mountain bike and by canoe, and are thought to have raised about £200,000 for charity.

Spring Ram meeting investigated

By Jason Nissé

SPRING Ram Corporation, the troubled kitchens and bathrooms group, may be forced to reconvene its annual meeting after complaints that the original meeting, held last month, was not conducted properly. A small shareholder, Ian Pattison, of Halifax, West Yorkshire, has written to the Stock Exchange and the Department of Trade and Industry to complain that Roger Regan, Spring Ram's chairman, failed to take a vote properly in the meeting and acted undernocratically.

The Stock Exchange is investigating the complaints and the DTI has suggested that Mr Pattison may consider legal action against Spring Ram. The specific complaint by Mr Pattison is over the way Mr Regan handled the vote to appoint Philip Hanscombe as a non-executive director.

The vote was taken and. according to Mr Pattison, the motion was clearly defeated on a show of hands. Instead of then calling for a poll of shareholders, as is usual, Mr Regan asked Mr Hanscombe to give a speach to the AGM and for the vote to be taken again. According to Mr Pattison, Mr Regan then asked shareholders to reconsider given the length of time it would take to have a poll and the fact this would delay lunch. The second show of hands showed a majority in favour of Mr Hanscombe Kathy Baxandall, Spring Ram's company secretary, de nied that Mr Regan had asked for the vote to be taken again "in the interests of hunch" saying that the first vote was

Revenue to tell AIM firms their tax status

BY FRASER NELSON

is suitable for capital gains tax CONFUSION over eligibility for capital gains tax relief, which has plagued the Alternative Investment Market since its inception, may be cleared in the next few months by an Inland Revenue scheme to make its tax regulations more investor-friendly. After pressure from City firms, including Winterflood Securities, the AIM marketmaker, the inland Revenue has agreed to tell unlisted companies whether their shares qualify for the tax break before they come to the reinvestment relief shareholders make their claim, having sold shares.

At present, the Revenue will not decide whether a company

AIM market-makers were pushing for the complex regulations to be clarified, and for a definitive list of qualifying companies to be drawn up. However, the Revenue said that such a list would be price sensitive, and that its remit was to deal with investors individually. It added that, under the compromise, tax details would be sorted out with individual companies.

In spite of the common belief that the Alternative Investment Market is a tax company must own at least 75 per cent of its subsidiaries. and avoid having a "substantial amount" of business in financial services, licensing or property. However, a qualifying company that moves to a full listing keeps the special tax status, regardless of its further trading developments. The Inland Revenue's new system of "advance clearance" haven, fewer than a third of its 183 companies qualify for reinvestment relief. To qualify, a is now in the final stages of development, and is expected to be activated before autumn.

AIM, page 40

Ladbroke eyes Moscow

WORD-WATCHING

(c) A low plain block or plinth serving as a pedestal to a statue, column, or vase, etc. Also a plain plinth forming a foundation column, or vase, etc. Also a plain plinth forming a foundation for a wall. From the Latin socculus diminutive of soccus a sock. A high round pedestal formed by the foaming sea-water, like the

SOLUTION TO WINNING CHESS MOVE

1 Qf6+! Rxfo 2 ReS+ RfS 3 Rxf8 checkmate

LADBROKE is leading the charge of Western hotel groups keen to participate in the El billion sell-off of Moscow's state-owned hotels.

The city government of Mosow has appointed Knight Frank, the surveyor, as investment advisers to the sale of 200 hotels ranging in size from 100 to 3,200 rooms.

The star attractions are the National Hotel in Red Square. recently refurbished for $90 million, and the 1,000-room Ukraina, on the River Moskva. opposite the White House, Russia's parliament.

Moscow is an extremely attractive market to hotel groups with the boom in business travellers causing a chronsuitable ie shortage in

Answers from page 30

SEMIBOUSY

SMITHAM

accommodation. Upmarket hotels in Moscow are the most expensive in the world, commanding average room rates of $300 a night. Occupancy levels are 80 per cent. John Inge of Knight Frank, said: "The hotels are enormously attractive, including many famous names, and buyers are queuing up from around the world." Many, however, are in poor condition and will need significant investment to bring them up to Western standards. Ladbroke has confirmed that it is interested in adding Moscow hotels to its Hilton portfolio. Other buyers considering purchases include ITT Sheraton and Marriott as well as private buyers from the Middle East and Asia Pacific - but not Sir Rocco Forte.

The Ukraina is well sited

CHANGE ON WEEK THE POUND

(a) Half drunk. Obsolete. The grandfather of half-cut and semi-booty. "Som unlusty persons, that were not well awaked, or semibousy oer eve." US dollar 1.5555 (+0.0018) German mark (a) The finest particle of dust or ground malt. In mining, the finest part of lead ore, usually obtained by passing through a sieve, and afterwards ground to powder. A variant of smeddum meaning spirit or pith. "Your malt-dust which is the sprout, come, smitham, and other excrements of the malt." 2.3773 (+0.0129) Exchange index 86.7 (+0.4) Bank of England official close (4pm) (b) The larva of a bee. From Aristotle in the Greek schadón. "The weather keeping them [sc. bees] in, they can do nothing but breed and hatch their schadons."

STOCK MARKET

FT 30 share 2743.9 (+14.2) FT-SE 100 3743.2 (+32.2) New York Dow Jones 5588.14 (-66.49) Tokyo Nikkei Avge 22232.42 (-298.33)

TOURIST RATES

1.92 16:22 47:59 2.065 0.709 8.85 7.16 7.79 2.363 11.70 0.548 2.565 6.56 193:50 10.20 1.91 Turkey Lira 132616 USA $ 1.655

At last, a quality

mortgage service that saves you time & effort

Before you do anything give us a call FREE on

0800 828 585 Lines open Mon to Fri 8am - 8pm

Now we're talking mortgages.

resents the Colonial Mutual Marketing Group which is regulated by the Personal Investment Authority. We can advise you only on our products. For your y goodness. Weekend "leaks" of imagineering at Lazard, the merchant bank, should bring a couple of stock market Lazaruses back to life for a while this week. Could lacklustre Guinness plc really bid the kitchen sink for lacklustre Grand Metropolitan and create a huge, tremendously exciting, high-growth drinks company from the parts? What a story, what a monopoly, what a multi-billion car-boot sale of forced disposals that would create.

Colonial Direct, Colonial Mutual House, Chatham Maritime, Kent, ME4 4YY.

Perhaps, instead, City plan B could be piped into fund managers' virtual reality headsets. From seemingly unexciting Guinness, untold value, which has unaccountably escaped the scrutiny of dozens of high-paid City analysts, could be released to shareholders. All you need do is to split the beer brewing interests from the spirit distilling interests in a trendy demerger.

No need even to write a new script for this one. Just load a tape. persuasively detailing all the sup-posed logic behind Guinness buying Distillers a decade ago, and run it backwards. Then add a special ingredient. You borrow vast sums of money and hand it straight over to shareholders as a special dividend. Brilliant, truly brilliant.

Among the heroic numbers for cost savings, profit rises and disposals suggested for a GrandMet bid. however, one stands out as more authentic than any other. City fees of The board of the £9 billion drinks

Move into engineering is only froth for Guinness group is taking a rather spoilsport attitude to this City genius. "As with other large companies, Guinness routinely analyses possible developments in its industry," a statement explained, not entirely convincingly.

It regrets that documents relating to one such hypothetical possibility should have been subject to unauthorised publicity."

No. Guinness is not planning a hostile bid for GrandMet, the state-ment huffily claimed. No, it does not plan to demerge, hive off, sell or otherwise dispose of its trademark

Maybe not. But City interests will hope that something is up. Many fund managers are stuck with shares in both top-twenty companies and have seen them stagnate in money terms and sag badly against stock market indices since 1992. One analyst put this down to "extrapolation of historic zero growth/-declining profit trends". Collapse of stout party.

Over the long haul, spirits have been a wonderful international growth business for those with marketing skill and financial acumen. The £2.3 billion acquisition of Distillers engulfed Ernest Saunders, its author, but was the making of the modern Guinness. As marketing and commercial arrangements im-proved, profits bubbled ahead, making Guinness a market favourite during the UK recession.

International Distillers & Vintners, still the guts of Grand Metropolitan, is a gem, originally put together from the old Gilbey family gin business, built up through J&B Rare whisky and guided in early days by a different sort of merchant banker. It seems to bless those who buy it with the dust of creative marketing, in turn keeping Watney Mann and then GrandMet going through bad times. Low world economic growth, low inflation, dollar weakness and globmarket are making things tougher at the moment for the big spirits firms. But that is not the entire problem. Guinness has made some poor foreign beer acquisitions and GrandMet devoted most of its efforts, under Lord Sheppard of Didgemere, to a huge metamorphosis from one unappreciated assortment of interests to another. Lord Sheppard usually managed to charm or bully the City into his way of thinking. Now that he has gone, the wretched ungrateful seek revenge. At Guinness, the internal politics are more pertinent. Bernard Arnault, the teleological French financier who controls Moët Hennessy Louis Vuitton, has somehow ended up speaking for nearly a quarter of Guinness. Many believe that he wants some kind of deal to separate the Guinness spirits business, easing the way for him to gain control there, too, via further deals.

The sort of financial engineering exemplified by the Lazard paper is a common currency of merchant banks, corporate finance boutiques and even bits of accountancy firms. It has little to do with the conventional image of bids and deals that have some genuine business pur-pose, albeit most often the unspoken one of eliminating competition. Beyond the usual opportunity to destroy as many people's livelihoods as possible, this is little more than sleight of hand.

If Guinness is going through a bad patch, it is because its markets are dull, because currency movements are against it or because it is not managing its business well. Whichever is the case, splitting brewing from spirits, for instance, would do little to change that. Spirits may not need beer. But the Saunders argument, that the beer business needed financial clout to develop its potential in a slow-growing market, remains valid.

In America, in the 1980s, corporate raiders promoting leveraged takeovers and buyouts spun the illusion of creating extra value for shareholders. In reality, however, much of that extra value merely represented extra risk that the financial markets had not yet cottoned on to. Such exercises often fool enough of the people for enough time to make a fast buck.

Pure financial engineering is less credible at Guinness. Even the simple-minded can work out that merging and then demerging the same businesses is chiefly a scheme to keep up City fees. Sadly, even the most obliging auditor would not allow the Guinness board to do nothing at all and book savings of £66 million for its shareholders.

ment in order to avoid it on the ground, preferring to shut down production during the 1994 strike rather than risk violence between police and strikers. "The party that lost most was us. At the time it damaged relations with the

Whether Shell and other oil companies have thought out the full political implications is unclear. Shell's business principles clearly state that the company will not involve itself in local politics, but in its youthful and agitated population. Egbert Imomoh, general

Division, which includes wanted recognition, but he pointed out that dialogue may not be enough: "The youth has been sitting in the village and home, but he is still looking for executive in charge of com-munity relations in the Eastern Division, was initially unenthusiastic about taking on the job and leaving the field of exploration, the glamour side of the oil business. However, he said his boss put it succinctly: "If we do not get the Precious Omuku, the Shell

Government.

RADIO CHOICE

The day it all happened

On This Day. Radio 4 (LWI. 10.15 am

Evidently, what's good enough for The Times is good enough for the BBC. For its new series beginning today. Radio 4 adopts the title this newspaper long ago affixed to its daily reminder of what happened years ago. The BBC's On This Day kicks off with July 8 1946. Stern stuff, mostly: Professor Joad's tirade against America's atomic bomb tests ("put the scientists in a bag, tie 'em up, keep them there"); 5,000 Jews in a London protest march against the Government's policy on emigration to Palestine. Light relief, too: how to knit a pair of knickers. No mention, though, of Oxford undergrad Margaret Robert's taking her first steps on the road to 10 Downing Street.

Everybody Comes to Schicklgruber's. Radio 4, 7.45 pm. In Marcy Kahan's delirious cornedy, nothing can be ruled out as improbable, not even the thought of Hitler stopping the Second World War so that he could negotiate with the French Resistance for the release of his half-brother, an apfelstrudel fanatic. There is another kind of obsession in the play, no less manic than that of Edward Schicklgruber, whose patisserie was the stuff of legend in 1930s Vienna. A minor film-maker (the estimable and versatile Kerry Chald in hoostful with the idea of making a documentary when the Shale) is besotted with the idea of making a documentary about the strudel genius. The fact that apfelstrudel is the only noteworthy thing about Edward Schicklgruber (Clive Swift) is lost on him. Hilariously lost.

Peter Davalle

RADIO 1

FM Stereo. 6.30am Mark Radcliffe, incl. Newsbeet 9.00 Smon Mayo 12.00 Lisa l'Anson 2.00pm Nicky Campbell 4.00 Mark Goodier, incl. Newsbeet 7.00 Evening Session 9.00 John Peel's Classic Radio 1 Sessions (3/8) 10.00 Mark Lamaru 12.00 Claire Sturgess 4.00em Claw Wares

RADIO 2

FM Stereo 6,00 Sarah kennedy 7,30 Wake Up to Wogan 9,30 Ken Bruce 11,30 Jimmy Young 1,30pm Debbie Thrower 3,00 Ed Stewan 5,00 John Dunn 7,00 Sleve Winght at the Moves 7,30 Radio 2 Young Musician 1996 Firat, tive from the Queen Ehzabeth Hall, London 8,30 Big Band Special 9,00 Humphrey Lyttelton 10,00 Jazz Score (4/8) 10,30 The Jamesons 12,05em Adrian Finighan 3,00 Steve Madden

RADIO 5 LIVE

5.00am Morning Reports, Incl. 5.45
Wake Up to Money 6.00 The Breakfast Programme incl. et 6.55, 7.55 racing preview 8.35 The Magazine, with Diana Madill, incl. 10.35 News Irom Europe
11.30 Food News 12.00 Midday with Mair, incl. 12.35pm Moneycheck, with Katle Derham 2.05 Ruscoe on Five incl.
at 3.46 Entertainment News 4.00 John inventials National on at 3.45 Entertainment News 7.00 News Extra incl. at 7.20 Sports Bulletin 7.35 Grand ProDiany 8.05 Parkinson On Sport 9.05
Sportstrack 9.36 On the Job 18.05
News Talk, with Mike Baker 11.00 Night
Edra. 12.05am. The Other Side of Midnight 2.05 Up All Night

TALK RADIO

8.30em Paul Roes 10.00 Soot Chis-holm 1.00pm Arna Raeburn 3.00 Tornny Boyd 8.00 Peter Deeley 7.00 Sports Zone 10.00 James Whale 1.00em lan Collins

All times in BST. 5.00am Newsdesk 5.30 Europe Today 6.00 Newsday 6.30

WORLD SERVICE

1877

.. 6 1 1

2-100

 $\{(x_i)_{i=1}^{n-1}$

100

348

5.30 Europe Today 6.00 Newsoay 6.30 Europe Today 7.00 News 7.15 Poems by Post 7.30 Andy kershaw 8.00 News 8.15 Off the Shelf 8.30 Vintage Charl Show 9.00 News in German 9.15 Going 8.15 Off the Shell 8.30 Vintage Charl Show 9.00 News in German 9.15 Going for Gold 9.45 Music Through Stained Glass 10.00 News 10.05 Business 10.15 Anything Goes 10.45 Sport 11.00 Newsdesk 11.30 BBC English 11.45 Off the Shell 12.00 Newsdesk 12.30 Omnubus 1.00 News in German 1.15 Britain Today 1.30 Andy Kershaw 2.00 Newshour 3.00 News 3.05 Curlool 3.30 John Peel 4.00 News 4.05 Sport 4.15 BBC English 4.30 News in German 5.00 Europe Today 5.30 Business 5.45 Britain Today 6.00 News 8.10 World Today 6.25 Take Five 6.30 News in German 7.00 Newsdesk 7.30 Brian of Britain 1.00 Newsdesk 7.30 Brian of Britain 1.00 Newsdesk 7.30 Brian of Britain 1.00 Newsdesk 1.30 Unding in the City 10.45 Moments 11.00 Newsdesk 11.30 World Today 11.45 Sport 12.00 News 12.30 Multitrack 10.00 News 12.30 Multitrack 1.00 Newsdesk 1.30 Global Concerns 1.45 Britain Today 2.00 Newsdesk 2.30 Outlook 2.55 Words of Faith 3.00 Newsdesk 1.30 Global Concerns 1.45 Britain Today 2.00 Newsdesk 2.30 Outlook 2.55 Words of Faith 3.00 Newsday 3.30 Mendian 4.00 News 4.15 Sport 4.30 Europe Today Sport 4,30 Europe Today

CLASSIC FM 4.00 Mark Critiths 6.00 Mike Read 9.00 Henry Kelly 12.00 Susannah Simons 2.00pm Concerto 3.00 Jamie Crick 6.00 Newsinghi 6.30 Sonate 7.00 Celebray Choice in 8.00 Evening Concert 10.00 Michael Mapon 1.00em Mel Cooper

VIRGIN RADIO

8,00am Russ 'n' Jono 9,00 Richard Skirner 12,00 Graham Dene 4,00pm Nicky Horne 7,00 Paul Coyle (FM) / Robot Banks (AM) 10,00 Mark Forces 2,00 Rahdal Lee Rose

RADIO 3

E.00am On Air, with Andrew McGregor. Includes Vivaldi (Violin Concerto in D. Op 11 No 1); Berwald (Quartet in Elfet for plano and wind); Alan Bren (Reb Itzlik's riign); Svendsen (Romeo and Juliet Fantasy); Torke (Bright Blue Music), Deliza (Violin Concerto)

Charpentler (Te Deum); Saint-Seens (Romance in C, Op 48); Puccini (Se come voi piccina lo lossi, Le Villi Act 1); Beethoven (Piano Sonala in

Baethoven (Piano Sonata in G. Op 31 No 1)

10.00 Musical Encourriers, with Chris Wines. Artist of the week: Sylvia McNatr, soprano. Rachmaninov, arr Dubersky (Vocalise, Op 34 No 14) 10.10 Meditrer (Russlan Round Dence, Op 58 No 1; Knight Errant, Op 58 No 2); Eiger (Falstaff) 11.06 Beethoven (Incidental Music Leonora Prohaska); Peter Philips (Ecce vicit Leo); Dering (Factum est silentium): Bartok (Stones Comments and Comments Prohaska); Peter Philips (Factum est silentium):

Philips (Ecce vicit Lea); Dering (Factum est sientlum);
Bartok (String Quariet No 6)

12.00 Composers of the Wwet:
The English Madrigalists

1.00pm BBC Litrichtime Concert, Irom St John's, Smith Square, London. The Guameri Trio: Ivan Klansky, plano. Cerek Pavilik, violin, and Marek Jerie, cello.
Beethoven (Allegretto in B flat,
WoO 39; Plano Trio in B flat, Op 97, Archduke)

2.00 The BBC Orchestras. BBC
Symphony Orchestras under Symphony Orchestras, BBC Symphony Orchestra under Andrew Davis, With Throthy Brown, horn Tippett (A Brithday Suite for Prince Charles); Strauss (Horn Concerto No 1); Vaughari Williama (Symphony No 6) 3.10 Brindial Quartet. Beethovan (String Quartet in F Op 18 No 1); Shostakovich (String Quartet No 2); Percell 1); Shostatovich (String Cuarlet No 7); Purceil (Fantazias: in G minor, in F, in C minor); Bartok (String Cuarlet No 4) 4.30 Lester Leaps In. Russell exploration of the recording career of Lester Young, the great tenor saxophonist 5.00 The Music Machine, with Tommy Pearson 5,15 in Tune, with Jeremy Capriccio brillant in B minox), Mozari (Pano Sonata in C. K545), Reubke (Sonata in C minor on the 94th Psalm) 7.30 Cheltonium Festival 1995.

Tasmin Little, violin, the BBC Philharmonic under Vassily Sinaisky, Lindberg (Arena), Sibelius (Violin Concerto); Rachmanlinov (Symphony No 1 in (2 minor)
9.50 Art and the roumen

Condition. Martin Kemp talks to artists about how how the to arists about now now the human figure and human expenences are portrayed through art. His first guest is the painter Marlene Dumas

(1/5)
10.00 Ensemble. Benjamen Firth, piano Clementi (Sonata în F sharp minor, Op 25 No 5), Weber (Sonata in A flat, Op

39)
10.45 Moding it, with Mark Russell
11.30 Composer of the week:
Franz Berwald (r)
12.30am Jazz Notes, with Digby Fairweather

1.00 Through the Night, with Donald Macleod

increasing willingness to fill the gap left by government, it is potentially taking on a role of limitless proportions and huge political risks with a manager for Shell's Eastern Ogoni, said the young people he is looking for a job. We can talk to him until the cows come

5.55am Shipping Forecast (LW only) 6.00 News Bnefing 6.10 Farming Today 6.25 Prayer for the Day 6.30 Today incl 7.25, 8.25 Sports News 7.45 Thought for the Day 9.40 The Awkward Squad A new four part series on Parliament's rebots Presented by Times columnist Matthew Partis (1/4) 8.58 Weather 9.00 News 9.05 Soapbox, with Andrew Net 10.00 News; With Great Pleasure (FM only). With guest Arthur Smith 15/6) 10.00 Daity Service (LW only) 10.15 On Triss Day (LW only). See Choice

Choice
10.30 Woman's Haue
10.50 Test Match Special:
England v India (LW only).
Day (our of the Third Test at

Trent Bridge 11.30 Money Box Live (FM only): 0171-530 4444 0171-520 4-44
12.00 News; You and Yours (FM only), with Chris Choi
12.25pm Brain of Britain 1996
(FM only). Chaired by Robert Robinson 12.55 Weather
1.00 The World At One, with Nick Clarke

1.40 The Archers (FM only) (r) 1.55 Shipping 1.40 Test Match Special (LW

only)

2.00 News; Top Story (FM only), by Rod Dungate The first of a four-part drama series about a West Midlands news agency 2.00 Test Match Special (LW

3.00 The Afternoon Shift (FM

only) 4.00 News 4.05 Kaleidoscope (FM only) 4.45 Short Story: Bringing Home a Budgle for Mum (FM only), by Vincent McInemay Read by Keith Drinkel 5.00 PM (FM only) 5.50 Shipping 5.55 Weather 5.55 Test Match Special (LW

only!
6.00 Six O'Clock News (FM only!
6.30 I'm Sorry I Haven't a Clue (FM only! The last in the series with Humphrey Lyttetton and guests (r)
7.00 News 7.05 The Archers
7.20 The Food Programme, with Deepk Cooper (r)

Derek Cooper (r)
7.45 The Monday Play:
Everybody Comes to Schickigruber's. See Choice
9.15 Quintessentially Flummoxed Leonard Barras reads two more of his unikely

10.00 The World Tonight, with Robin Lustig. 10.45 Book at Bedtime: Paula, by

Isabet at Became: Patia, by Isabet Allende Read by Patience Tomlinson (6/7)

11.00 Space Fictions (FM only). In the Irrsl of four programmes, Dr John Gribbin explores the fictional styles of 11.00 Education Matters (I)

only)
11.30 The Doctors (FM only). The medical drama series set on Merseyside With Richard O'Sullivan and Sue Johnston

(4/6) (r) 11.30 Today in Parliament (LW cnly)
12.00 News mci 12.27am approx
Weather

Weather 12.30 The Late Book: The Sportswriter, by Richard Ford (4/12) 12.48 Shipping 1.00 As World Service

Carl Mortished examines the community problems that oil companies face in Nigeria

No longer in glorious isolation

mangrove swamps of the Niger Delta, the people of Omadino gathered in their community hall last week to meet prestigious visitors. Welcoming gifts of Coca-Cola and Nigerian beer were carefully arranged on a table, and the village elders, dressed in traditional robes and feathered bowler hats, seated themselves in a row at the head of the room. Women respectfully lined up on the left-hand side of the spartan building, windowless but open to the air. while the younger, more boisterous men occupied the benches to the right.

The formal welcoming party might have been little different had the guest been the district commissioner of a century ago. No road links Omadino to the outside world and the villagers still eke out a living fishing from dugout canoes in the creeks of the swamp. But, unlike their colonial predecessors, last week's guests from the Shell Petroleum Development Compar v of Nigeria (SPDC) drew little pleasure from their role as local bosses and benefactors. Looking hot and uncomfortable in oil rig overalls, Steve Ollercarnshaw, Shell's general manager for the Western Division, and his colleagues listened to a stinging rebuke of the oil company, delivered with great formality and eloquence by Napoleon Agbedetse, an was born in Omadino and returned to lead the village Task Force in negotiating with the oil companies. He said Shell had done damage to their fishing and accused it of operating unfair employment policies. He accused Shell of pocketing the benefits of oil exploration while being careless about the burden. "To them. [Shell] it is a matter of

'we are OK. Jack'," he said. The meeting in Omadino provides a snapshot of everything that has gone wrong for Shell in Nigeria and everything that is going wrong for the inhabitants of the Delta region. Claims that oil companies are wrecking the environment are largely spurious, but they provide a piatform and rallying cry for people who are desperately poor and have been neglected by a series of corrupt and ineffectual governments.

To a traveller in the Delta region, the recent television reports of environmental devastation and an infermo o flares, seem laughable. More flaring occurs in Nigeria than anywhere else in the world. due to the high gas content of the oil reservoirs and the lack of an energy market in a country where manufacturing industry is operating at about a quarter of capacity. The flaring is a shocking waste of energy resources and contributes to greenhouse gases, but,

A legacy to Kew

If you care about the world we will be leaving to our children, then the very basis of life, and we please leave a legacy to the Royal depend on them for our survival.

The conservation of habitats

Education for generations to

Your gift would help fund our vital

Research into plant uses – such

To find out more about how your gift could help, send today for our free booklet A Legacy that Lives on.

have a Will - this booklet contains all you need to know to help grow

The Gardens 🔲

a more beautiful future for generations to come.

Please send me a free copy of A Legacy that Lives on.

Research

Reg Charity No: 803080

Return this coupon to, Harry Barton, Royal Botanic Gardens, Kew Foundation, FREEPOST, RICHMOND, Surrey TW9 3AB, or

It does not matter if you already

Botanic Gardens at Kew. Plants are could give us

the food and medicine of tomorrow

work into:

Shell has become the target of a multitude of grievances and its production facilities have been the object of protests oread over the 70,000 square kilometres of the oil-producing region, it is barely noticeable unless you are in the immediare vicinity of a flow-station.

The Niger Delta is suffering severe environmental damage, but the problem has more to do with people than oil rigs. The effect is most noticeable in Ogoni, the area abandoned by Shell in 1993 after attacks on staff, where the need for agricultural land by small farmers is causing deforestation. Population pressure has led to communities springing up around once remote oil installations - in the past farmers would sometimes use the heat from burning gas to dry cassava by laying the crop on the sand banks that surround the flare. The explosive growth of the population has placed the oil industry in an environment previously unknown to it. Batom Mitee is a representative of the Movement for the Survival of the Ogoni People (MOSOP) and brother of Ledum Mitee, the Ogoni leader who was acquitted in the court that convicted and ordered the execution of Ken Saro-Wiwa, the activist who was executed by the Nigerian Government last year. Mr Mitee said that the Ogoni region has the highest population density in the Delta.

"Farmers are struggling for land space with oil exploration," he said, and confirmed that Shell has become the target of a multitude of grievances. "They do not see the Government, they see Shell. They want Shell to show some Belatedly, Shell is showing concern by bumping up the amount it spends on community projects, such as school blocks, health clinics and youth training schemes. Its community assistance budget has been increased by 50 per cent this year to £30 million but the company knows that it cannot fill the gap caused by the absentee Government in Lagos. More worrying is the imminent prospect of a funding crisis: Shell's partner, NNPC, the state oil company which owns 55 per cent of the SPDC joint venture, is strapped for cash and has imposed a 30 per cent reduction in SPDC's budget, raising the prospect of sharply declin-ing oil production, falling revenues and, inevitably, less community assistance. Unless the budget is increased, Mr Ollerearnshaw said: "It will have dire consequences for Shell, the communities and the Government." Back in Omadino, the general manager of the Western Division apologised to the villagers for the delay in providing a health clinic and promised it would finally be built this year. "Your community is very important to us," he said. "But we are an oil company, we are not government. The things we are doing are the responsibility of government." Unfortunately for Shell, the distinction is academic to the young people of the Delta. About half of the population is under 20 years of age. Faced with no hope of a job, young Nigerian men are also losing respect for traditional leaders, the tribal chiefs. The problem is acute in Ogoni and hampering efforts by Shell to secure a consensus between MOSOP and moderate Ogonis over the conditions under which it might resume operations in Ogoni Land. Ogoni chiefs, such as Ignatius Kogbara, blame MOSOP and its youth organisation for causing the violence that led to the murders of moderate Ogoni leaders. Mr Ollerearnshaw can be thankful of the moderating influence of Mr Agbedetse words. As the Shell delegation prepared to leave, a younger man shouted and pointed to the crumbling mud walls of the houses: "Look at the buildines. This is a community that produces 20.000 barrels per day for Shell. What happened in Ogoni will happen here." Things are happening. Only the previous week, Shell's Searex-6 oil rig located nearby was invaded by 60 people from another community armed with machetes. The rig was closed down for 50 hours while the contractor negotiated, eventually agreeing to build a town hall for them and employ eight people. The twoday shutdown alone cost the contractor some $60,000, hell points to a declining record of community incidents and oil spills. A programme of replacement and burial of flow lines will eliminate leaks due to erosion although the company blames sabotage for most of the damage. Last year, the company says, more than 80 per cent of the 464 tonnes of oil lost was due to sabotage by communities seeking compensation payments.

Community politics is a new game for oil companies, typically used to working in the glorious isolation of deserts and oceans. Brian Anderson, managing director of SPDC, was born in Nigeria. He is determined to improve Shell's record, and has risked con-frontation with the Govern-community relations right, there will be no more who fights his battles with exploration.

A site is prepared for a seismic survey while Shell's relations with locals undergo a deep shift

FREQUENCY GUIDE. RADIO 1. FM 97.8-99.8. RADIO 2. FM 88.0-90.2. RADIO 3. FM 90.2-92.4. RADIO 4. FM 92.4-94.6; LW 198; MW 720. RADIO 5 LIVE MW 893, 909. WORLD SERVICE MW 648; LW 198 (12.45-5.55am). CLASSIC FM. FM 100-102. VIRGIN RADIO. FM 105.8; MW 197, 1215. TALK RADIO UK. MW 1053, 1089. Television and radio listings compiled by Peter Dear, Ian Hughes, Rosemary Smith, Susan Thomson and Jane Gregory

True stories, honest portraits, absent reality hesitate to condone the telly-watching habits of Men Behaving Badly, but sometimes comes uncomfortably close to life. Anyone who saw last Thursday's edition, you see, may have had an uncomfortable feeling of dėja vu during last night's Screen One: Killing Me Softly (BBCl). This was the controversial Sara Thornton docudrama, starring the beauteous Maggie O'Neill, which caused the Daily Mail last week to cry out in anticipation: "Why can't TV tell the truth about this sick husband-killer?"

Let's imagine ourselves back on the sofa at Gary and Tony's, with them watching Killing Me Sofily. As the Thornton saga unfolds, and Malcolm starts hitting Sara when drunk, the girls swap sensitive remarks. "She ought to leave him." says Dorothy. "But she can't," says Debs. "No," they nod, together. Meanwhile the men look restless until suddenly Gary pipes up.

"The top's coming off!" he cries.
"It's coming off!" echoes Tony.
Together, they lean forward in their chairs. "Come on, come on, come on," they chorus, until finally, "It's OFF."

Personally, I got quite involved in Killing Me Softly. It worked better as drama than I expected. Peter Howitt, as Malcolm Thornton, gave a brilliantly real performance - in no way the twodimensional monster his relatives were said to have anticipated. His haircut was good, too. All round, the acting was fine (the child, Tilly Gerrard, was terrific), and the script made sense of a doorned relationship based on lust. In recent television history. I would hazard that the words "Now they snog a lot" have never appeared so often in a screenplay's stage direc-

But the occasional bouts of nudity — so glaringly gratuitous pointed to the usual stretching of docudrama and explains why it's a bastard form better left alone. With docudrama, two types of reality fight it out, and neither

Just as the dramatist has established Maggie O'Neill's lost-fawn depiction of Sara, a scene is required by the facts of the case in which she drops her dress to the floor during a late-night chat with a friend; or goes to the kitchen, finds a knife, and sticks it in her husband. And then the viewer is supposed to say "Oh yes, the real Sara Thornton did that, didn't she?", as if it automatically makes

The annoying thing about docudrama is this that when it's good, it's worse. It plants a version of events in your and demands that you trust it without question. And when the drama works well, there REVIEW is even more reason to complain. A dramatic account of this case was entirely uncalled for - especially after the retrial, which made any public interest" defence fall down and is even counter-productive, Understanding such a problematic personality as Sara Thornton's requires the imagination to be free of any trite stereotype of the battered wife, but now that freedom is lost. Hers is a very singular figurehead for the provocation plea; mixing her up with Maggie O'Neill dancing with her top off makes matters much worse.

Lynne

Truss

For anyone reeling from the confusion of reality and fantasy last night on BBCl, it was a bad idea to turn to Elton John — Tantrums and Tiaras (ITV). which was bound to induce vertigo in the steadiest of viewers. Tantrums and Tiaras was the infamous home video filmed by Elton John's partner David Furnish - in which the true Elton was to be revealed, with unlovely pouts, screams, and satin overload. To be honest, it sounded rather and predictable. In fact, it was a very clever film, answering questions about the life of a mega-rich. mega-famous person that you would never think of asking. Every sequence that involved a wardrobe of any sort (oh my God) made the cat-hair from the carpet.

Turnish showed Elton writing a song in a studio (he devotes an hour to the tune; if it doesn't come, he gives up). A world tour took in two million people, and hundreds of concerts. Back at home, he sat with his Mum on a remembered his old drug habits. The clever thing was that Furnish wasn't showing off about the lifestyle he now enjoyed; he could still see how it would appear to normal people with nothing to do with showbiz. While it is no surprise that Elton John is careerminded, it is still a shock to see how a career can drive the life out of a person without him noticing. "What if your songs stopped selling?" asked Furnish at one point, "They won't," said Elton emphatically. "It doesn't work like that." And sadly, he's right.

tained a fair amount of camping around ("Bona! Bona! Mwa! Mwa!"), but these only served as better foils for the quiet bits. Elton was either frantically overloaded, or bored and restless. His great good sense had been to surround himself with down-to-earth people who didn't flatter him all the time -it was clearly his salvation. But was his life worth having? You couldn't help but wonder, especially when — in a perfectly placed scene — he visited his old Nan. well looked-after in a nice house, with flowers delivered every week.

She was clearly devoted to him, but much as he loved her in return, it was tragically clear he could give her everything except time. "Did you get my card from Japan?" he asked. "Ooh yes, lovely," she said. Now he was off to the Oscars, hoping to collect an award, and she was right behind him. "I hope you get half a dozen," she said,

6.00am Business Breakfast (89514) 7.00 BBC Breakfast News (Ceslax) (10885) 9.00 Breakfast News Extra (Ceelax)

9.20 Ready, Steady, Cook (r) (6902427) 9.50 Wildlife on One.A look at the solitary, noctumal life of the North American raccoon (r) (Ceetax) (s) (7479040)

10.20 My Favourite Nosh. Chef Anton Mosimann cooks for actor Lionel Jeffries (6878137) 10.50 News (Ceefax) and weather (3238798)

10.55 Cricket — Third Test: England v India. Live coverage from Trent Bridge (7442311) 12.00 News (Ceefax) and weather (2683427)

12.05pm Going for Gold (s) (7513427) 12.30 For the Love of it (36449576)

12.35 Neighbours (Ceefax) (s) (9167663) 1.00 News (Cestax) and weather (13972) 1.30 Regional News and weather (86130021) 1.35 Cricket — Third Test: England v India. Live from Trent Bridge (94902408)

5.35 Neighbours(r) (Ceefax) (s) (523040) 6.00 Stx O'Clock News (Ceefax) (595) 6,30 Regional News magazines (175)

7,00 That's Showbusiness. Mike Smith hosts the last in this series of the showbiz trivia gameshow Tonight's guests are Bob Downe, Serah Vandenbergh, Edna Doré and Alnaley Harriott (Ceetax) (s)

7.30 Watchdog: Value for Money. Vanessa Feltz presents a guide to successful shopping, including how to shop like a Princess without a big bank belance, Ainsley Harriott checks out the best akeaway pizzas and Chris Choi reveals how most mobile phone users are paying too much for their calls (Ceetax) (a) (359) 8,00 EastEnders. Grant is in no mood to celebrate his birthday and Peggy has something on her mind concerning Mark (Ceefax) (s) (8311) 8.30 Oh Doctor Beeching! Steam-powered railway sit-com. An escaped turkey end of trouble, wandering on the line. With Paul Shane, Su Pollard and Jeffrey Holland (Ceelax) (s) (7446) 9.00 News (Ceefax) regional news and weather (8156) 9.30 Panorama. In-depth investigations (Ceetax) (832595)

10.10 Bad Boys, Comedy drama series about a Cockney wide-boy stranded in Glasgow's gangland, Mulhemon expels Fraser from the brotherhood of Glasgow's gangaters and initiates a member of the Russian Maria instead But Fraser refuses to take this lying down and gets Wayne to sort it out. With Karl Howman (Ceetax) (s) (915427)

11,00 FILM: Cagney and Lacey: The Return (1994). Tyne Daly and Sharon Gless as television's lavourite female cops brought together again in a search for a cache of missing frearms. Directed by James

12.30em International Athletics. Highlights from Stockholm (49373) 1.00 Weather (1061354)

VideoPtus+ and the Video PlusCodes The numbers next to each TV programme Isting are Video PlusCode™ numbers, which issing are viceo files and viceo files and viceo files and viceo files of the Video files

The state of the s 6.00am Open University: The Birth of National Identity (9243953)

7.15 See Hear Breakfast News (4433682) 7.30 Smurfs' Adventures (9476330) 7.55 To Me...to You (r) (5206069) 8.20 Johnson and Friends (r)

8.30 Songs of Preise (r) (Ceelax) (s) (4515175)

9.05 The Fugitive (b/w) (r) (Ceetax) (7201412) 10.00 Playdays (6865863) 10.25 Man In a Sultcase (Ceetax) (a) (9494476) 11.15 The Addams Family (b/w) (r) (Ceetax) (4119224) 11.40 Carrier's Caribbean (1759392)

12.00 Cricket - Third Test (a) (18330) 1.00 Model Millie (r) (76575243) 1.15 A-Z of Food (72304885) 1.25 West it Well (76554750) 1.40 Working Lunch

2.10 The Oprah Windrey Show (Ceetax) (1907224) 2.50 Blooming Lovely (3833697) 3.00 News, and weather (9675682) 3.05 The Natural World (6562576) 3.65 News, and weather (1967568)

Cartoon (7789514) 4.05 Fudge (2122224) 4.30 Bright Sparks (Ceetax) (972) 5.00 Newsround (Ceetax) (8048779) 5.10 Blue Peter In South 5.35 Cricket: Third Test (s) (233392)

6.13 International Athletics, Helen Rollsson and Brendan Foster Introduce coverage of tonight's Grand Prix meeting in Stockholm (3668779)

7.30 Don't Mention the War. Journalist Jurgen Kronig, from Die Zeit, discovers why it has become fashionable to be anti-German in Britain. He journeys through Britain and gets the opinions of football lans, farmers, reporters and politicians about the apparent war that has resumed between the two nations (8) (601)

Chris Lambrianou (8.00pm)

8.00 The Day That Changed My Life — The Devil in the Mirror (Ceelax) (a) (5953)

8,30 Wildlife Showcase - leland of the Monkey God. How the monkeys of South-East Asia first came down from the trees to claim the plantiful supplies of 9,00 The X Files: E.B.E. Mulder and Scully but their witness changes his story (r) (Ceetax) (s) (314953) 9.45 The Clash of the Thans: Coe v Ovett (Ceefax) (8) (329446)

Investigate a UFO sighting in Tennessee

10.30 Newsnight (Ceefax) (604069) 11.15 Cricket - Third Test (s) (289934) 12.00 The Michight Hour with Sir Bernard Ingham (s) (61083)

12.30em-6.00 The Learning Zone

CHOICE The Day That Changed My Life: The Devil in the Mirror

BBC2. 8.00pm A name from the 1960s, Christopher Lambrianou, launches a new series of the programme with the self-explanatory title.

An East End gangster and associate of the Kray brothers, Lambrianou was given life for his part in the murder of Jack "The Hat" McVitte. Eight years into his sentence, depressed and on the edge of suicide, he looked at himself in the mirror and saw the Devil. It was a moment of conversion. "God usually lasts as long as the sentence," comments a cynical prison officer. But not for Lambrianou. On his release he married and although the marriage did not last, it produced five children on whom he dotes. He helps drugs and alcohol abusers at a rehabilitation centre near Oxford and also counsels prisoners. He tells his story with honesty and not a little pride.

If I Were Prime Minister Channel 4, 8.00pm

Jenny Edair's prescriptions for a better Britain belong mostly to the area of fantasy but for entertainment value they score highly. Eclair is, after all, a comedian and her film is a kind of travelling stand-up routine. Prominent in her political manifesto are free dental care to eliminate bad breath, are tree dental care to eliminate pad bream, a tax on fat people and a garden shed for men to store their pornographic magazines. Eclair's ideological stance is uncertain. She sends her daughter to a fee-paying school but is apologetic about it. Her support for the welfare state is rubbished by a right-wing economist but she is accused, by the political commentator Vincent Hanna, of being a fascist. The Felsir household is a ruzzle. Her fascist. The Eclair household is a puzzle. Her six-year-old daughter seems to be genuine but Eciair also has a drippy boylriend, who, the credits tell us, is played by an actor.

Clash of the Titans: Coe v Ovett

Another ripping yarn from the history of sport focuses on the 1980 Olympics. The games were held in Moscow and because the Soviet Union had invaded Afghanistan, the Prime Minister urged British athletes not to go. Among those whose defied Mrs Thatcher were Sehastian Coe and Steve Ovett. As both were gold medal prospects, their attitude was understandable. A rounded film recalls Coe's obsessive training routines under his father-coach and Overt's equally singleminded determination to stay clear of the press. By 1980 they had emerged as world-class middle-distance runners, who had broken record after record but rarely met on the track. At the Olympics they would do so twice, in the S00 and 1500 metres. To make the story even better the results were as neither man had expected.

Captain Pedro and the Three Wishes Channel 4, 11.15pm

A Latin American season opens with a documentary which qualifies on two counts. It was made by a talented Argentinian director, Claudia Nye, and its subject is the boat people of Cuba. The story opens as thousands of poor Cubans take to the sea in homemade raits and brave heat, hurricanes and sharks to seek a better life in the United States. But the land of the free threatens to be free no longer. Even as Pedro and his family search for a working motor for their boat. President Clinton decides to put a stop to illegal Cuban refugees. "Narrated" by the unborn child of Pedro's pregnant wife, an imaginative touch, the film charts the family's hopes and serbacks before Clinton relents and they finally make it to Florida. But American life is bewildering and there is

6.00am GMTV (98750)

9.25 The Real Ghostbusters (r) (s) 9.50 Hope and Gloria. Romantic singles sit-com (7471408)

10.20 News 10.25 Regional News 10.30 Danielle Steef a Palomino (95465779) 12.20pm Regional News (Teletext) (2672311) 12.30 News and weather (Teletext) (9193088)

12.55 Shortland Street (s) (9178779) 1.25 Coronation Street (r) (Teletext) (5321885) 2.00 Home and Away (Teletext (s) (61061224) 2.25 Designed by Emanuel (Teletext) (61060359) 2.50 Garden Calendar (Teletext) (9880514) 3.20 News (Teletext) (9682972)

3,30 Caribou (Ritchen (a) (3858040) 3.40
Tots TV (r) (s) (1528866) 3.50 Old Bear
Stories (r) (a) (1517750) 4.00 Scooby
Doc (r) (2127779) 4.25 The Famous Five (Teletext) (5159683) 4.50 How 2 (r)
(Teletext) (7804392)

5.10 The List (7942243) 5.40 News and weather (Teletext) (996773) 6.00 Home and Away (r) (Teletext) (s) (188514)

6.25 HTV News (Teletext) (282040) 6,50 Let's Go (777717)

7,00 Tonight with Richard Madeley and

7.30 Coronation Street. Audrey clashes head-to-head with Lily Dempeey (Teletext) (427)

8.00 World in Action. Examining how an annual saving of £100m could be made on the health budget (Teletext) (s) (1309) 8.30 Take Your Pick (Teletaxi) (2514) 9.00 An Independent Man. The strain of holding down two jobs is beginning to tell on Freddie (Teletext) (a) (5953) 10.00 News and weather (Teletext) (73779) 10.30 Regional News (Teletaxt) (805311) 10.40 Bypess (602750)

11.10 Music Writers on TV. Stuart Gordon, not only composes for film, television and radio but has also appeared on many hit records (r) (262682)

11.40 Inner Journeys (r) (868040) 12.10 Bushell on the Box (6) (9317793) 12.40am The Big Metch - Replayed 19217286

1.25 FILM: Private Sessions (1985) with Mike Farrell, Maurean Stapleton, Tom Bosley and Kelly McGillis. A compasslonate psychiatrist believes that therapy should be available to everyone regardless of their ability to pay. Directed by Michael Pressman (923557)

3.05 Crime Hour (3545593) 4.05 Jones and Jury (s) (37555422) 4.30 The Time ...the Place (r) (s) (96354) 5.00 An invitation to Remember (r) (71557) 5.30 Morning News (66538)

As HTV WEST except: 2.25pm Look and Cook (61080359) 2.50-3.20 The New Mr & Mrs Show

6.10-5.40 Tribe (7942243) 6.25-7.00 Wales Tonight (787798) 10.40 People Like Us (602750) 11.10 Artylax (262682) 11.40 Good Advice (868040)

WESTCOUNTRY As HTV West except: 10.30am Murder, She Wrote (1606040)

11.25 Side Effects (6503458) 12.55pm Coronation Street (9178779) 1,25-1,55 Cross Wits (61914040) 1.65 Home and Away (92215408) 2.25 Men in a Woman's World (61064311) 2.55-3.20 A Country Prectice (7742717) 5.10-5.40 Home and Away (7942243) 6.00-7.00 Westcountry Live (33840) 10.40 Hot Spots (602750)

CENTROL

11.10 Street Legal (499224)

As HTV West except: 10.30am Murder, She Wrote (1606040) 11.25 Side Effects (8503458) 12.85pm Home and Away (9178779) 1.25 Cross Wits (61914040) 1.65 A Country Practice (78833137) 2.20-3.20 Blue Heelers (7870392) 5.10-5.40 Shortland Street (7942243) 6.25-7.00 Central Navan (787798) 10.40 Sport in Question (897682)

11.40 Hunter (647934) 1.25em The Crime Hour (7186557) 2.25 Jones and Jury (9897712) 2.50 Film: One of Those Things (9337737)

T. MERIDIAN 10.30 A Woman Named Jackle (86485779)

12.55pm Coronation Street (9178779) 1.25 Home and Away (81914040) 1.55 Shortland Street (92215408) 2.25 Blue Heelers (7270601) 3.15-3.20 Breaksways (9692359)

6.10 Home and Away (7942243) 5.00 Meridian Tonight (653) 6.30-7.00 Summer Getawaya (243) 10.40 The Pier (629427) 11.05 The Listings (358088)

11.10 Go Flahing (262682) 11.40 Meridian Masterciaes (868040) 5,00em Freescreen (71557)

Starts: 6.40 Super Dave (1434576) 7.00 The Big Breekfast (70345) 9.00 Film: Fashions of 1934 (8472595) 10.25 Pete Smith Specialtie (9847663) 10.30 Film: Born to Dance (53866) 12,30pm Waterwaya (91663) 1.00 Blot Metthrin (20822) 1.30 Film: Stella Dallas (47601) 3.30 Calcutta Chronicles (791) 4.00 Backdete (156) 4.30 Garden Party (840) 5.00 5 Pump: Peribleth Padrig (7816088) 5.15 5 Pump: Piell (8043682) 5.30 Countdown (392) 6.00 Newyddion (542798) 5.15 Heno (496934) 7.00 Pobol Y Cwm (276663) 7.25 Y Byd Ar Bedwar (335863) 8.00 Gorau Gari (1021) 8.30 Newyddion (6476) 9.00 Frasier (1866) 9.30 Friends (11427) 10.00 Tour De France

(64021) 10.30 Film: The Krays (57689088) 12.45am The Heroin Wars (155151)

6.40am Super Dave (r) (1434578) 7.00 The Big Breakfast (70345)

9.00 Fit.M: Fashlona of 1934 (1934, bw).Musical comedy with William Powell and Bette Davis, Directed by William Dieterle (8472595)

10.25 Peta Smith Specialties (7256069) 10.35 FILM: Born to Dance (1938, b/w) with Eleanor Powell and James Stewart. A winning musical directed by Roy Del Ruth (47625514)

12.30pm Waterways (r) (Teletext) (91663) 1.00 Sesame Street (r) (29448) 2.00 Australia Wiki (1912156)

2.35 FILM: Selior Bewarel (1956, b/w) Comedy with Peggy Mount, directed by Gordon Parry (Teletext) (9547069) 4.00 Backdate (Teletext) (s) (156) 4.30 Countdown (Teletext) (s) (840) 5.00 The Montel Williams Show (Teletext) (6) (3993798) 5.50 Creature Comforts. Nick Perk's Oscarwinning animated short film (892205)

6.00 Tour De France. The ninth stage, from Val d'laère to Sestrière (205) 6.30 Hollyoaks (Teletext) (885)

7.00 Channel 4 News (Teletext) (805953) 7.55 The Slot (983601)

The comedian Jenny Ediair (8.00pm)

If I Were Prime Minister. The first of a six-part series (Teletext) (1021)

8.30 The Hole Story. A wildlife documentary about the African ground hombili (Teletaxi) (8476)

9.00 The Final Passage. Caryl Philips's dramatisation of his own noval about a Caribbean laland couple lured to Britain in the 1950s with the promise of work concludes. Tonight, they lace the racism of the country and the declining state of their own merriage... Starring Natasha Estelle Williams and Michael Cheme (Teletext) (38817392)

10.35 The Sex Hunters. A Short Stories profile of six young men who spend their summers in Newquay, Comwall (r) (Teletext) (607156)

11.15 Captain Pedro and the Three Wishes (221040) 12.20am Dreams of Ica. Documenting the voyage of an iceberg from the Antarctic to the World Expo 1992 exhibition in Seville

1.25 FILM: The Elephant and the Bicycle (1994). Cuba's entry to last year's Latin American film lestival in London. Set in 1925 on an imaginary Caribbean island, an entrepreneur sets out to win the hear of his childhood sweetheart. Directed by Juan Carlos Tabio (8179828)

2.55 Aller Simple. The story of the six million men and women who between 1830 and 1930 left Europe to settle and populate the countries of Latin America (3416557).

• For more comprehensive listings of satellite and cable channels, see the Vision supplement, published Saturday SKY ONE

7.00am Undan (56601) 9.00 Press Yout Love (124750) 9.20 Love Connection (3816972) 9.45 Oprah Wintray (9563175) 10.40 Jeopardy (65694040) 11.10 Sally Jesys Rapnael (1634224) 12.00 Sightings (23798) 12.30pm Murphy Brown (51089) 1.00 Horel (49724) 2.00 Geraldox (10311) 3.00 Court TV (8458) 3.30 Oprah Wintray (5681088) 4.15 Undam (3314798) 5.00 Cuantum Leap (4750) 6.00 Space Pradhot (25988) 7.00 Spellbound (2779) 7.30 Jinanshi (6579) 9.00 Fire (95243) 10.00 Quantum Leap (9230) 11.00 Highlander (43137) 12.00 Late Show (1355538) 12.45em Return to Lonesame Dove (5675809) 1.30 The Eage (13575) 2.00 Hz Mix (2843002)

SKY NEWS Flews on the hour 6.00am Summe (7269663) 9.30 The Book Show (48595) 10.10 CBS 60 Minutes (431302) 1.30 CBS News (41682) 2.30 Parhament Live (8682) 5.00 Live at Five (2392) 6.00 Siv, News (9311) 6.30 Torught with Adam Bouton (7773) 7.30 Sportaline (2175) 8.10 CBS 60 Minutes (499137) 11.30 CBS News (13408) 12.30 ABC News (33404) 12.30 ABC News (33404) 12.30 ABC News (3404) 12.30 ABC News (3404) 12.30 ABC News (3404) 12.30 ABC News (3404) 12.30 CBS News (13408) 12.30 ABC News .83731) 1.30 Tonight with Adam Boulton Replay (18557) 2.10 CBS 50 Minutes (3060606) 3.30 Parliament Replay (78557) 4.30 CBS News (77354) 5.30 ABC News SKY MOVIES

5.01 pmC+1536
5.00am Swing Time (1936) (14972) 8.00
Anne of Green Gables (1934) (76534779)
9.45 Khartoum (1966) (93933009) 12.00
Mr Mum (1963) (23514) 2.00pm They All Laughed (1981) (3662) 4.00 Korrad
(1967) -9680 6.00 Son of the Pink Panther (1993) (35205) 7.30 El Features
(3601) 8.00 The Spider and the Fly (1994) 75663) 10.00 Pulp Fiction (1994)
(1980) 775653 10.00 Pulp Fiction (1994) (1894) 1/5653) 10.00 Pulp Fiction (1994) 10603779 | 12.35am Linds (1993) 113425571 2.05 Goodbys Pork Pic (1881) 1435793) 3.50-8.00 Deadly Investor: The Killer Bee Nightmare (1994) (56706538)

SKY MOVIES GOLD 12.00 Two Fings West (1950) (45156) 2.00pm Easy Living (1937) (55224) 4,00 The Assessination Bureau (1968) (6514)

6.00 Silent Movie (1976) (85088) 8.00 Sterman (1984) (57205) 10.00 Rocky (1975) (85710088) 12.05em 9 1/2 Weeks (1985) (332460) 2.05 Frantensials Cre-ated Woman (1966) (117915) 3.40-5.15 A Lesson in Love (1954) (214246) THE MOVIE CHANNEL

6.00em When Wille Cornes Marching Name (1950) (47717) 7.30 Spider-Marc Photo Finish/ a Matter of State (1973) (49670601) 9.05 From the Earth to the (49570601) 9.05 From the Earth to the Moon (1979) (7036250) 10.00 Lost in Alaska (1952) [53427] 12.00 Much Ado About Nothing (1983) (22156) 2.00pm The Faculty Jewels (1983) (2125) 2.00pm The Faculty Jewels (1983) (2125) 2.00pm The Faculty Jewels (1983) (2124) 4.00 Spider-Mann: Photo Finish's a Matthar of State (1973) (7224) 6.00 They Watch (1993) (97048) 8.00 The Doomsday Gun (1994) (73205) 10.00 American Heart (1993) (801021) 11.55 Rapa Nut (1994) (477408) 1.45 mm Dead of Winter (1997) (524809) 3.30 To Protect and Serve (1992) 1558842) 5.05-8.00 From the Earth to the Moon (1979) (5336480) THE DISNEY CHANNEL

Sky Movies Gold takes over from 10pm Skry Movies Gold takes over from 10pts to 4sm.

8.05am Ousck Altack (78171682) 8.30 Chp in Dale (64699137) 6.85 Chp in Dale (64699137) 6.85 Chp in Dale (64601972) 7.20 Duchtales (7795597) 7.45 Duchtales (34716330) 8.10 Cusack Altack (73438494) 8.35 Darkwing Duck (47958224) 9.00 Darkwing Duck (47958224) 9.00 Darkwing Duck (47958224) 9.00 Cusack Altack (14277382) 10.00 Raw Toornage (84197972) 10.30 Marsuplasmi (85530330) 11.00 Chp in Dale (82259086) 11.20 Chp in Dale (82259086) 11.25 Chp in Dale (82435406) 12.15 pm Lamb Chap (84477952) 12.45 Mappet 8ebes (50703595) 1.00 FLUM: Breaking Free (84185137) 3.00 Ducktales (10171683) 3.25 Quack Altack (10190798) 3.50 Chp in Dale (86614392) 4.15 Darkwing Duck (7327155) 5.00 Gargovies (66713359) Chp (7327155) 5.00 Gargovies (66713359) Chp (7327155) 5.00 Gargovies (66713359) 7.30 Marsuplasmi (3644589) 5.20 Emerald Cove (50519021) 6.30 Darosaurs (14291972) EUROSPORT

EUROSPORT 7.30ams Athletics (77972) 9.00 Cycling (89040) 10.00 Live Cycling (5489601) 3.30pm Speedworld (65137) 5.30 Live

Athlenes (226885) 8.30 Offroad (1446) 9.00 Opting (573243) 9.50 Sportscenire #33531 10:00 Truck Recno (23224) 11.93 Eurogoti Magazine (74021) 12:00-12:30em Formula 1 (30151) SKY SPORTS

7.00mm Galette World Sport Special (702057 7:30 APS Surfing (62040) 8:30 Racing News (67408) 8:00 Aerobus Oz Style (11089) 9:30 Futbol Munded (25779) 10:00 Sunday League Oricles (88224) 11:00 Super League (84049) 12:00 Aerobus Oz Style (91224) 12:30 pen Golf USA: Senor Open (835363) 3:30 Golf USA: Western Open (70089) 5:30 Rebel Sports (7972) 8:00 Styl Sports Centre (557755) 8:05 Style Sports Centre (957756) 8:05 Olympic Century (227889) 7:00 The Wirning Post: Ripon and Windsor (62089) 8:30 International Oriclest England v India (44224) 10:00 Styl Sports Centre (931427) 10:15 Stoff Salving: UK Series (961175) 10:45 Olympic Centus, (380989) 11:45 Bushalo — the Ulturate Fight (388972) 12:45em Rebel Sports (384441) 1:15 Watersports World (341996) 2:45-3:00 Styl Sports Centre (7478009) SKY SPORTS GOLD SKY SPORTS GOLD

10,00pm Bobby Chariton's Footbal Scrap-book Wonderful Worres (8656446) 11,38-1,00am World Cup Classics: England v Portugal 1966 (4773069) THE CHRISTIAN CHANNEL 4.00mm Thought for the Day 4.05 Worship 4.15 Kdz Tv 4.30 Voice of Faith with Walter Haltern 5.00 Voice of Victory with Kenneth and Glorie Copeland 5.30 Christian Music

Ty 5.45 Miracles — Yesterday Today and Forever 8.15 Word of Live with Life Exman 8.45-7.00 Good Morning Europe SKY SOAP 7.00am Gueling Light (3405882) 7.55 As the World Turns (4286750) 8.50 Payton Place (9784934) 9.20 Days of Our Lives (9361224) 18.10-11.00 Another World SKY TRAVEL

11.00am Boomerang (5597886) 11.30 Independent Travellers Quide (3259040) 12.30pm Floyd on Oz (8339243) 1.00 Gotsway (8478888) 1.30 Great (Escapes (8837514) 2.00 Traisede (2863021) 2.30 Maristors (1284563) 3.00 Globatotter (2862156) 3.30 Annund the World (524234) 3.55-4.00 Holiday Shop

THE HISTORY CHANNEL 4.00p.m Swastika Over British Sci (759:7065) $.00 Godfathers v the Law (2873408) 8.00-7.00 Biography (6812984)

7.00pm The Tornorrow People (2674137) 7.30 Captain Power and the Soldiers of the Future (1265156) 8.00 Starmen (3957866) 9.00 Outer Limits (3980330) 10.00 Close 1.00mm The Six Million Dollar Man (9118462) 2.00 Fill.M: Beauty and the

THE SCLFI CHANNEL

9.00am The Joy of Painting 9.30 Grow Your Dwn 10.00 Near State 10.30 Year Old House 11.00 The Painted House 11.30 Room Service 12.00 Julie Critic 12.30 pts The Frugal Gournet 1.00 Simply Descous 1.30 Home Again 2.00 Our House 2.30 Garden Cuto 3.00 Two's Country 3.30-4.00 This Did House UK GOLD 7.00am Rentaghost (1849088) 7.30 Naigh-bours (1628585) 8.00 Sons and Daughters (8072798) 8.30 EastEnders (5071089) 9.00

The Bill (5055021) $1.30 The Sullwars (8755137) 10.00 Fourth Arm (1624779) 11.00 Eutlespe (1882311) 11.30 XvZ (1112408) 12.05pm Sons and Daughters (8553427) 12.30 Neighbours (8759853) 1.00 EastEnders (2760359) 1.36 H-De-Hi (48564463) 2.15 Man About the House (6790578) 2.50 Three Up. Two Down (644463) 3.20 The Bill (355330) 4.00 Casualty (1853653) 5.00 Every Second Counts (6360175) 5.45 Whatever Heppened to the Likely Lady (6766332) 6.25 EastEnders (4282156) 7.00 The Two Romas (328834) 8.00 Fillule Bibs los (3208796) 10.00 The Bill (3484224) 10.25 The Best of Top of the Pops (3773069) 11.20 Capital City (8215953) 12.25am FILM: Signipost to Murder (69668248) 1.45-3.00 Shopping et Night (34490441)

8.00mm Swen's Crossing (29682) 8.30 Round the Twest (47514) 7.00 Ready or Not (79601) 7.30 Celifornia Dreams (65408) 8.00 Byler Grove (25205) 8.30 Degressi BLOD Byrid Grove (2520) 4.30 Degrassi Luniar High (24578) 9.00 Europout (48156) 9.30 Bobby's World (85175) 10.00 Bethetech (36868) 10.30 Cadillacs and Dinosaurs (37040) 11.00 Sturt Dewgs (21392) 11.30 Baby Folias (22021) 12.00

Thy TCC (28392) 12.30pm Thy and Crew (7185224) 12.50 Cartoon with Little Brimin (44063953) 1.00 Burne (96821576) 1.10 Coccords (7312717) 1.15 Teddy Trucks (96833311) 1.30 Sessme Street (55137) 2.30 Johnson and Friends (5154361) 2.40 Greedyseurus and the Gang (3164403) 2.45 King Rollo (3163779) 2.50 The Clangers (2754525) 3.00 Eakther (621) (2412) 3.30 The New Pink Partitor Show (9359) 4.00 California Dreams (8866) 4.30-8.00 Byter Grove (7750) NICKELODEON

6,00am Dungsons and Dragons (83866) 6.30 Gelbay High School (75088) 7.00 Mr Men (7190798) 7.15 Rocto's Modern Lite (8376972) 7.30 Rugnets (80682) 8.00 Doug (96779) 8.30 Ashthill Real Monston (84750) 8.00 Black Mes from Mars (85800) 9.30 The Littlest Peshop (16021) 10.00 Bananas in Pyjamas (6544595) 10.10 Buber (4032137) 10.35 Junbo and the Jesset (4102088) 10.40 Stotek (4182601) Jesset (4102068) 10.40 Skytark (4192601) 10.45 Benaries in Pylemes (2059224) 11.00 Children's BBC (99330) 12.00 Liste Bear Stones (5985408) 12.25pm Mr Men (6815972) 12.30 Gmmmy (27137) 1.00 Denver the Last Dinosaur (51239514) 1.25 Mr Men (25556653) 1.30 Fuele Dog (26408) 2.00 Littlest Pet Shop (5021) 2.30 Citi-dren's 88C (55765) 3.30 Biter Mice Inon Mars (8243) 4.00 Sento Buglio (5750) 4.30 Rugrats (1048576) 4.45 Doug (1076355 5.00 State State (9601) 5.30 Claries (55)4) (LD0 Alair Mack (2427) (LS0-7.00 Ar You Alraid of the Dark? (3779)

DISCOVERY 4.00pm Deep Probe Expeditions (1851205) 5.00 Time Travelers (8253935) 5.30 5.00 Time Travellers (8253935) 5.30 Junesica (3550243) 6.00 Beyond 2000 (8765514) 7.00 Wolf Things: Despity Australians (4389361) 7.30 Mysteries, Magic and Miracles (3537392) 8.00 Zutus at War. History's Turning Points (834929) 8.30 Lords of the Antinals (5503296) 9.00 On the Road Again (3215088) 10.00 Anans 5 Rocket Special (3218175) 11.00-12.00 Gitz in the Hood

12.00 The Adventures of Robin Hood ($050953) 12.30pm The Adventures of William Tell (8744021) 1.00 tritry-something ($749575 2.00 Men from Interpol ($356569) 2.30 Sociend Yard ($543953) s.00 The Sent (1868224) 4.00 FILM: The Extra Medicary ($568924) 8.00 FILM: The

Danger Man (3535834) 7.00 Automan (3205330) 8.00 Planel of the Apes (3282750) 9.00 Starsky and Hutch (3202514) 10.00-12.00 Fil.M: Breakout PARAMOUNT

7.00pm Family Ties (6137) 7.30 Entertainment Toroght (2560) 8.00 Wings (5885) 8.30 Laverne and Shriloy (4382) 9.00 Soep (98040) 9.30 Tax (50601) 19.00 Entertainment Toroight (90595) 10.30 The Child (52953) 11.00 Dr. Kazz (65835) 11.30 Nightstand (80953) 12.30am I Love Luzy (38947) 1.00 Laverne and Shriloy (36987) 1.30 Tax (49083) 2.00 Entertainment Toroight (43996) 2.30 The Critic (55731) 3.00 Dr. Kazz (12441) 3.30-4.00 Nightstand

UK LIVING 6.00am Kiroy (1667476) 7.00 Esther /2754243 7.30 The Young and the Restless (479069) 8.20 Gladings and Glamour (3590935) 8.30 Gardener's World (8569934) 9.00 Massierchel 1993 (3150392) ($35935) 8.30 Cardener's World ($35934) 9.00 Mesterchel 193 (3150392) 9.35 Aate and Alie ($329576) 10.00 Entertamment Nowl ($674885) 10.05 The Jerry Springer Show ($902330) 11.00 The Young and the Restless (4782137) 11.55 Brookside (458224) 12.30pun Gebruelle (7789798) 1.20 Cardmund (3506514) 2.00 Agony Hour (2976921) 3.00 Live at Three (2884205) 4.00 infetantion UK (47473137) 4.30 Crosswits (748624) 5.05 Lingo (84130953) 5.30 Ludy Loaders (7486801) 6.00 Behiched (7486514) 8.30 Ready, Steedy, Cook (3508040) 7.05 Brookside (2575835) 7.35 Trivial Presult (958421) 8.00 Street Legal (820773) 9.00 FILIAI Consenting Adult (50771885) 10.90 Entertainment Nowl (5381576) 11.00-12.00 The Sex Files

FAMILY CHANNEL 5.00pm Road to Avonies (1224) 6.00 Batman (8243) 8.30 Catchphrase (9595) 7.00 Al Cued Up (2953) 7.30 The Fed Guy (7408) 8.30 Chly When I Lauph (7408) 9.00 The Father Dowling Mysteres (79427) 10.00 Treesure Hunt (72514) 11.00 Snrss (55021) 12.00 The Fall Guy (85441) 1.00am Batman (81731) 1.30 The Father Dowling Mysteres (29002) 2.30 Al Together Now (89737) 3.00 Big Brother Jake (58257) 3.30 GP (99189) 4.00-5.00 Road to Avonies

7.30am First Look (67866) 8.00 Morring Mix Featuring Chamstr (928408) 11.00 US

Top 20 Countdown (78514) 12.00 Greesest Hits (77156) 1.00 pre-Music Non-Stop (51717) 2.00 Select MTV (35595) 4.00 Hanging Out Summertime (99458) 5.30 Diel MTV (8048) 6.00 Hanging Edita (1971) 6.30 Stylesamol (1963) 7.00 Hr List Uk (88596) 9.00 MTV Exchasive — the Festival Hustred (43514) 8.00 Arrow (67311) 1.03 Chares (43514) 9.30 Amour (57311) 10.30 Chere MTV (47427) 11.00 Yol (64779) 12.00 Night Videos (2027170) 5.00mm-6.00 Awake on the Wildskie (75606) VH-1

7.00em Power Bresklast (8477137) 8.00 Cale VH-1 (2372514) 12.00 Heat and Soul (6826408) 1.00pm The Vinyl Years (8835156) 2.00 Ten of the Best (1356865) 3.00 into the Music (6451682) 6.00 Happy 3.00 into the Masc (6451662) $1.00 Papply Hour (8815362) 7.00 VH-1 for You (9840579) 8.00 VH-1 Aburn Chart (3853401) 10.00 The Bndge (6366021) 10.30 Plenet Rock Profiles an in-depth enter profile. (6384069) 11.00 Torrany Varios is the Nightity (8462578) 1.00ems Ten oil the Best (7318480) 2.00 Dawn Patrol (4838460) CMT EUROPE

Country music from 6am to 7pm on satellite, 24 hours on cable, including 5pm Saturday Nite Dence Rench ZEE TV

7.00mm Jagrean (68900972) 8.30 Life Style East (82720311) 8.30 Community News (82720311) 9.00 Richi Sidhi (82711663) 9.30 Galsocee (48301953) 10.00 Urdu Seriei: Annich (82678205) 11.00 Khana Khazena (88989750) 11.30 Tara (22815311) 12.30pm TBA (48312089) 1.00 Punsah Moyle (79903086) 4.00 BBCD (32815311) 12.30pm TBA (46312089) 1.00 Punjabi Movis (79003089) 4.00 BBCD (60312137) 4.30 Hum Psanch (60301021) 5.00 Zea Zona (41912243) 5.30 Alchar Birbal (60325801) 6.00 Usha Ufnup Show Suitu 268 Zuite (147/224) 3-32 Vilosite (147/245) 3-32 Vilosite (147/245) 3-32 Vilosite (147/255) 3-32

CARTOON NETWORK/TNT Continuous cartoons from 5am to 7pm,

Continuous carbons from Sem to 7pm, Inter 111 Times to Color.
7.00pm Victor, Victoria (1982) (91703243) 9.15 The Tressure of the Sierra Macire (1948) (60025021) 11.30 (fing's Row (1942) (92460311) 1.45am (final a Care 11) (1942) (97465031) 2.20-2.00 Busement's Honeymoon (1940)

OIL COMPANIES AIM TO EASE TENSION IN NIGERIA

BUSINESS EDITOR LINDSAY COOK

MONDAY JULY 8 1996

CBI survey sees surge in optimism

OPTIMISM in the financial sector is growing sharply on the back of the strongest increase in business volumes since the 1980s, new figures from the Confederation of British Industry show today.

The findings of the CBI's latest survey of the financial services sector — especially on the growth of mortgage busi-ness by building societies indicate the return of the longsought "feel-good" factor, and confirm that the housing market is starting to improve

Ministers and business leaders hope that today's CBI figures will preface a series of positive official statistics, starting with new figures on fac-tory-level production and

KENNETH CLARKE, the Chancellor, will tomorrow deliver an upbeat assessment of the economy despite being forced to admit that his 3 per cent growth forecast for this

In the Treasury's Summer

Economic Forecast, Mr

Clarke is expected to downgrade his Budget growth prediction to about 25 per cent after a sluggish perfor-mance in the first half of this year. He will also revise upwards his estimate of public borrowing from £22.5 bil-lion to about £28 billion.

underlining the difficulty of justifying significant tax cuts.

that inflation remains sub-

However, the Chancellor year will not be achieved.

industrial prices today, and retail prices later in the week. Next week ministers hope there will be a further fall in unemployment, and helpful figures on company profitability and public borrowing.

The CBI's quarterly survey carried out with chartered accountants Coopers & Lybrand, show business optimism in financial services is now increasing at the fastest rate since March 1993. A net balance of half the 267 financial services firms studied declared themselves optimistic about their overall business position, a significant increase on the 33 per cent balance in March and the balance of only 4 per cent last December.

dued. It is expected that underlying inflation, currently 2.8 per cent, will fall during the rest of the year and remain below 2.5 per day brainstorming session with senior officials on Friday, when they will discuss the scope for and type of tax changes which can be made in this year's pre-election

The meeting will be attended by Sir Terry Burns,

Treasury Permanent Secre-tary, Valerie Strachan, head of Customs & Excise, and Sir Tony Battishill, head of Economic outlook, page 39

the Inland Revenue.

Budget.

Mr Clarke starts a two-cent throughout 1997.

Inflation keeps

Clarke buoyant

By OLIVER AUGUST

insurers, security traders and venture capitalists claiming that overall confidence is lower than three months ago. The rise in confidence fol-

Building societies, followed by banks and life insurers, are reporting the strongest rises in confidence, with only general

lows the strongest increase in business volumes since the CBI started its financial services survey in 1989. A net balance of 46 per cent of firms are seeing a rise in their overall business volumes, compared to 5 per cent in March, and a balance of l per cent a year ago seeing business volumes falling.

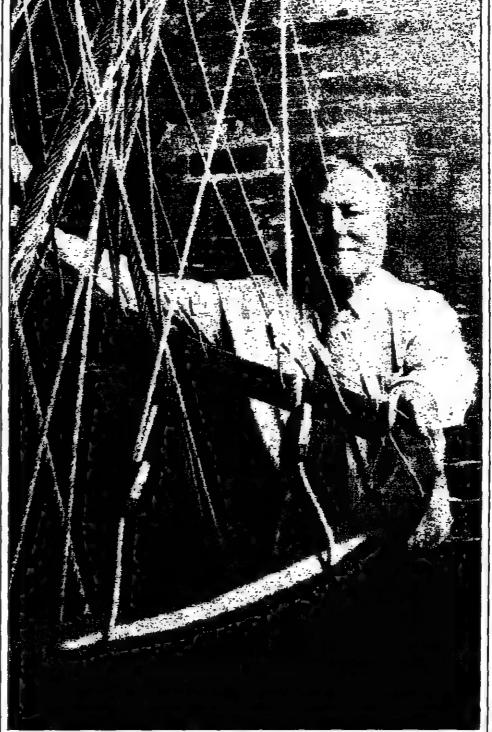

Business volumes with all categories of customer rose over the past three months, the survey shows, though the increase with overseas customers was only marginal. However, it is the sharp rise in business with private individuals that is likely to be seen as the most significant indicator for the return of the "feelgood" factor, supporting the idea of a recovery in the housing market.

The volume of business transacted with private individuals grew for a net balance of 60 per cent of the companies surveyed — up from 4 per cent in the last quarter. Financial services firms expect the increase to be sustained over the next three months. Business volumes with financial institutions also grew more strongly than expected, with a net 22 per cent report-ing a rise, compared with a forecast of only I per cent. But business with industrial and commercial companies re-mained broadly level, suggesting investment by industry is not yet increasing.

Sudhir Junankar. CBI assoanalysis, says today: "Overall business volumes rose markedly over the past three months ... but companies expect business growth to moderate over the coming three months in line with the pace of expansion seen late last year."

Tim Congdon, page 18 Leading article, page 19

Roger Hall, financial director of Gripple, a Sheffield die-cast wire joiner for fencing and industrial wire rope, which is one of five winners due tomorrow to receive £7,000 each in prizes and professional services in the DTI export awards for smaller businesses

Glaxo loses fight to protect Zantac from copycat drugs

By Oliver August

GLAXO WELLCOME. the pharmaceuticals group, has lost the battle to protect Zantac, its lucrative anti-ulcer drug, from copycat medica-tions, it emerged yesterday. Novopharm, a Canadian company specialising in producing generic forms of leading drug brands, has emerged victorious from a six-year court battle after a federal court in North Carolina ruled that it can produce a generic version of the original Zantac. known as Form 1, Novopharm will have its product on the market within 12 months.

Zantac, the world's most widely prescribed drug, currently has annual sales of £2.2 billion, 24 per cent of Glaxo Wellcome's total sales.

Last night Glaxo said that it believed that it had grounds to appeal against the ruling, which paves the way for the cheaper rival to Zantac to enter the market. However, Novopharm has threatened a billion lawsuit against Glaxo if the British company does appeal, alleging wilful obstruction of Novopharm's legitimate efforts to sell its version of Zantac.

Leslie Dan, Novopharm's chairman, said: "The court's ruling was so strong in our favour that any further attempts by Glaxo to use litigation as a means to block Zantac competition would be ludicrous."

Judge Terence Boyle refused to accept that production of Form I would violate Glaxo's patent for Form 2 Zantac which lasts until 2002. He said:

that the existence of Form 2 in Novopharm's product is even a reasonable possibility."

A Glaxo Wellcome spokesman said: "We believe the company has a valid case against Novopharm and that it has strong grounds for appeal. "We emphasise that the law does not permit Novopharm or any other generic drug maker to bring a generic form of the product to market before the expiry of the basic patent in July 1997,"

Scots bank chief seeks investors

Sir Bruce Patullo, Governor of the Bank of Scotland, will today begin meeting institutional investors as the insurer, Standard Life, launches the offer document for the E850 million placing of the bulk of its 31.5 per cent interest in the bank.

Sir Bruce, whose initial anger at the proposed disposal prompted him to quit the Standard Life board, will travel to Europe and America to secure institutional investors for the shares. Standard Life will retain a 2.5 per cent interest in the bank as a long-term investment

Staples offer

Staples, the American retailer, confirmed yesterday that it has made an offer, believed to be in the region. of £15 million, to buy out Kingfisher's half-share of their UK office supplies joint venture. Staples claims an initial offer of earlier this year, was originally accepted by Kingfisher. But after negotiations stalled. the Americans then reduced the offer to take account of losses incurred by the joint venture. Staples runs 33 out-of-town superstores in the UK, selling stationery and computer supplies.

....Income

Somerfield offers reassurance

BY SAKAH CUNNINGHAM

seek to reassure potential investors that its controversial £500 million stock market flotation remains on track when it reports a sharp rise in operating profits and improved margins.

In spite of claims by the company and its advisers that interest in the flotation is strong among both institutional and private investors, there Somerfield's lacklustre medium-term prospects will undermine the flotation price. There is also dismay that a large slice of the float proceeds will go to existing and former directors, while Somerfield must pay extra indemnity fees of £5 million to Kleinwort Benson, its adviser, and £3 million to SBC Warburg, adviser to Isosceles, Somerfield's parent ce that company. But today the com- While supermarkets tradpany, Britain's fifth-largest supermarket chain and the subject of a remarkable recovery from near collapse three years ago, will claim the outlook is encouraging. Annual operating profits have risen 43 per cent to £100.5 million and the net operating margin for the year to April 27 was 3.2 per cent, up one point on the previous year.

for

ing under the Somerfield brand are understood to have seen more than 5 per cent likefor-like sales growth in the year, analysts believe that trading at the old, unconverted Gateway supermarkets, accounting for 35 per cent of the chain, was down by 4 per cent. The company plans to have the whole chain converted by the end of next year.

RETIREMENT

PLANNING

We have been advising our clients nationwide since

Guinness rules out GrandMet takeover

BY ALASDAIR MURRAY

GUINNESS will make a Stock Exchange statement today after reports that it is considering a £13 billion bid for Grand Metropolitan, the rival drinks group. The company will rule out a hostile bid for GrandMet and reject suggestions that it will demerge its brewing and spirits operations.

Guinness was forced to clarify its position after details of a eaked report by Lazards, the

GUINNESS

JOHNNIE WALKER

BELL'S WHISKY

DEWAR'S WHISKY

Gordon's gin

BLACK & WHITE TANQUERAY GIN

ASBACH

company's main advisers, were published at the week-end. The Lazards plan in-volved Guinness raising £10 and Gordon's Gin. billion in cash to fund a takeover of GrandMet, recouping the costs through the sale of GrandMet's food interests, which include Burger

King and Pillsbury. A successful takeover would hand Guinness brands including Smirnoff vodka, Malibu,

GRANDMET

SMIRNOFF

STOLICHNAYA

BAILEY'S

CINZANO

MALIBU JAB RARE

GRAND MARNIER

ABSOLUT VODKA

BOMBAY GIN

JOSE CUERVO WILD TURKEY

and Bailey's to add to its existing portfolio, which in-cludes Johnnie Walker, Bell's Guinness's statement is unlikely to end City speculation about the company's strategy to revive its flagging performance. Bernard Arnault, a Guinness director and head of LVMH Moët Hennessy Louis Vuitton, which owns 20 per cent of Guinness, has publicly called for it to take action and is believed to favour a demerger. GrandMet is also likely to come under the spotlight again, although the company has in-sisted it has no immediate plans to make disposals. There have been rumours that it is prepared to sell Burger King-Gerald Corbett, finance direc-tor of GrandMet, said: "We do not want to appear complacent. but we feel the company is in good shape and is on course for its best year ever."

Graham Searjeant, page 42

No 828

I Take up room sitting; urban

6 Having gained nothing (5-6)

Regrettably accurate (4,3,4)

2 Yearn (4)

3 Wheedle (6)

16 Relief road (6)

going Dr (6)

21 Inquisitive (4)

Door side-post (4)

10 Stuff oneself; ravine (5)

14 Uncontroversial; dull (5)

18 Encourage, Gloucester-

19 Speak gruffly; part of tree

ACROSS

- 5 Unreal, false (6) 7 Polar lights; Sleeping Beau-
- ty princess (6) 9 Broken chord (mus.) (8)
- 11 Big chunk (of eg cake,
- stone) (4) 12 Stratum; a hen (5)
- 13 Discussion (6) 15 Summerhouse (6)
- 17 Distant, uninvolved (5)
- 19 Stay: live; tolerate (4) 20 Troilus & Cressida's go-between (8)
- 22 Centre/circumference distarice (6)
- 2 23 Perfectly round thing (6)
- SOLUTION TO NO 827 ACROSS: I Sub-editor 6 Sum 8 Morning 9 Dying 10 Hook 11 Hieratic 13 Watery 14 Punnet 17 Forestry 18 Bite 20 Dacka 21 Tonnage 22 Pir 23 Shapeless
- DOWN: 1 Somehow 2 Bertolt Brecht 3 Drip 4 Tigris 5 Ryder Cup 6 Spitting image 7 Magic 12 Trespass 15 Theseus 16 Protea 17 Fed up 19 Knee

TO READERS OF THE TIMES WE OFFER A WIDE RANGE OF TIMES PUBLICATIONS WITH FAST, EFFICIENT SERVICE PLUS FREE DELIVERY TO EU CUSTOMERS OF THE ITEMS LISTED BELOW AT RRP. SEND SAE FOR FURTHER DETAILS. FORTHER DETAILS.

TIMES CROSSWORDS: - Books, 3,6,8,10 to 13 E3,99 each. Books 14 to 15 E3,50 each. The Times Concise - Book 2 (24) puzzles E5,99, Books 3 to 6 E3,50 each. The Times Two - Books 3,4 E2,99 each. SUNDAY TIMES CROSSWORDS: Books 3,6,0 E3,99 Books 11,12 E3,50 each. The Sanday Times Concise Books 12,3 E3,50 each. Book 5 E2,99. Also The Times Quiz Book 1996 64,50.

TIMES COMPUTER CROSSWORDS (with HELP & TEAM facilities) by David Alsenhead. For IBM PCs and Acorn RISC OS Computers on 35 distante NOW ONLY P1.99 per dide. Times Crosswords Titles 1 to 11 & 14 to 19 - The Times Consider Titles 3 to 6 - The Times Two Titles 1 to 4 - The Times Inbilled Edition - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 1 to 5 - The Sunday Times Mephisto - The Sanday Times Concise Titles 1 to 5 - The Sunday Times Mephisto - The Sanday Times Crosswords Titles 1 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 1 to 5 - The Sunday Times Mephisto - The Sanday Times Crosswords Titles 1 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 1 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 1 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 1 to 5 - The Sunday Times Mephisto - The Sunday Times Crosswords Titles 1 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 1 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 1 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 1 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 1 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 1 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 1 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 1 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 1 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 1 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 1 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 1 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 1 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 2 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 2 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 2 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 2 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 2 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 2 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 2 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 2 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 2 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 2 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 2 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 2 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 2 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 2 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 2 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 2 to 5 - The Sunday Times Concise Titles 2 to 5 - The Sunday Titles 2 to 5 - The Sunday Titles 2 to 5 - The Sunday Titles

Send cheques with order payable to Akom Limited, 5! Manor Lane, London SEI3 5(W.) Delivery to 8 days (UK). Tel 0181 852 4575 (24hrs) No Credit cards.

Thames top of leak table

THE TWO SPIRITS QUANTS

THAMES Water has emerged as Britain's most leak-prone water company, after it dra-matically revised its water loss estimates for 1995-96. Thanes's new figures show it is losing the equivalent of 333 litres a day for every household in its region. Its total distribution losses are 807 megalitres a day, compared with a previously published 628 megalitres. The revised figures bring

By Alasdair Murray into question Thames's ability to meet its forecast leakage rate of 218 litres per household per day by 1997-98. The company is spending £166 million on a programme to halve the leakage rate by 2004 or 2005. In May, Ian Byatt, Director-General of Ofwat, the water regulator, criticised the major water companies for their failure to meet leakage targets. The Environment

Agency has also said that it will withhold licences to abstract water from rivers and build new reservoirs unless it feels proper action has been taken to fix leaks.

Other companies singled out for poor leakage rates are Yorkshire Water and North West Water, part of United Utilities, which lose about 30 per cent of supplies through leaks, against around 28 per cent for Thames. Anglian Water loses just 13 per cent.

1979 on how best to achieve their financial objectives.Growth Capital growth and an increasing income during retirement are essential to maintain your standard of living.or Both Our Brochure simply describes many different investments available today. It can help you decide where to focus your attention. INDEPENDENT FINANCIAL ADVICE Regulated by the Personal Investment Authority from Young Ridgway & Associates Ltd FREEPOST: 10 Borelli Yard, Farnham, Surrey GU9 7BR, Tel: 01252 727122 feate send me a FREE copy of your brochure

Today: the German conspirators. Tomorrow: how the British betrayed them

o loses at drug

Scotts bar

unief see mesic

Hitler and the Stauffenberg solution

In the first of two extracts from his controversial new book Plotting Hitler's Death, leading historian Joachim Fest tells the true story of the bungled plot to assassinate the Nazi dictator

fter several unsuccessful attempts to overthrow the Nazi regime, the conspirators' maining ambition by July 20, 1944. was to save as much of Germany's "substance" as possible from the impending catastrophe. Recent evidence suggests how well-founded their motives were: one study shows that while slightly more than 28 million German soldiers and civilians died between the beginning of the war on September 1, 1930, and the attempt to assassinate Hitler on July 20, 1944, 4.8 million died during the nineand a half months before the war ended in early May 1945. The destruction wreaked in the last nine months of the air war far exceeded that of the previous 59 months, not to mention the countless casualties in other countries or the victims of Hitler's extermination policy, which continued to the

One of the factors inhibiting appreciation of the German resistance has been the cacophony of voices in which it found expression. Opponents of the regime were motivated not only by a simple concern for human rights but also by Christian, socialist, conservative and even reactionary beliefs. There is much truth to the claim that the German resistance to the Third Reich never existed in the sense of a unified group sharing common ideals.

Of all the various resistance groups, only three succeeded in developing a strategy that posed a genuine threat to the regime. These were the conservative circle around Carl Goerdeler, a former Mayor of Leipzig, and Ludwig Beck, a retired army chief of staff; the Kreisau Circle, led by Count Helmuth von Moltke and dominated by a Christian and socialist philosophy: and the regime's opponents within the military.

It was this last branch of the resistance whose motives were the clearest and whose efforts came closest to succeeding. And it was this branch that ultimately found expression in one symbolic act for that is what the events of July 20, 1944, represented.

What was lacking above all was the actual assassin. Around August 10, 1943, however, General Tresckow jone of the leaders of the military resistance) had been introduced to a young lieutenantcolonel. The young man had been badly wounded in an air attack on the North African front in April. He had lost his right hand as well as the third and fourth fingers of his left, and he wore a black patch over his left eye. After a lengthy stay in hospital, he had asked the surgeon, Ferdinand Sauerbruch. how much longer he would need to recuperate. On hearing that two more operations and many months of convalescence would be necessary, he shook his head, saying he didn't have that much time - important things needed to be done. While still in the hospital. he explained to his uncle and close confidant Nikolaus von Uexküll, Since the generals have failed to do anything, it's now time for the colonels." His name was Count

Klaus Schenk von Stauffenberg. Stauffenberg seemed to send an electric charge through the lifeless resistance networks as he quickly and naturally assumed a leadership role. He was familiar with all the complex religious, historical Stauffenberg (far left) with Hitler (centre) at the "Wolf's Lair" HQ, July 15, 1944. Five days later the Führer's trusted officer planted the bomb intended to kill him and social reasons why nothing had been done, but he had not lost sight of the far more basic truth that there are limits to loyalty and duty. He dismissed the foreign policy concerns of almost all the other members of the resistance. simply assuming that a German vernment that had overthrown the Nazis would be able to negotiate a peace treaty, despite the Casablanca declaration [in which the Allies demanded unconditional surrender]. Most important, he was determined to act.

tauffenberg was a scion of the Swabian nobility. Like many other young officers, he had welcomed Hitler's nomination as Chancellor in 1933 and had agreed, in theory at least, with some of the Nazi platform, especially unification with Austria and hostility to the Treaty of Versailles. [By 1938], however, he had already begun to have serious doubts about the Nazis. "That fool is headed for war," he said. But when war was finally declared, he threw himself into his chosen profession like a devoted soldier.

Stauffenberg proved to be a brilliant staff officer and was promoted to the army high com-mand in June 1940. At first his critical view of the regime was spurred by technical, military and nationalistic concerns. Gradually, though, moral issues came more and more to the fore, and in the end all these considerations played their part in a decision best summarised by his laconic answer to a question asked of him in 1942, about how to change Hitler's style of leadership: "Kill him."

On July 1, 1944. Stauffenberg was promoted to the rank of colonel and simultaneously assumed his new duties as chief of staff to the commander of the reserve army. General Fromm had always been a vigilant, cautious, opportunistic man, whose suspicions that Stauffenberg was plotting a coup had long since hardened into certainty. It seems all the more curious, therefore, that he went to such lengths to have him appointed to his staff. Fromm may simply have wanted to use Stauffenberg, who had written a report that drew extremely laudatory reviews from Hitler, to escape the disfavour into which he had himself fallen. "Finally a general staff officer with imagination and intelligence!" Hitler is said to have remarked. Of crucial importance Stauffenberg was the fact that the new position gave him the access to Hitler that the conspirators had ione sought. On July 20, 1944, Stauffenberg flew into the Rastenburg airfield at Hitler's "Wolf's Lair") shortly after 10am. with his coconspirators Werner von Haeften and Helmuth Stieff. He immediately headed for the officers' mess in Restricted Area II, carrying in his briefcase only the papers he needed for the reports he was expected to give. Haeften, meanwhile, carried the two bombs in his briefcase and accompanied Stieff to OKH (army high command) headquarters. The plans called for Haeften and Stauffenberg to meet shortly before the briefing in the Wolf's Lair to exchange briefcases. At around 11 o'clock Stauffenberg was summoned by the chief of army staff, General Walther Buhle, and after a short meeting they proceeded together to a conference with General Keitel the OKW (Wehrmacht high command) bunker in Restricted Area 1. Here Stauffenberg learnt that on account of a visit by Mussolini, what was to have been a noon briefing with Hitler had been put back half an hour to 12.30pm, Immediately after the conference with Keitel. Stauffenberg asked the general's aide, Major Ernst John von Freyend, to show him to a room where he could wash up and change his shirt. July 20 was a hot

Stauffenberg pictured with his three children in 1940

As Keitel and the other officers headed toward the briefing barracks, Stauffenberg and Haeften, who met in the corridor, withdrew into the lounge in Keitel's bunker. where Stauffenberg set about installing and arming a fuse in the first bomb. He had barely begun, however, when a telephone call came from General Fellgiebel, another conspirator. who asked to speak with Stauffenberg on urgent business. Freyend sent Platoon Sergeant Werner Vogel back to the bunker to urge Stauffenberg to As Vogel entered the lounge, he saw the two officers stowing something into one of the briefcases. He informed them of the call, adding that the others were waiting for them outside.

Meanwhile Freyend shouted from the entrance, "Stauffenberg, please come along!" With Vogel standing in the doorway, Stauffenberg closed the briefcase as swiftly as possible while Haeften swept up the papers that were lying around and stuffed them into the other briefcase. Fellgiebel's telephone call and the intrusion of Platoon Sergeant Vogel may well have determined the course of history, for it is likely that they prevented Stauffenberg from arming the fuse on the second package of explosives. No one knows why Stauffenberg did not place the second bomb in his briefcase alongside the one whose timer had already been activated, since the explosion of one would surely have set off the other as well. Stauffenberg was certainly nervous and Vogel's sudden eruption into the room must have given him a fright, but the most probable explanation for his bringing only the one bomb is that he was not fully aware of how such explosives work. Believing that a single bomb would suffice, he probably did not adequately consider the cumulative effect of two bombs. What is clear, according to all experts, is that inclusion of the second charge would have magnified the power of the blast not twofold but many times, killing everyone in the room outright.

Together with General Buhle and Major Freyend, Stauffenberg hurried out of the OKW bunker. briefcase in hand. They crossed the 350 yards to the wooden briefing barracks, which lay be hind a high wire fence in the innermost security zone. After declining for the second time Freyend's offer to carry his briefcase. Stauffenberg finally turned it over to him at the entrance to the barracks, asking to be seated as close as possible to the Führer so that he could "catch everything".

In the conference room the briefing was already under way. with General Adolf Heusinger reporting on the eastern front. announced Stauffenberg would be giving a report, and Hitler shook the colonel's hand "wordlessly but with his usual scrutinising look", Freyend placed the briefcase near Heusinger and his assistant, Colonel Brandt, who were both standing to Hitler's right. Despite his efforts to edge closer to Hitler, Stauffenberg could only find a place at the corner of the table. His briefcase remained on the far side of the massive table leg, where Freyend had placed it. Shortly thereafter Stauffenberg left the room, whispering something indistinctly as if he had an important nce outside the barracks he returned the way he had come, turning off before Keitel's bunker and heading toward the Wehrmacht adjutant building to find out where Haeften was with the car. In the signals officer's room, he found not only Haeften but Feligiebel as well. Meanwhile, back in the briefing room, Hitler was already asking for the colonel and General Buhle set out to look for him. It was just after 12.40pm. Suddenly, as witnesses later recounted, a dealening crack shattered the midday quiet and a bluish-yellow flame rocketed skyward. Stauffenberg gave a violent start and, when Feligiebel asked weakly what the noise could be, simply shook his head. Meanwhile a dark plume of smoke rose and hung in the air over the wreckage of the briefing barracks. Shards of glass, wood and fibre board swirled about, and scorched pieces of paper and insulation rained down. The quiet that followed was broken by the sound of voices calling for doctors. Stauffenberg and Haeften climbed into the waiting car and ordered the driver to take them to the airfield. As they did so, a body covered by Hitler's cloak was carried from the barracks on a stretcher. That was probably what led them to conclude that the Führer was dead.

When the bomb exploded, 24 people were in the conference room. All were hurled to the ground, some with their hair in flames. Window mullions and sushes flew through the room. Hitler had just leant over the table to examine a position that Heusinger was pointing out on the map when his chair was torn from under him. His clothing, like that of all the others, was shredded; his trousers hung in ribbons down his legs. The great oak table had collapsed, its top blown to pieces. The first sound to be heard amid all the smoke and devastation was Keitel's voice, pleading "Where's the Führer?"

As Hitler stumbled to his feet, Keitel flew to him, taking him in his arms and crying, "My Führer, you're alive, you're alive!"

133MHz Pentium® chip. 120MHz price. Going quick.

Another outstanding offer from Dell. But you'll have to be quick. For the price of a 120MHz PC, we're giving you the Dell Dimension" P133t with 133MHz of Pentium processor power. So for £1,149 (£1.379.45 incl. delivery and VAT) it's not only much faster but also comes with 16Mb EDO RAM.

a 256Kb Pipeline Burst Cache, a Six Speed CD-ROM Drive and Microsoft® Office Professional 95- the industry's leading business application. All of this plus the advantages of our award winning support and the reliability you'd expect from the UK's largest direct PC manufacturer.*

To secure this offer you must call us now on 01344 724659 and get a top performance PC at a much lower price.

£1,149 (£1,379.45 incl. delivery+ VAT)

 DELL DIMENSION PL33/ ■ INTEL®133/MHz PENTIUM® PROCESSOR ■ 16/Hb EDO BAM ■ 256/kb PIPELINE BURST CACHS ■ 1.6 6b EIDE HARD DRIVE ◆ INTEGRATED 64-BIT PCLLOCALBUS VIDEO WITH 1H6 VIDEO HEHORY ◆ 15"SVGA MONITOR 113.75"VIEWABLE AREA) ◆ 3 PCL 7 ISA AND 1 PCT/TSA SHARED EXPANSION SLOTS ● SIX SPEED (D-ROM DRIVE ● HID-SIZED DESK TOP OR HIDR TOWER CHASSIS ● MICROSOFT® WINDOWS 95

Between Bam and 8pm weekdays, 10am to 4pm Sat.

As Archers fans prepare to board a special cruise, Libby Purves tells of her love-hate

Archers, 1950s-style: Grace Fairbrother (played by Ysanne Churchman), left, and Phil Archer (Norman Painting); centre: Christine Archer (Pamela Mant) and Grace; and Peggy Archer (Thelma Rogers), Mrs Perkins (Pauline Seville) and Jack Archer (Denis Folwell)

Somebody had to hit Shula horrible certainty that my hand will grope for the radio at five past seven. Even in mainland Europe, the habit does not fade, thanks to long-wave. Or if it does, it is only because of Test Match Special. We shall rage at them: "Get off! Never mind ball-by-ball commentary; we want to know whether Simon's going to hit Shula again!"

We do not care about silly mid-off, for we have much sillier skills to exercise like diagnosing an ectopic pregnancy from ten words of dialogue, or deconstructing the IS regional accents that make up the speech of Jolene Rogers. Ambridge's answer to Dolly Parton.

What do we see in this ever more absurd radio soap, we shamefaced addicts? Our husbands and wives do not understand, our children yawn and grumble, our flatmates slam out in disgust. Still we demand our 15-minute fix. using the surreal banality of Ambridge to cushion us between the working day and the evening.

A SHAMEFACED CONFESSION

Sometimes, nothing happens in that quarter-hour. On other days it is filled with the tedious bellyaching of the womenfolk (some of us were thrilled when Simon hit Shula; somebody had to). On special days they oblige us with melodrama: a squeal of brakes and a shriek of "Caroline! No-o-o-o!", or the final gurgle of Mr Pemberton, who must have seen it coming, since the scriptwriters rashly made him just too damn nice to live. Sometimes leaden comedy stumps Issue. The producers clearly send one another e-mails full of these Big Issues: Woman-priest controversy, pro-gressed, OK - obviously, she wins in the end - bankruptcy, none for 30 years, what about Robert Snell? Poss.

for Lynda to lose car, take up cycling, comic relief — NB, green message here ... good! —?? Worried about widowhood theme — not sure we made all the points about the grieving process with Shula, perhaps we could widow Caroline and they could discuss it all over again -

Norman Painting and Patricia Greene

anorexia? Not Aids, алужау... There are certain technical points beloved of Archers aficionados: we enjoy the convention whereby not only do they never listen to the radio, they have not discovered the telephone. To avoid tinny sound quality. characters who in real life would ring one another are forced to open sound-effect doors with "Oh, Clarrie - about the Playground Committee", or "Jill - I'm glad

Yet we are hopelessly wedded to this harking-back to a vanished rural idyll: tosh. Some purport to take it lightly, as a yet Ambridge has spent the past ten years campish cult many members of the Archers Addicts fan club have that attitude, as do certain cast members. The actor playing Mark Hebden broke ranks after his "car accident", observing: "My character was very boring, and deserved to die." Even as his stricken and IVFpregnant wife was emoting nightly over et even those who mock are listeners. It is not that we come to mock and stay to worship; we come to mock and stay to mock. But we stay. So in the end, they win. Sociologists moot the idea that we cling to soaps because we have lost our real communities, but this will not wash: too many Archers listeners are members of parish councils. Other theorists claim a going on and on about grim modernity, from a young working-class mother thrown into jail to a middle-class hippy daughter who puts marijuana in her parents' dinner and then overdoses.

Anyone wanting the rural idyll might have to hang about for several episodes before scoring a token reference to the cow-parsley on Lakey Hill.

So never mind why. We listen because is there, because we know the characters, because it is short. It is garden-fence gossip, formless and pointless and never-ending, but without the guilt of involving real people. We are free to illwish the lot of them: whining Susan, poseuse Jennifer, smug Lizzie, Brian the right-wing cad, thick Sid.

Yes, maybe that's it: we listen because we hate them so much.

LIBBY PURVES

HOW AMBRIDGE TOOK TO THE HIGH SEAS

across the stage, with some amusing being a lovable rogue. Sometimes it is an

(and, of course, working-class) character

The Oriana

September tantalising travel promotion appeared in the Radio Times inviting readers to "Join The Archers" on a 13-night cruise aboard P&O's Oriana.

The Oriana leaves Southampton tomorrow, and in among the 1,760 passengers there will be about 300 Archers fans. Originally fans were promised six Ambridge residents, but Eddie Grundy and Elizabeth Pargetter have now joined Lynda Snell, Joe Grundy, Pat Archer, Debbie Aldridge, Mike Tucker and Kathy Perks on board. Two books about the series will come out in the next few months. One is written by the programme's current editor. Vanessa Whitburn, and entitled The Archers: The Inside Story. The other. The Archers Story, an unauthorised version, is by a previous editor, William Smethurst.

GRACE BRADBERRY

Sailing into a lifelong fantasy

THE FANS STORIES

Barbara Smith, 75, from Oxfordshire:

The Archers has a sense of place and time. It is rooted in a recognisable community. Al-though I-have been unsettled by some of the more modish storylines that have crept in during recent years, there is still something charming about the show. I hope it never changes to the extent that older listeners are alienated.

The highlight of the cruise promises to be the black-andwhite ball, for which bought a special outfit. I can't wait. I have been on cruises before but this one is different because my granddaughter. Pippa, is coming with me even though she knows nothing about The Archers.

We will be sharing a twinbed cabin and the overall cost is £4,000. That the stars of the show will also be on board swayed my decision to go, but meeting the cast is not my top

Pippa Franklin, 18, from Long Hanborough in Oxfordshire

I am very excited about the cruise. My friends have been mocking me for going but I don't care. What most amuses them is that I have never listened to The Archers. I nearly died when my grandmother asked me to go with her. I thought she was joking. I said, 'Do you really need to ask?" - I am so excited.

I'll pack some smart clothes for the evening events, one or two black dresses and some more casual clothes for the various ports of call. I feel a bit guilty about going because my mum is an Ar-chers fan and she would have loved to come herself.

Robert Girling, 54, from Selkirk, Scotland:

I've listened to The Archers nearly every week since the 1950s. I like the way it covers different generations and they I am going by myself on the cruise and sharing a four-bed cabin. I imagine the shared interest in The Archers will be something to talk about, but [think there will be other people there besides Archers The character I would most like to meet is pub landlord Sid Perks, played by Alan Devereux. I'm also looking forward to meeting others who have been on the show from the beginning.

Canterbury: As a committed follower of The Archers since the 1950s and a fan of cruises, this trip provides an ideal opportunity to get closer to the characters who have become almost like friends to me. This is my one

Margery Rowe, 68, from big holiday of the year and I have saved hard for it I think that in many ways. The Archers carries me away we collect Archers memorabilfrom everyday cares. It is a ia, and the thought of meeting

I listen every day, then again to the omnibus. But I haven't voice of stability in a changing some of the characters is the world. I am an ordinary middle-of-the-road person and icing on the cake. I am English and proud of it, Susan Reeves, 46, from Heyand The Archers speaks to me in a way that I understand. It wood, Lancashire: I'm going by myself. I'm divorced and don't have childis contemporary without being crass. My favourite characters are

ren. I'm not packing anything Phil and Pat Archer: they typify my generation and special for the trip, though I'll take my Archers sweatshirt. share my values. I don't have a I've been listening to I've favourite episode, but for some Archers since I was about four. reason I always remember the My grandfather was a farmer one in which they painted the in Lancashire, and it would be cowsheds blue to deter flies. on in the kitchen. Then it was more farmers' propaganda, Margaret Cotton, 63, from not like today. I like the characters because feel I've grown up with them.

Birmingham: In December last year I was diagnosed with breast cancer, and since then I have had an operation and radiotherapy. The thought of going on the cruise for Archers addicts with my husband kept me going. i have never been abroad before. It has cost us about £5.500 and we still have to find our spending money. But it will be worth it. The doctors

Pippa Franklin and Barbara Smith

don't want to see me until December, so everything is set up for a wonderful experience.

Hilary Fisher. 33, from Hereford: My mother's family were all farming people and I can relate to much of what happens in The Archers. I grew up with the programme: my mother was a fan and so is my husband Andrew, who's com-Anyone who rings our house at five past seven in the evening gets short shrift.

This holiday is special Andrew and I haven't had a two-week holiday since we married seven years ago. With all the extras, such as new clothes, a camcorder and cameras, it is costing something like £7.000. Although it is the cruise that attracted us.

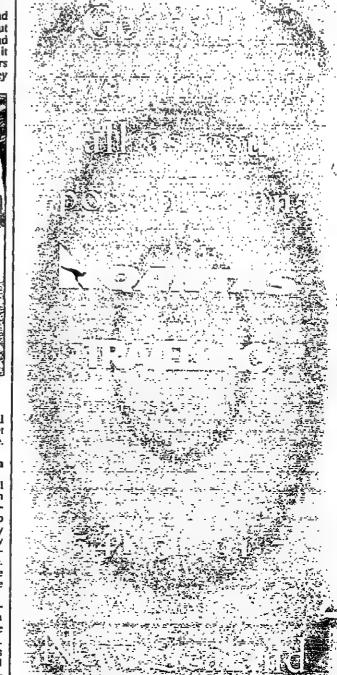

reached the stage where I send a wreath to their funerals.

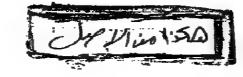

Gill Reynolds, 57, from Matiock, Derbyshire: I'm a widow and I'm going with my partner, Tony, who's not an Archers fan. This is our big holiday for the year.

It's hard to pick out favourite episodes, but I liked the one with Shula and the detestable Simon Pemberton about three or four weeks ago. Joe Grundy will be interesting to ee as a normal person, and Linda Snell's going to be on the boat. I hope someone sorts her out .

I like Shula, but she's so goody-goody. And I like Pat Archer, although she's a bit too feminist. I sometimes feel they've killed off too many people in the series. It's getting like EastEnders.

relationship with radio's most famous soap — and an editor tells the inside story of Ambridge

o one disagrees with the editor of The Archers. I came from busy newsrooms where I was used to arguing my case and I was astonished when I arrived in Ambridge to find that my ideas nearly always went unchallenged. I had abso-lute power within that little world and it was by far the most terrifying aspect of

At that time I was the youngest-ever editor and the first woman. I had been offered the editor's chair out of the blue: there was no application or interview procedure but mysterious phone calls and an informal lunch. I started work knowing nothing about scripts, actors or studios. The previous editor had left for the ailing TV soap, Crossroads. He took most of the staff, and nearly all of the writers. Some of the Archers actors were also offered big television money to go to the ill-fated Crossroads Motel, and thus some favourites, like Elizabeth and Nigel, were unavailable to me. Ambridge was a sort of Mary Celeste when I arrived. Luckily, I was still under 30 and full of confidence and none of this really

The editor has all the power of a

'It is easy for an editor to make a character disappear'

medieval monarch and my colleagues had learnt during previous reigns not to risk their heads with too much plain-

The actors were especially cowed. They are an exceptionally good-natured cast and over the years have not always been treated kindly. They are paid for each episode in which they appear. Editors have direct control over storylines and thus the income of individual that the income of individual transports. thus the income of individual actors. It is all too easy for an editor to confuse the personal and the professional. One actress had a few too many drinks at a celebration and told the then editor some home truths and threw up in his lap. She was never heard of again, It is easy enough for a vindictive editor to make a character disappear without actually writing them out. The character is referred to often enough to keep a sense of his presence in the programme when he may actually be unheard for many months. Eventually the audience notices and the character becomes a national joke. But behind the hilarious Unheard of Ambridge Is an actor who is not laughing.

LIZ RIGBEY, EDITOR 1986-89

This cynical method, employed by some of the more unscrupulous editors over the years, was not restricted to the peripheral characters. No one was safe, Your character might be one of the best-known and best-loved but, as one such actor discovered, once your place in the audience's consciousness has been established, you only need a few appearances a year to remain there. After some illconsidered words to the editor, one character appeared so infrequently he was forced to sell his house:

There are many such instances of editors abusing their power. I do not find this surprising now that I have experienced absolute power myself. It is hard not to be corrupted by it,

The actors tried not to upset me, fearing the consequences, but, unwittingly, most of them did. The writing team was in such chaos that I often had to write or rewrite scripts myself. Of course, my name wasn't on them. When I arrived in studio to direct, the actors, thinking the writer was not present, would cruelly savage my work, line by line. (Shola and Caroline, riding on Lakey Hill, were supposed to enthuse about the view. The line read "I love the special green of new spring leaves against a clear sky".) "What a dreadful piece of radio overwriting," one of them said between takes. "Appalling," agreed the other. I would go home and ery but I knew that no writer could hope for more direct criticism and I improved as fast as I could just to cut down on my suffering in studio. I have a lot to thank the cast for:

they taught me more than they know.
I look back on my Archers days with great affection and nostalgia. It was an intense experience because then the programme was understaffed and so I worked junior doctor hours. We had a system but were generally in a state of crisis: there were nervous breakdowns, illnesses, and, because of the pro-gramme's advanced age, a number of deaths. All of these had an effect on the programme itself and on those who

I knew it was time to leave when I had broadcast my third Ambridge Over-60s outing. My learning curve had been vertical, my critics were silent and I had begun to win awards. I had a good writing team and a happy cast and, like a conscientious larmer, planned to leave my land in good heart.

Of course, once I had played my Get Out Of Jail Free card I missed the old place. It was like leaving my own family and I still look on my resignation as the bravest thing I have ever done. But I knew what I needed - time to adjust to

Why Grace had to die

Surprise after surprise

GUY'S STORY

HUGH DICKSON played Guy Pemberton, introduced to the cast in 1993, but killed off by a heart attack earlier this year, in the middle of a storyline about his rocky relationship with his son

I wouldn't say Guy interested me greatly, but he was a pleasant character to play. When I got the part I was told he was a wealthy, friendly, likeable man who also knew his own mind. I didn't know he would marry Caroline, and Guy became a lot more interesting as a result.

He was basically killed off to get the storyline moving. I was a bit surprised to be written out when I was. We were right in the middle of a dramatic storyline involving Simbn. and suddenly I dropped dead of a heart attack. Of course, I was told well before I saw the script, but even so . .

The arrival of Simon had reen another surbri I'd always known I had a son, and he was often mentioned in the script, but when he joined the series he seemed a rather unlikely character to be my son, Guy was so pleasant, and Simon was deliberately written to be the opposite. The episode when he hit Shula was certainly intended to shock. I know one or two members of the cast have thought they had good ideas they could put up, but I've never heard of anyone ringing up the writers to

Among the cast, things were always very friendly. There's

Ambridge stars: Timothy Bentinck (David Archer), Felicity Finch (Ruth Archer), Graham Seed (Nigel Pargetter) and Alison Dowling (Elizabeth Pargetter)

certainly not a hierarchy, So dull, though I suppose the bratpack might tend to stick ingether a bit more. I knew Norman Painting and Jack graduates in Oxford, and there were other people 1'd

May from our days as underworked with before. I very much enjoyed working with Sara Coward, who plays Caroline, but we didn't socialise outside the studio because 1 always had to get back to

THE

Subscriptions

The Times will match

any subscription offer you receive from other daily national newspapers.

For further details

please call us FREE

on the following number:

FREEPHONE

0800 120 130

Lines open 7 days from Sam to 6pm

Offer available in the UK only

I was axed

MARK'S STORY

played Mark Hebden from 1980 to 1994. Mark married Shula Archer in 1985, but was killed off in a car crash in 1994 because he was considered boring. Richard is married with two Mark was brought in as one more boyfriend for Shula Archer. She'd had quite a string of them and they were looking for the right one. My brief was: "Look, he's very nice, very ordinary, just do him for six months." That was always Mark's downfall. He was never going to be really interesting.

Two or three years before he was killed off, I knew they'd run out of story ideas for him. I'd tried doing new things, but you can't suddenly change a character you've played for ten years. One of the problems that Mark and Shula had was that very few of the writers were good at the conventional, middle-class characters. It's much easier to write for comics and outand-out baddies. I think some actors spent time cultivating the writers. They would phone them up and suggest storylines. But the show just wasn't central enough to my life for me to didn't even know the rest of the cast that well. You were only recording for one week each month, so you went in. did your bit, and headed home. I was married to Shula, but I don't really know Judy Bennett. She's never come to my house,

I've never been to her's. One of the first things you realise is that you're in the power of the editor. There are no contracts, so if you're awkward you could find yourself written out for three months. William Smethurst was my first editor and, while I like him very much, he was ruthless. On the other hand, every successful editor of The Archers is ruthless. People were very shocked at the Vanessa Whitburn way treated me, but I wasn't. Mark had always been a bit dull and there are times when an editor has to say "This won't do". Every editor feels they must put their stamp on the programme. Of course, I sometimes would never have said so. I always believed that the programme existed because it was a slice of a forgotten age, a sort of comfort blanket. Vanessa's decision to upset that was very dangerous. But it may be that it was a brilliant stroke on her part — I don't listen often enough to know.

It's a funny thing, but I

COMPREHENSIVE INSURANCE FROM

Extra Safety = Lower Insurance Exclusive Schemes for Volvos Tel: 01403 260822 NOW! or Phone your Nearest Branch at the Local Rate on 0345 123111

Hill House Hammond Over 250 Branches Nationwide

was the original series editor. I have watched the programme change for the worse small and we could not afford to pay professional actors. We over the years. There is now paid each actor two guineas The Archers 1 knew was very per episode. clean. It was created as an educational programme for succeeded on those terms. Each episode was full of hints and information for farmers and kept them in touch with the latest developments. The notion that a programme can both inform and entertain seems to be

GODFREY BASELEY, 91, devised The Archers in 1951 and dying now.

When we originally devised it, the aim was to create a sort of country Dick Barton without the violence. On my instructions, the writers Geoffrev Webb and Edward Mason worked on scripts and on creating characters, many of whom were based on people! knew or had met.

The original actors were all nateurs and had day jobs. Dan Archer worked as a Grace Bradberry and Joe

THE FOUNDER cher had her own shop and Simon the farmworker had a iob in an employment exchange. We used amateurs because our budget was so

> I was amazed and delighted at how the show was received. Before long we had replaced Dick Barton as the regular series on radio and the cult of The Archers began to devel-

Although most of the team got on well, there was some-times unrest behind the scenes. The actress who played Grace Archer, Ysanne Churchman, worried me. She was a strong supporter of trade unions and I was concerned that she might unsettle the other actors. So I decided to kill her off. She died in a fire: the story, which coincid-ed with the first night of commercial television, was front-page news.

Interviews by Jason Cowley.

Good news for savers. More money for

	£500- £2,499	£2,500- £4,999	£5,000- £9,999	£10,000- £24,999	£25,000- £49,999	£50,000- £99,999
Direct Line Instant Access Account	4.50%	4.50%	4.75%	5.50%	5.65%	5.75%
Halifax Solid Gold (90 Day Notice)	3.05%	3.05%	3.35%	4.10%	4.60%	4.85%
Woolwich Premier 90 (90 Day Notice)	N/A	N/A	3.50%	4.15%	5.00%	5.25%
Yorkshire Building Society Key 90 Plus	N/A	N/A	N/A	4.20%	4.65%	5.15%

your money.

All rates are gross and correct at 1st July 1996.

Are your savings growing too slowly? Then you should be saving with Direct Line. Take a look at the table and you'll see that our rates are higher than these building society 90 day accounts. What's more, with Direct Line you don't have to give 90 days notice because we offer instant access. So if you want more money for your money. you know who to call.

0181 667 1121

LONDON

0161 833 1121 MANCHESTER

0141 221 1121 GLASGOW

CALL ANYTIME 8am to 8pm Monday to Friday and 9am to 5pm Saturday. Please quote ref. TT33

ARTS THE WEEK AHEAD

Richard Eyre's sumptuous staging of La Traviata returns to the Royal Opera House OPENS: Tonight

REVIEW: Wednesday

■ POP Mellow and tender Jackson Browne strums his lonesome stuff in the Albert Hall GIGS: Tonight, tomorrow REVIEW: Wednesday

DANCE

Dame Marie Rambert's company celebrates its 70th birthday with its first Coliseum season OPENS: Tomorrow REVIEW: Friday

MUSICAL

Another Les Mis? Boublil and Schonberg unveil Martin Guerre at the Prince Edward OPENS: Wednesday

COMEDY

Also-ran finishes first

EVEN multimillionaires get the blues. Wealthy and influ-ential he may be in reality, yet Bill Cosby still portrays him-self as one of life's friendly also-rans, bewildered by low-fat diets, forever outsmarted by his wife and children, not to mention his housekeeper.

His stand-up comedy routine drew on the same basic formula as his long-running television series, but with less of the sentimentality: flatulence and his sense of his own mortality are not exactly prime-time material. Left to his own devices, with only a chair for a prop. he was free to deliver a masterclass in low-

> Bill Cosby Albert Hall

key comic timing. Though many of his observations about domestic life are grounded in his memories of his parents and grandparents. most belong to the all-American Dagwood and Blondie tradition of marital misunderstandings. Race is never much of an issue. Cosby assumes we are grown-up enough not to need homilies about discrimination.

On the only occasion he ventured in that direction, it was in a beautifully observed sketch of his daughter's college graduation ceremony. where hard-working immigrants from Asia and Africa walk off with the best degrees and the Generation X natives strut across the stage, celebrating their underachievement. He was too genial, too avuncular to labour the point. Sometimes, it must be said, a little more grit would have been Slightly over-long, the two-hour show lapsed into a superfluous, and not particularly original dentist's-chair sequence at the very end. For most of the evening, however, sure-footed improvisatory performance appropriate to his slot in the newly-funkted JVC Jazz & Soul Festival. Toying with subjects such as a saxophonist playing a riff, he reduced the cavernous auditorium to the cosier dimensions of a nightclub. No mean feat.

CLIVE DAVIS

Debra Craine on Rambert Dance Company's plans to mark its 70th birthday

Lion set for Coliseum

ive years ago the very idea of Rambert Dance Company playing the Coliseum was unthinkable. As a contemporary dance troupe sworn to eschew pointe shoes and princes, it offered the kind of art that was lucky to fill a house half as big as the 2,300-seater Coliseum. But that was before Christopher Bruce took over as artistic director. And Bruce is not one to think small. So this summer, with Rambert celebrating its seventieth anniversary and its return to London after a fouryear absence, Bruce wanted to make a big splash, Hence the Coliseum season, which starts tomorrow night.

"The Coliseum represents a huge financial gamble for us," Bruce admits. "To take contemporary dance there, when no other British contemporary dance company has ever been to the Coliseum . . . But I have no doubts about the quality of this company; we are in the Coliseum because we deserve to be there. And I think we deserve audiences of around 2,000 a night."

Trying to draw larger audi-ences has been a priority for Bruce ever since he took charge of a revamped Rambert two years ago. A priority, since audiences just couldn't get any worse. And, with Bruce using his enhanced Arts Council funding and his bigger company to open up the repertoire to a wider variety of styles, audiences have started to come back.

"I wanted a company that could turn its hand to anything," Bruce explains. "So if you go one evening you will see one side of Rambert, another evening a totally other face. Now I think I'm drawing people who would also go to see ballet. In the past season, our second year together, we performed to more people on tour in a year than Rambert as a contemporary dance company has performed to in any

"I feel I have put the company on a certain level, audiences. The reputation is there; we're asked a lot for foreign tours. Our repertoire is very wide, we have great versatility as a company, there is plenty of strong, powerful dancing on stage and we are making a real impression internationally.

Now it's time to make a real impression on London audi-

In the two years since he took over as artistic director, Christopher Bruce has seen Rambert progress in leaps and bounds

Rambert from its last appearance in the capital in 1992. There is a certain artistic cachet about London that we need, and there is a huge Rambert audience in London this season at the Coliseum I want to make it a regular thing that we come into London at least once a year and I want to expand those seasons, do specific projects for different kinds of spaces." The seventieth anniversary season at the Coliseum has been designed to celebrate Rambert's newfound versatility and its illustrious history. There are works by outside choreographers (Jiri Kylian and Ohad Naharin), a revival of a contemporary classic from the now-defunct London Contemporary Dance Theatre ter), and a rare revival of Dark which Elegies. Tudor Antony created for Ballet Rambert (as it was then known in 1937 when Rambert women all wore pointe shoes. And, as befits a company with one of the most successful

choreographers in the world at its head, the work of Bruce himself will be well represented. And, yes, his ever-popular Rooster (set to songs by the Rolling Stones) is on the bill. "Oh yeah, I am always under pressure to make more Roosters," says the man whose string of greatest hits Swansong.

includes

Ghost Dances and Cruel Garden. "But I'm hoping that the company's reputation is at a level where I can quietly experiment a little more, take more chances myself and not feel that I've got to produce the Bruce's own connection to 6 We Rambert goes back nearly 40 deserve vears. He trained at the school in 1959 and joined audiences Rambert in 1963. when it was still of around a classical ballet company. After 2,000 a Rambert transformed itself into night 🤊 a contemporary dence outfit in 1966, Bruce emerged as its leading dancer: during the next 20 years he became its most important choreographer. Bruce was also the last to be nurtured by the late Marie Rambert. whom he honours with a new work, Ouicksilver, which receives its world premiere at the Coliseum on Wednesday night. "She was never the most far-sighted person in terms of planning and management," Bruce says. "She was all of the moment — inspiration in the studio and the theatre - but she was not able to really de Valois did for the Royal Ballet. But her love of movement, her love of the arts, her dedication, her ruthlessness: I wanted to pay tribute to the qualities that have kept the company alive for 70 years.

"I went back to this old sepia photograph of her as a young girl holding this straw hat, a hat she insisted on having in the photograph. It epitomised her stubborn streak. The core of the work is the fact that I am wearing the hat now. All those people who have passed through, we've all worn the hat for a while. I wanted to say something about passing on from one generation to another, a celebration of dance, but then passing on to someone else."

Rambert Dance Company is at the Coliseum (3171-632 8300) from tomorrow night until Saturday

The British have their say

OPERA: Rodney Milnes on the premieres of new works by Peter Maxwell Davies and John Woolrich

ast week was quite a week: two new German Joperas at the start of it. two new British ones at the end, not had for a form that is supposed to be moribund. The first thing to be said about Peter Maxwell Davies's new piece to celebrate the Welsh National Opera's 50th anniversary is that he has fulfilled his commission with positively Brittenesque "usefulness" and practicability. The Doctor of Myddfai is on a Welsh subject, shows off the famous chorus to magnificent effect, and also gives them many small roles to sing. It is a real company show, and Friday's premiere at the New Theatre in Cardiff was conducted by the former long-serving music director Richard Armstrong and directed by David Pountney, who has had a relationship with WNO all his working life.

Pountney's libretto, despite being "set in Europe in the near future" and dealing with a tyrannous Ruler, faceless bureaucrats, a mysterious disease and general beastliness to the Brits, is not based on an idea by William Cash. The source is a Welsh legend about ancient healing powers handed down through successive Doctors of Myddfai. The present Doctor goes to a 1984ish Europe to confront the Ruler about an unacknowledged plague, infects the Ruler himself, becomes corrupted in the seat of power, and disappears to leave his 12-year-old daughter as the new Doctor. At the centre of each short

- about 90 minutes of music in all — is a compelling dialogue between Doctor and Ruler on the subject of power and idealism strongly reminiscent of the scene for Philip II and Posa in Don Carlos; each is cogently set by Maxwell Davies in his late, fined-down style, each the centrepiece of an expertly structured two-Maxwell Davies is not shy of the big operatic gesture: the scene of fervent Welsh hymnsinging interrupting the bureaucrats' deliberations packs a huge punch, and each act builds to a stirring climax.

If there have to be problems in so concise and ambitious a work, then they are to do with audibility. The composer slips into Shostakovich-ironic mode for the bureaucrat scenes much shricking woodwind and this combined with his angular, slightly mechanical word-setting means that too much text goes missing. Composer and librettist are doubtless addressing the problem.

I wasn't too sure about the grey, modernistic Huntley/ Muir decor, but Pountney's production certainly gripped the first-night audience and there are two fabulous central performances. Paul Whelan's Doctor has authentic fervour and suggests creeping corruption with uncomfortable vividness: the scene in which, dressed as a woman, he infects the Ruler is decidedly unsettling. Gwynne Howell's Ruler is, like Verdi's Philip II. ny ch more than a conventical villain, a figure of awareness and depth. They make a compelling pair of constantly shifting antagonists. The many supporting roles are taken with enthusiasm. It was bad luck on John Woolrich that his first opera, In the House of Crossed Desires, commissioned for

Howell and Paul Whelan

Music Theatre Wales to open the Cheltenham Festival. should have been premieral the following evening (at 'me Everyman Theatre) - comparisons can only be odious. Marina Warner's libreno is inspired by Apuleius's The Golden Ass and seen through the prism of the commedia dell'arte. Girl-dressed-as-boy (Columbine), overprotective guardian-magician (Pantaleone). Harlequin-turned-intodonkey, Mezzetin-dressed-asgirl, two further roles, all women. Not so much genderconfusion as gender-yawn. The action ends abruptly with the intervention of a dea ex machina, and one is simply left wondering "so what?".

Warner's text is bluntly phrased, and there is not much that Woolrich's easy. natural word-setting can do with it. The picaresque action suggests speed and dash, but the score proceeds at an unvarying moderato and for all the engaging colour he draws from just five players remains defiantly undramatic. This defeared the director Michael McCarthy: none of the characters sprang to theatrical life. The cast (Susan Corton, Adev Grummet. Debra Stuart and Buddug Verona James) worked themselves silly to little avail. Michael Rufferty conducted as best he could.

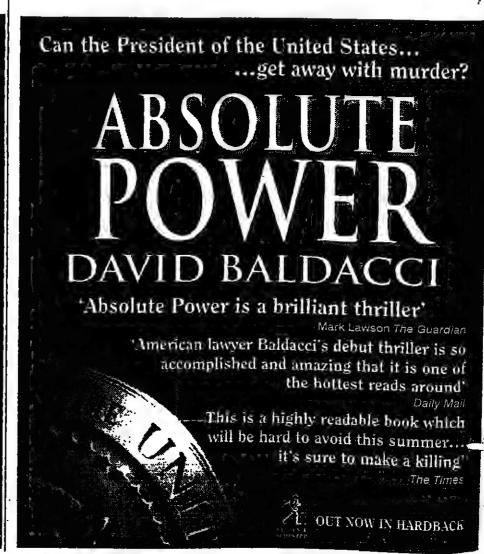

New digital Nokia. 100 hours of power!

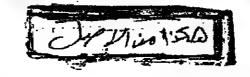

CROSSI, M.E. W.E. BROOFE AS WOOTEL ZARNICH CHOSEY

Offer subject to status and a standard eirfinia contract for each phone with Cellphones Direct Ltd. 185 Lower Rectmond Read, Richmond-open-Teames TWS 4LM. Fall written details and terms and conditions of this offer are available on request. 47 Copyright. Registered No. 2995272

BOOKS Bits and pieces: Bruce Chatwin's unpublished writings are collected together

REVIEW: Thursday

IN THE SHOPS: Now

Vanessa Rederave ioins the starry National Theatre cast for John Gabriel Borkman OPENS: Thursday REVIEW: Saturday

THEATRE

FILMS Cartoon capers in the cathedral: Disney brings out The Hunchback of Notre Dame

OPENS: Friday

REVIEW: Thursday

MUSIC

Rattle conducts the Orchestra of the Age of Enlightenment's birthday concert in the Queen Elizabeth Hall CONCERT: Saturday REVIEW: Next week

ARTS TUESDAY TO FRIDAY IN SECTION 2

CONCERTS: The Three Tenors play Wembley; plus the CBSO returns home

Though the combined years of Placido Domingo (left), José Carreras (centre) and Luciano Pavarotti now total 165, their power remains thrilling

Singin' in the rain

hat is it about Luciano Payarotti and the British climate? A few years ago he played Hyde Park, and the heavens opened. On Saturday he and his fellow tenors, José Carreras and Placido Domingo, sang in Wembley Stadium, and again we all got a Well, not quite all. In a wonderful reversal of the norm, those in "cheap" (£100) seats found themselves protected by the stadium roof, while those who had paid hundreds to be seated on the pitch were obliged to wring out their Versaces in the interval. A remarkable sight. The definition of a very rich person, by the way, is not someone who can afford a £995 VIP ticket, but someone who buys a £995 ticket and then leaves after 30 minutes because it's raining.

BACK in Birmingham after their heady month with Jenufa in Paris, Sir Simon Rattle and the City of Birmingham Symphony Orchestra are not yet in touch with the reality of their Summer Concert series in Symphony Hall. The marginal disagreement in ensemble in The Marriage of Figuro Overture suggested that they did not quite know where they were at the beginning of the concert. The false brass entry. or whatever it was that intruded on the harmonic predictability of Ravel's Bolero.

Yet nearly all the 50,000 crowd stuck it out and enjoyed themselves hugely. The royal box side of the stadium was entirely occupied by the vast stage. The decor? Roman Colosseum meets Tesco superstore, I think. Two huge screens projected our heroes in close-up, while giant banks of speakers sent their top notes and ever-more extravagant trills along with the spirited accompaniments of James Levine and the Philharmonia Orchestra — to all corners of northwest London. And what top notes! Though the tenors' combined years now total 165. their power remains thrilling. Early on, Carreras gave cause for concern. His pitch slithered, his upper register sounded forced. But he brought a searing intensity even to sugary ditties like Granada, and later seemed to reclaim his former, silvery lustre.

confirmed that they were still

The central feature in the Concerto No I in D minor.

not sure by the end

APOLLO VICTORIA cc 0171 416 055 cc 20ns 0171 344 4444/0171 420

0000 Grps 0171 418 6075/ 419 3821

Andrew Lloyd Webber's

STARLIGHT EXPRESS

THE FASTEST SHOW ON EARTH
White Ichucide runs 19.45 daily
Tue & Sat 3pm Tickets from £12.50

CAMEREDGE BO & 00 0171 494

5054 cc (no big fee) 312 1992/ 344 4444 Grps 413 3321/ 312 1970/ 494 5454

FAME

CHAPEL OF LOVE - PICCADELY

0171 287 4433/ 420 0000/ 344 4444 Tids also at HBAI/ Tower Records LONDON'S NEW COMEDY

SENSATION

OEY & GINA'S WEDDING

You're more than a member of the surface. you're part of the temby? Price includes show, live make and unlimited limiten buffer. OPENS. All.Y 5 Tues - Fri 7.45, Set 5 & 8.20, Sun 5 FALLY AR CONDITIONS.

COMEDY 0171 389 1731/

OC 344 4444 (2408) KEVIN WHATELY

TWELVE

ANGRY MEN

"Harold Pinter directs with superh precision" D.Tel Mon-Sel 7.45pm, Wed 2.30pm & Sel 4pm

LAST 3 WEEKS

TRIODET

PETER

VALIGHAN

THE MUSICAL THE MUSICAL
"FAME IS A FEEL-GOOD TREASHPY" Mel On Sunday
"EREATHTAKING" Independent
Ever 7:30, Mele Wed & Set 3.00

The new, slimline Pavarotti played rather safe. His sun-kissed timbre is still there; so is the handkerchief (not that much brow-mopping was needed in this weather). But some flamboyance has been shed along with the excess blubber. Nessun dorma was solid but tame.

On this occasion he was outperformed by Domingo, who was in inspired form. E lucevan le stelle sent shivers down the spine, and he lavished such honeyed charm on a Lehar aria that Wembley gave him the kind of roar usually reserved for Alan Shearer. There was great enthusiasm. too, when all three tenors came together for two medleys arranged by Lalo Schifrin: ripe mixtures of Broadway hits (sung in English - I think), Neapolitan foot-stampers, Spanish serenades and the inevitable O sole mio.

Of course the Three Tenors circus, currently criss-crossing the globe in ten lucrative leaps, is largely a cocktail of showmanship, hype and frantic mer-chandising. That this trio should reap so much fame and fortune, while other magnificent musicians languish in poverty and obscurity, does seem unfair.

But to deny the phenomenal charis-ma of these singers, when it has been so palpably demonstrated in such damp circumstances, would be churlish and daft. The Three Tenors may not provide the most sophisticated musical fare in the world, or even in Wembley. But thousands come away from their concerts happy, and you can't always say that after spending £350 to sit in the through tact and genue intimacy - particularly in the slow movement. But without a full-scale characterisation of the emotional turmoil, the poetic revelations are inevitably less meaningful.

RICHARD MORRISON

Even so, the shock to the nervous system occasioned by associating that Brahms with the Dukas of The Sorcerer's Apprentice indicated that Rattle and Andsnes must have got something right about the stature and integrity htts/c FOR YOUTH. Alone then it all all shain's beel young musicians, singers and dencers, aged from four its, singers and dencers, aged from four its, shain of their labelts over the coming spek at the 28th Matterial Festival of Matterials for Youth Price for Page (10 30am-figure) and a Music Trades Exhibition of 90.45m. Just proper before greater of 10 30am-figure) are proper prices properly assets.

GERALD LARNER

TODAY'S CHOICE

LONDON

MORTHANGER ABBEY: Serah Jane Holm plays Jane Austan's young victar of the Gothic shock-honor romance, the video restites of her day Matthew Francis offices his own adaptation. Grasswitch, Croome Hil, SE10 (0181-858 7755). Opens lonight, 7pm. Then Man-Sat, 7 45pm; mat Sat, 2,30pm. Until August 17

Lang. George Costigue and Paul J. Meditord in a sung-through musical seven from the songs of Randy Newman Chris Bond offects Tricy a. 399 Kibum High Rd. NW. (0171-328 1000) Opens tonight, 7pm, Then Mon-Set, 8pm; met Set, 4pm. Until August 10.

ELSEWHERE

INTERNATION: Oursert Presson, Julie Foster and Diame Keen head on Al-star cest in Alberta Franchis, Geneth Tudor

CHAPTER TWO Toro Carel and Dichapter two Tom Carel and Sharon Gless play unstrached New Yorkers whiting towards each other in Neil Smon's comedy Not his best. Gletguid, Shohesbury Avenue, W1 (9171-494 5055), Mon-Fri, Born, Sat, 8.15pm; mits Thurs, 3pm, Sat, 5pm. Until July 13

Li THE CHORCE: Eve Matheaun plays in mother to be in Claim Lucidizm's moring and sam-autobiographical play about living a Down's syndrome child, Judged Best New Play is the Marthy THA Americ. Dominic His directs. Orange Tree, Claimnes St., Richmond (0181-940 0141). Mon-Sat, 7.45pm; mals Truns (July 11), 2.30pm; Set, 4pm Until July 27.

El comeny of ennous: The New Shakespeare Company's season opens with Claire Lyth's production of the Bend's double-twin mis-up. Cast includes Orbina Business and Phika. Wicox, In rep. Open Air Theerre, Regent's Park, NW1 (0171-486 2431), Toolghs-Wed, Spm; met Wed, 2.30pm.

D. P. ESH AND BLOOD Third of Mile Arross in productions in the Milenod & Mediness season, and third play in Philip Osman's Devon trilogy long-suppressed jealbusies on a remote farm. Lyric, King Street, W6 (0181-741 2311). Tonight and tomorrow, 7 30pm. in rep.

EI AN INEFFECTOR CALLS: Suprem Daidry's powerld production, with David Russ as the all-knowing imperior; and

A delity guide to arts and anterturement spiled by Gillian Mi comic dissection of mantal stress English awkwardness and social embanarisment Price directs Alan Avokboum's britten embanar sment Theatre Royal, New Road (0127) 328 488). Tonighi-Sat, 7.45pm; mats Thurs, 2.30pm, Sat, 4pm.

CNELTCH/HAM! Music Theatre Water presents a contemporary production is small state. The Solidar a Tale. In moral lable of good venue sell (Everyman, Born), repeat performance tomorow. Meanwhile, over in the Pitty Pump Room (tonght, Born), the Serodiin Ossariat plays music by Shosiakovich, Svettenov and Beathous Heidrights tomorow meta-Shicasabovici, Sactearov and Beathouan Highlights Common Include a flute rectal by Emily Beynon (Pigwile Pump Room, 11am) and Richard Rodney Beanest performing in Caberat (Town Hall, 7om, 15am) and 1242 227 979), for information and tickets.

EXETER: The fautes James Galway conducts the London Mozert Players in Rossin's Overture, The Italian Get in Algers, Mozart's Jupier Symphony and Flute Concerto No 2 and

THEATRE GUIDE

■ House tuil, returns only Souse emis evaluation Seats et all prices

Edward Peel and Estelle kohlar as the pillars of society Gentels, Channg Cross Road, WC2 (9771-494 5065), Mon-Fr, 7.45pm; Sat, 8 15pm; mats Wed, 2.30pm, Sat, 5pm THE WAYSERLE WICHARD PRO Godfrey updates old Roman comedy (yes) pf night-time repe and secret pregnancy. Short, text and ingenous. Gate, 11 Pembridge Rd, W11 (D171-229 5367). Mon-Sat, 7:30pm

CL JOHN'S MATER Bath Wood's CI JOHN'S MATTIN: Bath Wood's Thornotive Studio production, here as part of the Merton Arts Festival imaginary account of Jean Genet hering two actresses to play the desperate, hate Wild temestre in Trie Maldat Wimbledon Shadio, 103 Broadway, SW19 (0181-542 6141), Preview Yonight, Spm. Opens tomorrow, Spm. Then Mon-Sal, Spm. Until July 27

THE ODD COUPLE Jack Klugman and Tony Pandal play the two divorced husbands, slob and fusspot, in an anjoyable ravival of Neil Simon's

Mendelsschn's Italian Symption, Tornombw, this popular chamber orchestre will play at the internation Musical Esteddiod in Llangollen, f 01978 950 236 for hotes, wird harm sterenberg. od m Llangullen, Ring information. University Great Half: Stocker Road (01392 499 123), Tonigni, 7 Jüpm

(01382 499 123). Tonight, 7 Julym MMCARTLE* All aboard the Deadwood stage as Germine Claven plays the rootin'-tootin' tombo, Calismitty Jame with Stephen McGann is while fall Hickork, Paul Meanyson's production of the missical of the him of the legend is a delighthal motities of comedy, drama, chorus girk, and waf-build grant urres.

Theater Royal, Grey Sheet (0161, 232 2061). Tonight-Sal, 7 Julym, Inali, Phurs, 2pm, Sal, 2 Julym, [6]

LONDON GALLERIES

EONDON GALLEHRES
Barbican Eve Arnold, in Febrspect (0171-638 4141). Brunnel Gellery.
Onomen Art (0171-637 2388).
Llewestlyn Alexander Not Inc Royal Academy 1996 (0171-620 1322)
Museum of the Moving Image Image in Visions of Future Images (0171-815 1350). Rational Gellery Degas
(0171-747 2885). National Portrati
Gallery, John Deacon photographs (0171-308 0053) Portfamil. George Devin Racert Partings (0171-321 0422). Royal Academy 226th
Summer Exhibition (0171-438 600)
V & A William Moms (0171-988 600)

Theetre Royal, Haymarkel, SW1 (0171-930-8800) Mon-Fri, Bpm, Sat B 15pm, mats Thurs, 3pm and Sat. 5pm. (5)

☐ RICHARD III David Traughter plays the large as a psychopathic court jester in Steven Printot's aneating production, up from Stratiora Bertaless, Sali Sheet, ECS (p1771-605) 8891). Tonight and temotrow, 7 15pm.

WAR AND PEACE, STORE Exparience's treatment of Totaloy's novel tells the story but forfets the teel invid content.

National (Cotteston), South Bank, SE1 (3171-928 2252) Tonght, 5-30pm Iomonow, 2pm In rep. (2)

LONG RUNNERS

Blood Brothers: Proceix (0171-369)
1733). ☐ Buddy Strand (0171-89)
8900). ☐ Cata. New London (0171-495 0072). ☐ Don't Dress for Disner: Duchess (0171-494 5070)
☐ Farme: The Bluelcel* Cambridge (0171-494 5083). ☐ Jefson Viciota Palace (0171-834 1317). ☐ Miles Belgon. Drury Lane (0171-494 5400).
☐ The Mouseting. St Martin's (0171-894 500). ☐ Stender Har Mapsily's (0171-494 5400). ☐ Startight Express Apolio Victora (0171-828 8665).
☐ Startight Express Apolio Victora (0171-828 8665).
☐ Startight Express Apolio Victora (0171-828 8665).
☐ Startight Express Apolio Victora (0171-828 8665). est Boulevard: Adelphy (U171-344 D055

Ticket attermation supplied by Secrety

CINEMA GUIDE

DEAD MAN (18) Suriong existently Western from Jim Jermison, with Arterica is witteness. Art Johnny Depp as an innocent at large in Arterica is witteness. Chalcon (0171-351 3742) Curzon West Exot (0171-369 1722) Cate (0171-727 4043) Ritey (0171-737 2121)

THE GODFATHER (18): Part one of Francis Cotocola's 1972 classic, a Visiting portrait of a Malia Isrnity. With Martin Brando and Al Pacins. Renot: (0171-837 8402)

NEW RELEASES

· MESSION, MIPOSSISLE (PO): Rousing set-pieces dwerf the start, and Torn Cruise's special agent, in this enjoyable revival of the television facility With Jon Vooght, Vanesse Redgrave, Emmanuale Beert, Director, Brian De Pairne. Burbicen & (0171-538 6891) Clapham Picture House (017

Panie.

Barbioton & (0171-838 8891)

Chaptum Picture House (0171-498 223)

Empire (1803-85 911)

Middle: Chalese (0171-366 5148)

Troundero & (0171-366 5148)

Troundero & (0171-327 6705)

Odeons: Kanafagton (01426 91488)

Marbio Arch (01426 914501) Swies

Cottage (01426 914086) Plazza & (0171-487 1234) Pitter (0171-737 2121)

Screen/Balter Street (0171-737 2121)

Screen/Balter Street (0171-737 2121)

Whiteleys & (0171-792 3332) Virgin Palinam Road (0171-370 2838) Rie (0171-264 9577)

Wit D BILL: Incidents galors, but no momentum in a preferatious Wastern jabout Wild Sill Hackols Wiln Jet

Geoff Brown's asses

films in Landon and (where indicated with the symbol •) on release across the country

CURRENT

LES OU BOIS DE BOULOGNÉ (PG): Revival of Robert Bresson's atypical but mesmérising 1945 drame, with Maria Casarès as the spurned lover who plots revenge Prince Charles (0171-437 8181) Riverside (0181-741 2255)

+ EYE FOR AN EYE (18) Sally Field saeks retribution for her daughter's death. Serial idier drama with a aensitive side. With Kieler Sutherland, Ed Harris, Director, John Schlit Plaza (5) (0171-437 1234)

+ HEAVEN'S PRISONERS (15): Boredom in the bayous with Alec Baldwin as a former homoide too seasows at a correct normatic Decision Sturnbing upon drug runners Decision; Phil Joarmou Odeons; Kensington (01428 914666) Swins Cottage (01428 914089) West End (01426 915574)

WINNER

BEST MUSICAL

JOLSON

WIE BERNIN CONLEY

"A RESOUNDING HIT"

Surfaley Telegraph On Monday Highlin MAIN Standard will play Johan Enge 7.30, Male Wed & Set 3.00

FIRLY AR-CONDITIONED

NOW BOOKING TO FEB 177

QUALT (15) Fuzzy, well-brad drama about woman's lives. Winona Ryder heads a splendid cast Director, Joseyn Moorehouse, Pisza (S) (0171-437 1234) UGI Whiteleys (0171-792 3332) Virgin Futhern Road (0171-370 2636)

◆ THE JUROR (18) Few gertune thrits as Alac Baldwin's Maha nenchman leans on Dami Moore's juro: One-ctor. MGMe: Chalses (0171-352 5096) Trocadero (5) (0171-434 (031) UCI Whiteleys (5) (0171-792 3933) Warrier (0171-437 4343)

(0171-4374343)

• THE NOCK (18) Ballgerent action move six on Alpanas, with Hoolas Cage, Sean Connery and Ed Harri: Clapham Picture House (0171-456 322) MiGHier Balant Street (0171-365 9772) Choirea (0171-362 5068)

Notting Hill Content (§) (0171-727 6705) Odsoms: Konsington (01426 914098)

West End (01428 915574) Ritzy (0171-737 2121) UC Whiteleys () (0171-737 2121) UCI Whiteleys (0171-792 3332) Virgin Pulham Ros (0171-370 2636)

 SECRETS & LIES (15) Mile Leigh s
Carries mumph; an uneven but Carries trumph: an uneven but absorbing tale about lamily like, as pairs, bords, and skeldons. With Brenda Blethyn and Timothy Spall ABCs: Partition Street (0171-8-0-0631). Blattesthery Avenue (0171-8-5-6279). Clapham Picture House (0177-898-323). Odeons: Kensington (01426-914666). Mezzamine (5) (01426-914696). Princella (0181-893-2233). Scrives on Balter Street (0171-905-2772). Virgin Pullium. Roed (0171-370-2636).

ENTERTAINMENTS

OPERA & BALLET Clyndebourne Factivel Open with The London Philharmonic longist, Set 13 at 5.10pt Orayagin, Tues 9 at 4.55pm Cost ten tette.
Thurs 11 at 5.15cm Thurs 11 at 5.15pm, Sun 14 at 4.15pm, Arabella, For possible returned schols cell

01273 M2813 ROYAL OPERA HOUSE 0171 304 1000 for Box Off & Standby mile. Tickets available on the day Ton't (First Night), Wed, Thur 7.00, Se 7.30 LA TRAVIATA Tomar 7.30 (only partorn ALZEA in concert

Pestinal Events 0171 212 9340
Torons 6.15 Pre-performence Tels.
Wed 1.00 Lecture: Verdi end the critic
Abramo Basevi. Fri 7.00 Play behind the Opera: II 101 C THEATRES

"ANDREW LLOYD WEBBER'S SUNSET BOULEVARD Winner of 7 Tony Awards Including

BEST MUSICAL PETULA CLASK 24-R CREDIT CARD BOOKINGS CALL 0171 344 0055 (big fee) GRP BOOKING 413 3302 (big fee) Mon-Set 7.45 Mass Thur & Set 3.00

NUSEUMS

MUSEUMS & EXHIBITIONS The Times will be publishing its' guide to the country's museums on Soturday 13 July To reach an audience of over * 1.7 million Contact July Cooper Tel. 0171 680 6223 Fax. 0171 481 9313 Source NRS Dec 95 - May 96

programme was to have been Martha Argerich playing both Bartók's and Prokofiev's Third Piano Concertos, in her absence through indisposition, Rattle and Leif Ove Andsnes took the opportunity to develop their mutual relationship with Brahms's Piano

CRITERION 369 1737/844 4444

REDUCED

SHAKESPRARE

COMPANY

THE COMPLETE WINDS

OF WILLIAM

HARLESTANE (#244-4)

"Hillerfous" Tirses

Lam The et 3, 521 et 5

THE COMPLETE HISTORY OF AMERICA (abridged) Tuestry at fight AR CONDITIONED

8080/0171 420 0000 (blog bes), Gipt 0171 416 8075/413 3321/420 0200

CREASE

and SHONA LINESAY
"Fast, furlous, flatting & fun, fan, fins." Doly histor Essa 7.51, Mass Wad & Sal 3

DALY TO BOX OFFICE

CLOSES 19 OCTOBER

58 cc (840 tee) 24tr 7 days (177 464 500(84) 4444/20 0000 Gpp 464

5454/413 3311/312 8000

MISS SAUGON

THE CLASSIC LOWE STOWY

NOW IN ITS TTH SEMESTROMAL YEARS EVENT AG Made and & See Sum

عالا لمالا ها كبيم وتبعد أعمل

& some perts - apply B.O. FOR TELEPHONE/POSTAL

CALLERS

9171 494 5060 (BIGG FEE)

DUCHESS 0: 0171 494 5070 0: 344

4444 (no blog lee)/420 (0000 (plug fee) 0171-413 3221 Even Spm, Wed mail 3pm, Set Spm & 8.30 "A SAUCY COMEDY" E. Skd

HOW IN 178 BE YEAR

DON'T DRESS

FOR DINNER

"Gloriously Outrageous" T.O.s.

CBSO/Rattle Symphony Hall, Birmingham

DUKE OF YORK'S 0171 836 5122

STANE THE SETS THE

BY JERVES

THE ALAN AYCKBOURN & ANDREW LLOYD WESSER

HUBICAL

"HAD THE AUDIENCE BUCKLING UP WITH LAVEHTET" ET LE

LIMITED SEASON

Exes 7.45, Made Wind & Set Spin

PORTURE NO & DC 0171 Res

THE WOMAN IN BLACK

The second second

play for years" D.Meil MEMI SETTE STALYSAR

don-Set Born Mats Town 3per Set 4per

PORTUNE Cor, Gds 0171 836 2228 "One of the Boset performances on the West End stage" What's Co ELIZABETH MANUFIELD as

MARIE

"Outle Automishing" IBC "Breath of tresh air" Times EVERY SUNDAY 130pm

OARROCK 0171 494 5085/ 0171 312 1990 (no blog look

Forget

to MAJOR AWARDS The Royal National Therete production JB Princip/s

AN INSPECTOR CALLS

DJ

thestrically imaginative purionces of the 1990s" (Srs.

Stand TWO HOURS OF

STURBULES, VISUALLY STURBING DRAMATOTOL

ton Fn 7.45 Set 500 & 8.15.

Wed max 2.39

One of the most infusion

m into

And there does seem to be room for development. What they offered on this occasion was a tame interpretation, with the planist seriously underpowered and occasion-

Travellers out of sorts ally struggling in the first movement while the conductor somewhat self-consciously attempted to inject an element of passion wherever the or-chestra has a significant contribution to make.

It is true that the big-fisted assault is not the only way to approach the Piano Concerto in D minor. Andsnes demonstrated how much of the heart of the work can be revealed

QUELOUD 494 5355/944 4444

AZD DOD STAR TEAM JUGGLING WITH

CHAPTER TWO

HAYMARKET 990 8503/944 4444 #20 0000 Even 8,77m Mar 3,5m 5/8.15

RANDALL KLUGMAN

THE ODD COUPLE

A CLASSIC, SMONE'S BEST AND PUNNEST God

"A GREAT NIGHT OUT" DEED

HER MAJERTY'S 28y 494 5400

bing tee) CC 344 4444/420 0000 (bin ne) Grps 494 5454/413 3311,436 597

ANDREW LLOYD WESSER'S AWARD WRINING SUSSCAL

THE PHANTOM OF

THE OPERA

Directed by HARCLD PRINCE NOW BIXE TO MAY ST Even 7.45 Mats Wed 8. Set 3.90. Apply to Blas Office child for return

LONDON PALLADEM BO/CC

0171 454 5020/S44 4444 (E1 161 sen

Cay 400 0000 Gpp 0171 312 8000 RUSS AIROT RETURNS TO THE WEST BIO A MANUAL THEATRICAL EVENT DAY MA

OFTARK THE SPECTACULAR YEAR LONG. BARTS MARTES SECTION OF THE SPECIAL PROPERTY AND THE SPECIAL PROPERTY OF TH

S.Times See 7.30 Main Wed & Set 2.30 DOME GOOD SEATS AVAIL.

NOW FOR WEEKDAY PERFE

LYCEUU & 855 1805/4980 500 800

364 4444 (big less)Grps 415 6025 TIM POCE &

MEDIEW LLOYD WEIGHTS

JESUS CHRIST

SUPERSTAR

OVER SEASON TO THE CONTROL OF THE CO

AWARD WIT

SHARON

JACK

NESSMAID (17) 236 2211/ 0171 344 4444

STEVEN BERKOFF in

CORIOLANUS

Sat at Spen & 7.30 pag

MERINALD 017: 28 2011/

STEVEN BERKOFF IN

CORIOLANUS

"A stompt" Bre Standin "T's belliant" Mat on Sun

Set at 3pm & 7.30 pm

LAST 2 WEEKS - ENDS 29 JULY

ATTIONAL THEATRE BO 0171 929

CONTROL Day I am VICE 80 0171 05 002 CC 0171 04 4079 246 0171 344 444/420 0000 Gaps 0171 413 3311 #35 5588 THE ANDREW LLOTO WESSERY

T.S. S.DT NTERVATIONAL

CATS

"A triumph" Eve Standa "It's intiliant" Mail on Sun

PHOENIX BOYCE (1771 200 1770)

RLOOD BROTHERS Erings the exclience to its feel and rearing its approval" D Mai Even 7.45 Main Thurs 3 Set 4 PALACE THEATRE 0171-434 080

MUSICAL LES MISERABLES MORE SKITTS TITTE nece not admitted

MACHONAL THEATRE BO 0771 928 2222 Caps 0771 920 0741/2/My on big 10771 920 0000 OLIVER Ten't, Torser 7, 15 J.
LITTLE NIGHT MUSIC Music and Lytics by Stephen Sondhein, book by high Wiseler, LYTTELTON Tan't, Torser 7, 20 years are many serior by Michaeler Within LOTTERLOE Ten't 8, 20, Torser 20 WAR AND PEACE adapted by Helen Editoration from the rovel by
Lan Tolstoy. DALLY FROM BOX OFFICE MARTIN GUBRER

A New Musical by BOUBLE & BOHD MERIG MYCHELD PRESENTED WIND AT 7 Mon-Set 7.45 Mere Thur & Set 200 AIR-COOLED THEATRE CLEEP'S 494 5590/344 4441/ MARIA FRIEDRIAN IN SONDHEMAAPINE'S Award-winning Impelant

Even 7.45 Mars Tool & Set 1200 LATECOMETS NOT ADMITTED WHALE ALEXTOPIALM S.N. PASSION MOTION PLEASE BE PROMPT. BEST OPEN AT LEG LINETIED NO. OF SEATS AVAIL. DAY FROM BOX OFFICE. OLD VIC 928 7616/312 NEW COMPANY

THE PETER HALL COMPANY
Dunic Rictori
Digge Patcher
Geogle Withers John McCalliam
OSCAR WILDES WASTERPIECE AN IDEAL HUSBAND "GREAT & CLOWCUS" S. Time
Non-Sel 730, Weis Wed 8 Sel 300
AM CONDITIONED THEATHE
TOP: THE HERBAL NED TOR 7.50

OPEN AIR Regunts Park (1171-466 2491/1933 cc (no lee) cc 0171 344 4444 (Ottos) (Big) Fee) COMEDY OF ENGINES Bygs (LDL), May Ward 2.30 THE TEXT From

BEST MUSICAL Christ/Drame America Player & Players Brown Houselo Au WILLY MURSELL'S

ec 24hrs (big fee) 0171-344 4444 Gps 0171 413 2311 THE WORLD'S MOST POPULAR Even 7.30 Mats Thu & Set 2.30 until the interval Limited NO, of Seats Avail Presence Edward 0171 407 5400 Foot Cell 400 0100 (RVin Beg family 4 4444 Groups 450 0200 (RVin Beg family MONE PREVIOUS CONTROL Committee August Mandalant presents

GO (000) Mon-Set 8, Mate Wed, Set 8 MICHAEL, BALL

"LIGHTS UP THE TOWN" E SM "A JEWIEL IN THE WEST END CROWN" S.Tel ROYAL SHAKESPEARE

LONDON (DITT) BUS 1991) MERCAN RICHARD OF TON 7.15 THE PIT: THE PROPERCIAN WOMEN Ton't 7.15 STRATFORD (01789 29522) RST: MACBETH Ton't 7.20 SWANT THREE HOURS AFTER MARRIAGE TON'T 7.50

SAVIDY (1171 665 966 25 0171 420 0100 (no big) bell ANGELA THORNE COMMUNICATING DOORS

by ALAN AYCKSOURN
"WONDERFULLY FUNNY AND GENUNELY SCARY" D.Tel
Eves 7.30 Mais Wed 8 Set 3.00 Wed most all reads E12

BNAFTESSELVYY (1771 1776 CSSS) D171 413 1886 (144/ro big loc) Groups (171 413 SS21 TOMMY PAUL REATING KIN WILDE IN TORREY OR MIS WARDS "BREATHTAKINGLY

MINAGENATIVE LINEWSSABLE' I Mon-Sai Spin, Wed & Sai Jam BOOK NOW! LINETED DAILY AVAILABILITY GOOD SEATS AVAIL FOR MATS

ET IMARTINES 0171 836 1443 (no bling feet) 0171 420 0000 (bling feet) 0171 344 4444 (bling feet) Groupe 0171 312 1994 (no bling feet) Even 8, Tues 2.45, Set 5 & 8

INTRAMO THE ATMS Ray OR 6 44 (no tee) 0171 890 8800 cc (btg tee) 0171 344 4444/420 0000 Groups 0171 413 3321/0171 436 5586 BUDDY The Buddy Holly Story TERRELIANT" Sun BUDDY SPUL STUFF BIN TO

BODDA NULSEATS 1/2 PRICE FR 5.50 A 8.50
NLL SEATS 1/2 PRICE FR 5.50 PERF
TO MEAVERLY YEAR

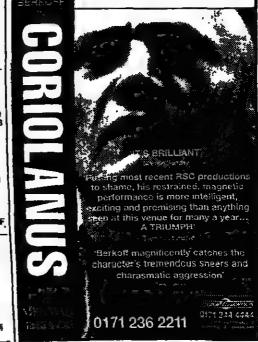

VALDEVALLE 0171 606 9067 344 4444 Grps 560 6793 Julian Stade's SALAD DAYS "Tell of delight" Obs Directed by NED SHEWAN Mon - Set B. Mats Wed 230, Set 4 VICTORIA PALACE BO & cc (no ma) B171 834 1317 cc (olog (se) 0171 344 4444/312 1998/497 9977 WYNDHAMS 369 1736/344 4444/ GD 00001Errs 8,Mai Vind 3,5st 5/8.15 Secure 0171 312 1997 (no lee) MORA LISTER (171 426 5388 (toky test) in Henry James THE ASPERN PAPERS

> To advertise in this section please call the Entertainments 0171 680 6222 or fax

> > 0171 481 9313

WHETEHALL 0171 388 1735 VOYELRZ COMMG N.J.LY

LAST TWO WEEKS MUST EMD 20 JULY

Matthew Parris

■ If we don't believe in God, what possible foundation do we have for civil order?

I thas been odd, in recent weeks, to find Nigella Lawson and George Carey almost in one another's embrace. Nigella Lawson has been writing in The Times pleading the cause of atheism. She said she was brought up as an atheist and that, for her, atheism is more than a failure to be persuaded of another's creed: it is almost a creed in itself. It becomes a belief system carrying values of its own, values we can live by.

Values that we can live by have been a theme of Dr Carey's recent public statements too. He has been arguing the need for morality in modern Britain, and suggesting in particular that we should rediscover moral objectivism—a confidence that right and wrong are not just a matter of personal opinion, but objectivism that the should rediscover moral opinion, but objective feats.

It does not escape our notice, however, that Dr Carey is the Archbishop of Canterbury. As the head (after the Queen) of the Church of England and the closest an Anglican believer can find to God's representative on Earth, the Archbishop is not a disinterested party in the matter of objective moral systems, We may for he is here to find recommend one, that a a particular one. You could call it stable Christian Truth. society can it starts from the assertion of the be securely existence of a defounded ity, and proceeds to argue that this only on a lie divine being has ordained a system of morality, the "truth" (or authority) of which springs from its ordination by this God.

The deity remains the essential, the original fact: and what this God has ordained to be our duty becomes our duty not because it will make us happier (though it may), nor because it offers a system of morality contentment and civic order (though it may), but because it is the divine will. Were it the case (as some readings, including mine, of Jesus's thought suggest) that this God would have us subvert social stability, murder contentment and wreck civic order, that would not make the morality any less divine or undermine its power to command. One cannot, therefore, argue backwards from the apparent workability of a divinely ordained system of morality to its truth, its rightness, its authority, or to the existence of the divinity. Tribal religions with their accompanying moral systems may work well, but that does not mean they are true or that their gods exist. Dr Carey and his bishops may have their opinions about the morals we should live by — may be able to describe a system of human obligation which would work very well for Britzin but their authority to describe it can flow only from their claimed acquaintance with the divine will.

We should look out for two sleights of hand here. One is the attempt to import the divine will into moral pronouncements without actually mentioning it. Thus, bishops may implicitly claim (without stating the claim) to have a special authority for their pronouncements, omitting to remind their audience that only those who believe in their God should accord them this authority. Or they may try the opposite trick and seek to invest authority in try the opposite trick and seek to invest authority in their God by persuading us of the workability of their morality: "Britain needs this morality: my God has ordained this morality: therefore worship my God."

Bishops try both tricks. The second ("mankind cries out for it; therefore God wills it: therefore God") was most coherently and honestly set out by the great ly set out by the great Bishop Joseph Butler twoand-a-half centuries ago, and is today feebly echoed in a kindly but confused way, with less candour or coherence. Very often in modern times the argument backwards from the desirability of morals to the existence of a divine moraliser has become a subconscious attempt by doubting cierics to persuade themselves of the truth of their calling. Though I cannot see into the mind of Tony Blair. I fear this is true of many Christian socialists.

But what of Nigella Lawson? You may remember we left her in the embrace of George Carey. Nigella Lawson too has argued from the workability of a belief to its truth. Protesting her own disbelief in God (which I share), she goes on to say that this is not an absence of belief, but a conviction—an alternative, humanistic belief-system of its own, and a very workable one.

his, a rather Shavian view, is a dangerous jump. I am writing this in Derbyshire on Sunday, on the working assumption that News International at Wapping has not been hit by a meteorite. in which case my thoughts will not be required. However, it is only in the sense that I should be amazed to discover the opposite that this is a "conviction". If it became an article of faith that there could be no meteorite, my grip on reality would be the weaker. It may be true (as I think) that Nigella and I have found rules to live by without God. But this does not mean that God does not exist. It could equally be the case that the loss of faith spreading throughout man-kind will utterly destroy moral systems and social stability, and finally wreck human order. This would not mean that atheism was a mistake. It would mean that civil order can be securely founded only upon Our workforce is said to lack education, yet the evidence shows the contrary, writes Tim Congdon ne of Britain's great weaknesses in international economic competition is supposed to be the inadequate skills of its labour force. As part of the current debate about Britain's position in the world, this proposition has become very familiar. An example is provided by the World Economic Forum's recent annual rankings of "competitiveness". Overall. Britain had moved up a few places to stand higher than Germany, France and Italy, but is still far behind its neighbours in education and training.

The Labour Party has expressed particular concern. Tony Blair's new manifesto. New Labour. New Life for Britain, claims that "we have too little investment in the application of new technologies, education and skills" and adds. "Foreign investors... are concerned about the poor level of our skills and education." The Shadow Chancellor, Gordon Brown, is interested in theories of so-called "endogenous growth", which focus on the role played by increases in "human capital" in raising national output and living standards. He and other Labour politicians argue that Britain invests too little in human tal such as buildings and equipment.

A doctrine which appeals to both the World Economic Forum, an international gathering of business-minded eminent persons, and Mr Brown, a socialist politician, must surely have some substance. Much is undoubtedly wrong with Britain's education system and its vocational training, as with most countries' But is it really true that we particularly suffer from ill-educated and underskilled workers? Is this an unsatisfactory aspect uniquely of Britain's capital, as distinct from physical capi-economy and society?

If workers in this country were on average less well-educated than elsewhere. Britain ought to have lost

Proving British talent is best ground most heavily in business activities in which human capital is at a premium. In other words, its share of world production ought to have fallen in industries in which skills, experience and the powers to reason and innovate are most important, and to have been maintained or increased where production depends on brawn or the constant repetition of the same task.

But that is not at all the case. Although Britain has lost market share in many industries over the past 30 years, its record is far from one of uniform failure. In some areas it has gained ground against the competition. Contrary to the World Economic Forum/Gordon Brown orthodoxy, these areas of relative strength have usually been knowledge and skill-intensive. They have required large inputs of human capital, not major investments in aleast equipment and large limits.

plant, equipment and buildings.

One of the most striking international successes has been in pharmaceuticals. In the early 1970s, the British pharmaceuticals industry had a surplus in international trade, but it was a long way behind its German and Swiss counterparts. Moreover, the leading German pharmaceutical companies had grown far more rapidly in the 25 years after the Second World War than the British.

But since the 1970s, British pharmaceutical companies have developed a more profitable list of new drugs and enjoyed higher growth of sales revenue than their European neighbours. They have in fact done particularly well compared with the German competitors, with Glaxo Wellcome now the largest pharmaceutical company in the world. By contrast, 25 years ago Glaxo was a relatively minor player. Now, its employees are paid an average of some £37,000 a year.

This success has been largely based on the knowledge and insights of research chemists — in other words, on the high quality of the human capital at work. Given the performance of this part of British industry over the past 25 years, it would obviously be absurd to claim that it operates with human capital inferior to that in other countries. There is a warning here against a misplaced national neurosis about our alleged "under-education".

any international companies in a wide range of industries locate the most highly skilled and research-intensive parts of their operations in Britain, and have been doing so increasingly in the past few years. A common pattern is that design and marketing, which rely on high-quality human capital, are carried out in Britain, whereas production, dependent on machines and low-quality human capital, is done elsewhere. In particular, critics of Britain's supposed "undereducation", particularly in modern high-tech activities, might puzzle about the abundance of computer skills here. The level of personal computer ownership per head is higher in Britain than in Germany, France or Italy.

One branch of economic activity is based, perhaps more than any other, on individuals' skill and judgment, on the application of human capital rather the repetition of routine tasks on machines. This is financial services. In such businesses as banking. insurance underwriting, and bond, equity and foreign exchange trading, huge risks have to be appraised and taken every day. The sums of money at stake are often enormous multiples of the salaries that the employees are being paid. Almost everything depends on the accuracy of the judg-ments they make and their skill in execution. But apart from a few computers and items of office equipment, machinery is still virtually irrelevant. If Britain were deficient in human capital, it ought to lag behind other countries in international financial services. In fact, the financial services industries in the City of London, and in some smaller regional centres such as Edinburgh, are acknowledged world leaders. Moreover, the evidence is overwhelming that these human-capital-intensive industries are expanding rapidly compared to other industries in this country. Their dising growth is not being constrained by a shortage of suitably qualified people.

An estimate of the precise number of people working in "the Citydepends on how it is defined. Nevertheless, a reasonable view is that the high-value-added, high-income international financial services that distinguish the modern City employ about 300,000 people today, compared to about 175.000 in the early 1970s. It is well-known, even notorious, that City incomes are high by British standards; they are also probably the highest — in a well-defined walk of life — anywhere in Europe.

The Lom

The annual New Earnings Survey has been tracking incomes in different industries and for different types of worker for 28 years. In 1968, the average gross salary for a full-time non-manual male in Great Britain was £1,648 a year, whereas in the City it was £1,966. Last year, the figure for Great Britain was £23,052, but in the City it had soared to £40,986. It may now be heading towards £45,000 a year. Rudi Muller, who used to be the chief executive of UBS in London, has complained about high salaries and costs in the City. Apparently, if surprisingly, typical banking incomes in Zurich and Geneva are lower. But to suggest that high salaries will undermine the City is rather like criticising the restgurant which is so full no one goes there any more.

Britain is not under-educated and under-skilled. Labour's valid complaint is not the lack of human capital in this country, but the unevenness of its distribution. Many City dealers and Glaxo chemists now earn incomes which are several times above the national average. But has the Labour Party yet learnt that the best way to make incomes more equal is to bring the national average closer to City and Glaxo standards, rather than taxing success and subsidising failure?

The author is managing director of Lombard Street Research.

I'm a guru; are you one too?

Peter Riddell says

Blair has learnt from American experience, not continental theory

ony Blair is proving an elusive target for the Tories. After wasting two years firing off in all directions, Tory strategists have refocused on a new, and, they claim, equally dangerous beast. They are portraying Mr Blair as an importer of continental social democrat ideas. But he has already shifted his position, to the dismay of left-wing intellectuals.

The Conservatives' dilemma is highlighted by Blair's Gurus, a new study of the intellectual roots of Blairism, written by David Willets, the Public Services Minister who is the Tory leadership's resident ideologist and part-time media briefer. The pamphlet, which will go to all Tory MPs, is the intellectual arm of the "New Labour, New Danger" campaign so clumsily launched last week. Mr Willetts has written an elegant and incisive analysis of books by eight academics, politicians and jour-nalists: John Gray, Will Hutton, John Kay, Frank Field, Simon Jenkins, Andrew Marr. Peter Mandelson and David Marquand. The eight do not agree on everything and Simon Jen-kins is not even remotely a Blairite. But together they have shaped centreleft beliefs, such as that social cohesion is threatened and insecurity increased by globalisation and flexible labour markets, that British capitalism is short-termist, that control of the public sector has been centralised to an unprecedented extent since 1979, that Britain's constitution needs to be drastically modernised, and that Britain should adopt the continental model of social capitalism.

These views are depicted as somehow un-British since they reject our distinctive and individualist traditions and prefer continental social

The real story would tell of Mr

Blair's distance from these gurus rather than his closeness to them. The largely unappreciated breach between the Left's thinkers and Mr Blair was vividly illustrated by an article in yesterday's Observer. The paper is edited by one of the eight. Hutton, and he was joined by another four, Field, Gray, Kay and Marquand. They argue that "the programme so far championed [by Mr Blair] falls far short of what is required. The risk is not in doing too much. Rather it lies in doing too little." Marquand has complained that "new" Labour seems "stuck in the traditional British rut of piecemeal, voluntary incrementalism, buttressed by a traditional British unwillingness to learn from continental Europe".

The disenchantment is mutual. Some of Mr Blair's key advisers are scathing about what they see as the patronising and out-of-touch attitudes of some of the gurus. It is partly Mr Blair's own fault. Last January, when he began talking about the "stakeholder society", he initially failed to make clear that what he meant was a general idea of social in-clusion and One Nation, rather than new statutory rights. He wants to encourage businesses voluntarily to take a broader view of their responsibilities, but does not back the Hutton-Marquand view that the legal structure of companies and financial institutions should be changed.

Apart from moral philosophers such as John Macmurray, Mr Blair is influenced more by clever, practical people such as Derry Irvine, the Shadow Lord Chancellor who gave him his first start as a barrister, than by theorising intellectuals. He has recently written of his wariness of grand intellectual plans.

insofar as Mr Blair has gurus, they are from across the Atlantic. Amitai Etzioni, the American advocate of communitarianism, has at fected "new" Labour thinking on social responsibilities and its policies on law and order and the family. Even more influential on both Mr Blair and Gordon Brown have been architects of President Clinton's economic policies, such as Robert Reich and Larry Summers. They stress social benefits, work incentives and skills training as the route to job creation and growth, which Mr Brown views as more important than traditional debates about the level of ut Tony Blair's political approach has been affected by the failures, as well as the successes, of Mr Clinton. This is partly tactical (the need never to be distracted from the "message") and partly strategic (the need to address the worries of ordinary working people. Middle America or England). Here the guides are American political advisers such as James Carville and commentators such as E.J. Dionne (whose thesis is summarised in the current New Statesman). Blairism is less than some left-wing ntellectuals would like, or Mr Willetts claims. Apart from constitutional reform — significantly omitted from Labour's five key pledges in England, but not in Scotland and Wales — Blairism consists of promising small, incremental improvements, rather than far-reaching visions of social or economic upheaval. It offers a kinder, gentler version of Majorism, with a fresh management team. Of course, then? are many doubts and questions about how it would work in practice. But that promise is perhaps what voters want, and it is why Mr Blair is such a hard target for the Tories to hit.

Blair's Gurus by David Willetts, MP. costs £7.50 from the Centre for Policy Studies. 12 Rochester Row, London

Music all

WHILE Wembley reverberated on Saturday night to the Three Tenors, Westminster danced to a different tune. Betty Boothroyd was reliving her days as a Tiller girl.

reliving her days as a Tiller girl.

Madam Speaker joined hands with Shirley Bassey and Elaine Paige and sang lustily in a farewell ribute to Sir Fergus Montgomery, the retiring Tory MP for Altrincham and Sale.

The music-hall singsong at a dinner for Sir Fergus also featured an appearance from the lustily voiced cabaret artiste Barbara Cook, a sucker for sequins. But it was Madam Speaker, in jaunty leg-kicking form, who stole the show when the group burst into a six-hanky performance of Every Time You Say Goodbye.

Sir Fergus, fondly regarded as the Member for Broadway and the West End, was reluctant yesterday to discuss the evening, which was attended by some 80 friends. "It was a private party, and that's all there is to say about it. Shirley is an old friend of mine and it was my last party. Numbers were obviously limited." All those thousands who got soaked watching the Three Tenors bid farewell must be scrunching their scoresheets with frustration.

Double billed

THEY may have organised the Olympics with aplomb, but the Catalans' reputation for efficiency collapsed last week when architects from across the globe rioted at the World Architecture Congress.

been sold for a conference offering only 2,000 seats. Police lost control of a simmering mob of architects outside the hall. It was only when Sir Norman Foster agreed to address the baying crowd of builders that order was restored.

Think pink

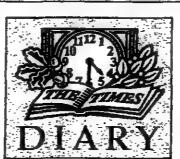

A GLORIOUS dawn beckons tomorrow, for the chiffon queen Dame Barbara Cartland will be 95. She plans to celebrate quietly with her sons at home, although she enjoyed a vast birthday cake (with pink icing laid on with a trowel) at a party a few days ago.

Clouding the festivities, however, is the royal divorce. She believes the Princess of Wales has been shabbily treated. "I sent her one of my books for her 35th birthday, and received a thank-you letter by return. But I do wonder if she received anything from the Royal Celebrations for her 95th will be "pink, pink, pink", she says. "I'm still writing a book a formight. I may be dead before next year but I have a lot to do before I die."

The best seat in Paris yesterday at Versace's fashion show was occupied by Lisa Marie Presley, the democracy of c.1960-80. Mr Willetts has a point in distinguishing between the Anglo-American model of capitalism and what is trendily known as the Rhineland, or Rhenish, model. He also demolishes some of the more exaggerated arguments about insecurity and the defects of British capitalism. especially since Germany and France are trying to liberalise

However, Mr Willetts is criticising

the wrong people, and exaggerating the importance of these gurus. Several have certainly influenced the general debate on the Left, and Mr

Blair has paid attention to the views of John Gray, John Kay and Frank Field; but Peter Mandelson, who is on the list because of the book he wrote with Roger Liddle - The Blair

Revolution - is more of an apologist for Blairism than a guru.

their markets.

Ms Presley can't be described as a clothes-horse, but now that the Duchess of York is stomping the catwalk, anything can happen. So Versace has signed up Lisa Marie for his next advertising campaign.

Evening wear

AMID the clashing garish shirts that Nelson Mandela plans to wear for his state visit to Britain this week nestles a comparatively sober number: a black, shiny affair with long sleeves.

The President's aides tell me

The President's aides tell me that this is his chosen attire for the white-tie state banquet at Buckingham Palace. "He will not wear white-tie. so he wears this instead. He buttons it to the top and wears it without a tie. He looked smart in it vised to invest — against its better judgment — in the sweetest sherry it can find. Mandela is no toper, but he loves the odd glass of sherry, and the sweeter the better.

hannesburg with Queen Noor of

For pre-prandial drinks, Buckingham Palace would be well ad-

My, my FRANTIC sucking of FRANTIC sucking of boiled sweets took place in the royal box yesterday as Wimbledon's Centre Court witnessed its first streaker. The young lady who took to the court in a G-string and pinafore brought roars of laughter from the Duke of Kent. Others in the box modestly diverted their interest by rootling around in the royal sweet bag around in the royal sweet bag.

"Boiled sweets in the royal box is a tradition going back to the days of Fred Perry and beyond," explained a Centre Court veteran. Which puts paid to those who had expressed their concern that the Duchess of Kent had plumbed new depths of informality for the Royal Family by chewing gum when she handed out prizes after the women's final. No: it wasn't gum at all. In skittish mode, the Duchess was getting the best out of a flavoursome humbug.

Family show

SIX GENERATIONS ON, the Constables are still painting. In Oxford, Sasha Constable, 25, who is the great great great grand-daughter of John Constable, has just opened her first solo exhibition at the Loco Gallery.

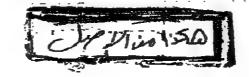

"There's been an artist in every generation since John Constable painted The Haywain," she says. "My father's an artist and I'm carrying on the tradition." With a degree in sculpture behind her, she describes her work as surreal, and

Art in the genes: Sasha forebear would have appreciat," her efforts. But she was drawn irresistibly towards the easel because she was brought up with Constable memorabilia. "His drawings, his paint-brushes, easels and palettes," We've even got his babyrattle." Don't tell the Getty Museum.

DIIC

Mary Mary Mary

Tim Congdon

THE TORY GAUNTLET

How Clarke could help to win the election

When Kenneth Clarke said yesterday that his chances of delivering significant tax cuts before the general election were "not very good", he was not just engaging in the Treasury's traditional game of deflating Budget expectations. Nor was he throwing away the Government's last hope of winning the general election. The Chancellor was facing up to the realities of responsible financial management. The Treasury's updated forecasts, to be published tomorrow, will show public borrowing far exceeding the targets set in the Budget and revenues falling well short of expectations, even without any tax cuts.

Britain's consumers and businesses seem already to have already helped themselves to a substantial tax cut — by finding ways of avoiding the payment of VAT and corporation tax. The distribution of these unintended tax cuts has certainly not been fair. The more the Government can do to close loopholes in the tax legislation, the more scope there will be for broadly distributed reductions in tax rates that would benefit everbody. But the lost revenues must be recovered before they can be given out.

Against this background, the more doggedly Mr Clarke pursues his plans to control public borrowing and spending, the more he will help the Government's re-election chances and sow confusion in Labour's ranks. Voters are unlikely to be much impressed by the promise of future Tory tax cuts, which many will in any case discount as a pre-election ploy. The threat of higher taxes under Labour would probably be a more effective electoral weapon.

Mr Clarke's best strategy for the Budget not only in economic, but also in political terms - might not be to cut taxes but to stress the importance of controlling public borrowing. If he could also identify further substantial reductions in government spending, he could then challenge Labour to endorse his spending cuts or to come out into the open with plans for higher taxes and borrowing. This rigorous approach, which seems to be finding favour among some Tory strategists, would do more to put Labour on the spot than a Dutch auction over taxes which might simply confirm in the eyes of the public — and the financial markets - that they are witnessing a desperate Government in its last throes. By continuing to chip away at both public borrowing and spending, Mr Clarke would contribute to the growing confidence in the fundamental health of the British economy. "I have this vision that by the end of the century Britain could have the best economy in Western Europe," Mr Clarke said yesterday. To persuade voters to share that vision, rather than to bribe them with tax cuts, must now be the Tories' main political task.

Tax rates will not be the main factor in the voters' assessment of the Tory economic record. Far more important than a penny or two off taxes will be the public's general feeling of economic wellbeing and the sense that, without a change of government, prosperity might turn out to be sustainable for the long term. With the economy regaining momentum, consumer confidence improving and unemployment slowly but surely coming down, the first glimmers of a Tory political recovery are finally appearing in the polls.

With no more than ten months to go before the election, the odds must still be against the Government. There may simply be too little time for the spreading sense of economic wellbeing to make up for the Government's many blunders and to overcome the generalised hostility and boredom among voters. Nevertheless the Government's best chance of staying in power would lie in a well-timed, and well argued, Tory appeal to the innate caution of the British public: "Don't let Labour ruin it."

SANDPAPER AND SILK

Two contrasting approaches to new Labour

Last week Brian Mawhinney unveiled his "new Labour, new danger" theme, and in so Paloing demonstrated that comedy is not a second career option for him. Now, as Peter Riddell describes on the opposite page, David Willetts has produced an erudite and elegant essay, Blair's Gurus, which attacks the philosophical foundations of new Labour. The contrast between the two men and their respective approaches could not be

Not since Norman Tebbit in his heyday has a politician courted a "hard man" reputation in the manner of Dr Mawhinney. Here is a man who would cross a 14-lane motorway at rush hour to pick a fight. No morning is complete without the digestion of both babies and Today Programme presenters. Having caused hell at the Department of Health and terror at the Department of Transport, he now brings his inimitable style to Conservative Central Office.

In many respects the Doctor has already out-performed the fabled Lord Tebbit. Thousands used to testify that in private the Chingford skinhead was a gentle and generous creature; few seem willing to say the same for the Peterborough pugilist. "New Labour, new danger" is an appeal based on unadulterated fear: a victory for Tony Blair at the next election would lead to economic collapse, constitutional catastrophe, an end to civilisation as we know it and all in the first Queen's Speech. After which the Queen would probably be abolished as well. As a tactic in the last phase of the campaign this could have been effective. As a central weapon of attack it is blunt and unwieldy, not unlike the manner of the Chairman himself.

David Willetts prefers a somewhat a higher plane. The former think-tank supremo is happier with the battle of ideas rather than with rows over advertising schedules and stubbornly low poll numbers. An amiable and intelligent man, resembling a cross between a choir boy and a Thunderbirds pilot, he often looks out of place in the Westminster hurly burly. Willetts is the Tories' in-house philosopher. A man who knows his Hayeks from his Hegels, and can pronounce profoundly on whether life is really nature, nurture, or Nietszche. Whenever the Conservatives are trapped in the intellectual trenches, the solution is always the same. Get Willetts to whip up a pamphlet and send it over the parapet. His latest efforts follow a distinguished line, and will not be his last.

The difference between the two styles sandpaper and silk — is as striking as their place in Mr Major's own armoury. For, in comparison with his chairman, Mr Major is a sensitive soul and not even his best friends would describe him as an aspiring ideological theorist. Politics makes for strange bed fellows. From now until polling day we can be certain to see much more from Dr Mawhinney with his chainsaw and Mr Willetts with his thinking cap.

IN ANOTHER JULY

When brave Germans battled alone against Hitler

In politics, tyrannicide is the ultimate test of moral courage. Pagan and Christian philosophers down the centuries taught that the killing of a ruler could be justified only in the direst extremity. If any tyrant deserved that fate it was Hitler. His regime's evil deeds still shape our world. Hence interest in the German opposition to the Nazis, and especially the bomb plot which so nearly killed him on July 20, 1944, is keener than ever. In Germany, the courts are only now considering a formal pardon for Stauffenberg and other conspirators.

This week, The Times carries extracts from Joachim Fest's Plotting Hitler's Death, which will be published in the autumn. In the light of his indictment of the British failure to support the July plot, we too may wish to reconsider our wartime record.

In the second part of our series, tomorrow, Fest will argue that British leaders, including Chamberlain. Eden and Churchill, not only ignored overtures from German resistance circles, but were actively hostile. The British treated these brave patriots as dishonourable traitors, even to the point at which "Nazi propagandists and Allied spokesmen joined forces in a de facto coalition to belittle the accomplishments of the resistance and disparage its motives".

Fest also blames the Allied refusal to contemplate a negotiated peace. At the end the First World War, President Wilson had offered moderate Germans a basis for negotiation, and helped to bring about a German political and military collapse. But when in 1943 Churchill and Roosevelt reaffirmed at Casablanca the Allied policy of unconditional surrender, they only isolated the German opposition still further. Fest dismisses as inadequate the conventional justifications offered by apologists for the British decision to "cold-shoulder" Hitler's opponents: Churchill's exclusive concentration on the war effort, and fear of jeopardising the Soviet alliance. But Fest is probably right to see these reasons as pretexts with which the Government justified a misguided policy, rather than a sufficient rationale.

One cannot divorce British policy, however, from the policymakers' deep-seated suspicion of the German officer class. Ludendorff and Hindenburg had, after all, established the Army's domination of German politics. Some of the opposition bore names like Moltke, Yorck and Bismarck, famous in the annals of Prussian military glory. They were mostly either officers or bureaucrats - servants of the Nazi regime. There was a genuine credibility gap, which British Intelligence manifestly failed to fill.

With hindsight, it would clearly have been wiser to have taken the emissaries of the German opposition seriously, and to have offered them the very limited encouragement they requested. As so often, British leaders were fighting the wrong war. The Nazis were not identical with the Prussian military, though they drew on its mythology; by 1944, the habit of submitting to Hitler had undermined the German army's code of honour. To a Churchill, the moral calculus which led a Stauffenberg to kill Hitler was alien: assassins could not be martyrs. Many of these rebels were young and aristocratic, but one should not glamorise their sacrifice. Few realised that German nationalism could not survive Hitler's war. But whatever their motives, the men and women of the German resistance helped to redeem their nation and humanity.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Pennington Street, London El 9XN Telephone 0171-782 5000

RSPCA membership and its attitude towards hunting

From Dr Richard D. Ryder

Sir, Lord Mancroft's letter (July 1) defending the British Field Sports Society's attempt to infiltrate the Royal So-ciety for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals with blood sports enthusiasts is shot through with inconsistency. The objects of the RSPCA are to prevent cruelty and promote kindness. How can blood sports be consistent

What is even more extraordinary is the attitude of the Charity Commissioners in advising the RSPCA that it cannot lawfully keep out such entryists. It is surely quite absurd that a national body of the importance of the RSPCA should be forced to allow itself to be instructed by the contents. to be infiltrated by its opponents. What sane business would allow this to happen? If this is indeed the law then clearly the law needs changing. My motion at the society's recent AGM (report, July I) was an attempt to address this problem. Another, even stranger, aspect of charity law is that it does not recog-nise animal welfare as a charitable object. This archaic view is entirely out of touch with modern public opinion and outs animal welfare charities into an impossible position as regards fundraising. For the Charity Commis-sioners to tell the RSPCA that it cannot campaign for animal welfare (which it has been doing since 1824) is a total nonsense. Again, the law needs changing.

Yours faithfully, RICHARD D. RYDER (Council Member), RSPCA,

Causeway, Horsham, West Sussex. July 1.

From Mr Michael Sissons Sir, It is monstrous that, in one of the world's great charities, a tiny and extreme faction should claim the moral high ground. I am told that at the recent AGM of the RSPCA Dr Richard Ryder, the leading animal rights intellectual in this country, referred to the Charity Commissioners as "bloated bureaucrats" and, predictably, to the law as

The only possible construction that can be put on this is that he and his supporters are indignant that the commissioners have placed restrictions on animal rights campaigning and activism by the RSPCA.

The only possible construction that can be put on the attempts by the RSPCA to restrict membership of the society to those who agree with them is that they know that on a level playing field their arguments will not

Yours faithfully, MICHAEL SISSONS, Peters Fraser & Dunlop, 503/4 The Chambers, Chelsea Harbour, SWIO.

From Mr Elliot Morley, MP for Glanford and Scunthorpe (Labour)

Sir, Libby Purves may be impressed by Penny Mortimer's Leave Country Sports Alone group ("The cruelty of kindness", July 2), but the Labour Par-ty is more discerning. After consider-ing their leaflets circulated at a Labour conference, delegates voted unanimously for a free vote on the abolition of these activities.

Lord Mancroft says that the British Field Sports Society forms the largest number of dog and horse owners in the country and manages "most of Britain's wildlife and a large proportion of its farm animals". There is not the slightest evidence to support this. Nor can I fathorn his claims that support for a ban on blood sports is falling. Every test of public opinion I am aware of disputes that. Even anglers demonstrated in a poll in Angling Times that 91 per cent would have nothing to do with the BFSS.

I believe that the effect of BFSS entryism will just boost the RSPCA's membership with those who will now join to show their support for it. Labour's experience has shown that entryism will always fail when it does not command majority support.

Yours sincerely, E. A. MORLEY (Spokesperson for Animal Welfare), House of Commons. July 2

From the Director General of the RSPCA

Sir, Last year the RSPCA rescued more than 6,000 animals from dangerous situations. We investigated 110,175 complaints and received more than 1.2 million phone calls. I cannot think of a clearer way to explain to Libby Purves that the RSPCA that of preventing cruelty to animals — all animals, including foxes, hares and stags — and that these claims of infiltration by extremists are a myth, perpetuated by the blood sports lobby in an attempt, I believe, to alienate our supporters.

has no more important business than

Our most recent poll showed that 73 per cent of people wish hunting with hounds to be outlawed. In 1951, the Scott Henderson report - set up by Parliament to look into cruelty to wild animals - accepted that the RSPCA is "naturally opposed on ethical grounds" to fox-hunting. The Charity Commission recently confirmed that it could find no fault with our methods of campaigning on this issue. Libby Purves states we have "veggie leaders. She is wrong. I am not a vegetarian, although I understand their views; nor are the newly-elected chairman of our council, retired veterinary surgeon Roy Forster, and his three fellow officers. Nor are the majority of those who work tirelessly for the RSPCA throughout England and Wales.

The work of pro-hunt supporters in maintaining the countryside is also a fallacy, since Britain has suffered such a serious decline in, for example, its traditional hay meadows, lowland heaths, chalk downlands and hedge-

Yours faithfully, PETER DAVIES, Director General. RSPCA. Causeway, Horsham, West Sussex.

From the General Manager of IFAW UK

Sir, The British Field Sports Society's Lord Mancroft quite wrongly in his letter described the International Fund for Animal Welfare (IFAW) as a hardline animal rights group to bol-ster his onslaught on the RSPCA over its stand against blood sports.

IFAW campaigns against animal cruelty legally and peacefully and will continue to do so.

Yours faithfully, MICHAEL ESPLEY, General Manager, IFAW UK, Warren Court, Park Road, Crowborough, East Sussex.

Aerial archaeology

From the Secretary and Chief Executive of the Royal Commission on the Historical Monuments of England

Sir, As the crops begin to ripen, the signs are that this summer promises to be another bumper season for aerial archaeology, every bit as productive as 1995.

Drought is now affecting the whole of England to the east of a line from the Tyne to the Severn, and many new archaeological sites are expected to become visible for the first time.

It is therefore cruelly frustrating that the funds for aerial survey are stretched as thinly as your recent report suggests (June 26). It is in the capricious nature of the cropmarks that form over buried ditches and walls that they may be visible only fleetingly. This transience is tantalising, especially for those grounded for lack of

Given the right weather conditions, each season produces fresh discoveries, and there are no indications of diminishing returns.

In 1995 this royal commission, funded by the Department of National Heritage, recorded 3,000 sites from the air. The results are used by our partners in English Heritage and the archaeological services in local authorities in the conservation of Eng-land's archaeological legacy, and add greatly to our understanding of the Already in 1996 royal commission grant-aided aerial survey has produced discoveries of new sites in Essex and Norfolk. Our own flying programme has begun. One of our first lights will be in the airspace of the former home of the Red Arrows at Scampton, Lincolnshire, which is now open to us for the first time.

Access to former military airspace is one of the unexpected benefits of the ending of the Cold War. Precisely at the time when funding is being reduced, an increased proportion of England's landscape is becoming available for aerial survey.

Despite the pressure on funding this year, the current opportunities will certainly not be wasted: flying will be carefully targeted, and expenditure will be kept under close review by the royal commission in the hope that more resources can be found for grants towards this unrivalled source of information about our past.

Yours faithfully, TOM HASSALL (Secretary and Chief Executive). The Royal Commission on the Historical Monuments of England, National Monuments Record Centre, Kemble Drive, Swindon, Wiltshire. June 28.

NHS efficiency Global climate

From the Chairman of the Council of the British Medical Association

Sir. My colleague Russell Hopkins (letter, July 2) criticises me for seeking more adequate funding for the Na-tional Health Service, although he acknowledges that "the current financial year will be a desperately difficult one" in our "efficient health service". owing not least to an assumption of illusory efficiency savings. Strange logic surely.

However, I agree with my colleague that part of the answer lies in using existing resources more effectively. In my speech to the annual representative meeting of the BMA on June 24, I asked that we be allowed to do just this: "Allocating resources on the basis of need and outcome and determining priorities rationally and equitably."

I also welcomed the means to this end which the Department of Health and the professions have developed together in recent years, including the National Centre for Clinical Audit housed at the BMA.

But can anyone deny chronic underfunding in the NHS in relation to both need and educated expectations when the evidence of health professionals and managers speaks for itself? Is it unreasonable to ask for a phased boost in funding to the mean of the expenditure of competitor countries as a ercentage of available wealth?

Does Russell Hopkins really believe that there would be no major health gain from backing our uniquely efficient health service with the people and resources to make our nation fit for the future? Yours faithfully.

A. W. MACARA, Chairman of Council, British Medical Association. Tavistock Square, WC1. July 2.

Letters to the Editor should carry a daytime telephone number. They may be sent to a fax number -0171-782 5046.

From Dr D. J. Carson

Sir, Dr Jack Barrett's conjectures (letter, July I) about the influence of the Church on the UN Inter-governmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) take no account of the worldwide consensus on which IPCC reports are

He also illustrates a lack of understanding of the climate system when he links increments of carbon dioxide concentration with changes in global temperatures in such a simplistic way. The climate effects of carbon dioxide are delayed by the oceans and superimposed on natural variations and other influences.

Although there remain significant differences between surface climate observations and the data from Nasa satellites since 1979, the most thorough analysis (by the University of Alabama) does show an underlying warming trend in satellite measurements (about a tenth of a degree celsius per decade).

'Tax on reading'

From the Editors of Tribune and the Literary Review

This latest blow to small magazines

It is instructive that the proposal to interested in providing diversity and choice to its customers and is, in effect, driving a number of specialist maga-

The reality of a global warming (although not the cause) is demonstrated by at least three independent sets of temperatures measured at the surface (land, sea surface and night-time mar-

The cautious statement from IPCC that "the balance of evidence suggests that there is a discernible human influence on global climate" is based on all the available comparisons between climate observations over the past decades (including those from satellites) and simulations by the best climate me air).

Dr Barrett advises IPCC to "consider all available data very carefully" before coming to conclusions; this, of course, has been IPCC's modus operandi since its inception.

Yours faithfully. DAVID CARSON (Director). Hadley Centre for Climate Prediction and Research, Meteorological Office, London Road, Bracknell, Berkshire.

Sir, We are writing to protest at the plan by WH Smith to levy a "retail display allowance" of 5 per cent on publishers of small publications.

and newspapers comes on top of the decision taken earlier this year by WH Smith to "de-list" a large number of publications and remove them from its news shelves (letters, February 26 and March 4). The replacement "ordering service" is a very poor substi-

charge a retail display allowance will not extend to WH Smith's top 400 titles. The proposed charge amounts to an unacceptable tax on reading. WH Smith seems to be no longer zines and newspapers from its news shelves altogether. It is an attitude that contrasts with that of John Menzies, a company which appears to be committed to encouraging the sales of

Despite all the best efforts of MPs. journalists and the general public to persuade WH Smith not to push ahead with the de-listing process, the company went ahead. This had an immediate and serious effect on a number of small publications. Faced with this new threat of additional charges, we are urging mem-bers of the public to boycott WH Smith and buy their books and maga-smaller publications.

Yours faithfully, MARK SEDDON (Editor, Tribune). AUBERON WAUGH (Editor, Literary Review). Tribune. 308 Gray's Inn Road, WCl.

New uses and life for St Ethelburga

From Mr James R. G. Thomas and Mr Richard P. Griffiths

Sir. As the joint architects of the alternative reconstruction scheme, com-missioned by the Friends of St Ethelburga, which has received planning permission and listed building con-sent from the City planning commit-tee, may we clarify some points aris-ing out of your leading article of June 12 and the letters which you have published since then (June 18, 26).

Our scheme is not for a facsimile re-production of St Ethelburga's exactly as it was before the IRA bomb. We propose to repair the building, two thirds of which is still standing. The new parts would be clearly distinguishable from the old and continue the development of this, the smallest and one of the oldest churches in the City, in evolutionary fashion.

The building which we envisage will not be confined to church use. We have shown the assessors and the City planning committee how the space could also be used very satisfactorily for concerts, exhibitions, or for talks and meetings.

We do not reject modern architecture. Rather, we seek a self-effacing approach. For the separate office element of the scheme, facing on to the retained and improved garden, we propose to use traditional materials. but forms and proportions which are clearly of the 20th century. For the repair work, some new commissions would be sought — for example for the wrought-iron gateway, stained-glass windows, seating, etc.

Yours sincerely, JAMES THOMAS, RICHARD P. GRIFFITHS, Rothermel Thomas and Richard Griffiths Architects, 14-16 Cowcross Street, EC1. July I.

From Lord Hylton

Sir, I would be happy to contribute to the rebuilding of St Ethelburga's church as a living memorial to count-less thousands of people who have lost lives or loved ones, or suffered injury, as a result of political violence and internal or transnational conflict.

A global and ecumenical shrine of this kind should be a place of prayer and of search for forgiveness. It might contain a perpetual flame and become a centre of pilgrimage and worship. particularly for all who commit themselves to peace-building, to the prevention of violent conflict and to a just and merciful stewardship of this unique planet.

Under the patronage of three holy Ethelburgas, who all flourished in the 7th century of the Christian era, such an appeal might touch minds and hearts beyond the confines of the diocese of London and the shores of this Country.

Would the great monotheistic religions represented here see this as a worthwhile challenge? Could three saintly women lead us into the paths of worldwide peace?

Yours faithfully, HYLTON, House of Lords. July I.

Legend debunked

From Mr J. S. K. Milne

Sir, So great a man, not just historian, as Sir Walter Scott should be allowed the last word on interpreting the past to his own and future generations (letters, July 1, 3).

He defined the novel as "a fictitious narrative . . . accommodated to the ordinary train of events". That seems conclusive enough to me. Yours faithfully, J. S. K. MILNE,

88 Campden House, Peel Street, W8.

Handsome is . . . From Mr Tim Daw

Sir, Sir George Gardiner, MP, has been accused of being ugly (report, June 28; Media and marketing, July 3), but how ugly is he? Beauty can be measured in milliHelens (one milli-Helen being the beauty needed to launch one ship), but what unit is appropriate for ugliness?

I remain, yours, etc, ... TIM DAW, Cannings Cross, All Cannings, Devizes, Wiltshire.

TV trivia

From Mr Leslie Thomas

Sir. As one who occasionally appears on television chat shows so disparaged by Mr Harry E. Turner, former Chief Executive, TSW Television (letter, June 27). I would like to suggest that these programmes are known as "chat shows" precisely because they are trivial. Many viewers, who may not enjoy an arts or political discussion, find this trivia enjoyable and Mr Turner should not need reminding that television is for everybody.

I recall going to the Plymouth stu-dio (before Mr Turner's time, I am sure) to take part in a programme cal-led That's My Dog during which my basset hound was interviewed.

Yours faithfully, LESLIE THOMAS, The Walton Canonry, The Close, Salisbury, Wiltshire.

June 17.

COURT CIRCULAR

BUCKINGHAM PALACE July 6: The Duke of York, Visitor, this afternoon presented the prizes on Speech Day at the Royal Hospital School, Holbrook, and was received by Her Majesty's Lord-Lieutenant of Suffolk (the Lord Belstead).

KENSINGTON PALACE July 6: The Princess Margaret, Countess of Snowdon, Colonel-in-Chief The Royal Highland Fu-siliers (Princess Margarers Own Glasgow and Ayrshire Regiment), this evening visited Glasgow and was received by Her Majesty's Lord-Lieutenant of the City of Glasgow (The Right Hon The Lord Provost Pat Lally).

Her Royal Highness took the Salute at the Ceremony of Beating Retreat by the Third (Volunteer) Battalion in George Square, and attended a Reception in the City Chambers.

KENSINGTON PALACE July 6: The Duke of Glouces sham, this afternoon visited the School and attended a Ceremony of Beating Retreat and subsequently was present at a Dinner to mark the retirement of the to mark the retirement of the Headmaster, Mr Richard Poulton. His Royal Highness was received on arrival by Her Majesty's Lord-Lieutenant of West Sussex (Major

YORK HOUSE ST JAMES'S PALACE July & The Duke of Kent, President, the All England Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club, accompanied by the Duchess of Kent, this afternoon attended the Wimbledon Championships, Wimbledon, London SW19. BUCKINGHAM PALACE July 7: Mr Jeremy Smith (Deputy Lieutenant of West Sussex) was present at Gatwick Airport. London, this morning upon the Arrival of the Governor-General of Grenada and Lady Palmer and behalf of The Ouecn.

YORK HOUSE STJAMES'S PALACE July 7: The Duke of Kent, President, the All England Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club, accompanied by the Duchess of Kent, this after noon attended the Wimbledon Championships, Wimbledon, Lon-

THATCHED HOUSE LODGE Princess Alexandra and the Hon Sir Angus Ogilvy this alternoon attended the Finals of the All England Lawn Tennis Club Championship Meeting at Wim-

Steephill Independent School, Fawkham, Kent

Mrs Linda Bramley has been appointed Headmistress from September 1996 to succeed Mrs is currently Deputy Head of the School. Mrs Susan Meakin has been appointed Deputy Head. Children will also be taken up to University news

Pembroke College, Oxford
Honorary Fellowship: Sir Harry Peach; Foundation Fellowships:
Jonathan Aisbitt, Ian Cormack;
Emeritus Fellowship: Gordon Whidtam; Supernumerary Fellowship:
John Tanner.

New varieties bloom at RHS palace show

BY ALAN TOOGOOD, HORTICULTURAL CORRESPONDENT

THE growing interest in new and unusual plants is reflected at the Royal Horticultural Society's Hampton Court Palace flower show, where some are to be seen for the first time. Many nurseries will be inproducing new varieties, such as pinks from Three Counties Nurseries, of Marshwood, Dorset; and Streptocarpus Something Special, a pink and magenta Cape primrose from Dibleys, of Ruthin, North Wales.

Tree ferns are coming into fashion and the largest range ever offered in Britain will be shown by Rickard's Hardy Ferns, of Tenbury Wells, Hereford and Worcester, including several new ones.

The Plant Heritage marquee, which represents many national plant collections, is another place to see new, rare or unusual plants. They do not come much rarer than Passiflora Lourdesae, a pink pas-sion flower recently saved John Vanderplank, of Kingston Seymour, Somerset, A record number of new roses will be launched at the British Rose Festival, a show within a

They range from popular patio roses such as orange and crimson striped Tiger Cub, from Mattocks Roses, of Newnham Courtney, Oxford-shire, to the pale pink miniature rambling rose Open Arms, from C and K. Jones of Tarvin, Cheshire: The centrepiece of the floral marquees has a patriotic theme, paying tribute to British gardeners. Six charities have show gardens, including Christian Aid, whose Cambo dian garden also highlights the dangers of landmines.

□ RHS members, Tuesday, Wednesday, public Thursday Sunday, 10am-7.30pm (5.30pm Sunday). Informa-tion 0171 828 1744; tickets 0171 344 4444, also at gate

Nature notes

YOUNG swallows are on the wing. They are a duller blue than the adults and lack the long-streamers. Though they can fly as nimbly as their parents, for the first few days they sit on wires and rooftops waiting to be fed.

The first signs of southbound autumn migration are the greenshanks and green sandpipers which are appearing at the edge of quiet ponds. The greenshanks are tall, silvery waders that step delicately on their long green legs. The green sandpipers are smaller, darker birds with noticeable white rumps. When they fly up with a yodelling cry, they look like large housemartins.

Sheets of pink flame are spreading across the countryside as the rosebay willow-

Gloucester celebrate the 24th anniversary of their marriage

Birthdays today Lord Allen of Abbeydale, 84; Mr Jon Bannenberg, yacht designer, 67; Dr R.S. Barnes, metallurgist, 72; Dr Kate Bertram, former President, Lucy Cavendish College, Cambridge, 84: Dr Thomas Royal College of Psychiatrists, 70; Sir Robin Biggarn, former chair-man, BICC, 58; Mr C.D. Brown, Headmaster, Norwich School, 52:

the Flon Dame Mary Corsar, former chairman, WRVS, 69. Sir Peter Darby, former Chief Inspector of Fire Services, 72: Mrs June Dixon-Millar, founder, National Centre for Cued Speech for the Deaf, 6i; Mr Keith Fielding, rugby player, 47; Lord Gilmour of Craigmillar, 70; Mr Bruce Gyngell, former managing-direc-tor, TV-am, 67; Professor Sir Alan herb comes into flower. Wafts of scent drift down from the white blossom on the lime

Field thistles and knapweed, which is like a spineless thistle, are blossoming. Both plants attract small skipper butterflies, which sit on the flowers with their orange brown forewings standing up like sails on the hindwings. DJM

Harris, civil engineer, 80; Mr Bernard Henderson, chairman, British Waterways, 68; Mr Brian Hitchen, former Editor, Sunday Express, 60; Dame Elaire Kelleti-Bowman, MP, 72; Dr P.C. Knight, Vice Chancellor, Linkseying, of The Duke and Duchess of Vice-Chancellor, University of Central England in Birmingham, > 62: Mr David Metcalfe, insurance Air Vice-Marshal Ja chief executive, Scottish Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Ani-mals, 60; Miss Pauline Quirke. actress, 31; the Right Rev Derek. Raweliffe, former Bishop of Glasgow and Galloway. 75; Viscount Samuel, 74; Herr Walter Scheel, former President, West Germany. 77; Sir Roy Shaw, former Secretary-General, Arts Council of Great Britain, 78; Mr Brian Walden, former MP, and broadcaster, 64; Mr John Wallwork, cardiorhoracic surgeon, 50; Air Chief Mar-shal Sir Neil Wheeler, 79.

49; Major-General R.B Loudoun, former director, Menual Health

ndation, 74; Viscount Mersey,

Forthcoming marriages

The Book of Kells, the 8th-century transcript of the Bible written by monks on the island of Iona, will be produced on CD-Rom next year by its owner, Trinity College Dublin. The book's illustrations include the figure of Christ, above

BIRTHS: Jean de La Fontaine, poet, Château-Thierry, France, 1621; Tom Cribb, prizefighter, Bitton, Gloucestershire, 1781; Fitz-Mr E.C.W. Goodwyn and Miss K.A. Barthe The engagement is announced be-tween Edward, son of Mr and Mrs Charles Goodwyn, of Amersham, Buckinghamshire, and Kate, daugh-ter of Mr and Mrs Graham Burtholo-Greene Halleck, poet, Guilford, Connecticut, 1790; Count Ferdi-nand von Zeppelin, airship plo-neer, Baden, 1838. John D. Rockefeller, oil magnate and philanthropist, New York, 1839; Sir Arthur Evans, archaeolo-1839; Sir Artnur Evans, archaeologist, Nash Mills. Hertfordshire, 1851; Alfred Binet, psychologist, Nice, 1857; Percy Grainger, composer and pianist, Melbourne, 1882; Richard Aldington, novelist and biographer, Portsmouth, 1802

Anniversaries

DEATHS: Christiaan Huygens, physicist, The Hague, 1695; Robert South, clergyman, London, 1716; Percy Bysshe Shelley, poet, drowned off Leghorn, 1822; Sir Henry Rachum, painter, Edinburgh, 1823. Sir William Edward Parry, Arc tic explorer, Ems, Germany, 1855; Hablot K. Browne (Phiz), illustrator, Brighton, 1882; Anthony Hope (Sir Anthony Hope Haw-kins), novelist, Walton-on-the-Hill, Surrey, 1933; Henry Havelock Ellis, physician and writer, Leigh, actress, London, 1967; Wilfred Rhodes, Yorkshire and England cricketer, Broadstone, Portuguese navigator Vasco da Gama set sail from Lisbon in search of a sea route to India, 1497. The Ziegfeld Follies opened in New York, 1907.

National Savings stamps went on sale in Britain, 1918. The first all-England women's singles final took place between Christine Truman and Angela Mortimer, Wimbledon, 1961.

FLIGHTS

DIRECTORY

Brambletye

Dinner

as Headmaster. Mr Cocke is currently Headmaster of Old Buckenham Hall, Bremenham Park, Suffolk.

Bedford School Boat Club

The Lord-Lieutenant of Cambridgeshire and President of the Old Bedfordian Club presided at a

On bearings and the presided at a Solth anniversary dinner of Bedford School Boat Club held on Sanurday at Henley Royal Regatta to mark the winning of the first Princess Elizabeth Cup Race by Bedford School in 1946.

Mr Sydney Dawson Bailey,

London N2, the writer and pacifist

Quaker representative at the Uni-ted Nations from 1954-58, left estate

Mrs Susan Mary Dean, of Graffham, West Sussex, left estate valued at £625,535 net.

Latest wills

The Governors of Brambletye are pleased to amounce the appoint-ment of Mr Hugh Cocke as Headmaster of Brambletye, East Grinstead, Sussex in succession to Mr Donald Fowler-Watt who will be retiring at the end of the Summer Term 1997 after 28 years

mew, of Wassenaar, The Nether Mr.I.H.V. Hathorn Islair A.LO aiM be

The engagement is announced be-tween James, elder son of Mr Eric and the Hon Mrs Hathorn, and Olisia ables describes of Me Risin and the Front Mrs Tantorn, and Olivia, elder daughter of Mr Brian Tisdail and the late Mrs Christa Tisdail and stepdaughter of Mrs Catherine Tisdail. Mr W.J. Holy-Hasted and Miss A.M. Cazatti

The engagement is announced be-tween William, only son of Colonel and Mrs Richard Holy-Hasted, of Chemole, Doeset, and Angela, elder daughter of Mr and Mrs Vincenzo Caratti, of Zollikon, Switzerland.

and Miss C.E. Little The engagement is announced be-tween Ben, son of Mr and Mrs Peter Kottler. of Northampton, and Caroline, elder daughter of Mr and Mrs David Little, of Road Ashton, and Miss J.V. Edwards

The engagement is announced be-tween Nick, son of Mr and Mrs R.E. Morton, of Upton, the Wirral, and Jane, droghter of Mr Peter Edwards, of Hawkesbury Upton, Gloucester-shire, and Mrs Jan Willis, of Clifton, Priced and Miss F.B.G. Bumpus and Miss P.B.C. Bumping

The engagement is announced between Roger, younger son of the late Victor White and of Mrs Bessie
White, and Francesca, younger daughter of Mr and Mrs Bernard Bumpus, of London NW3.

The marriage took place on July 1, 1996, in Aberdeen, between David

The marriage took place on Sat-urday in the Priory Church of St Mary and St Blaise, Borgrove, near Chichester, of the Hon William Buckley, only son of Lord and Lady Wrenbury, of Dallington, East Sussex, so Miss Emma Clementson, only daughter of Mr Peter Clementson, of West Wittering and of Mrs Anthony Robinson, of South Clifton, Notnghamshire, Canon J.M. Haselock officiated The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by Lucy Clementson and Poppy Hawkes. Dr Tim Grey-moon will be spent in Northern

Mr G-A.V. Kaiser-Davles and Miss J. Laughton

realust from 1500 net.
He left £10,000 each to Quaker Peace and Service, for mediation, disarmament or human rights, and the Joseph Rowniree Charitable Trust. Mr R.T. Lee and the Hon Juliet A.C. Harvey The marriage took place on Sat-urday at St Mylors, Mylor valued at Eb25,535 net.

She left bequests of effects and E500 to each of her grandchildren and 2/3rds of the residue to King Edward VII Hospital, Midhurst, and 1/6th of the residue each to the Animal Welfure Trust and World Wildlife Fund. Churchtown, Cornwall, of Mr. Richard Lee, son of Professor and Mrs T.A. Lee, of Tuscalossa, Alabama, to the Hon Juliet Harvey, elder daughter of Lord Har-

Marriages

Mr G.U. Aman and Miss E.M. Madean

The marriage took place on Saturday, June 29, at St John's Episcopal Church, Perth, of Mr Giovanni U. Amati, son of the late Dr. Luigi Amati and of Signora Carla Amati Ponziani, of Leco. Italy, to Miss Emma Maclean. elder daughter of Sir Lachlan and Lady Maclean, of Arngask, Glea-fang, Perthshire. The Right Rev M.H.G. Henley, Bishop of St Andrews, Dunkeld and Dumbiane,

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was amended by Isabella McMicking, Solia Negri, Alasdair Gordon, the Hon Jock Bowes Lyon, Miss Rosis Gordon and Miss Christian Boyle. Mr Charles McMicking and Mr Edoardo Grandi were best man. A reception was held at the home being spent abroad.

Mr C.J. Blackwell and Miss Grant

The marriage took place yesterday in Lennoulove Chapel, Hadding-ton, of Mr Christopher Blackwell, elder son of Professor and Mrs D.E. Blackwell, to Miss Catriona Grant, elder daughter of the late Sir Francis Grant, of Monymusk, and of Jean Lady Tweedsmuir. The Rev Charles Robertson officiated.

Sheriff D.W. Bogle and Mrs M.J.I. Leith

Wilson Bogie, Sheriff of Gram-pian, Highland and Islands, and Margaret Jean Innes Leith, youn-ger daughter of the late Professor John Lothian, of Aberdeen University.

The Hon William Buckley and Miss E.L. Clementson

Morgan was best man.

A reception was held at Hainaker Park and the honey-

Mr G.D.P. Haig and Miss P.R. Martin

The marriage took place on Sat-urday, July 6, at St Alfege's Parish Church, Greenwich, of Mr Giles Haig, of East Sussex and Wandsworth, to Miss Philippa Martin, of

The bride was attended by her sisters. Emma, Alexandra and Lucinda. Mr Justin Haig was best · A reception was held at Ranger's House, Blackheath.

The marriage took place on Sat-urday, July 6, at Sacred Heart Church, Wimbledon, of Guy, elder son of Mr and Mrs Clive Kaiseryounger daughter of Mr and Mrs Ronald Laughten, of New Malden. A reception was held at the Lensbury Club, Teddington, and the boneymoon will be spent in the Cardibates. Caribbean.

Harvey of Tasburgh, of Restronguet, Cornwall. The Rev Charles

lames officiated. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by Stephanie Harvey. Jenny and Louise Brown, Kane Birchill, Niamh, Nicholas and Guillhuame Lincoln, Julian Grove, Dylan Morgan, Rollo Astbury-Goodman, the Hon Asibury-Goodman, the Hon Miranda Harvey and Ms Naiasha Santos-Castellino. Mr James Lowe was best man. A reception was held at the home of the bride and the honeymoon will be spent in Devon and

Mr L.G. Verdon-Roc

and Miss H.L. Hollingshead The marriage took place on Sat-urday, at St Nicholas' Church, Combe Raleigh. Devonshire, of Mr Lighton Verdon-Roe, only son of Mr and Mrs Royce Verdon-Roe, of Warrenth Lighton to Mire of Warsash, Hampshire, to Miss Henrietta Hollingshead, second daughter of Mr and Mrs Roger Hollingshead Hollingshead, of Combe Raleigh. The Rev Andrew Wadsworth officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was at-tended by Miss Victoria Hollings-head, Miss Ophelia Stephenson and Hannah Dawson. Mr Alexander Edwards was best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride and the honeymoon will be spent abroad.

Mr A.St.J. Woodward and Miss S.A. Veasey The marriage took place on Sal-urday, at the Church of St Peter, Chailey, Sussex, of Mr Andrew Woodward, son of Mr and Mrs John Woodward, of High House, Scopwick, Lincolnshire, and Miss

Serena Veasey, youngest daughter of Mr and Mrs Jeremy Veasey, of Cinder Farm, North Chailey, Sussex. The Rev Christopher Abbott officiated. marriage by her father, was at-tended by Mrs James Fairbairn, Gesuma Robson, Sophie Robson, Ellie Barnard, Rupert Crookenden and Emma Crookenden. Mr Mark Read was best man

A reception was held at the home of the bride and the honeymoon is being spent abroad.

Today's royal engagements

The Duke of Edinburgh, Marshal, Royal Air Force, will visit RAF Cosford, at 11.00; as Honorary Fellow of the Institute of Sports Medicine, will present The Prince Philip Medal in Sports Medicine and attend a dinner at St James's Palace at 6.25.

The Princess Royal will open a new building for the Institute of E gineering, Surveying and Space Geodesy, Nottingham University. at 11.25; will open the new Mans-field Courthouse, at 12.30; will attend Portland College Awards Day 1996, Nottingham Road, Mansield, Nottinghamshire, at 2.10: and as Patron, Hearing Dogs for the Deaf, will attend a race meeting and fundraising dinner, Windsor Racecourse, at 7.20.

The Duchess of Kent will attend a reception and a short recital by iren from the Laski School (the Blind, Poland, at the Polish Embassy at 6.50.

Princes Alexandra, Chancellor, will preside at ceremonies for the conferment of degrees and honorary degrees at Lancaster Univer-sity at 2.20.

TRADE: 0171 481 1982

Today's events The Queen's Life Guard mounts at Horse Guards at 11.00. The Queen's Guard mounts at Buckingham Palace at 11.30.

BMDS: 0171 680 6880 PRIVATE: 0171 481 4000

PERSONAL COLUMN

Surely you know that you are God's temple, where the spirit of God divelle. I Contains 3: 16 GOESS. RIRTAS

DAWLING - On Wednesday 19th June 1996, to Pania (née Hurren) and Mark, a beautiful daughter, Emily to Stuart and Sue (née Charlesworth), a daughter, Katherine Alexandra, a sister for Elle and Sopple MERRANG Con July 3rd 1996 to Carola (née Brock) and Peter, a daughter, Luchda Jane, a sister for James, HOPAGRESON Con July 1st to Katy (née Trounce) and David. a daughter, Charletta Sarab, a sister for Thomas. NEWMARM. Con July 3rd NEWMAN - On July 3rd daughter Matida.

/DUNGMAN - On July 4th,
In Exeter, to Jane (née Mortoph) and Richard, a son
Thomas David, a brother for

DEATHS

ALLARISON - On June 29th. James and much loved by her children, grandchildren and family. Requiem Mass at St. John's Cathelic Church. Tedworth, on Thursday July 11th at 11am. Family.

765486. BUNTON - Herbert Alan on July 3rd. Dearly loved humand of Joyce, father of hushand of Joyce, father of Pat, Michael and Gillian, For many years at the Samker. Funeral Friday July 12th at 11,30am at SR Margaret's Church, Cathestad Survey, Family Rowers only, Donations if desired to Mayday Cardiac Research Fund. c/o W Truelove & San, Couladon Surrey CRS 799. CITTING - Dr Churies died at his home on Friday July 5th sadiy missed by Dorothy. family and friends.

DEATHS DARE - John aged 71.
husband of Elicen died on Aufy 3rd. Cremation at West Norwood Crematorium on Thurstay 11th July at 10.30 am. Cut flowers only, or donations if desired to Camour Research.

aut. Car nowers attly, or donations if desired to Cancer Research.

EDWARDS - Nam (née Brownscombe) died 19. Tressured and loved wife of the late George Thompson and of the Jim Edwards. Very dearty loved by family and triends. Funeral service at Central Methodist Church. Letthworth on July 15th at 12 noon. Enguiries to David Blaks. Pumeral Oirectors. (01462) 480249.

EVANS-PUGHE - On July 4th peacehuly at Harrdeld Hospital. Herts. John sped 71. widower of Elizabeth Evans-Pughe and loving father of Christine and Suchen. Funeral Service at Stephen. Funeral Service at St. Peter's Church. Bushey Heath on Tuesday July 9th. at 11.15 am. Family Howers only, donations if desired to Hardled Hospital Scanner Appeal. c/o 7 A Ellement & Son Ltd. 21 Stridge Street. Pinner. Middx HAS StR. FOTHERGEL. On Friday. 5th July, peacehully at home. O'Ruth, Rusch foved father of Judith, Nen and Gavin. For many years physician at East Simplingham Hospital. Funeral service at St. Peter ad Vincuin Church, Railey in Benbury. Thursday 1 1th July at 12 soon. Family flowers only. Donations for ad Vincula Church, Railey in Banbury. Thursday 11th July at 12 noon. Family flowers only. Donations for the church of St. Peter ad Vincula may be sent to Jail Humphris. 32 Albert Street. bury. OX16 7DG. Bannoury, Ox16 7DG.

FYFE-AAMIESON - Colin
John on 4th July 1996, devoted brother of Sheelagh and loved father of David.
Dunna, Lucy. Georgie and Sophile. All enquiries to Roomney Marsh Funeral Sawices, George Line, New
Roomney, Kanl. tel: (01797) 3664329.

366432. GREEN - Lesila Henley peacefully in hospital on July Sin 1996 aged 37 years. O Soutton-on-the-Walter, Glos Formerly of Ruleily and Little Kingabill. Returned Little Kingabili. Retunited with his loving wife. Vera, dear father of Pam, sadly missed by sil of his friends. Memorial Service at St. Lawissness Church. Bourton-on-the-Water, Thursday July 11th at 2.30 pm. No flowers by request, but donalisms if desired for The Stroke Resociation, sury by left at the Church or sent to W.J. Wright, Funeral Director. Try Bank. Landsowne.

JOHNSON - Colin William aged 90. Pencarhilly on 3rd July 1996 at Hendraf House Warminster. Funeral Service to be held on July 22nd at 3 pm at Saliebury Crematorium. No flowers please, but donations if desired for Old Dardordams Rughy Chib c/o F. Curth & Son Funeral Directors. 11 Portway. Warminster. Wits. LAUREE - On 3rd July 1996. Penceluly in her sleep. Eve Louise. 2ged 90 years. Much loved mother of Judith. Robert, Michael and Peter. Funeral Service at St. Nicholas Church. Ingrave. Brentwood. Essex on Friday 12th July at 11sm. Family flowers only.

MEEK - Mariorte Lindsell peacertuily in Hasiemere Houstai on July 3rd 1996 aged 97 years. Much beloved mother of June and grandmother of Andrew and Amenda Cramellon private followers only.

Lynchrone. on Friday 12th July at 2.30 pm. Family flowers only.

July at 2.30 pm. Family Hower only.
Hower

IN MEMORIAM -PRIVATE

EDWARDS - George Thomas William 7th July 1996. A year has passed, the painted, empty wold in our life can never be healed, but your memory and your spirit are with us always giving us the strength to persevers. We will love you, our derling hoy, always, Muramy, Daddy, Hannah.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS BENNETT - Mrs. Marsret Olddal Remost and family with to express that heart fell thants for the very great kindness shown them by so maken people following upon the death of their beloved. Ronald Allstair Bennett C.R.E., Q.C.
LEWISE - Tim and Younse with to thank all loyal frimds for their heal support and belief is Quad Erat Demonstrandum.

DOMESTIC & CATERING SITUATIONS ADMES MIAID/ House Maid Over cultage & call, impeccable paintuness. Balary Hop. Call Editor Duress (18), 997 2029 FLIGHTS DIRECTORY

206TCLITTERS on Highly & holy to Europe, USA & most deathw-ters. Diplomet Travel Service Life. 0171-750 2201. ASTA 2670S IATA/ATCR. 1586. EMBASSY FLIGHT CENTRE Aftern SI Counts
Now York 2077 Adulges Counts SI Shift
Chair 2077 May Spirity SI Profess
For SI Shift
Co. 2000 Profess
Co. 20 ALL WORLDWISE & BLASTFOR USSY ANNUARILE AT DISCOLARY PARTY AREA DISSEL Retail reports for AREA, better 01273 700737

--£35 01582445566 00

Company of the compan 0171 402 4044

PVERSEAS DUPRESS - low cost displos, Germany, East Enrope. Africa. Hell East, Indian Sol. For East, Gould Almerica. Child Finst 0111 724 2206 & Oct. Edg 3167 IATA/ATOL 3662 EMMARY Duly low cost missis and hotel accomodation, cell to far Musich Bur Fediwal 20 Sept to Gn. Oct. Gl 81 429 2900. Vine/ Access. ASTA 90588. ATCL 2977, IATA. ICARUS FLIGHTS FARO 69 PALMA MALASA 89 GREECE ALICHITE 85 MALTA TEMERIFE 70 TURKEY LANGURRITE 71 ITALY

Many other Destinations positivity sites are Hardwarence. Bushing winter now. 014278 5144685 ATOL 4046 Franker Labour Visual Services Ltd. CAPITAL FLIGHTS New York 155 Manages 27
Rooke 177 Afrey 85
Certainen 177 Afrey 185
Certainen 177
Certainen JETLINE Discount faces to all destinations

Spain. Ir ESS URAFFortin 100 Protego SI Confidence SIII Matte SI Middle East 200 Grover SI India 275 Cyprae 125 Per East 275 Irrael 126 Australia 480 10171 589 3585 VICEROY TRAVEL ATTESM - 285 CALADO LIMA INCH TON ETTE NAMARA - 291
CHAMPES - 285 CALADO LIMA CHAMPES - 281 CALATA - 281
CAMPO - 281 CALADO - 281
FANO - 282 CAROO - 283
SOA - 2220 TELANY - 219
SOA - 2230 TELANY - 219 WORLD FAMES AVAILABLE DISCOUNTED CAR HERE, PASSEA

01476 593 123 01476 574111 Her builte Best/older 10. Maria E 78 Maria E 68 America E 68 Otherdo E 188 Al Sergen, & workelik Malik malikik

FLIGHTS DIRECTORY

01711953676 FLATSBARE SURESTION 5 mins an abars 3 bed fit in puriod has with own, ies bed, emudia bells / Greating. SACOpcia. 0181 390 6096

FOR SALE ANTIQUE ENGAGEMENT RINGS For distinction, quality and value. Greens Autique Gallery, 117 Kensington Church Stree London W8 7LN Tel: 0171 229 9618 We also purchase good quality jewellery MORNING SUITS

DINNER SUITS EVENING TAIL SULTS SURPLUS TO HISE LEPMAN & BOND West End Tel 0171 240 2310 22 Charing Cross Rd WC2 City Tel 0171 623 7721 156 Fenchurch St BC3 THE THREE - 1791-1996 other Miss available. Bendy for pre-sentation - also " Bundays". Remember When, Oldit-406

A BUTTHDATE Nevergaper, C Irail. Supertity present Premising 0800 906609 SITUATIONS VACANT MADAME JO JO'S Barie precied immediately. Co David 0171 754 9475.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

0171 935 8682 WW1 0181 854 4517 SE18 OVERSEAS TRAVEL PROVIDECE. Special Office: 3 kgs posses with product describes givenish & employer assuments $10 8, 10 8 12 persons. July/Amgust, 01435 872802

* WEATHER Information, data & statistics.
Forecasts: short & long range.
Countent, advice and statiyals. 01494 715115/ 01208 74015 Commercial calless only

DMVER for car delivery /collec-tion and/where Europe. Air cou-rier worldwide.01782 696686

PLUMP PARTIEUM National Telling Agency, If you are pfum or praise a plump per-per rips 01202 716909. SITUATIONS WANTED Management Dot. States Chair proping employment, House proed. 01463 967016. SPECIALIST'S

Renter 0171 582 4155 UK HOLIDAYS CENTRAL Landon, Superior serviced apartments. Tais0181 481 3004 / Par 0181 469 4422 TICKETS FOR SALE TICKETS FOR SALE When responding to natvertisements readers are advised to establish the face value and full details of tickets before entering into any conventing into any conventing into any conventing into a fact re-sale and transfer rules.

ALL TICKETS Wimbledon Debs Bought & Sold TOP PRICES PAID Henley Grand Prix, Int. Cricics Rivertance, Ossis, Phantom, Sunset etc.

All theatre Pop & Sports We obtain the mobiainable 0171 403 9555 All CCs, Free Delivery  All Cricist, Golf, Allente St. Cente, Engles, T'Turner G Entoter, B Adams, All Concerts Physics, Salgon, Las Mis Offer, Cale, Samet Any ticket obtained  0171 488 4414 **

TICKETS BRITISH GRAND PRIX ENGLAND V INDIA ENGLAND V PAKISTAN LAST NICHT OF PROMS OASE, EAGLES, TINA TURNER, RIVERDANCE ELVIS COSTELLO SPORTING EVENTS 0171 323 4480 Great Portland Associates

Wilhers DON Court 1 1997-2001 part puid debenbere £5,000 each. Call Dunia 01435

FAX: 0171 481 1982 TICKETS FOR SALE ALL AVAM: Phantons, all the-airs. Eagles, T Turner, Grand Print, all sport 0171 480 6183 ALL SPORT Brught & cold Plans-tors Owie. T. Turper, Deliver Cantral London 0171 240 0800

WANTED ANNOUNCEMENTS

LEGAL NOTICES

Dubed 6th July 1996

Ric Leochald Reform Act 1967
Ric The Old Cottage, Pedacy, Chesham, Bucks
Any person chicking to be a freebolder or successor in tile to the shows tillness of should comnumically with Mr. J. A. Williams of Rece Williams Solicitors. 26
Tileberge Street, Hightin, Harte
SGS 207. J.A. Williams
Solicitor for the Auditors
THE INSCLUDING ACT 1986
In The Matter of ALLIED LEATHER
LEVELOPHERYTE LEWITED
IN Landington

LEGAL NOTICES CHLORIDE PULSAR BATTERES LTD

HEALDAN LTD ABBERMAN LTD PYROTECTOR (CREAT return to the creditors who have submitted claims by 26 August 1996 and that flame well be no further distribution to creditors. The final relays to creditors well be to made witness required to the claim of any person in respect of a debt not around proved.

destroys of 10 ordinary shares of 21 ordinary shares of 22 ordinary shares of 22 ordinary shares of 23 ordinary shares of 24 ordinary shares of 32 ordinary shares ordin his preparation for the pagmant of the tuli-jumin innered due Anglest I 1996 on the shore stoped at 3.30 p.m. on July 12 1996 and will be re-opered on July 22 1996.

OBITUARIES

Ray Howard-Jones, artist, died in London on June 25 aged 93. She was born in Lambou Berkshire, on May 30, 1903.

WHETHER sitting sketching amid clouds of seabirds on a Welsh island or entertaining in the garden of her west London home, Ray Howard-Jones impressed all who met her with her tenacity of spirit. In weather which would have most visitors to her haunts on the Pembrokeshire coast muffling up, she would peel off her clothes and plunge naked into the Atlantic swells, careless of passing visitors to the spot. At times she seemed like some tutelary spirit of the Welsh shore, so at home was she with its seals, seafowl and large (but harmless) basking sharks.

Her creative life had been a long one, beginning at the Slade in the 1920s and taking her through a period as a war artist - one of the few women to make a mark in that sphere - to a series of exhibitions from the 1950s onwards. Her career had had its ebbs and flows. and she had for a period of twenty years from 1970 known neglect (though not in Wales). But in the very last few years all this had changed, with an exhibition of her work organised by Rocket Contemporary Art in Cork Street, London, in 1994 and a touring exhibition of her later seascapes in the following year. A second London exhibition, The Two Rays, at the Rocket Gallery in 1994 celebrated her association with the photographer Raymond Moore, with whom she shared a close relationship for twenty years in the 1950s and 1960s.

She was born Rosemary Howard-Jones at her father's racing stables on the Berkshire Downs, but at the age of two moved to her grandfather's house in Penarth, where she was looked after by two guardians. Her first sketches were of the shores of the Bristol Channel, the landscapes of the Vale of Glamorgan and, later, of Tenby where she was taken on a visit at the age of 12 fell in love with the m coastline of West Wales.

In 1920 she entered the Slade School of Art, where she came to the notice of Philip Wilson Steer, who became a firm admirer of her gifts as a colourist. Henry Tonks, the Slade Professor, was

RAY HOWARD-JONES

Gateholm from my Cliff, gouache and pastel, 1980s seldom in a mood to be indulgent to her, but as she realised, there was a compliment implicit in his acerbity. He recognised that she was a serious artist and not simply a little rich girl treating the Slade as a finishing school. In 1923 she gained her London University Fine Art Diploma and her oil painting Christ on the Road to Calvary won the Summer Composition prize.

In 1925 she returned to Penarth to care for her guardian May Purnell, who had in her turn been looking after the painter's mother. While doing this she also worked for a number of years making archaeological reconstruction deputing for the Medical Mayora of drawings for the National Museum of Wales in Cardiff. Her evenings were devoted to voluntary work with de-prived children and their unemployed parents in the city's grim Splott area, which in those days lay in the shadow of the East Moors steelworks, whose emissions polluted its streets.

When war came in 1939 she pleaded with the authorities - at first unsuccessfully - to become a war artist. But eventually she was commissioned to paint for the record the fortified islands of Flat Holm and Steep Holm in the Bristol Channel. She wanted to go to Normandy to record the D-Day landings but this request was turned down. However, she was allowed to sketch the preparation of transports for the sion in Cardiff Docks. Some of her wartime work is now held by the continued to return to St Martin's Imperial War Museum.

After the war she settled in London her winters, alternating them with excursion to nearby Skomer and summers spent at St Martin's Haven, Dyled. In 1948 she was introduced to the photographer Raymond Moore. This meeting was to mould the next twenty years of her life. In 1949 with Moore she went to the island of Skomer off the Pembrokeshire coast where they spent a summer painting. It was to be the first of several such summers for the pair until 1958 when Skomer was sold to the Nature Conservancy. This did not end the link with West Wales, however, since in 1960 Howard-Jones took a cottage at St Martin's Haven on the coast opposite. Meanwhile the painter and the photographer — the "other Ray" — had become a familiar sight on the London art scene. The Welsh coast, its physical grandeur, its mythology and its mystical atmosphere, released something in Howard-Jones's imagination, which had first been stimulated by it as a child. She was to return to it as a subject again and again to the very end of her life. In 1958 she was commissioned to create a large mosaic for the front of Thomson House, the Cardiff headquaters of the Western Mail and South Wales Echo and in the following year she had her first exhibition at the Leicester Galleries, London, the first of five shows over the next ten years.

In 1970 the relationship with Ray loore broke up but Howard-Jone Haven every summer, steeping herself ever more deeply in the atmosphere of at Ravenscourt Park, where she had a the coast and the offshore islands. For house and studio in which she spent her this meant not only the short

Skokholm but also visits to distant Grassholm, to which she would occasionally be able to gain access, and to the amazement of friends who accompanied her, sit impassively sketching amid the deafening clamour (not to mention the stench of guano) emanating from its 50,000 nesting gannets. Her absorption in Wales led to her gradually withdrawing from the London art scene as the 1970s wore on. But, though this led to a tendency to think of her as a merely regional artist, this was not an accurate assessment, as can be seen from the work of her late flowering. Wales at least continued to notice her, with both the Welsh Arts Council and West Wales Arts mounting touring retrospective exhibitions in 1974 and 1983.

Eventually, after she had spent the winter of 1992-93 reassessing unexhibited work which had gathered in her London studio, the Rocket Contemporary Art exhibition and the publication of her poems Heart of the Rock, also in 1993, reminded the wider world of her qualities.

Until her late eighties Ray Howard-Jones continued to scramble up and down the cliffs from her West Wales studio to the beach at St Martin's Haven beneath. The essence of her art was that it was created in the open air, as the outpouring of seascapes attests. At her London home her contact with nature was just as close, and she was never happier than when in her wild garden watching and feeding the

She never married and had no

HUGH POPHAM

Hugh Popham, Fleet Air Arm pilot and poet, died on June 30 aged 76. He was born on May 15, 1920.

A FLEET AIR ARM pilot, who was also a poet, Hugh Popham wrote verses which surveyed the maritime battlefield below him with crystalline detachment. His single poem in the Oxford Book of 20th Century English Verse, edited by Philip Larkin, is not, in the easy colloquialism of its phraseology, characteristic of his output in general, which recalls the verse of an earlier war. It limpidly describes the "exquisite boredom" of patrols at 20,000 feet: ships reduced to mere water beetles on the surface of the sea beneath: then the sudden jolt as enemy aircraft break into this stratospheric idyll and it is time for "the dulled drumming of wing cannon" and the presence of violent death.

As a poet, Popham wrote normally in the Georgian mode of Housman and James Elroy Flecker. But his war experiences provoked a different response in his sensibility. His poems of the perils of air combat and the desire of the airman to regain the pitching flight deck of his mother aircraft carrier after the "ruled tracer lines" and the "smoke flowering from the engines" are in the laconic style of Larkin himself. They are not philosophical in the manner of Yeats's An Irish Airman foresees his Death. Rather, they capture the immediacy of technical detail: the scream of tormented engines revving frantically in the thin air of high altitudes; the burst of high explosive; smoke trails from broken aircraft thread-

Born at Beer, in Devon, Hugh Henry Home Popham was educated at Repton and Corpus Christi College, Cam-bridge. But in 1940 he had to break off from his law degree course there, joining the Fleet Air Arm. Soon, as a member of a Sea Hurricane Squadron. he flew combat air patrols from the aircraft carrier Indomitable over Operation Pedestal, the great relief convoy to Malta which battled

FREDDIE WEST was a research chemist who earned particular recognition among his profession during the Second World War, when Allied troops in the Far East were being devastated by malaria. He was taken, blindfold, to wartime airfields and flown secretly to bases abroad. Once there, West advised the Army on the best way to apply insecticide to the affected area.

This was twenty years before

Rachel Carson published her opinion-changing Silent

Spring, and West was of that generation which saw DDT as the answer to all mosquito-

Born in Hertfordshire, the son of a butcher and poultry farmer, West was educated on a scholarship at Hertford Grammar School and took an external degree in chemistry

at Sir John Cass College,

University of London, During the day he worked for a pharmaceutical company, and studied by night. In 1934 he gained a first, and his master's degree in inorganic chemistry. Subsequently, he carried out research on the detailed chemical structures of pyre-thrins I and II, the insecticides extracted from the pyrethrum flowers, or African chrysanthemums. During the Second World War supplies of pyrethrum were scarce, particularly after Japan had joined hostilities. The Insecticides Research and Development Panborn diseases.

ing their way seawards, down through thousands of feet of through air and U-boat opposition in August 1942. In the hazardous conditions of air operations in those days he had several brushes with death, finally breaking his back when colliding with another aircraft when his squadron was forming up in bad visibility. But he returned to action after a few months in plaster and participated in the Fleet Air Arm's activities off Italy.in 1943.

He published his first volume of poems, Against the Lightning, in 1944, while still serving with the Fleet Air Arm. The volume took its title from the long Poem from an Aircraft Carrier which occupied most of the collection. It was received with enthusiasm as the outpouring of a sensitive and humane mind, and his publishers, Bodley Head, awarded him its £150 literary prize, no small sum in those days. In the meantime he continued his active service career as a deck landing control officer in aircraft carriers on Russian convoys.

After the war, Popham had various jobs, including teaching in Barbados. Returning to Britain after several years, he resumed a literary career and produced a range of books on many and disparate subjects. There were novels such as

Beyond the Eagle's Rage (1951); a memoir Sea Flight (1954); and Cape of Storms (1957), a graphic description of Arctic trawling.

The sea and the life lived on it remained a constant preoccupation. Popharo sailed his sloop in the Solent, made models of square-rigged ships, wrote a history of the Fleet Air Arm, Into Wind (1969), and edited the sailing journals of that consummate novelist of the sea, Erskine Childers.

Somewhat strangely, one of his most intriguing books was F.A.N.Y. The Story of the Women's Transport Service 1907-84, which was published in 1985. This was a lucid and perceptive account of that unique women's corps, founded almost by accident by a cavalryman in 1907, whose members have rendered distinguished service in a variety of capacities, ranging from driving ambulances in the First World War to being secret agents in the Second.

A Damned Cunning Fellow, a biography of his ances-tor, Rear-Admiral Sir Home Popham, was published by his own publishing house, The Old Ferry Press, in 1991.

He is survived by his fourth wife Mary and by a son and daughter of a previous

MAJOR-GENERAL GEOFFREY ARMITAGE

Major-General Geoffrey Armitage, CBE, GOC Northumbrian District. 1970-72 died on June 23 aged 78. He was born on July 5, 1917.

GEOFFREY ARMITAGE was one of the few army officers, who managed successfully not only to transfer between Artillery and Armour halfway through his career, but also to become the professional head of his adopted arm as Director of the Royal Armoured Corps at an important juncture in the history of tank development.

Brought up in Ireland, he was educated at Haileybury and the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, where he won the Sword of Honour and was commissioned into the Royal Artillery in 1937. The Gunner half of his military career started in the 14th Anti-tank Regiment, RA, which went as part of the 4th Division with the British Expeditionary Force to France in 1939.

Surviving the retreat to Dunkirk, he stayed with the 4th Division which was deployed on anti-invasion defences in southern Hampshire. He became adjutant of his regiment in September 1940 and a battery commander a year later. In March 1943 the 4th Division sailed for North Africa, where his battery took part in the final battles for Tunis.

After the Axis forces had capitulated in May, he went to the Staff College at Haifa, and thereafter served with 7th Armoured Division, first as the brigade major of 22nd Armoured Brigade at Salerno: then as a divisional GS02 in Normandy; and finally as a Royal Horse Artillery battery commander for the rest of the war in Europe. He was mentioned in dispatches and appointed MBE (mil) in 1945.

It was during the crossing of the Rhine and the subsequent advance to the Baltic that his battery was supporting 8th Hussars' armoured regimental group commanded by Des-mond (later General Sir Desmond) Fitzpatrick.

In 1946, he spent a year in the Mediterranean in the aircraft carrier HMS Ocean as an Army/Air Liaison Officer. which he greatly enjoyed. He was then specially selected as a former Sword of Honour winner to be one of the first of the Royal Artillery's representative instructors at the new Royal Military Academy Sandhurst - the amalgamation of the prewar Sandhurst and Woolwich. Desmond Fitzregiment, The Royal Dragoons (1st Dragoons), to find some potential commanding officers from other arms who were willing to transfer. Much to the Gunners' fury, Armitage decided to accept the Royals' invitation to join them in 1951.

His transfer in mid-career could have been risky had it not been for his personal abilities and his experience in armoured warfare gained during his two years with 7th Armoured Division. He was gifted in sporting activities that would appeal to a cavalry regiment. He had won the army pentathlon; excelled as a patrick was asked by his polo player; was a successful breeder and trainer of gun-dogs; and had a lifelong interest in all country pursuits. At that time, he was reestablishing the Staff College and Sandhurst pack of drag hounds. Within four years of transferring he had become a highly respected regimental commander of The Royal Dragoons. He went on to be an instructor at the Imperial Defence College, 1959-60 and a colonel. General Staff, in the War Office, 1960-62. Such was the confidence that he had inspired in Royal Armoured Corps circles that he was appointed Commandant of the British tank Mecca, the Royal Armoured Corps Centre at Bovington, 1962-65.

His artillery and tank experience, coupled with his ability as a Staff Officer, made him a natural choice as Chief of Staff 1st (British) Corps in Germany in 1966. It was not an easy time to hold such a responsible job; Denis Healey's rolling defence re-views were in full swing, and the 1966 sterling crisis made it imperative to fight back to defend 1st Corps from Treasury-driven cuts in its capabilities. To his relief, having been promoted major-general and appointed CBE in 1968, he returned to England to take over as Director Royal Armoured Corps.

It was a case of out of the trying pan into the fire. The new Challenger tank was just being brought into service. Regrettably, the gross un-reliability of its L60 engine, which was no fault of his, marred his tenure as Director, causing constant changes in the re-equipment programmes of the armoured regiments. On the positive side, however, the promising development of the worldbeating Chobham armour for defeating anti-tank missiles was coming to fruition at that

His last job in the Army was as Commander of Northumbrian District at Catterick, 1970-72, at the time of the first miners' strike against the Heath Government. The Army found itself involved in giving the police support, when and where needed to handle demonstrations, in the North East.

On his retirement in 1973, he gave much of his time to the Country Landowners' Association, running its Gamefair from 1973 to 1979.

In 1949 he married a widow, Monica Wall Kent. They had one son and she had a daughter by her first marriage. All survive him.

T. F. WEST

Trustham Frederick el was established to find West, research chemist substitutes for pyrethrum to and author, died on June protect troops against malaria-carrying mosquitoes. 21 aged 85. He was born The panel sought advice on April 19, 1911.

from West, then serving with commissioned rank in the London Home Guard, He was seconded for special duties to the Office of the Scientific Advisers, Ministry of Production. In 1947 he was sent to the Far East and then to India in 1943 in response to a request from the High Command in India for an expert to instruct them on the use of DDT and pyrethrum mixtures.

He actually contracted malaria himself that year and was found unconscious in a lavatory in Delhi. The disease recurred for some years after-wards but, ironically, that initial attack saved his life. Had he not been immobilised, he would have been a passenger on the doomed flight he intended to catch, the one on which the actor Leslie Howard died (West's name was not removed from the passenger list, with the result that his wife was informed that her husband was dead, only to find him, later, on her doorstep).

In 1946 he gained the degree of Doctor of Science from the University of London. After the war he travelled: to Canada, where he lectured at the University of Toronto, and to Sydney, as director of research for a chemical company. From his headquarters in London, he directed the European operations for the Pyrethrum Board of Kenya. In 1960 he became editor of Chemistry and Industry. The editorials were noted as "models of best scientific writing". In 1976 he moved on to the Royal Society of Health, as editor of its Journal and, at the same time. to an honorary research fellowship at University College London. He retired in 1990. West set questions in chemistry for the television programme Mastermind. He was co-author of several books on DDT and the chemical control of insects. Before global warming became a fashionable subject, he co-edited monographs on the British chemical industry; and, in 1980, on Chlorofluorocarbons in the Environment: The Aerosol Controversy. He also patented many new processes and devices (some invented in his garden shed). These included a wood preservative, an antidote for spider bites. and a UV filter for Antarctic expeditions. His wife died in March. He is survived by their daughter.

Appointments Canon John Edge, Curate, Briercliffe, Burnley (Blackburn): 10 be Resident Minister, West Felion

The Rev Debbie Flach, Assistant Curate, Chantilly, France to be Assistant Curate. Holy Trinity. Maison-Lafitte, France (Europe). The Rev Jeremy Fletcher, Priest-incharge, St Andrew's, Skegby, and All Saints, Chapel of Ease, Stanton Hill: to be also Priest-in-charge. Teversal St Katherine (Southwell). The Rev Kathleen (Kay) Garlick. Assistant Curate (NSM). St Mary and St Thomas a Becket, Much Birch, St Mary, Linle Birch, St David, Much Dewchurch, Christ Church. Lianwarne. and St Junabius. Liandinabo (Hereford): to be also Chaplain to the Sixth

Form College, Hereford. The Rev Laura Gibson, Team Vicar, Birchen Coppice, Kidder-minster West Team Ministry: to be Priest-in-charge. Mamble w Bayton, Rock w Heightington w

Far Forest (Worcester). The Rev Timothy Gill. Assistant Curate, North Hull, St Michael

Church news

and All Angels: to be Priest-in-charge, Sculcoates, St Paul w Christ Church and St Silas, and Priest-in-charge, Sculcoates, St Mary (York).

The Rev Frances Hancock, Adviser on Women in Ministry, and Curate (NSM), St Peter, Peterchurch; St Bartholomew, Vowchurch; St Mary Magdalen, Turnastone, and St Faith, Dorstone (Hereford): to be also a Prebend of Hereland

The Rev Michael Hart, Rector, St Mary, Newington: to be Priest-incharge, and Team Rector-designate, St Mary, Caterham and St Peter and St Paul, Chaldon (South-

The Rev John Higgins, Rector, Arthuret: to be Social Respon-sibility Officer for the diocese of Carlisle and Assistant Priest. Brampton, Castle Carrock. Cumrew and Farlam, same

The Rev David Humphries, Vicar, St Thomas, Greetland and West Vale (Wakefield): to be Vicar, Shawbury w Moreton Corbet and Stanton upon Hine Heath (Lichfield).

The Rev Peter Ingrams, Vicar, St Mary Magdalen, Sheet: to be Vicar. St John the Baptist, Locks Heath (Portsmouth). The Rev Peter Jaram, Assistant Curate, Bridlington Priory: to be Assistant Curate, Rufforth w Moor

Monkton and Hessay, and Healaugh w Wighill. Bilbrough and Askham Richard (York). The Rev Timothy Jones, Assistant Curate, Middlesbrough, St Martin: to be Curate, with special responsibility for the Rountons and Welbury, and part-time Chap-lain to HM Remand Centre, Northallerton (York).

The Rev Derek Little, Vicar. St Stephen, Canonbury (London): to be Rector, St Thomas and St Nicholas Mission Church, Bedhampton (Portsmouth). The Rev Canon Terry Louden, Vicar, St Philip, Coshum: to be

Vicar, All Saints', East Meon, and St John the Evangelist, Langrish and Director of Continuing Ministerial Education (Portsmouth). The Rev Julian McCready, Rector, Clonallon and Warrenpoint (Down and Dromore): to be Chaplain to Liverpool College. The Rev Timothy Marks, Rector, Eltisley w Croxton, Graveley w Yelling and Toseland (Ely]: to be Director of Network Counselling and Training, same diocese. The Rev David North, Rector, Whittington, Oswestry: to be also Priest-in-charge, West Felton (Lichfield).

The Rev Canon Stephen Oliver, Archdeacon to the Archbishop of Capetown (Province of South Africa): to be Lecturer/Preacher, Newland Almshouses, Coleford The Rev Marion Palmer, Curate

St Mary Magdalene, Gillinghum: to be Curate, Famborough The Rev David Picton, Vicar, Old Basing and Rural Dean of Basingstoke (Winchester): to be also an Honorary Canon of Win-

SERAJEVO AND AFTER

A number of arrests are reported to have been made in connection with the Serajevo crime, and the lodgings of Serb students at the Universities of Prague and Graz have been searched. Authentic accounts of the crime, given by persons who were actually present with the Archduke, give the tragedy more and more an aspect of fatality. There is little doubt that before his departure for Bosnia the Archduke was conscious that he was undertaking a dangerous journey. When during the railway journey the grease boxes of the carriage became heated he remarked, "Now it's beginning, and down there they will throw bombs at us." But the actual assassination was rendered easy by the most extraordinary combination of circumstances. The Duchess had been slightly grazed in the neck by a splinter from the first bomb, but she maintained her coolness and begged her husband to be allowed to continue to accompany him after he left the town hall. After the to a standstill at a spot within a few

ON THIS DAY July 8, 1914

Details of the assassination of Archduke Ferdinand appeared on the same page as an account of the visit by the British fleet to the German fleet at Kiel. Within a month the two countries were at war.

reception at the Rathaus, the Archduke expressed his intention of visiting the Merizzi Hospital, and fell in with the suggestion that he should drive thither along the Appel Quay. Nobody would be expecting him to travel along this road, which is broad and straight, and along which, in consequence, he could drive very fast, and so diminish the possibility of a successful attempt. The mistake made by the Mayor's car in turning into a side street brought the Archduke's car yards of where Prinzip was standing. Finally, the slightest divergence of the bullets would have rendered the wounds not necessarily fatal.

KIEL AND AFTER

The British naval visit to Kiel, although its festivities were dimmed by the tragedy of Serajevo, was a great success and gave fine proof of naval comrade-ship the world over and of German hospitality. The reception was warm and sincere. It is not an empty convention that exalts Emperors and Kings to the highest rank in the armies and navies with which they compete and with which they sometimes come to blows. It is rather a symbol of brotherhood in arms - exhibited at Kiel alike when the Emperor William hoisted the flag of a British Admiral in the King George when Sir George Warrender and the President of the German Navy League exchanged enthusiastic speechs in Kiel Town Hall, and when the German and British bluejackets made merry ashore.

THE TIMES TODAY

NEWS

MPs urge battle over 48-hour week

Tory MPs are to try to force the Prime Minister into a headon confrontation with Brussels over a ruling by the European Court imposing a maximum 48-hour week on British workers. Although the judgment is not likely to be issued by the court until September, the Euro-sceptics intend to exploit the issue this week. John Redwood says that the decision must stay with ..Page 1 Parliament...

Oxford doubles its professors

Oxford University has almost doubled its number of professors, appointing more in a single day than in the past decade, in an unprecedented attempt to raise the status of its dons. Lecturers at Oxford and Cambridge have grown increasingly frustrated at playing second fiddle to less eminent academics elsewhere...

Historic win

Holland's Richard Krajicek created Wimbledon history after beating the American MaliVai Washington in the first men's final with two unseeded players . Pages 1, 3 Ulster fears

A confrontation between hundreds of Orangemen and armed police on the outskirts of Portadown. County Armagh, intensified amid fears that the protest could spread thorughout Northern Ireland ...

Blair backs off

Tony Blair has backed away from a damaging confrontation with his MPs over a threat to scrap this year's elections to the Shadow Cabinet ... Return from dead

For a man thought to be dead,

Leslie Powles, 70, a lone sailor, was enjoying life to the full yesterdayPage 3

Manchester gala

Three weeks after the IRA tried to tear the heart out of Manchester. some of the shops closest to the blast reopened with balloons, bunting, brass bands and celebrity guests ...

Legal perks

Leading City law firms are providing their staff with an unrivalled range of perks ranging from in-house swimming pools and gyms to stress counselling and yoga sessions Page 6

Prudish Versace

Gianni Versace, the king of overtly sexual evening wear, has abandoned the "happy hooker" look. His couture show is verging on the prudish...

Paying for nothing

The Government is paying nearly El million a year in rent for an empty 17-storey office block that it does not want, cannot use and cannot sub-letPage 8 French dilemma

The detention of Loik Le Floch-Prigent - the head of SNCF.

France's state-owned railway poses an embarrassing dilemma for the Gaullists ... Israeli disclosures Fresh disclosures about the private life of Binyamin Netanyahu,

Israel's Prime Minister, and his third wife, Sara, 35, dominated the media... .. Page 10 Blow for Dole The Whitewater special prosecutor, dealt a blow to Bob Dole's hopes of winning the White unlikely to recommend criminal charges against President Clinton before the electionPage it Mandela's problem Nelson Mandela enjoys an unchallengeable authority and huge popularity in South Africa - and yet he has only a limited control over affairs of his Government

House by suggesting that he was

Designer mosquito to beat malaria

A new breed of mosquito could be designed to act as a "flying hypodermic syringe" to prevent malaria, the disease they normally spread. The genetically-engineered variety would transfer a protein through its saliva which would act as a vaccine, immunising the victim against the disease which

Three of the participants at a "poetry Olympics" held in the Albert Hall, London, yesterday who recited their works to an audience of only 500. From left, Kazuko Shiraishi, Heathcote Williams and Roger McGough. Page 3

BUSINESS

Looking up: Business optimism in the financial sector is growing on the back of the strongest increase in volumes since the 1980s Page 44 Store prospects: Somerfield will seek to reassure potential investors that its £500 million floration remains on track when it reports a sharp rise in profits Page 44 Heady brew: Guinness will make a Stock Exchange statement in response to a leaked document that suggested it was considering a £13.2 billion takeover bid for Grand Metropolitan Drug ruling: Glaxo Wellcome's attempts to protect the market share of Zantac, its money-spinning antiulcer drug, suffered a setback when Novopharm won the right to produce a generic version...... Page 44 ite herbicide, glyphosate ... Page 12 an audience

FEATURES

German conspirators: In the first extract from his controversial book Plotting Hitler's Death Joachim Fest tells the true story of the bungled plot... .Page 13

Village radio: As Archers fans prepare to board a special cruise, an editor tells the inside story of Ambridge and Libby Purves tells of her love-hate relationship with radio's famous soap Page 14, 15

MIND AND MATTER

False memory: Scientists in America have discovered that the brain appears to be more active when it is recalling the truth Horror story: The New Scientist says that weeds are showing signs of resistance to the world's favour-

☐ General: England and Wales will have a clear and dry start and a largely sunny moming. Cloud will increase in the afternoon and there may be odd showers but mostly it will remain dry. Later cloud and drizzle

Scotland and Northern Ireland will have a bright or sunny morning. Cloud increasing by afternoon but still with surny intervals in central and eastern parts. Over Northern Ireland there may be patchy drizzle by afternoon, this spreading to western Scotland later.

☐ London, S E England, E Anglia, Central S England, Midlands, E England, NW England, Lake Dis-trict, Central N, NE England: bright or sunny periods, meinly dry. Winds light northwest. Cool. Mex 19C (66F).

☐ Channel Isles, S W England, Wales, Isle of Man, SW Scotland, Argyll, NW Scotland: bright and dry, sunny intervals, becoming hazy later.

Cloudy with drizzle in places by late

AROUND BRITAIN YESTERDAY

ABROAD

Majaga Malbi me Medo i Melbi me Medo i Milan Milan Moscoa Munich N York Najass Nico Osto Osto Osto Paris Peting Paris Peting Paris Peting Paris Peting Paris Peting Paris Peting Paris Pa Paris Paris

may edge into western parts.

ARTS

Think big: Rambert Dance Company celebrates its 70th birthday with a season at the Coliseum, a theatre it could never have dreamt of filling five years ago Page 16 Mr Nice Guy: Bill Cosby may be a multimillionaire, and one of the most influential figures in American television, but when it comes to comedy he still likes to play one of life's also-rans Page ló

Musical debuts: Both Peter Maxwell Davies and John Woolrich had new operas to unveil, making it a red-letter week for British

Star trio: The Three Tenors played Wembley Stadium and proved that even though they total 165 years, they still have what it takes to thrill

OLD BOYS The Eagles are back but have the veteran Californian rockers still got what it takes?

Day 2 of the Stauffenberg Solution: how Britain betrayed

☐ Borders, Edinburgh & Dundes

Aberdeen, Glasgow, Central High-lands, Moray Firth: dry with bright or sunny periods. Winds light northwest or west. Cool. Max 15C to 18C (59F to ☐ NE Scotland, Orkney, Shetland:

partly cloudy, a few light showers; Winds light northwest or west, Cool. 14C to 17C (57F to 63F).

☐ N Ireland: bright morning, cloud-ing over then patchy rain in alternoon. Wind light or moderate west or northwest. Cool. 17C (63F).

☐ Outlook: cloudy with rain at times on Tuesday, brighter on Wednesday.

Polien forecast: Scotland, northeast England, London, low to moderate; East Midlands, East Anglia, North Wates, South East, moderate; Northern Ireland, South West, mod-erate to high; northwest England, West Midlands, South Wales, high.

Rame S Prison S Pulson S Pulson S Pulson S Pulson Sabburg Santiago Seout Singi por Strictoim Saasbirg Sydney Tenenger Tai Aviv Tenenger Tokyo Toronto Tunis Vancte Vernice Vernice Vernice West Total Washiton West Total Sabburg Strictoin Sabburg S Pulson S

SPORT

Tennis: While Steffi Graf celebrates winning her seventh Wimbledon singles title, her overwhelming superiority casts a cloud over the future..... Page 27 Boxing: Nigel Benn is likely to seek a rematch with Steve Collins after his challenge for the WBO supermiddleweight title was ended by an ankle injury Page 37

Cricket: Mushtaq Ahmed, the Pakistan leg spinner, is preparing a new weapon in his armoury of baffling deliveries for the series against England Motor racing: Bernie Ecclestone, the most influential figure in Formula One, sees the sport gaining in the Far East... ..Page 28

Rugby league: A last-minute defeat by Oldham keeps the spectre of relegation over Leeds Page 24 Cycling: Miguel Indurain's iron grip on the Tour de France appears in doubt after he finished the eighth stage almost five minutes behind Evgeni Berzin.....

Golf: Andy Oldcorn handed the Murphy's Irish Open to Colin Montgomerie after making a double-bogey at the last hole... Page 24

TO LEAST MARKETS TO

TY LISTINGS

Preview: The story of Seb Coe and Steve Ovett at the 1980 Olympics: Clash of the Titans (BBC2, 9.45pm) Review: Sara Thornton's story worked better as drama than Lynne Truss expected Page 43

OPINION -

The Tory gauntlet

The more doggedly the Chanceline pursues his plans to control public borrowing and spending, the more he will help the Government's reelection chances ...

Sandpaper and silk

A second front in the Conservative assault on Tony Blair is launched today: David Willetts's erudite and elegant essay, Blair's Gurus, which attacks the philosophical foundations of new Labour Page 19

in another July

In the light of the British failure to support the July plot against Hitler, we may wish to reconsider our wartime record Page 19

COLUMNS

TIM CONGDON

If workers in this country were on average less well-educated than elsewhere, Britain ought to have lost ground most heavily in business activities in which human capital is at a premium. But that is not at all the case Page 18

PETER RIDDELL

Apart from moral philosophers such as John Macmurray, Mr Blair is influenced more by clever, practical people such as Derry Irvine, the Shadow Lord Chancellor who gave him his first start as a barristerPage 18

OBITUARIES

...

 $\mathcal{L}_{\alpha}^{\mathrm{total}}$ in Ethi

44. T

9 gg.

 p_{τ}

Friday Arch

No. of 第至于

11

अंदर

यात.

يسطة

Mr.

264 To ...

Ħ.

Per just

 M_{andej_a}

Markett Same

Ray Howard-Jones, artist; Hugh Popham, pilot and poet; Major-General Geoffrey Armitage, GOC Northumbrian District; T. F. West, research chemist....

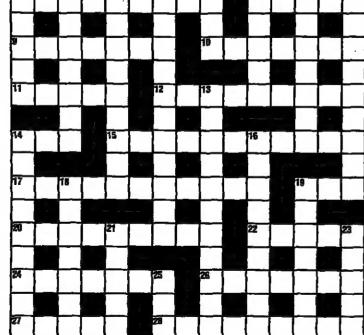

LEHERS -

RSPCA aims; St Ethelburga; aerial archaeology; climate.......Page 19

THE PAPERS

The massacres have stopped and a constitutional structure has been created which could one day permit reunification. But Karadzic is impeding any movement in that direction and impeding a free vote as well. If the West does not react more firmly it will be an accom-– Repubblica. Rome

THE TIMES CROSSWORD NO 20,214

- Appropriate leature found with a kind of porcelain (4,5).
- 6 Beastly transport turned up at length (5).
- work attributed to him, in a way (7). 10 Christian, perhaps, turning cheek
- to relentless pursuer (7).

 11 Steep road finally leading to river
- 12 Carpeting agent operating as traveller (9).
- 14 Signal indicating line up, report-
- 15 Unconfined trouble in the plant
- 17 Dispute note offered in change 2 19 Partners separated by individual
- failing (3). 20 Female warning in public address of remarkable events (9).
- 22 Former partner going to law to possibly (7).

BERLOUP The solution of 24 Striking form shown by Ishmael,

Saturday's Prize Puzzle No 20,213 will appear next Saturday. The five winners will receive a bottle of Aberlour single highland malt whisky.

- 26 Cutting off light fasteners in centre of sleeve (7).
- 27 Least manoeuvrable memorial stone (5).
- 28 Turn out to embrace a friend, of 9 He uses specious argument to get course (9). DOWN
 - 1 Settled since accepted in retire-
 - ment accommodation (5). Writer's uplifting music that's incorporated in The Planets (7).
 - 3 Greek character, a retailer supplying Phidias, for example? (9).
 - 4 Dishonestly import exotic oriental pet (11). Ignoring the odds, gallop mount
 - 6 Small group joined by old music-
 - maker (5). 7 Swallow one drink (7).
 - 8 Tree on common providing shade (4.5).13 Endlessly make assertion about
 - soldiers in a fix (11). 14 Defenders may be supreme
 - competitors (9). 16 One who has to undergo a lot in
 - boring job? (9). 18 Scene of operations during or
 - after fighting (7). 19 Prize taken by the Spanish, a
 - cutter in 18 (7). 21 US city in which to find toma-
 - hawks? Just the opposite (5). 23 Leaders in Times examining election next year? Very little (5).

25 Teachers over a barrel (3). Times Two Crossword, page 44

TIMES WEATHERCALL For the latest region by region forecast, 24 hours a day, diel 0891 500 followed by the appropriate code:

Greeias London
Kart, Surrey Susies:
Derset, Harits & JOW
Devon & Comwell
Witz, Gloucs, Avon, Sorns
Berts, Bucks, Oxon
Beds, Herits & Easies
Nortolk, Suffolk, Cambo
West, Md & Sth Germ & Gwent
Shrops, Herelds & Wores
Central Midlands
East Midlands
Linca & Humbergide
Unica & Humbergide
Unica & Humbergide

S W Scotland.
W Central Scotland
Edin S Fits/Lothlen & Bord
E Central Scotland E Central Scotland ... Grampien & E Highlands ... V W Scotland ...

AA ROADWATCH

For the latest AA traffic/roadworks information 24 hours a day, dial 0336 401 followed by the appropriate code London & SE traffic, roadw

National traffic and readworks

AA Roadwatch is charged at 39p per minute (cheap rate) and 49p per minute at all other HIGHEST & LOWEST

See Taletast p.354.

BOMB PLOTTERS the conspirators

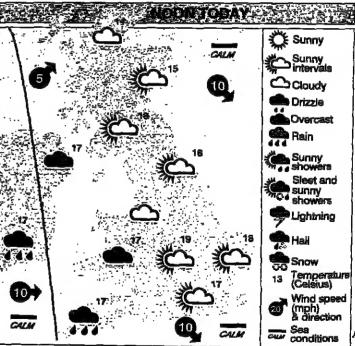

FORECAST

TOMORROW

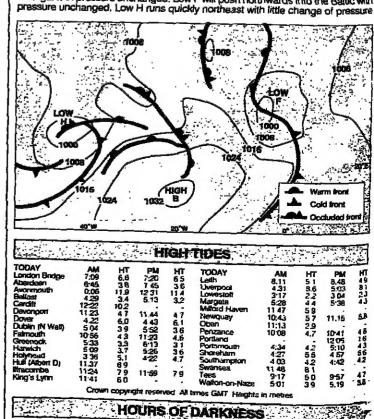

... Page 16

IN THE TIMES

13, 26, 43, 44, 45, 47. Bonus: 36 There was no winner. Eleven people get £311,182 for five numbers and the bonus; 546 tickets win £3,918 for five numbers; 44,783 win £105 for four numbers and 933,653 win £10. evening. Winds light northwest or wast. Cool. Max 18C (64F).

Changes to chart below from noon: high B will remain centred to the west of Portugal with pressure unchanged. Low F will push northwards into the Baltic with pressure unchanged. Low H runs quickly northeast with little change of pressure

London 9.17 pm to 4.55 am Bristol 9.27 pm to 5.05 am Edinburgh 9.56 pm to 4.40 am Manchester 9.37 pm to 4.52 am

OTIMES NEWSPAPERS LIMITED, 1996, Published and print elegronic and all other derivative forms by Times Newspape London E. 19XY, telephone 0171-782 5000 and also printed at k 9thN, telephone 0151-546 2000, Monday, July 8, 1996, Experten-

Alescion
Alercion
Alercion
Alercion
Alercion
Alercion
Alercion
Alercion
Alercion
Bellaria
Bel